OLD TIMES

Why not have a Pageant of History, or of Old Times in Peterborough, upon Victoria Day or Dominion Day? A reproduction of the appearance and "get-up" of our forefathers and foremothers in Canada, and in this part of it, would be both instructive to the rising generation and intensely interesting to a vast number of other people. Calithumpians are no doubt well enough in their way, from the man with the ten foot long neck to the Apache on horseback, but we want something that will bring before us the lives and times of those who carved from the wilderness the smiling land we now enjoy. There are still in many out-of-the-way places, relics of this now historic past, and it would be no very difficult matter to arrange ourselves in crinolines, as our mothers did, or to don the stately pot-hat or plug, which was in "those days" a sure and certain mark of affluence and respectability. An exhibition of ancient means of cultivation, locomotion and domestic work would show how far on the journey of life we have come, while doctors could tell us of "bleeding" and other old-time "sure cures," while lawyers could show their bills and their teeth as of yore, and the change in doctrine might be referred to also as a sign of the times by a delegate from the Ministerial Association. The history of all these changes would be of great moral and material benefit for if not why were they made. Why did we change our dress, why have we ceased to cook our meats on a spit? The city's streets transformed for the day, with the exhibitions referred to, and with the bands playing airs of auld lang syne would present an appearance long to be remembered by those who are old enough to have heard by word of mouth of the doings of those early days, and joy those who are too young to have even heard of them. The Review will be glad to announce a public meeting if the Mayor and Council will encourage the project in order that we may see how many would "turn out" to form a committee, and what favour the idea finds in the public mind, generally. Much of the material and many of the ideas necessary for such a celebration could be got, no doubt, through or from the Peterborough Historical Society. The red-coats of those days could easily be reproduced. Perhaps, too, the barbacue might be repeated that was so elaborately arranged for on the old market-square "once upon a time."

ALARMS CAME IN QUICKLY

Almost Simultaneous Rings for Grass Fires Yesterday Afternoon

Yesterday afternoon at about 4.30 a telephone message for a grass fire at Barnardo Home was received at the fire station. The chief, who had been called out of the hall before the alarm rang, was just leaving with his private outfit when another call was received for a fire at the caretaker's house at Jackson Park. The chief took one of the chemicals and two men to Jackson Park, while the rest of the brigade went to Barnardo Home. Both fires were caused from burning grass and were extinguished without any damage resulting.

The public buy "Salada" not alone for its superior flavor and drawing qualities, but because they know it to be absolutely cleanly and healthful, prepared and put up by machinery, without the contamination of human handling.

APRIL IS VERY DISAGREEABLE

Particularly Unpleasant Weather for This Month of the Year

The weather is particularly disagreeable for this time of year, and unusually cold. April blossomed as a month of sunshine and showers, but the weatherman has been off color in his dispensing lately, and as a result biting winds and snowfalls are what he is handing out.

BOARD OF WORKS PUTTING ON BRAKES

One-Quarter of Appropriation for Year Has Already Been Spent—No Extra Foreman for Sidewalk Construction—Engineer's Assistant Put on Permanent Staff.

The Board of Works is already beginning to "sand the tracks." To those not familiar with the slang phrase it may be explained that the Board has started on a campaign of economy. Of the $12,500 appropriation for 1909, $3,500 has already been spent. When the salaries of the permanent staff are deducted from the remaining $9,000 and the sum of maintenance of county bridges is also taken out there will be about $7,000 left for the balance of the year. The chairman and members of the Board know what they are up against and are preparing to cope with the situation.

At last night's meeting of the Board it was decided to put Street Commissioner Harry Evans in charge of the construction of sidewalks and to have Mr. Fitzgerald in charge of the roads for the year. By this arrangement it will not be necessary to have another foreman for the sidewalk construction gang. Mr. J. Thirnbeck had the position last year.

It was also decided to place Mr. Quartermaine, the City Engineer's assistant, on the permanent staff of employees at a salary of $650 per year. At the present he is receiving $2.50 per day, having been taken on temporarily a year ago last October and kept on steadily ever since. After going into the matter fully it was agreed that the City Engineer could not get along without an assistant, so heavy has the work of this department become.

Ald. Bradburn suggested that the city purchase another horse and put two men at work with a horse and cart repairing the roads. Two hundred cords of stone have been purchased and it will be broken and used for this purpose if the suggestion is carried out. With only $7,000 to spend it is felt that a great deal cannot be done on the roads this year.

Other matters that will help in the policy of economy are under consideration. There will be very little of what is known as "special work" this season.

Ald. Turner moved and Ald. Bradburn seconded, that Street Commissioner Evans take immediate charge of the concrete sidewalk construction and that Mr. Fitzgerald take charge of the road work for the year.

Ald. Turner moved and Ald. Bradburn seconded, that Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine be placed on the permanent staff at a salary of $650 per year, dating from May 1st.

COLLEGIATE STUDENTS WILL PRESENT A COMEDY DRAMA

The pupils of the Collegiate Institute will present a comedy drama entitled "The Scheming Lieutenant" tomorrow evening in the assembly hall. It was to have been produced some time ago but owing to the illness of one of the players it was postponed.

This is the first play that the pupils have ever attempted. Several mock trials and dialogues have been given in the past, but never before have they produced a play. If the venture proves a successful one, it is likely that it will become an annual event in the future.

The cast for Friday evening has been selected with great care and discrimination and a large crowd is expected.

APPRECIATES FINE WORK OF THE LOCAL FIRE BRIGADE

As an evidence of his appreciation of the splendid work of the fire brigade Mr Felix Brownscombe, manager of the Canadian Canoe Company, has sent the letter given below to Chief Howard of the Peterborough Fire Department;

April 28, 1909

Chief Howard,
Fire Dept. city;

Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me to express to you my thanks for services rendered to my property at the time of the drill shed fire this morning. Being directly in the line of the fire, and the roofs of my buildings being at one time almost covered with burning shingles, I do not hesitate to say that had it not been for the promptness with which you responded to the alarm and the good judgment you displayed in distributing your men, my dwelling would, to say the least, have had the roof very badly burned.

Also express to the men under you my thanks and accept the enclosed cheque as a small contribution towards your "Firemen's Benefit Fund"

Yours truly,
FELIX BROWNSCOMBE.

DOURO MAN PREPARING TO BORE FOR OIL ON HIS FARM

Special to the Review

Warsaw, April 28.—Spring is backward, but the farmers are keeping up with the times.

Mr. Luther Payne was in Peterborough attending the stallion show on Saturday.

Our butcher, Mr. Geo. Longsberry, is busy hunting up some choice stock to meet the demands of his customers. Good fat stock is scarce this year, but Mr. Longsberry will buy no others.

Mrs. Arthur Edwards was visiting in Peterborough on Tuesday.

Messrs. Selkirk's mills are very busy. They are to cut a drive of logs for Messrs. Little and Davis.

Mr. C. T. Gibson was in the village on Friday supplying the stores with a fresh supply of sweets. Mr. Gibson reports business brisk in his lines.

Mr. David Forsythe is busily engaged getting ready for drilling an oil well on his farm, about three miles from the village. Mr. Forsythe has all the machinery placed on the ground and will start to drill in a short time. It will be remembered that Mr. Forsythe discovered coal oil in digging a well, and has been offered a large price for the property several times. We are expecting good results out of this experiment, and we hope that the result will overshadow all our expectations. We hope to see Warsaw the Petrolia of Central Ontario. The coal oil that was found in the well seemed very pure, and it is to be hoped that we will soon be in a position that we do not have to pay John D. Rockefeller a bounty for our light after the sun goes down.

PREPARED FOR MEETING OF COUNCIL ON MONDAY NIGHT

Board of Works Had a Busy Session—Petitions for Sidewalks Came in for Consideration—Other Matters.

The Board of Works met last night to prepare for the council meeting on Monday night and transacted a large amount of business. Ald Phelan presided and the others present were; Aldermen Buller, McIntyre, Turner, and Bradburn and City Engineer Hay

The city engineer reported on a complaint of Mr. Ackerman regarding flooding of the basement of his factory. Mr. Hay attributed the condition complained of as due to a faulty sewer connection. The plumbing, which was done before the plumbing bylaw was passed, does not conform with the regulations of the bylaw. Mr Ackerman had threatened a damage suit against the city and Mr. Hay gave as his opinion that the city was not responsible for the trouble complained of.

A. McCarthy wrote asking that a cement sidewalk be placed on the east side of Concession street. This work has been authorized by by-law. The Board decided to look over the ground when making the annual inspection in May.

City Engineer Hay reported on the request of A H Webb, for the filling in of a drain on Sherbrooke St. The only objection to granting Mr. Webb's request was the cost. The engineer reported in favor of leaving the work over till next year when it can be placed in the estimates.

The street will have to be graded and the drain can be filled in at the same time. Mr. Hay stated that Mr Webb was satisfied to leave the work over till next year.

The engineer's recommendation was adopted on motion of Ald. McIntyre and Ald Bradburn.

On motion of Ald Bradburn and Ald Turner it was decided to place a concrete crossing on Homewood avenue at Walton street.

POLICE PROTECTION.

A letter was read from City Engineer Hay asking for police protection in ward five at night. The City Engineer reported that very often hand rails are torn away from walks going over drains and creeks, etc. This often causes great danger to the public as well as expense and repairs.

On motion of Aldermen Bradburn and Turner, the letter was referred to the police commissioners.

SIX MILES OF WALK.

The Board of Works has already nearly six miles of granolithic sidewalk to be built this year and that will keep them busy all summer. As a matter of fact six miles is about the limit of the board's ability. Yet there is about two more miles asked for by the people who have petitions in. These petitions the Board considered last night and some of them will be constructed where absolutely needed and the Board will do all it possibly can.

SEWERS.

Sewers will be built as follows:—On Rogers street to Douro street, from north side Hunter street. On Manning avenue, from Benson avenue to Aylmer street. On Aylmer street, from lot 40 to lot 60.

TWO CHIMNEY FIRES TO-DAY

Two chimney fires, from which no damage resulted were on the business list of the fire brigade this morning. One call came at 11.55 for a fire in a chimney on the T.A.S. rooms, and the other for a chimney fire at the Temperance House, of which Mr. Thos. Foster is proprietor.

Blacklist Man Fined $10.00 at Police Court This Morning---Accused Was Not in Court

Thos. Kennedy was charged in police court this morning with attempting to procure liquor while he had been notified not to do so. He was not present in court but the case was proceeded with.

After sufficient evidence a fine of $10 was imposed on him, the same to be paid in 10 days and in default of payment 10 days in jail.

Inspector Stewart was called and stated that he had served the necessary notices both to the accused and the liquor houses.

The bartender of a local hotel stated that he knew Kennedy and he had called at the bar on the evening of April 26th and asked for a glass of beer. Witness refused to give him any liquor and also ordered him off the premises.

WILL VISIT THIS CITY AGAIN

Noted Evangelist Will Hold Meeting in Gospel Hall

Evangelist W. J. Maplesden, of Buffalo, N.Y., will be heard in this city again. Since his last visit, a year ago, he has been holding meetings in many of the large cities and towns in the United States. He has had a most successful series of meetings and met with many signs of a religious revival. The first public meeting to be held here will be at the Gospel Hall next Sunday night.

A WARNING TO THE FISHERMEN

The local branch of the fisheries department wishes to warn all those gaffing suckers at the locks against keeping any bass or lunge they may happen to hook and take out of the water. Watch will be kept on "gaffers" to see that they live up to the regulations in this respect.

A sharp outlook will also be kept for those catching and netting fish out of season and offenders will be vigorously prosecuted.

SECOND REDUCTION IN SCHOOL BOOKS

Separate School Readers Will Also be Cheaper

Toronto, April 28.—Following the recent reduction in price of readers to be used in the Public schools of the province, a reduction will probably be made in the price of the Canadian Catholic readers, which are used in the Separate schools. When Mr. D. Racine, M.P.P. for Russell, asked, in the Legislature, why something was not done to reduce the price of Separate school readers. Hon. Dr. Pyne answered that when the new Separate school books were issued the prices would be about the same as that of the new issue of Public school readers. The price of the Public school boooks has been materially decreased since that time, and it is doubtful whether the Separate school books can be issued for 89 (1-5 cents for the set. The Government supplies the plates for the Public school readers, but has no control over the Separate school books. The Government is prepared, however, to aid in reducing the price of Separate school readers, according to a statement made by Sir James Whitney. Representatives of the Separate schools have seen Sir James, and have been assured of Government co-operation.

The Separate school readers have been issued by the Copp, Clark Co., Limited, for a number of years, and a new edition will be published in the near future, which will be a reprint of the present edition. They will be issued at approximately the same figure as the last (1907) edition of the Public school readers. This will be a reduction on the old price, and a definite announcement will be made in the course of the next few days.

CADETS HAVE NO UNIFORMS

Collegiate Institute Boys Will Not Take Part in Demonstration on May 24th

There was some talk of the Collegiate Institute cadets turning out for the military parade on May 24th The Review was informed to-day that the cadets would not take part in the demonstration. They have no uniforms, and while well up in their drill, they would present a rather odd appearance marching in civilian attire.

"It is regrettable that the boys have to do without uniforms," said a citizen to-day. "It is a matter which might well receive the attention of the Minister of Militia."

Y.W.C.A. ANNUAL MEETING TO BE HELD TO-MORROW

REASON WHY WE SAY "YOURS SINCERELY"

Have you ever reflected, when you finish up your letter "Yours sincerely, John Smith," why you do so, or whence came the origin of this epistolary method of subscribing to your state of soul in regard to any particular correspondence. Well if you subscribed yourself "Yours without wax, John Smith" it would amount to the same thing. Here's how:

When the Roman jurymen returned their verdicts they usually did so on a wax tablet. In cases, however, where the verdict was overwhelmingly in favor of a person on trial for any offence they were allowed to give their verdict "Sine cera"—that is to say, without wax, or without going to the formality of inscribing their verdict on the wax tablet—cera. So when you subscribe yourself "Yours sincerely" to a person you mean—when you are serious of course—that your regard for him is above board. "Your faithfully," is the business style; "Your truly" the indifferent, and "Your, etc," the most unpardonable of epistolary atrocities, according to the unwritten code.

An English cabinet minister when writing to you in the official style, will subscribe himself, "Your obedient, humble servant." A Frenchman will tell you that "he remains with especial sentiments of the highest consideration" your Jules Le Mouton. A Chinaman will say; "Farewell most favored of Heaven. May the gods preserve your honorable teeth."

BALL PLAYERS WARNED NOT TO PERFORM ON CENTRAL PARK

Those ball players who have withstood the frigid atmosphere of the past week and have been working out at Central park, will probably be very displeased to hear that if they continue to practice at this place, legal proceedings will be taken against them. It is claimed that it is impossible for the school grounds to be kept in a presentable condition if the ball chasers are allowed to roam around all over the property. By a recent amendment to the Petty Trespass Act it is unlawful for any person to trespass on lawns, etc, whether fenced or unfenced and the law in this respect is going to be enforced. There is naturally every sympathy with the boys who wish to indulge in the many different games but they must secure grounds in some other locality.

JERRY EDMUNDS LOOKS LIKE JOHNNY KLING TO THE FANS

Red Wing, Minn, April 26—With Manager Jack Cousins assigned to room 15, and directly across the hall, Frank E Lohr occupying a room tagged 23, and only five players under the blankets Sunday evening, the Winnipeg magnates were inclined to believe that they had struck a hoodoo in Red Wing. Monday morning, however saw the delayed ball tossers coming in on every train. Fifteen classy ball players after luncheon discarded the spring togs, showy hose and patent leathers and slipped into the Maroon uniform and spikes and were on the way to the park for the first workout of the year. The afternoon was spent in light practice. The boys showed that they are full of pepper and fighting spirits, but Manager Lohr refused to let them go the full distance, making the practice a limbering up affair.

Player after player took his turn at bat and simply tore the boards off the centre field fence. The line drives and ground teasers were well taken care of by the infield and the work of the outfield was sensational. In fact the bunch played midseason ball. McMahon, the little shortstop from Bingham, New York, scooped up everything in sight. Jack Beatty, who with Bond, are the only ones of last year's gang, is in fine trim and Winnipeg fans may expect some great stunts at the first pillow. The players reported thus far are, Frank E Lohr, Jack Beatty, Robt McMahon, M Murphy, Pearl Cecaan, Bert Weaver, A R Brown, B Simmers, Jerry Edmunds, W C Kane, Fred Monette, P H McIntyre, Ed Burobler and Pitcher Davis. Tomorrow E L (Vanwade, M C Holmes, Richardson, Gail Becker, Hartman and Spencer are due to arrive. Spencer is an old head and is a most wicked flinger. When he lets go the pellet they look like peas.

Midget Kane will surely be idolized by Winnipeg fans. He was performing circus stunts today and is some talker on the side lines. Edmunds the big pad artist is a second Johnny Kling. He can sting the ball and has a $10,000 whip. There won't be many pilfering the sacks on this chap. To-night the bunch will be entertained at a dance in the armory, but Manager Lohr states that the lights must be blown out at 10.30 sharp. The bunch also attended the Grand theatre as the guests of Alfred Chelleon, secretary of the local club.

BALL TOSSER'S CORNER

A batsman is out if he attempts to hinder the catcher from fielding or throwing the ball by stepping outside the lines of the batsman's position, or in any way obstructing or interfering with that player.

If, while first base be occupied by a base runner, the third strike be called on him by the umpire, unless two men are already out.

If, while attempting a third strike, the ball touches any part of the batsmen's person, in which case base runners occupying bases shall not advance.

If, before two hands are out, while first and second or first, second and third bases are occupied, he hit a fly ball, other than a line drive, that can be handled by an infielder. In such case the umpire shall, as soon as the ball be hit, declare it an infield or outfield hit.

Several of the scribes in the different cities picked Baltimore, Rochester and Buffalo to run neck-and-neck for the flag. Since the league started, however, they have relented and let Toronto, Newark, Jersey City, and Providence in the running. Great dopesters.

Ferguson, the pitcher whom McGraw had for two years and never used, beat the Giants recently in New York 10 to 0. That was ample revenge.

The Toronto Eastern league team will play their first game at home for this season one week from to-day. Baltimore will be the opposing team.

For a team to make three three-base hits and two singles in one innings and not make a run, does not seem probable, but how is this.

First two men hit out three-baggers and are caught at home trying to stretch the hits, two out; next man triples, next man bunts and is safe, man at third being held; next man bunts and beats it; man still held at third; next man hits the ball, but it hits a base runner, and goes as a single, three out. Three triples and three singles.

Toronto won yesterday from Baltimore. A win every other day is the extent of their winnings so far, but that is fair enough.

The St. Peter's school boys have organized a baseball team, for the season, and it is understood they would like to be represented in some league. Here is a good chance for a school league to be formed and a better means of developing young players cannot be found.

Church league teams should get busy and call another meeting to organize for the season.

Warder, Lindsay: The Peterborough Review dropped a hint the other day that it might be acceptable to permit Lindsay to enter a team in the senior league in that city.

On thinking over the suggestion it looks better every minute. If overtures might be made by the officers of that league to a team in Lindsay something along that line might be done.

The Peterborough league plays classy ball it is said, and a foreign team entered would increase the interest in Peterborough and furnish sport for Lindsay fans.

Manager Vince Treacy, of the Goold-Shapely & Muir team, is confident that he has signed a bunch of winners. "We had a team last year that was second to none in Ontario, and we are much stronger this year. All I want to complete the line-up is a hard-hitting outfielder." Vince has the following team ready for the opening of the league:

Catcher—Dubby Shea.
Pitcher—Simpson.
First base—Carson.
Second base—Burke.
Third base—McCallum.
Shortstop—Patterson.
Centre field—Dingwell.
Right field—Several to pick from.

Baseball prospects are looking brighter. Manager Pethick already has eighteen players signed. The first game will probably be played there on May 24th against Port Hope.—Bowmanville Statesman.

THIS IS RATHER A FUNNY ONE

Lindsay Warder Takes Unwarranted Jab at Local Papers

The Toronto press is in with both arms knocking the wrestling game. It is crooked they say, as if they did not know that all along. Meanwhile in Peterborough the newspapers will continue to boost the big-boned, clippery, money grabbing mat artists, sublimely innocent to the fact that they are really knocking sport when columns of free advertisements is given to a sport that has degenerated into something worse than a flim-flam game.

If the Lindsay Warder was ever in wrong it is in making the above statements. When Hassan Abdallah, Mohl and Rogers were pulling off their back clapping, rib breaking farces, to the applause of the gullible Toronto, fans the Peterborough papers were remarking on the easiness of the Hogtown audiences. When they couldn't get a five cent gate here they were packing the Star Theatre by putting on their grapling burlesques after the main show. They haven't been here for many moons and will never get a baker's dozen if they came back.

Think again Warder and say it right.

A good one was sprung on Mr. H. Abdallah, who has been meeting all comers at the Lafayette Theatre, Buffalo. The "Sultan's favorite" agreed to give anyone $50 who stayed the limit of fifteen minutes with him. At the conclusion of his engagement he was going to get a match on with Gotch!

This last mentioned bluff may have the effect of keeping away a little fellow who weighed much less than the ponderous Hassan, and who threw the celebrated Sultan's pet around in such fashion that the audience thought for a while the latter would be hurled clean into Turkey, amid all the trouble going on now in his native land.

SPORTING TALK

If Marathon racing is a crazy business, as many newspapers are saying, who is to blame for keeping it up? The promoters are able to clean up a big chunk of "Cobalt" with every race there is any place to, and the runners can hardly be blamed for spending their energy for less than three hours when a big purse is dangled before them. Many a man has done worse things for his health than running twenty-six miles for two or three thousand dollars. Compared with some money-making schemes the Marathon game is not so dreadfully risky.

Who's to blame for the Marathon craze? The public, of course. Marathon will remain popular just so long as the public will pay the coin to make the game worth while for the runners and the promoters.

Some good sport was furnished by the games in the pool tournament at the Belmont Club last night. The games were all well contested and the winners were Messrs. Smith, Warham, and Greenleigh.

Yankee Rogers and Abdallah, the candymaker, did their turns at Chatham the other night in vicious fashion, according to the despatches, the former's trick rib remaining in place until he secured two falls and another great victory. Happily the troupe are working away from these parts.—Toronto World.

A number of Peterborough men will go to Toronto on Saturday to see the Canadian Marathon Derby. They are pulling for Simpson to win.

OFFICIALS NAMED FOR BIG RACE

Canadian Marathon Derby to be Handled by Experienced Men

The list of officials for the Canadian Marathon Derby has been drawn up and those who will look after the great race next Saturday at Hanlan's Point are as follows:

Referee—Alfred Shrubb.

Starter—Controller Geary.

Judges.—Thomas Fitzgerald, Tim O'Rourke, Victor E. Gianelli, W. A. Hyslop, W. G. Little, Montreal.

Examining Doctor—Dr. M. M. Crawford.

Scorers—F. W. Summerhayes, Alex. Fraser, Elwood A. Hughes, W. U. R. Harris, Wm. Long, Herb Dale, Ernest Bonnick, Clarence Payne, J. R. Hay, Ernest Cook, Wm. Slee, D. W. Heaslip, Wm. Self, Walter Andrews, J. B. Flesher and Bert Darlington.

The runners will put in their finishing touches today before starting in the big race, and all of them are arriving in the city. David Bennett, the veteran, is expected some time to-day from Cleveland, and Fred Simpson sent word yesterday that he would arrive tonight. Forbes and Graham, the two Montreal men, will start from the east this evening and are expected tomorrow morning. Peter John, the Indian dark horse, came over from Caledonia last night, and Tom Coley is also in Toronto. The latter did his training near Merritton, and his manager prophesies that he will spring a surprise on those who fear he is not the speedy man he used to be.

On Saturday the gates will open at 1.30 o'clock and the race starts at 3 o'clock sharp. The race will be run rain or shine. Special arrangements have been made with the Toronto Ferry Company, and there will be boats every few minutes

ABOUT PRINCE EDWARD.

Canada's Island Province Has All Nature Could Give.

The British Empire is rich in beautiful islands, but it is very doubtful whether among them all there are any which have greater charm or more of homely interest and attraction than the islands which face Canada's eastern and western ports of Halifax and Vancouver. Both are part and parcel of the great Dominion, yet one—Vancouver Island—is actually farther from the other—Prince Edward Island—than the latter is from London. This fact indicates at once the vast extent of Canada and the comparative proximity to the Mother Country of the tight little island province of Prince Edward—the Garden Province, as it is often called, by reason both of its fertility and its beauty. And Prince Edward Island assuredly is a garden—the very sort of garden that most of us would like well to live in. But it is also a good deal more than that. It is a very thriving and prosperous province of the Dominion of Canada. It is no more than 134 miles long, by 34 miles at the widest in breadth, and there is hardly a corner of it which is not richly productive, and, in the best sense, habitable. The hay, oats, vegetables, and dairy produce raised in this favored island are regarded as the best in North America, while in abundance of crop return per acre Prince Edward Island stands quite alone. Most of the farmers own their farms, and a happier, more contented community it would be hard to find in the whole world. As a summer resort the island ought, by all good rights, to be as popular with English people as it is with Canadians and the people of the United States.

Fair Island of the sea
We raise our song to thee,
The bright and blest:
Loyally now we stand
As brothers, hand in hand,
And sing God save the land
We love the best.

Upon our princely isle
May kindest fortune smile
In coming years:
Peace and prosperity
In all her borders be,
From every evil free,
And weakling fears.

Prince Edward Isle, to thee
Our hearts shall faithful be
Where'er we dwell;
Forever may we stand
As brothers, hand in hand,
And sing God save the land
We love so well.

The island which has produced this patriotic poem is one which is being more and more frequently visited by travelers on the other side of the Atlantic, and especially by those who contemplate making new homes for themselves oversea, and those looking for sound oversea investments.—Standard of Empire.

When Betty Was Lost.

By LULU JOHNSON

Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

Strang, sitting in his big touring car, watched with lazy interest the tiny figure of the child toiling up the hill. He was fond of children, all sorts and varieties, but there was an elfin daintiness about this independent young wayfarer that appealed most particularly to him.

She could not be more than five, yet she carried herself with a knowing little air that belied her timid eyes and her rosy, quivering mouth, while her smart frock and fetching hat indicated comfortable circumstances.

He forgot that Danvers was half an hour late for their appointment. He even neglected to think about a certain girl whose image for the past week had filled his thoughts almost constantly.

To his dismay, as the child was opposite him she sat down upon the steps of a high stooped house and began to cry, not loudly and with a wild display of grief, but quietly, as if she sought to keep back the tears that trickled down her cheeks.

In an instant Strang was out of the car and knelt on the stoop beside her, seeking to learn the cause of her grief.

"I guess I'm losted," was the plaintive reply, "an' there isn't any policeman to find me."

"Perhaps I'm as good as a policeman," he suggested as, with a shudder, he thought of this dainty child's spending the day in some dingy police station. "How were you lost, and where do you live?"

"I was wi' muvver," was the halting explanation. "She comed in on the trolley, an' when we changed I was losted, an' then I tried to find Aunt Mollie's, an' I guess she's losted too. I can't find her either."

"Where do you live? In the country?" he asked hopefully. If they used any particular trolley it might be easy to trace her people.

"On the gween trolley," assented the child. "We live way out, most to where they stop."

"I guess we can find you then," declared Sidney cheerfully. "You jump into my car and I'll take you out along the line. We're sure to see the place then. Is your house right on the line of the cars?"

SIDNEY DECIDED THAT SHE WAS THE "AUNT MOLLIE."

"No, we has to walk a dood lot," said the child.

"But you'll remember the corner where you took the car?" urged Strang. And this time she nodded an assent.

Only one suburban line boasted green cars. These ran out to Mount Holly, a distance of eighteen miles. By following along the road, which for the greater part of the way paralleled the tracks, he probably would enable the child to get her bearings.

She was old enough to recognize a familiar neighborhood even if she was too young to be able to call the suburb by name.

He made her comfortable in the seat beside him, and presently they were whizzing through the side streets toward the open country. Sidney forgot all about the belated Danvers, but he could not quite forget about the girl who had been haunting his memory. As they rushed along her image came back afresh to him.

Somehow the child with her flowerlike face reminded him tantalizingly of that older girl whom he had seen sitting in a box at the theater a week before.

Strang had questioned several of his friends between acts, but no one seemed to know her, and he had spent his leisure time since then in trying to find some trace of her.

He was not permitted to enjoy his thoughts long, for the child soon forgot her troubles in the delight of riding, and her very evident pleasure delighted Sidney, who even dared arrest to let the speed out another notch when the child begged to go faster.

But when they had come to the end of the line and she had not recognized any familiar landmark the situation turned serious.

Perhaps even now a hysterical mother might be clamoring at the police station for her child, and a general alarm sent out at once might cause him to be apprehended. With an anxious face he turned to the child for a suggestion, and the self possessed little one promptly replied:

"We might look for Aunt Mollie. She lives close where you found me. She can tell where I live. If you stop where the cars stop you can get to her place from there."

Sidney Strang accepted the suggestion thankfully, and after treating the shivering child to hot soda he headed the car for town.

He sent it along at the best speed limit, wondering how he would explain this semiabduction should the police have been warned.

He breathed more freely when they entered the city again, and presently they were at the transfer point for suburban trolleys. From her seat in the car the child seemed able to pick up her landmarks, and presently, sighing with regret, she pointed to a house which she declared to be her aunt's. Sidney drew to the curb and alighted to lift the little traveler down.

"It was a terrible nice ride," she declared. "I wisht I lived miles an' miles an' miles away."

Sidney scarcely echoed the wish, but he patted the cheek that was offered for his caress and turned to climb into the car.

At this instant he heard an exclamation of surprise and turned to look into the glowing eyes of the rosy girl he wanted to know, the girl of the box party.

She had caught the child up in her arms, laughing and crying simultaneously. Sidney decided that she was the "Aunt Mollie" for whom they had searched and raised his hat.

"The kiddie lost her way," he explained. "I ran out to Mount Holly in the hope that she might be able to locate her home, but the effort was unavailing, and at last she remembered that she could find her way from the transfer station to your house."

"Lost!" The girl laughed nervously. "Betty," she added, "do you mean to say that you made this gentleman take you out to Mount Holly?"

"Betty has a passion for automobiling," she added. "Father has an inexplicable fear of it and will not have a car, so I suppose that she took this means of obtaining a ride, the scheming little puss. She shall be punished and put to bed. She doesn't live in the country. Our home is just around the corner.

"Betty went out to play with a little friend, and not until the other little girl came to ask where she was did we realize that she was not safe at the Rawlings home.

"Jimmie Rawlings?" asked Sidney quickly. "Jim and I are great friends. May I ask him to bring me to call some time? Then I might have an excuse for taking Betty for a ride without tempting her to get lost on her own doorstep. It was just around the corner that I found her."

"She deserves no more rides," was the severe declaration, but Sidney offered an emphatic negative.

"I shall feel that she deserves many rides," he declared boldly, "if you will act as her chaperon."

The pretty girl flushed, but a glance at the eager face of the child decided her.

"Ask Mr. Rawlings to bring you over," she consented. "I am Alice Fakins, by the way, and I am sure that Betty—and I—will be very glad to go riding."

"I'll come tomorrow," promised Sidney as he climbed into the car. Then as he rolled down the street he assured himself that Betty should be forgiven and have a daily ride, for she had found for him the girl of girls.

John Leart, Hamilton, was buried by a sewer caving in and was released in the nick of time.

Changed Her Name.

Mrs. Pigg, a very charming and vivacious widow, called on a legal friend of hers, a widower, to consult him on a matter of interest to her.

"You know, sir," she said to him, "that when the late Mr. Pigg died he left me all his fortune, much to my satisfaction, of course, but he handicapped it with the name of Pigg, which I must say I don't like."

"Well," ventured the lawyer, "I presume a handsome woman isn't especially complimented by being left a Pigg."

"I should say not," she laughed. "Now, what I came to see you about was whether or not I must execute what you call a deed poll to get it changed."

"Um—er," he hesitated, as if wrestling with a great legal problem—"um—er—yes, but an easier way is to apply to a parson, and I'll pay all the expenses myself."

It was sudden, but a widow is never caught napping, and she appointed that evening for another consultation.

DOURO DOINGS

Douro, April 28—The grass is getting green and the farmers are busy between the showers.

Miss Loretto Moloney of Warsaw was visiting her cousin Miss Aggie Garvey on Sunday.

Mr. David Garvey was the guest of his uncle Mr Michael Garvey, on Sunday last.

Mr Denis McFadden of Gowganda was in the village Sunday last. He reports times very lively in the new mining town. Mr McFadden will spend a few days with his friends before returning.

The trustees of school section No 3 have built a new wood shed on the school premises. This improvement along with the new wire fence which they built last fall makes the school a credit to the section.

Mr Patrick McMurray has moved to his new farm which he rented this spring. He has also started to sow his crops. We wish him abundant returns.

Mr. John S Mahoney has built an addition to his barn. It will be a fine accommodation for his crops and will make a great improvement to his property.

Mr James McGillgott has got his barn almost completed. It will make a great improvement to his farm.

Mr. Austin Allin has taken the contract of drawing the summer's output of the Maple Leaf cheese factory to Peterborough for shipment.

Mr James Sullivan has been engaged with Mr S Armstrong of Otonabee for the summer.

Mr. Joe O'Brien was in Peterborough on Saturday attending the horse show.

A very pleasant afternoon was spent by the little ones of this neighborhood on Saturday when Miss Annie Garvey gave a birthday party. All her little schoolmates were invited and a merry little group they were. The afternoon was spent in games, friendly chat, children's laughter and merry songs. It was an afternoon of real merriment and glee which only the light hearts of children can enjoy. Several nice gifts were presented to Miss Garvey by her little schoolmates and they left wishing her many more happy birthdays.

From Antober Correspondent.

The farmers in the vicinity are busy at the spring seeding, although the ground is still wet in many places.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kennedy were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Maloney on Sunday evening last.

Mr. W. J. Kennedy was the guest of Mr. Michael Kennedy on Sunday.

Mr. J. Mahoney and his mother were in the city on Saturday in Mr. Mahoney's beautiful two-seated automobile. The handsomest one which has been seen on the road for some time. We understand the purchase price was $1,975.

Mr. John F. Condon was visiting at Mr. E. Sullivan's on Sunday.

"The papers said the room showed a struggle."

When the other still kept quiet Gale insisted:

"Didn't you?"

At this Stark flamed up defiantly.

"Well, I guess I had cause enough. No woman except her was ever untrue to me—wife or sweetheart."

"You didn't really think"—

"Think h—l! I thought so then, and I think so now. She denied it, but"—

"And you knew her so well too. I guess you've had some bad nights yourself, Bennett, with that always on your mind"—

"I swore I'd have"—

—"and so you put her blood on my head and made me an outlaw." After an instant, "Why did you tell me this, anyhow?"

"It's our last talk, and I wanted you to know how well my hate worked."

"Well, I guess that's all," said Gale. So far they had watched each other with unwavering, unblinking eyes, straining at the leash and taut in every nerve. Now, however, the trader's fingers tightened on the knife handle, and his knuckles whitened with the grip, at which Stark's right hand swept to his waist, and simultaneously Gale lunged across the table. His blade flickered in the light, and a gun spoke—once, twice, again and again. A cry arose outside the cabin; then some heavy thing crashed in through the door, bringing light with it, for with his first leap Gale had carried the lamp and the table with him, and the two had clinched in the dark.

Burrell had waited an instant too long, for the men's voices had held so steady, their words had been so vital, that the finish found him unprepared; but, thrusting the lantern into Poleon's hand, he had backed off a pace and hurled himself at the door. He fell to his knees inside and an instant later found himself wrestling for his life between two raging beasts. The lieutenant knew Doret must have entered, too, though he could not see him, for the lantern shed a sickly gloom over the chaos. He was locked desperately with John Gale, who flung him about and handled him like a child, fighting like an old gray wolf hoary with years and terrible in his rage. Only for the lantern's light Gale would doubtless have sheathed his weapon in his new assailant, but the more fiercely the trader struggled the more tenaciously the soldier clung. As it was, Gale carried the lieutenant with him and struck over his head at Stark.

Poleon had leaped into the room at Burrell's heels to receive the impact of a heavy body hurled backward into his arms as if by some irresistible force. He seized it and tore it away from the thing that pressed after and bore down upon it with the ferocity of a wild beast. He saw Gale reach over the lieutenant's head and swing his arm, saw the knife blade bury itself in what he held, then saw it rip away and felt a hot stream spurt into his face. Doret glimpsed Burrell rising from his knees, his arms about the trader's waist, and the next instant the combatants were dragged apart.

The lieutenant wrenched the dripping blade from Gale's hand. It no longer gleamed, but was warm and slippery in his fingers. Poleon held Stark's gun, which was empty and smoking.

The fight had not lasted a minute, and yet what terrible havoc had been wrought! The gambler was drenched with his own blood, which gushed from him, black in the yellow flicker and so plentifully that the Frenchman was befouled with it, while Gale, too, was horribly stained, but whether from his own or his enemy's veins it was hard to tell. The trader paid no heed to himself nor to the intruders, allowing Burrell to push him back against the wall, the breath wheezing in and out of his lungs, his eyes fastened on Stark.

"I got you, Bennett!" he cried hoarsely. "Your magic is no good." His teeth showed through his grizzled muzzle like the fangs of some wild animal.

Bennett, or Stark, as the others knew him, lunged about with his captor, trying to get at his enemy and crying curses on them all, but he was like a child in Poleon's arms. Gradually he weakened, and suddenly resistance died out of him.

"Come away from here," the lieutenant ordered Gale.

But the old man did not hear and gathered himself as if to resume the battle with his bare hands, whereupon the soldier, finding himself shaking like a frightened child and growing physically weak at what he saw, doubted his ability to prevent the encounter and repeated his command.

"Come away!" he shouted. But the words sounded foolishly flat and inane.

Then Stark spoke intelligibly for the first time.

"Arrest him! You've got to believe what I told you now, Burrell." He poured forth a stream of unspeakable profanity, smitten by the bitter knowledge of his first and only defeat. "You'll hang, Gaylord! I'll see your neck stretched!" To Poleon he panted excitedly: "I followed him for fifteen years, Doret. He killed my wife!"

"Dat's d——d lie!" said the Frenchman.

"No, it isn't. He's under indictment for it back in California. He shot her down in cold blood, then ran off with my kid. That's her he calls Necia. She's mine. Ain't I right, lieutenant?"

At this final desperate effort to fix the crime upon his rival Burrell turned on him with loathing.

"It's no use, Stark. We heard you say she killed herself. We were standing outside the door, both of us, and got it from your own lips."

Until this moment the man had stood on his own feet, but now he began to sag, seeing which Poleon supported him to the bed, where he sank weakly, collapsing in every joint and muscle.

"It's a job," he snarled. "You put this up, you three, and came here to gang me." An unnatural shudder convulsed him as his wounds bit at him, and then he flared up viciously. "But I'll beat you all. I've got the girl. I've got her."

"Necia!" cried Burrell, suddenly remembering, for this affray had driven all else from his mind.

Stark crouched on the edge of his bunk, a ghastly gray grinning thing. One weapon still remained to him, and he used it.

"Yes, I've got my daughter."

"Where is she?" demanded the trader hoarsely. "Where's my girl?"

The gambler chuckled. An agony seized him till he hiccoughed and strangled. Then, as the spell passed, he laughed again.

"She's got you in her head, like the mother had, but I'll drive it out. I'll treat her like I did her."

Gale uttered a terrible cry and moved upon him, but Burrell shouldered the trader aside, himself possessed by a cold fury that intensified his strength tenfold.

"Stop it, Gale. Let me attend to this. I'll make him tell."

"Oh, will you?" mocked the girl's father.

"Where is she?"

"None of your d——d business!" Again he was seized with a paroxysm that left him shivering and his lips colorless. The blankets were soaked and soggy with blood, and his feet rested in a red pool.

"Ben Stark," said the tortured lover, "you're a sick man, and you'll be gone in half an hour at this rate. Won't you do one decent thing before you die?"

"Bah! I'm all right."

"I'll get you a doctor if you'll tell us where she is. If you don't I'll—let you die. For God's sake, man, speak up!"

The wounded man strove to rise, but could not, then considered for a moment before he said:

"I sent her away."

"Where?"

"Up river on that freighter that left last night. She'll go out by Skagway, and I'll join her later, where I can have her to myself. She's forty miles up river now and getting farther every minute. Oh, you can't catch her!"

The three men stared at one another blankly.

"Why did she go?" said Gale dully.

"Because I told her who she was and who you are; because she thinks you killed her mother; because she was glad to get away." Now that he was grown too weak to inflict violent pain the man lied malevolently, gloating over what he saw in the trader's face.

"Never mind, old man; I'll bring her back," said Burrell and laid a comforting hand on Gale's shoulder, for the fact that she was safe, the fact of knowing something, relieved him immensely, but Stark's next words plunged him into even blacker horror than the trader felt.

"You won't want her if you catch her. Runnion will see to that."

"Runnion!"

"Yes. I sent him with her."

The lover cried out in anguish and hid his face in his hands.

"He's wanted her for a long time, so I told him to go ahead."

None of them noticed Poleon Doret, who upon this unnatural confession alone seemed to retain sufficient control to doubt and to reason. He was thinking hard, straightening out certain facts and trying to square this horrible statement with things he had seen and heard tonight. All of a sudden he uttered a great cry and bolted out into the darkness unheeded by Gale and Burrell, who stood dazed and distraught with a fear greater than that which was growing in Stark at sight of his wounds.

The gambler looked down at his injuries, opened and closed the fingers of his hand as if to see whether he still maintained control of them, then cried out at the two helpless men:

"Well, are you going to let me bleed to death?"

It brought the soldier out of his trance.

"Why—no, no! We'll get a doctor."

But Gale touched him on the shoulder and said:

"He's too weak to get out. Lock him in and let him die in the dark."

Stark cursed affrightedly, for it is a terrible thing to bleed to death in the dark, and in spite of himself the lieutenant wavered.

"I can't do that. I promised."

"He told that lie to my girl. He gave her to that hound," said the trader, but Burrell shoved him through the door.

"No; I can't do that!" And then to the wounded man he said, "I'll get a doctor, but God have mercy on your soul!" He could not trust himself to talk further with this creature nor be near him any longer, for, though he had a slight knowledge of surgery, he would sooner have touched a loathsome serpent than the flesh of this monstrous man.

He pushed Gale ahead of him, and the old man went like a driven beast, for his violence had wasted itself, and he was like a person under the spell of a strong drug.

CHAPTER XVII.

THE LOVE OF POLEON DORET.

To the girl crouching in the stern of Runnion's boat it seemed as if this day and night would never end. It seemed as if the procession of natural events must have ceased, that there was no longer any time, for she had been suffering steadily for hours and hours without end and began to wonder dreamily whether she had not skipped a day in her reckoning between the time when she first heard of the strike on her claim and this present moment. It occurred to her that she was a rich girl now in her own right, and she smiled her crooked smile as she reflected that the thing she had longed for without hope of attainment had come with confusing swiftness and had left her unhappier than ever.

Restless and tired of her lonely vigil, she gave a premonitory cough and said to her companion:

"You must be tired rowing so steadily?"

"Oh, I don't mind it!" he replied.

At the sound of his voice she sat bolt upright. It couldn't be. If this were Runnion he would have spoken before. She ventured again tremulously:

"Have you any idea what time it is?"

"About 3 o'clock, I fancy."

"Who are you?" The question came like a shot.

"Don't you know?"

"What are you doing here, Mr. Runnion?"

"I'm rowing," he answered carelessly.

"I've changed my mind, Mr. Runnion," she said. "I don't want to go down to the mission. I want you to take me back."

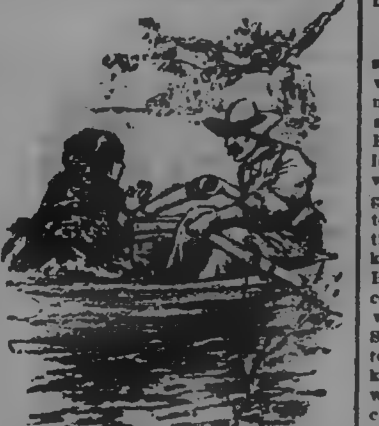
"Can't do it," he said. "The current is too swift."

"Then set me ashore and I'll walk back. It can't be far to town."

"Twenty-five miles. We've been out about three hours."

"Please do as I ask you, Mr. Runnion. I've decided I don't want to go any farther." He laughed, and the sound aroused her. "Put me ashore this minute!" she cried indignantly. "What do you mean?"

When he made no answer, except to continue the maddening monotony of his movements, she was seized with a rash resolve to wrench the oars out of his hands and made a quick motion toward him, at which he shouted:



"What are you doing here, Mr. Runnion?"

"Sit down! Do you want to upset me?"

The unstable craft lurched and dipped dangerously, and, realizing the futility of her mad impulse, she sank back on her knees.

"Stark told me to board the first boat for St. Michael's," he said, "but I've made a few plans of my own the last hour or so."

"St. Michael's! Mr. Stark told you—why, that's impossible! You misunderstood him. He told you to row me to the mission. I'm going to Father Barnum's house."

"No, you're not, and I didn't misunderstand him. He wants to get you outside, all right, but I reckon you'd rather go as Mrs. Runnion than as the sweetheart of Ben Stark."

"Are you crazy?" the girl cried. "Mr. Stark kindly offered to help me reach the father at his mission. I'm nothing to him, and I'm certainly not going to be anything to you. If I'd known you were going to row the boat I should have stayed at home, because I detest you."

He rested again on his oars and said, with deliberation:

"Stark 'kindly offered,' did he? Well, whenever Ben Stark 'kindly' offers anything I'm in on the play. He's had his eye on you for the last three months, and he wants you, but he slipped a cog when he gave me the oars. You needn't be afraid, though. I'm going to do the square thing by you. We'll stop in at the mission and be married, and then we'll see whether we want to go to St. Michael's or not, though personally I'm for going back to Flambeau."

The girl's beauty, her indifference, the mistaken attitude of Stark, urged him, and, strongest of all, he was drawn by his cupidity, for she would be very rich, so the knowing ones said. Doubtless that was why Stark wanted her, and, being a man who acknowledged no fidelity to his kind or his Creator, Runnion determined to outwit his principal, Doret, Burrell and all the rest.

Necia saw what a frail and helpless thing she was. Nothing about her was great save her soul, and that was immeasurably vexed and worried. She had just lived through a grief that had made her generous, and now she gained her first knowledge of the man-animal's gross selfishness.

"You are absolutely daft," she said. "You can't force me to marry you."

"I ain't going to force you. You'll do it willingly."

"I'll die first. I'll call the first man we see. I'll tell Father Barnum, and he'll have you run out of the country. It would only take a word from me."

"If you haven't changed your mind when we get to his place I'll run through without stopping, but there isn't another priest between there and St. Mike's, and by the time we get to the mouth of the river I guess you'll say 'Yes' to most anything. However, I'd rather marry you at Holy Cross if you'll consent, and I'm pretty sure you will when you think it over."

"We won't discuss it."

"You don't understand yet," he continued slowly. "What will people say when they know you ran away with me?"

"I'll tell them the truth."

"Huh! I'm too well known. No man on the river would ever have you after that."

"You—you"— Her voice was a-quiver with indignation and loathing, but her lips could not frame an epithet fit for him. He continued rowing for some time, then said:

"Will you marry me?"

"No. If this thing is ever known Poleon will kill you—or father."

For a third time he rested on his oars.

"Now that we've come to threats let me talk. I offered to marry you and do the square thing, but if you don't want to I'll pass up the formality and take you for my squaw, the same as your father took Alluna. Just remember you're alone with me in the heart of a wilderness, and you've got to make a choice quick, because I'm going ashore and make some breakfast as soon as it's light enough to choose a landing place. If you agree to come quietly and go through with this thing like a sensible girl I'll do what's right, but if you don't then I'll do what's wrong, and maybe you won't be so d——d anxious to tell your friends about this trip or spread your story up and down the river."

She saw Runnion gazing over his shoulder in search of a shelving beach or bar. They rounded a bend where the left bank crumbled before the untiring teeth of the river, forming a bristling cheval-de-frise of leaning, fallen firs awash in the current. The short side of the curve protected a gravel bar that made downstream to a dagger-like point, and toward this Runnion propelled the skiff. The girl's heart sank.

The mind of Poleon Doret worked in straight lines. Moreover, his memory was good. Stark's statement, which so upset Gale and the lieutenant, had a somewhat different effect upon the Frenchman, for certain facts had been impressed upon his subconsciousness which did not entirely jibe with the gambler's remarks, and yet they were too dimly engraved to afford foundation for a definite theory. What he did know was that he doubted. Why? Because certain scraps of a disjointed conversation recurred to him, a few words which he had overheard in Stark's saloon, something about a Peterborough canoe and a woman. He knew every skiff that lay along the water front, and of a sudden he decided to see if this one was where it had been at dusk, for there were but two modes of egress from Flambeau, and there was but one canoe of this type. If Necia had gone up river on the freighter, pursuit was hopeless, for no boatman could make headway against the current, but if, on the other hand, that cedar craft was gone— He ran out of Stark's house and down to the river bank. It was just one chance, and, if he was wrong, no matter. The others would leave on the next up river steamer, whereas if his suspicion proved a certainty, if Stark had lied to throw them off the track and Runnion had taken her down stream—well, Poleon wished no one to hinder him, for he would travel light.

The boat was gone. He searched the line backward, but it was not there, and his excitement grew now, likewise his haste. He stumbled up to the trading post and around to the rear, where, bottom up, lay his own craft, a birch canoe, frail and treacherous for any but a man schooled in the ways of swift water. He laid it carefully in the whispering current, then stripped himself with feverish haste, for the driving call of a hot pursuit was on him, and, although it was the cold, raw hours of late night, he whipped off his garments until he was bare to the middle. He seized his paddle, stepped in, then knelt amidships and pushed away. The birch bark answered him like a living thing, leaping and dancing beneath the strokes, while rippling, rising ridges stood out upon his back and arms as they rose and fell.

* * * * * * *

Runnion drove his Peterborough toward the shore with powerful strokes and ran its nose up on the gravel, rose, stretched himself and dragged it farther out, then looked down at Necia.

"Well, what is it—yes or no? Do you want me for a husband or for a master?" She cowered in the stern, a pale, fearful creature.

She cast her despairing eyes up and down the river, then at the wilderness on either shore, but it was as silent and unpeopled as if it had been created that morning. She must have time. She would temporize, pretending to yield, and then betray him to the first comer. A promise exacted under duress would not be binding.

"I'll go quietly," she said in a faint voice.

"I knew you'd see that I'm acting square. Come! Get the cramp out of yourself while I make a pot of coffee." He held out his hand to assist her, and she accepted it, but stumbled as she rose, for she had been crouched in one position for several hours, and her limbs were stiff. He caught her and swung her ashore. Then, instead of putting her feet to the ground, he pressed her to himself roughly and kissed her. She gave a stifled cry and fought him off, but he laughed and held her the closer.

"No, no, no!" she gasped, writhing like a wild thing, but he crushed his lips to hers again and then let her go, whereupon she drew away from him panting, disheveled, her eyes wide and filled with horror. She scrubbed her lips with the back of her hand, as if to erase his mark, while he reached into the canoe and brought forth an ax, a bundle of food and a coffeepot. Then, still chuckling, he gathered a few sticks of driftwood and built a fire. She had a blind instinct to flee and sought for a means of escape, but they were well out upon the bar that stretched a distance of 300 feet to the wooded bank. On one side of the narrow spit was the scarcely moving, half stagnant water of a tiny bay or eddy; on the other the swift, gliding current tugging at the beached canoe, while the outer end of the graveled ridge dwindled down to nothing and disappeared into the river. An instant later, when he turned to the clearer water of the eddy to fill the coffeepot she seized her chance and sped up the bar toward the bank. The shingle under foot and her noisy skirts betrayed her, and with an oath he followed. It was an unequal race, and he handled her with rough strong hands when he overtook her.

"So! You lied to me! Well, I'm through with this foolishness. If you'll go back on your word like this you'll 'bawl me out' before the priest so I'll forget my promise, too, and you'll be glad of the chance to marry me."

"Let me go!" she panted. "I'll marry you. Yes, yes, I'll do it, only don't touch me now!"

He led her back to the fire, which had begun to crackle. She was so weak now that she sank upon the stones shivering.

"That's right. Sit down and behave while I make something hot to drink. You're all in." After a time he continued as he busied himself about his task: "Say, you ought to be glad to get me. I've got a lot of money, or I will have, and once you're Mrs. Runnion nobody 'll ever know about this or think of you as a squaw."

HITCH IN THE PROCEEDINGS IN THE ONTARIO BANK CASE

Shareholders Want Bank of Montreal to Prove Its Claim to a Million—Bank Says it Has Done So.

After months of endeavor to have the settlement of the debt of over a million dollars which the Bank of Montreal claims is due it by the shareholders of the defunct Ontario Bank, which institution the Bank of Montreal took over reached with as little trouble as possible all the work has gone for naught and the matter rests as it originally was.

Such is the result of a meeting of the lawyers representing the interested parties held in Referee Kappele's office late yesterday afternoon. Those present were Wallace Nesbitt, KC, and J A Worrell, representing the Bank of Montreal; J A Patterson, KC, Glen Osler, F E Hodgins, KC, R J McLaughlin KC, and D W. Saunders, representing the shareholders; G B Strathy, representing the liquidator, the Royal Trust Co, and Arthur and G B Plaxton, representing the directors of the Ontario Bank at the time it went under.

At a former meeting it was practically decided that all that remained to be done was to select the shareholder who, with the backing of the other shareholders, would fight the thing through with the Bank of Montreal. To this arrangement Mr. Glen Osler took exception with the result that Mr Nesbitt left the meeting in a rather huffed manner, remarking, "I am sorry I wasted so much time about this as I have."

VALIDITY OF AGREEMENT

The point at issue is the validity of the agreement between the Bank of Montreal and the Ontario Bank, made when the latter institution was taken over. Under this agreement the Bank of Montreal claims that there is still due it over a million dollars. This sum the shareholders claim they are in no way bound to pay on the ground that the agreement is ultra vires. There is no question as to the amount as no dispute exists as to the bookkeeping. The contention of the shareholders is that the Bank of Montreal should prove its claim to the sum in question as a plaintiff and that they should not be forced to dispute the claim. The Bank on the other hand relies on the fact that the claim was admitted by the liquidator and assumes the attitude: "If any shareholder wishes to dispute the claim, let him come forward. We will fight it out with him but first he will have to put up security for costs."

"The purport of today's meeting," began Referee Kapele, "is this; Mr. Nesbitt has offered to facilitate matters by allowing the question to be got at by contestation proceedings and by a writ the shareholders to submit the name of the person to start the contestation and serve the writ."

Mr. Osler; "The difficulty is, we have not launched the application, the liquidator has done that."

Mr Kappele: "I will make an order if the liquidator wants its."

Mr. Strathy; "I don't want it."

Mr. Nesbitt: "Well if that is so I will take immediate steps to call on the shareholders for their double liability."

Mr. Osler; "I am in receipt of a letter from the liquidator's solicitors that the claim of the Bank of Montreal was never admitted."

Mr. Nesbitt; "Yes it was. Now, if there is to be any trouble we will insist on our position. The liquidator does not dispute the claim. The position I held was that if any shareholder wanted to dispute the claim I was prepared to allow him to do so, and if he were solvent I would not ask for security. That I understand met with everyone's approval and I suggested to get over every technicality, to have a summons issued so the two proceedings could be tried by the referee in June at least. There is no use in us parleying about the matter. Let the cards be put on the table so we can see what is in the hand. I don't think there is anything in it, but some of the shareholders have been talking of the agreement being ultra vires."

SOME ONE CHANGED MIND

Mr Paterson; "There was talk at the last meeting of a champion who would take up the fight against the Bank of Montreal and lead on to victory. I was the person chosen to find the champion but at the last moment after I thought I had him he reconsidered the matter and now I am looking for another. As a result I am not in the position to say who will take the brunt of the battle."

Mr Kapele; "Then we will have to dispose of the matter in the regular way."

Mr Osler; "All we ask is that there be a proper adjudication of the bank's claim. Our view is that the Bank of Montreal coming forward as a creditor, the only creditor, should prove its claim."

Mr Nesbitt; "It has been proved."

Mr Osler; "It should be proved in solemn form if I may borrow a term."

Mr Nesbitt; "What do you mean by that. If all we did the other day is wiped out, then I am sorry I wasted so much time."

Mr. McLaughlin;—"The remedy under the Winding-up Act should not be forced on any shareholder."

Mr. Nesbitt;—"Yes; you think any shareholder can put his hand in the bank's pocket and waste the assets of the defunct institution."

Mr. Patterson;—"Are we prevented now from contesting the bank's claim?"

Mr Kappele;—"Not at all. The matter now comes up under a notice of contestation."

Mr. Patterson;—"Can't the Bank of Montreal come here and prove its claim?"

THE QUESTION OF COSTS.

Mr Nesbitt;—"We have proved the claim. Now, you are old enough, and so am I, to know that all you people want is to have the claim contested without costs to yourselves. I don't intend to allow you to do that if I can help it. It's just a question whether you'll give security for costs with right for a limited appeal, or whether you want a writ issued so you can take the matter to the Privy Council You can do what you like about it, but the Bank of Montreal wants to get this thing settled as expeditiously as possible—by June, at least, a day before the referee here will settle the whole matter."

Mr. McLaughlin;—"You are asking for a special privilege. I think the Bank of Montreal should prove its claim as a plaintiff and not as a defendant."

Mr. Nesbitt;—"Well, I don't. You can rest assured of that. We will fight the thing through with you now inch by inch."

Mr. Nesbitt then withdrew, and after an informal chat among the rest the lawyers dispersed.

The result of the muddle is just as bad as it ever was. Only two steps are open to the shareholders now—either to admit their liability to the Bank of Montreal and so be called upon for their double liability to make up the million odd dollars, or get together and select some shareholder to contest the bank's claim, who, if he loses, will collect the costs of the action from the other shareholders who are willing to join in the fray.

SOME CANAL NOTES FROM HASTINGS

The work on the new dredge is getting well on to the launching stage, and before long will be ready for the water. The sides have received two coats of paint and the bottom is being rapidly spiked on and caulked, as well as the overhead staying being fitted in.

The sides for two auxiliary scows are being assembled and bolted together and will soon be ready for erection.

Mr. Mack and staff are getting everything in readiness for when the contractors will start operations so that as soon as the water permits we can expect a busy season. — Hastings Star.

WANTS BOARD OF TRADE TO TAKE UP THE RAILWAY ACT

Necessity of Amendment and Protest—The Interests of Places the Size of Peterborough Should be Looked After—All Roads Now Lead to Toronto.

A prominent local man and ex-mayor has called the Review's attention to the necessity of action being taken without delay to bring before parliament the desirability of greater freedom in the getting of low rates to and from centres of population the size of Peterborough. At present Toronto and Hamilton monopolize the low rate for Saturdays, etc, business for Ontario and people from the stations within a reasonable radius of this city who desire to make Peterborough their shopping and shipping centre are debarred to a large extent from so doing by the inaction of the railway companies who steadfastly refuse to make any effort to improve the position, at any rate from a local point of view. Now that this matter of rates is up for consideration the Board of Trade should be called together and should do all in its power to help the city out of a difficulty that has militated against it for years. President Gillespie is both prompt and capable and as a shipper he will see the necessity of seizing the present moment as a good one for local action. Discriminatory rates are most unjust and as the Railway Commission will soon be called upon to decide respecting them, no time should be lost in putting the city's case before it.

RATEPAYER SEES NECESSITY FOR A CHEMICAL ENGINE

Editor of the Review.

The blaze at the drill hall the night before last bespeaks in the strongest way the necessity for a chemical engine for the Peterborough Fire Department. It looked for a while as if the residences adjacent to the fire would also go up in flames and had it not been, for the good generalship of the Chief and hard fighting of the firemen such would have undoubtedly been the case.

Some time very serious loss may be occasioned to the property holders because there is no chemical engine in the fire fighting equipment of the local brigade.

Yours truly,
RATEPAYER

WAS SUCCESSFUL IN THE GOVERNMENT EXAMINATIONS

Dr Bernard R. Poole, the local veterinary surgeon, has passed with excellent standing the Government examination held in Toronto on April 8th. The subjects written on were pathology, histology, anatomy, contageous diseases and meat inspection, and he was successful in all of them.

Only a small percentage of those trying passed. Dr. Poole is liable to be called upon at any time to accept a government position in connection with meat inspection and contageous diseases. The appointment carries with it a remuneration of $1,200.

KING OF GAMBLERS.

The Prince of Monaco, occupant of the smallest thronedom in the world, is one of the most interesting and praiseworthy notables of European court life. Though he draws his revenue largely from the gambling syndicate that controls Monte Carlo, he expends his wealth in furthering scientific knowledge and the nautical museum which he is having built and which is now almost on the point of completion will be one of the most complete institutions of its kind in existence. And, more than this, a great part of the treasures it is to contain have been gathered by the prince, in his own boat, from every quarter of the marine world. For more than 20 years he has been engaged in making the collection and is publishing the results of his discoveries. From Spitzbergen in the north to the ice barrier of the southern seas the prince has carried his quest, and to assist in capturing his prizes of the sea he has invented many curious devices that seize and convey to the surface the fragile denizens of the deep without injuring them.

Apart from all this the prince is a model ruler in his little state. No one there knows what money troubles are. The land is so fruitful that it yields fine crops if any attention whatever is given to the tilling of the soil. And for those who are too lazy to win a livelihood from the earth, visitors from all countries of the world, pleasure seekers, who troop to Monte Carlo with swelling pocketbooks, are willing to spend their cash with a prodigality unequaled anywhere else in the world.

The smallness of his domain enables the prince to watch every detail of its administration. Every street must be clean and spotless, or the derelict workman is called upon to explain to the despot why the work has been so poorly done.

No native is allowed to play at the casino. Let foreigners come and spend their wealth liberally if they will, that is their own matter, but the prince will not have the poor of his kingdom dropping sums they can not afford with the inevitable harvest of discontent, misery and tragedy.

For diversion, this curious ruler, who has the power of an Ivan the Terrible, but who lives more like a Herbert Spencer, sets out on his trips of sea exploration. In the six years between 1885 to 1891 he first attracted the notice of scientists by the discoveries he made on the Hirondelle. Now he has a new and finer boat, especially equipped for the work, and named Princess Alice II. Like most other wealthy Europeans of scientific bent the prince is giving considerable attention to aerial navigation and has had a number of dirigible airships, so-called.

Overfeeding Causes Death.

Chatham, April 29.—Daniel Finnister, a middle-aged man, is dead. Finnister had been out of work and discouraged, and Tuesday afternoon he was given light work by Mrs. Thomas Brady. It is said that he did not have much to eat lately, and he ate a very hearty meal Tuesday night, and it is thought that overfeeding may have caused his death.

Dual Language In Quebec.

Quebec, April 29.—Notwithstanding hard fighting by the railway and steamboat companies and others opposing the measure, Armand Lavergne's double language bill passed the Legislative Assembly. It provides that all public utility companies doing business in the Province of Quebec shall have their contracts drawn up in French as well as English. The measure was promoted by the Nationalist party.

A Frontier Vocalist.

Among the flotsam and jetsam of humanity who are waiting in Prince Rupert for the gamble in lands is one who is beloved of all. His only known name is Texas, and he comes from Heaven knows where. Texas has a weakness for firewater, but he certainly can sing.

Prince Rupert would lose half its present individuality without him. From his shack at night come strains of the sweetest music, for Texas is a musician in the fullest sense of the word. The voice of Texas can make his hearers feel exactly as he wishes, and when he sings the Bohemian Girl all the flaps of the shacks are gently raised, and everyone listens in the dark. Men wander out of the hotels and saunter to shacktown for half-an-hour because Texas is singing. They forget, for that half-hour, that they have been up against it, and when they turn to go back to their hotels they are treading on roses strewn by Texas. Sometimes, when Texas sings there is a row of Massot Indians lying amongst the trees on the outskirts of the woods. They have perhaps come over from their island during the afternoon to sell native jewelry, or with a canoe load of halibut, and Texas has promised to sing if they will wait over. And do they wait? Why, they would wait till the chill of dawn, and paddle home in a sea gale with the blackest shadows hanging over them, rather than miss hearing a song from Texas.

To Alter a Child's Skirt.

In making garments for girls it is always important to arrange for lengthening the same.

First.—One of the usual methods is to have a series of tucks at the hem. This is somewhat of a trimming and later proves convenient by letting out the tucks, one or more, as is required.

Second.—If the dress or skirt is plain, the hem may be let down and a facing put under.

Third.—If No. 2 does not give sufficient length, then, instead of facing when letting out the hem, add an extension hem that will give the necessary length, being careful to match the design, if there is any in the material. A row of featherstitching may be made over the joining, or a finishing braid may be placed over it.

Fourth.—Several rows of insertion may be set in near the bottom of the skirt.

Fifth.—For girls a little older a circular or pointed yoke may be put in at the top of the skirt.

New Bridge Prizes.

Sachets are now given as bridge prizes, so that the hostess who possesses more of the virtue of hospitality than money may entertain correctly if only she has a large number of fresh looking silk pieces at hand. Such little bags are of all sizes, as they are used to drop among the handkerchiefs, the neckwear, the gloves and the lingerie. They are mounted over little fine white linen sacks, which hold the powder, and their ends may be fringed and tied together with baby ribbon or they may be faced or shirred into a sort of rose effect. Sachets are especially acceptable these days, when only vague suggestions of perfume are permissible.

Becoming Furs.

It is the easiest thing in the world to fall into the mistake of thinking that any fur is becoming to any woman. Nothing should be selected with greater care than the fur. For instance, a sallow skinned, dark eyed, dark haired woman will look the very worst in sealskin. She should wear the lighter shades of mink, red fox, yellow fox and silver gray fox.

Red haired blonds can wear sealskin, but the genuine brunette with dark hair and eyes may wear golden and light brown shades, such as mink, marten, brown or yellow fox and chinchilla.

SAFE EYE-GLASS FITTING

Selling eye glasses out of a stock like scissors or thimbles, is a dangerous practice that is altogether too prevalent.

There should not be the faintest doubt in the mind of any person who finds the need of wearing glasses, that they are identically, scientifically fitted to the eyes.

We offer you safe spectacle fitting. And that is the only kind you should be satisfied to accept. There is nothing on this earth dearer than a cheap pair of spectacles that you have chosen yourself simply because you can see with them.

NEWSY NOTES FROM BETHEL, EMILY

Special to the Review.

Bethel, Emily, April 28.—Seeding and the cultivation of the ground is now the general work throughout the country.

Miss Eva Switzer, of Peterborough, spent last week visiting friends and acquaintances in this vicinity.

Miss Winnifred Purdy, of Smith, was the guest of her brother, Mr. Wm Purdy, East Emily, last Sunday.

Many people in this vicinity will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Wm Evans, of Toronto, a former resident of this township, and sister-in-law of Mrs. D. Storey, of Emily. The deceased died on Saturday, April 17th, the funeral being held from her late home the following Monday.

The sympathy of this community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lowes and family in the death of their only son, Albert, who died on Tuesday, April 27th, aged thirteen years and ten months.

WESTERN ONTARIO SUFFERS FROM A SEVERE SNOW STORM

Wind and Cold Spell Which Originates in Southwestern States Has Ravaged Western Peninsula for Thirty-Six Hours—Eastern Portion of Province Escapes Lightly—Street Cars Tied Up at London.

Toronto, April 30.—The storm that swept over Ontario yesterday and raged all last night has caused an immense amount of damage, full particulars of which have not begun to be recorded.

It was stated at the observatory last night that the storm area extended over Western Ontario, and as far east at Kingston, while the storm centre hovered over Illinois. A continuation of bad weather is promised for many hours yet, with probable rain and a little higher temperature.

The storm, like the recent hurricane, developed in the southwestern States. In the early hours of yesterday morning it centered over Kansas, but moved on into Ontario.

A despatch from Chicago last night said: "A squall with the wind blowing 45 miles an hour, and rain descending in torrents, struck Chicago at 6.15 o'clock to-night. Wires went down in every direction and communication with other cities was completely severed. Peoria is experiencing the worst storm in its history," was the last message sent from that city just before communication was cut.

A Niagara Falls wire says: A severe snowstorm visited this city yesterday, about three inches of snow falling. The storm was accompanied by a severe east wind and thunder. The storm will check seeding and may harm fruit, which is forward in many sections.

A Windsor despatch says: "A severe sleetstorm prevailed in this district last night and to-day. Two street cars collided in Detroit yesterday and a lady passenger sustained injuries which will likely prove fatal.

Gurdeon Corning a prominent banker of Saginaw, Mich., dropped dead in battling through the storm to reach his home.

Eastern Ontario seems to have escaped the snowy visitation, but exceptionally cold weather for this time of year is reported at Ottawa, Brockville, Belleville, Lindsay and elsewhere.

In western Ontario the storm seemed especially violent, as usual, and London got its share, the street railway service being completely tied up in the morning.

So heavy was the snowfall in Hamilton and vicinity that the street railway and radial service were badly hampered during the morning, when the mercury dropped several points below zero.

Thunder and lightning with snow accompaniment was what the people of Sarnia had to endure. The temperature in the morning was at freezing point.

The town hall of Peterboro was struck by lightning and the clock destroyed. Snow was also much in evidence.

At Chatham in the early hours of yesterday morning the tower of the Collegiate Institute was struck by lightning and gutted by fire.

Sleighing was a popular pastime at Woodstock yesterday. A foot of snow fell. At St. Thomas the record was six inches.

Out west it continues very cold and snow has fallen in parts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

WILL MAKE HEAVY DRAFTS TO COVER THE DEFICIT

In Budget Speech British Chancellor Shows That No New Sources of Revenue Will be Tapped, But That Income From Present Sources Will Be Increased.

London, April 30.—Accumulated wealth and "the trade," which the liquor business is popularly called in the Liberal Government's budget David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, presented in the House of Commons yesterday, are made to bear the burden of the £15,762,000 ($78,810,000) deficit of the fiscal year, incurred by the old-age pensions and the race with Germany for Dreadnoughts.

"Socialism and confiscation," the wealthy classes already are crying and a few are clutching at the hope that the House of Lords, which represents these classes, may throw out the budget entirely, but this is improbable. Increased income taxes, death and legacies duties, a tax of 20 per cent. on future increases in the value of lands, due to the enterprise of the community, taxes on motors, to be devoted to keeping up the roads, ad stamp taxes on sales of property are the principal levies upon wealth.

The Government gets its revenge for the rejection recently by the Lords of its licensing bill, by increasing the taxes on some classes of public house and the customs excise duties on spirits.

A tax of three pence in the pound on sales of liquors also is imposed, and this is likely to antagonize the liquor interests and the workingmen.

On the other hand, the latter are placated by provisions made for labor exchanges for the unemployed, expenditures for afforestation and the promise of an industrial scheme as well as the satisfaction of knowing that the rich are to carry the greater share of the load.

The first comments of the members of both parties indicated astonishment at the number and the sweeping nature of the changes in the country's financial system.

"The maddest budget ever introduced," Sir Frederick George Banbury termed it during the course of a speech in which he declared that the new budget included every fad on the face of the earth.

Austen Chamberlain denounced it for imposing so large a proportion of the nation's burdens on a few people by different devices.

Mr. Lloyd-George proposed to provide the necessary additional revenue as follows:

By reducing the amount placed in the sinking fund by £3,000,000 ($15,000,000), and by a revision of the income tax and estate duties. The tax on unearned incomes will be increased two pence, to one shilling, and two pence in the pound, and the tax on earned incomes over £2,000 will be raised to one shilling. Persons earning under £500 a year are granted a special new abatement of £10 for every child under 16 years of age. On incomes exceeding £5,000 a year, there is to be a supertax of six pence in the pound.

It is estimated that the extra yield from the income tax will be £3,000,000, while the super tax is expected to bring in a full year £2,300,000. But the income from this source is estimated for the current year at only £500,000.

With regard to the death duties the minimum and maximum rates remain unchanged, but there will be an increase in the intervening scale estimated to yield an additional revenue of £2,550,000.

It is calculated that a revision of the legacy and succession duties will produce an additional revenue of £1,370,000.

Another proposal is an increase on a sliding scale of the stamp duties on share transactions, calculated to yield an extra £1,400,000.

Another proposal is to tax land values and mineral royalties. It is estimated that these will yield this year £850,000, and increase annually.

The liquor licenses are increased and from this source it is estimated that the additional revenue will amount to £2,600,000.

Tea and sugar remain unchanged.

The increase in the duties on spirits, with a customs excise of 45 pence per gallon, is expected to produce additional revenues of £1,600,000.

It is proposed also to increase the duty on manufactured tobacco from three shillings to three shillings and eight pence a pound, and to make an equivalent additional to the duties on cigars, cigarettes and manufactured tobacco.

Together, these sources are expected to yield a total revenue of £1,990,000 a year.

BABIES FLUNG FROM BURNING TENEMENT TO POLICEMAN

Special to the Review.

New York, April 30.—Eight lives were lost, six persons are missing and fourteen others are in the hospitals as the result of an incendiary fire which gutted the six story double-decked tenement house at No. 97 Spring street, in the heart of the Italian quarters today. That the loss of life was not trebled was due entirely to the fact that the Mulberry street station house was only a block away and the police helped get the frightened inmates down the fire escapes. Officer Brosener, a former ball player, saved five babies. Seven babies were thrown down to him in almost as many seconds and the big policeman managed to catch five of them, while one other had its brains knocked out on the curbstone, when it slipped through his hands, and another's skull was fractured by striking his helmet and bouncing off.

ALL HOLLAND REJOICES AT BIRTH OF AN HEIR TO THRONE

Special to the Review.

The Hague, April 30.—All Holland is in a whirl of excitement today over the birth of a daughter to Queen Wilhelmina at 7 o'clock this morning. The Queen stood the ordeal splendidly and Dr. Kouwer, her physician in chief, issued a bulletin shortly before noon that no untoward developments are expected.

IS KITCHENER TO PAY VISIT TO DOMINION?

Ottawa, April 30.—While considerable interest is evident in military circles in the report that Lord Kitchener is to tour Canada during the coming summer, and make an inspection of Canada's defences for the information of the War Office, no official intimation of the proposed visit has as yet reached the Militia Department.

"We do not, however, infer from this," said a prominent officer, "that Lord Kitchener is not going to pay us a visit. On the contrary, it is quite likely that Kitchener should prefer to take the Canadian route on his voyage home from India. I should not be surprised were he to spend some time in the Dominion."

PREMIER GOUIN MAY DROP OUT

Montreal, April 30.—A statement made by Premier Gouin during the debate on the annexation of Ungava, which generally escaped unnoticed at the time, is being taken up by many members of the Legislature as being of special significance. He said:

"I am looking forward with keen anticipation to the consummation of the project of the annexation of that great and fertile country. After this has been accomplished, I shall be able to withdraw, happy in the consciousness that before doing so, I have made my province larger and happier."

The obvious conclusion is that Sir Gouin will then resign the Premiership and prabably to accept a seat on the bench.

COAL AGREEMENT WAS RENEWED

Philadelphia, April 30.—Peace between the mine workers and operators in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania is assured for another period of three years. The agreement continuing in force until March 31, 1912, the awards of the anthracite coal strike commission was signed in the board room of the Reading company here yesterday. The mine workers' union is not officially recognized, the members of the miners' committee simply signing the agreement on behalf of the representatives of the anthracite mine workers.

ALLEGATIONS VERY SERIOUS

Cooksville, April 30.—James Farrell of Streetsville Junction was fined $50 and costs for having liquor on his premises for sale without a license. Incidentally, he swore that while searching the premises License Inspector Oro had removed a roll of bills amounting to $154 from the till, and that the money was never returned to him. A boarder in the house, Hugh Whitty, also swore that he had watched the inspector take a $2 bill out of his valise while his room was being searched for concealed liquor.

The magistrate at the conclusion of the cases stated that in his opinion a charge of perjury should be laid against both men.

MAYOR IS SUED BY A SUFFRAGETTE

Montreal, April 30.—The mayor of Montreal faces a suit for $5,000 damages preferred by a leading Montreal suffragette, Mrs. Wright, on the ground that she was handled with undue violence by the police when arrested at the mayor's command for smashing a civic inkpot with a civic paper weight during a stormy denunciation of his worship. The trouble originated when Mrs. Wright, accompanied by a sister Socialist, demanded help on the ground that the city was bound to furnish aid or work to unemployed.

Airships to Populate Arctics.

Boston, April 30.—H. Helm Clayton, formerly of the Blue Hill Observatory, in an address before the Boston Scientific Society yesterday, predicted that the perfection of flying machines would result in the populating of the Arctic regions.

LATEST NEWS AS TOLD IN DESPATCHES

Reciprocity Committee Busy.

Washington, April 30.—The committee appointed by the conference held in Detroit last week for better trade relations with Canada, called at the White House yesterday and presented the resolution adopted at that meeting to the President.

The President told his callers that there was some sentiment in Congress for the demands of the conference, but refrained from giving any expression of his own opinion.

J. S. Ewart for The Hague?

Ottawa, April 30.—Mr. Lake is asking the Government these questions: Is it true, as stated, that the Government is employing J. S. Ewart, K.C., to proceed to England and The Hague in connection with the Canadian and Newfoundland fisheries case? Is not Mr. Ewart an avowed opponent of the continuance of Canada within the British Empire?

No Canal Planned.

Ottawa, April 30.—Replying to Capt. Tom Wallace in the House yesterday, the Minister of Railways said the Government had not considered the building of a canal from Lake Wilcox, Whitchurch Township, York County, to the town of Newmarket, and no survey had been made.

Galt Boy Runs Away.

Galt, April 30.—Twelve-year-old Johnny Brown left his home on Barrie street yesterday morning, ostensibly to attend school, and has not been seen since.

The school teacher says the boy has been absent since Easter.

Million Dollar Fire.

Chicago, April 30.—One fireman was killed, another is missing and eight were seriously injured in a fire which destroyed elevator B. of the Illinois Central Railroad here early yesterday. The conflagration was discovered in the height of a violent electrical storm. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000.

Firebug at Brantford.

Brantford, April 30.—In the absence in Toronto of the Turner family (colored), Brock street, the house was set on fire and destroyed on Wednesday night. A year ago also the family was burned out.

Pleads Guilty to Theft.

Brampton, April 30.—Eugene Lockwood of Long Branch appeared before Magistrate Shaver at Cooksville yesterday on the charges of theft and on a charge of horse stealing.

Lockwood admitted that he broke into the summer cottage of J. Johnston, Etobicoke, on April 2, and took several pairs of rubber boots, a revolver and other articles. He was remanded until May 7, to give the authorities time to regain the stolen horse, the property of R. W. Parks of Cooksville.

Russia's Financial Difficulties.

St. Petersburg, April 30.—Count Witte speaking on the budget at a meeting of the Council of the Empire, said that the Jewish disabilities caused a powerful body of Jewish financiers abroad to boycott Russian securities, while Russia's recent alienation of German financiers has led to a further contraction in the market dealing in these securities. The Russian debt had risen to $5,900,000,000, an increase of $1,450,000,000 in five years.

Last of Huge Fine.

New York, April 30.—The American Sugar Refining Co. of New Jersey and the New York Corporation of the same name yesterday paid into the United States treasury about $900,000, completing a payment of approximately $2,000,000 in settlement of fines and claims made by the Government in its recent charges of fraud on the part of the sugar company.

It's Never Too Late.

Cornwall, April 30.—Daniel Terro and Mrs. Louis Dophinas, two residents of Cornwall, were married here by Rev. Vicar-General Corbet. The bride's name was Arsilda Dasault, and this makes the second matrimonial venture of both parties. The groom is 88 years of age and his bride 67.

Tunnel Work Fatal.

Windsor, April 30.—Gus Smith, employed as a pipefitter at the Michigan Central tunnel, was stricken on the street with an attack of "bends," caused by long continued work under compressed air, and died yesterday at the hospital.

POLICE TIPPED BY A HOTELMAN

Montreal Enquiry Results in Further Revelations

Montreal, April 30.—Yesterday's session of the civic Investigation was devoted to further investigation of the dismissal of charges made against saloon men of violating the law on payment of the costs incurred, the dismissal being ordered by Chief of Police Campeau, by whom the charges were laid.

The star witness was P. J. Cavanagh. He told of having made presents of money to Ald. Proulx, chairman of the police committee, and to Capt. Murphy and officers and men of number 12 police station. Chairman Proulx, he testified, received $25 after he had had the charge of violating the law brought against Kavanagh dismissed on payment of costs. Capt. Murphy got $25 and the officers of his station $5 each, and the men pipes at Christmas.

Another witness testified that Ald. Lapointe, who until he was unseated by the court the other day, was the chairman of the finance committee, and the leader of the council, had on three occasions interceded successfully with Chief Campeau and secured the dismissal of charges against him.

Cost of Round the World Voyage.

Washington, April 30.—Secretary of the Navy Meyer yesterday declared that the sixteen battleships of the Atlantic fleet, which had made the voyage around the world, were in excellent condition. The voyage had cost only $1,500,000 more than if the battleships had been at home, assigned to ordinary duties.

Shots Stop Fugitive.

St. Catharines, April 30.—At noon yesterday Emil Bieber, twice convicted of forgery, and awaiting deportation to Germany, suddenly bolted. High Constable Boyle took after him, and after a chase of nearly a mile, recaptured him, but he had to fire two shots before Bieber would stop.

Concessions to Farmers.

Ottawa, April 30.—Last night a number of minor bills were passed. Mr. Templeman's agricultural fertilizers bill was amended by reducing from $5 to $1 the cost to the farmer of having an analysis of fertiliser made by the Department officers.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

The people of Tabriz, Persia, during the siege of ten months, have suffered indescribably.

Joseph Ward was yesterday committed for manslaughter on a charge of killing Alex. Warwick on April 3 in the Markin House, London.

One Col. Charlesworth, said to be a British army officer, left a wallet with $25,000 on a New York hotel counter. He soon reclaimed it.

Damage to the extent of $10,000 was caused to the millinery stock of Farrel, Belisle & Co., Notre Dame street, Montreal, by a fire which started shortly before midnight.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra arrived yesterday on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert at Boja, Italy. They were welcomed by King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena and had luncheon with their Italian Majesties.

Nadir Pasha, the second eunuch of the palace under the regime of Abdul Hamid, was hanged at dawn yesterday on the Galate bridge, the great thoroughfare that connects Stamboul with the quarters of Galata and Pera.

MUST BUILD TEN MILES THIS YEAR

Ottawa, April 30.—In opposing the third reading of the Manitoba and Northwestern Railway Bill in the Senate, Hon. Thomas Davis declared that the C.P.R. had no intention of building. The C.P.R. had recently sold fifty millions of stock, but their program in Canada was only to build to the extent of eighteen million dollars, while they were actively building and acquiring property abroad. He moved in amendment that the company be required to build ten miles this year. The amendment was carried by 26 to 22.

THE CARPENTERS. MAY HAVE STRIKE

Niagara Falls, Ont., April 30.—Ontario Officer McNamara of the local force apprehended Mrs. Ida Taylor at Windsor on Wednesday upon a charge of disposing of real estate, located here, with intent to defraud creditors. Mr. Vandersluys of this city is the complainant. When the case was called yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Fraser a stay of proceedings was secured by counsel for defence. Sureties were required in two sums of $200 each. Mrs. Taylor was formerly a resident here.

Mail bags were stolen from a baggage car at Dalhousie, N.B. and the letters rifled.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC SHOULD PAY WHATEVER THE LOAN COSTS GOVERNMENT

Ottawa, April 30.—The debate on the second reading of the G.T.P. loan bill was continued yesterday afternoon. Hon. Mr. Fielding attended a dinner at Government House last night, and the bill was not proceeded with. On Thursday next, when it will be up for its third reading the Conservatives will move several amendments.

Mr. Nantell (Terrebonne) continued the debate yesterday and was followed by Mr. McCall (Norfolk) who moved that work on Quebec-Moncton section be stayed until the Quebec bridge was rebuilt. Martin Burrell (Yale-Cariboo) said the Conservative party could be depended upon to stand by any project that made for real development of Canada.

E. A. Lancaster (Lincoln) said that G.T.P. legislation had been generous to the point of charity.

Mr. Fielding informed Mr. Borden that the Government would have to borrow the money to lend to the G.T.P. He thought four per cent. would cover all the charges. To Mr. Foster he said seven millions of the money would go to the Grand Trunk, which had loaned the G.T.P. the money. Mr. Ames thought the G.T.P. should pay whatever the loan costs the Government.

To Mr. Lennox, the Finance Minister said the engineers had reported that the remaining three millions would complete the prairie section.

James Conmee has given notice of amendments to his bill to incorporate the Ontario & Michigan Power Co.

He proposes to strike out the clause declaring that the works to be undertaken are "for the general advantage of Canada," the clause requiring the company to be prepared to furnish one-half the power generated to Canadian consumers is struck out, and a clause substituted to the effect that the company shall export no power until it has received a license to do so under the Electricity and Fluid Exportation Act. The quantity to be exported may be limited by order-in-council to the surplus after the Canadian consumers are supplied. Expropriation powers shall not be exercised on lands on the Nepigon river except such as may be required for transmission lines, nor shall they be exercised as to any storage dams now constructed or hereafter constructed by the Arrow River & Tributaries Slide & Boom Co

CYCLONES IN THE SOUTHERN STATES DO ENORMOUS DAMAGE

Many Are Dead and Injured as Result of Fury of Storm Which Lasted all Day and Far Into the Night—Eleven Killed in Chicago.

Special to the Review.

Chicago, April 30.—For the sixth time this year the great Mississippi Cyclone belt of Tennessee, Missouri, Arkansas, Mississippi and adjacent states has been swept by a series of cyclones that left in its trail forty to fifty dead, hundreds injured, half a dozen towns destroyed and property loss of millions of dollars. While this section received the brunt of all the cyclonic formations yet the storm as a whole, swept the country from the gulf to the lakes and from the Rockies to the Atlantic.

At Golden, Mo., four persons were killed, at least 12 others were seriously injured and every building in the town was levelled to the ground.

Central Western States were beaten yesterday by a violent storm in which fourteen lives are known to have perished. Lightning rain and wind caused heavy damage to property and many persons have been injured by falling debris. Chicago's list of storm dead numbers eleven. The storm raged through the day and late into the night.

HALIBURTON MEN BADLY INJURED

While Experimenting With a New Explosive—One Man Had an Eye Blown Out

Haliburton, April 28.—We have several inventors of explosives here. Holmes was one of them and a short time ago had a narrow escape from being blown up. Holmes made a good sale to a syndicate and this probably encouraged experimenting. On Saturday Wm Hancock was trying an explosive of his own manufacture in a field about two miles from here. He and Geo Handcock, George West and Rutherford had drilled a hole in a rock, and were fixing the explosive, when it unexpectedly went off, with terrible effects. Wm Handcock had his head badly shattered, one eye completely blown out, was otherwise seriously injured and is not expected to live. George West had one hand and arm shattered, one eye injured, and other serious injuries. Rutherford had a very narrow escape, his clothes being torn but he was not seriously injured and Geo Handcock got off with a few slight injuries. Handcock worked in the Mill and has a wife and six children. The two doctors are looking after the injured.

THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS' "AT HOME" A GREAT SUCCESS

One of the most pleasing functions of the season was the "At Home" given by the Knights of Columbus at the Foresters' Hall last night. About seventy-five couples were in attendance and a delightful evening was spent in progressive euchre and dancing. The winners of the ladies' euchre prize, a very pretty tea set in royal Lipon china, was Miss Smith of Stewart street, and Mr. Elrin Letellier won the gentleman's prize, a very handsome umbrella.

In the interval between cards and dancing supper was served and the catering was admirably done by Mrs. L. Potvin.

Splendid dance music was furnished by an orchestra composed of Messrs. Nichol, piano; Hughes, cornet, and Barnes, clarionet.

Congratulations are due the committee in charge for the excellent arrangements and the splendid success of the "At Home." Mr. L. Potvin was chairman of the committee and Mr. J. T. Foley, secretary.

MISS FLORENCE KINRADE CAN BE COMPELLED TO TESTIFY

Coroner Anderson Cannot Make Her, But Attorney-General Can, Declares Divisional Court—Hearing is Adjourned and Set for Monday Afternoon, But May Be Taken in Camera—Habeas Corpus Writ.

Toronto, April 30.—Coroner Anderson's bench warrant demanding the presence of Florence Kinrade at the Hamilton inquest is worthless outside the boundaries of the County of Wentworth.

So say the Divisional Court, in a praiseworthy prompt decision on the points argued on Wednesday by G. Lynch-Staunton, K.C.

But—

The inquest is scheduled to resume on Monday afternoon next at 2 p.m., with Miss Kinrade as the first witness.

For the crown, lawyers have unearthed a new process of law which may be invoked to get around the other discomfitting obstacle. It is by resort — for the first time probably in the history of Ontario courts—to the issuance of a crown office subpoena for Miss Kinrade, an English procedure.

Only the Attorney-General in person can apply to the judges at Osgoode Hall for this document. He represents the presence and testimony of the witness to be absolutely necessary in the interests of justice. Refusal to obey such a summons is stated to be a "very perilous proceeding." The penalty lies with the judges issuing the subpoena. The procedure is possible under the general clause which makes English criminal law as it was in 1790 the law of Canada in all points not excepted or otherwise provided for by Canadian law.

Of course, Mr. Lynch-Staunton will endeavor to dig up more technicalities and it is not unlikely will seek refuge in a writ of habeas corpus. But if so, the legal talent at the disposal of the crown can be trusted to find some way out of that difficulty.

So that Miss Kinrade's presence in Hamilton on Monday seems assured. But whether it will result in voluminous reports in the newspapers is not so certain. Should counsel for the defence request that the examination be held in private, the coroner, with whom decision rests, may not prove disobliging.

EDUCATION

"One of the unacknowledged effects of free education in England has been to drive the sons of the farmers and labourers into the big cities. Boys whose fathers rolled up their shirtsleeves to toil in fields and factories, throng the cities seeking for poorly-paid positions, as clerks and accountants. Whilst skilled manual labour is in great demand, clerks and accountants are very poorly paid. In a country where over one-third of its adult male population is found amongst the ranks of the unemployed there is said to be a great dearth of farm labourers. Universal education, in other words, has only served to bring honourable and remunerative labour into disrepute."—The Catholic Register.

The last sentence in the above editorial note occasions some surprise. It is difficult to see how "universal education" can bring anything honourable into disrepute, and least of all, labour. We do not suppose that it is possible for us to argue from as wide a range of experience or knowledge as the editors of the Register, but if education can bring labour into disrepute, it can bring anything into disrepute. The mere universality of education simply refers to its being open to everyone. Had the word been qualified by another such as "uninspected" or "random," etc., it would be apparent at once that the phrase contained a self-evident truth, but to follow up the statement that the acquirement of mental facility and information is detrimental to honourable labour, is to go at one bound to the reverse side of the shield, viz., that which stands for a limited sphere of education with possibly other limits as well. We can gather nothing else from the Register's contention than that it is opposed to what is understood as public education under public control, and this pre-supposes a higher worldly power than the public, or, in other words, that the public is not qualified to have the management and superintendence of its own educational affairs. This is a question we submit, not of argument any longer. It ceases to be such when the moral right of the People to govern themselves in matters involving morals—education—comes in question. To diverge by pointing to the manifold absurdities, etc. of popular education is merely to say that all forms and departments of popular government are liable to err, and do err sometimes harmlessly and sometimes grievously. It is, in fact, quite possible, as the Register contends, that much of our so-called education has done harm. But to condemn Marathons and professional wrestling matches, etc., is not to condemn the principle of all sport or athletic exercise. It is the principle of universal or popular education that we understand the Register really means to condemn. If we are mistaken in this we shall be very glad to be corrected. If, on the contrary, the privilege and principle of popular education under popular management is admitted, then we shall be very glad to learn of the many improvements needed. In the meantime we are not prepared to forego the principle, while largely admitting the fact. What would the Register suggest? Are we to understand that it is not possible to raise the ordinary worker by letting him have access to "education" without, at the same time lowering him? Is it not that the People have not yet digested the means of improvement, known as education or adapted it to their needs, rather than that it has served to bring them into disrepute and degradation in the true sense? That the present system of education is largely destructive of ideals and neglectful of standards of moral excellence, every well-regulated man will admit. Freedom begets license, not because it is freedom, but, we may suppose, because of the frailty of human nature. And before closing we must have this to say, and to say truthfully, not being ignorant of the facts, that no form of religion and few forms of office in religion are wholly exempt from the most humiliating capitulations to the most unworthy temptations of money, ambition, material help, etc. Shall we, therefore, condemn religion because even some of its professional professors are not only false to the ideals they preach of, but recreant to the honour which they pretend to inculcate? Such men are ten times worse and more to be pitied than those referred to by the Register, and if one argument is good, so, we opine, is the other. And more. It is the weakness and venality of some incumbents of the high office of teaching the profane multitude to educate themselves who, themselves, are responsible for the bringing of religion and all that it implies into disrepute. It looks as in education, too, it is the weakness of human nature that is responsible. While we are discussing this question involving the fundamental principles of propriety, we should like to ask the Register if it believes that money or other contributions from the unworthy, that is to say, for example, from universally recognized vicious or dishonest or doubtful sources, should be taken and accepted by churches, etc., who, we submit, thereby become particeps criminis, even though they allege the good purpose to which they intend to put it. This point settled will go a long way to correct some of the most apparent, and yet persistent and flagrant abuses of the past.

THE SCHOOLBOOKS

La Patrie, the Montreal Liberal paper, says, "The Ontario Government has awarded the T. Eaton Company, of Toronto the contract for supplying readers for the Public Schools at 39 cents for the series. These books will be sold to the pupils at 49 cents for the series of five readers, ie a 20 per cent discount. The old readers cost $1.15. At these prices the parents will save more than half a million dollars the first year and afterwards about $125,000 a year. On coming to power in 1905 Sir James Whitney promised to smash the book combine which bore so heavily upon the heads of families. In 1905 the readers sold at 10, 15, 20, 30, and 40 cents—$1.15. In 1907 thanks to Government intervention these same books were reduced to 5, 7, 9, 13 and 15 cents—49c. The new readers will cost 4, 9, 14 and 16 cents—49c with a 20 per cent discount.

"The Whitney Government has arranged that the books shall be of the best quality. In Alberta and Saskatchewan the price of the same books will be $1.02. Sir James Whitney evidently has neglected nothing to make his Government popular What has been done in the Province of Quebec to put school books within reach of all purses, and thus to aid large and struggling families."

This is a fine testimonial to the practical usefulness of the Whitney government to the people. It is ever so much better than spending their money to impoverish them by opening up rival and wholly unnecessary districts.

FRAUD UPON THE COUNTRY

The Toronto News.—If ever a history of corporate companies is compiled a special chapter should be devoted to the New Brunswick Coal and Railway Company. It is the fearful example, the one instance of an incorporated company whose energies were solely devoted to doing those things it ought not to have done, and leaving undone those things it ought to have done. By a careful study of the acts of this New Brunswick concern, anyone can become well posted on what to avoid.

The credit—or otherwise—of making this company so notable rests upon Mr. Pugsley, Mr. Tweedie, and Mr. George McAvity. Mr. McAvity seemingly is able to discern "good things" with an accuracy almost phenomenal. He must possess a genius in this direction.

The company was organized to acquire the Central Railway of New Brunswick. Its first accomplishment was to agree to pay $180,000 for a property which the owners were willing to sell for $50,000. The money came from the Government. The directors contributed no capital. Only 7 shares of $100 each were subscribed for, and not a cent on these was paid up.

The elected directors did no directing whatever. Only Mr. Pugsley and Mr. Tweedie, the ex-officio members of the Board, were really busy. It must be remembered that all the money handled by this company came directly from the Government. The company was merely a disorganized and irresponsible department of the Administration. Mr. Pugsley and Mr. Tweedie of the company. They and their friends manipulated and twisted and backed and filled until more money was needed. Then they voted more to themselves, and in all their transactions were particular to keep no books. This fact alone is highly suspicious, particularly when the Province of New Brunswick has been plundered—by some persons—of $134,600.

The act of incorporation provided that the company should keep books, and that a semi-annual statement of the business under oath, should be filed with the Provincial Secretary. This was not done. The Government was not to issue more than $250,000 in bonds. But $450,000 was issued. Sums of money were drawn from the bank for certain purposes and only a portion was applied to those purposes. All in all the business of the company was a financial saturnalia and a gang of leeches was fastened on the Provincial treasury.

EDITORIAL NOTES

100 missionaries were killed in a single city of Armenia where they had taken refuge. Who will be held responsible for it?

The old State Church of England is cutting away gradually from its moorings. A bill was introduced into the British House of Commons recently to permit the Anglican to communicate with the Evangelical clergy. Catholics never saw any great difference between them anyway but this goes far to persuade people that even the high Church minority is admitting its wants of orders and accepting the position of the "non prelatical" clergy —the Presbyterian Methodist and Baptist, who not only make no claim to priesthood or sacrifice, but glory in their limitations, in this direction. This measure introduced by Mr. Asquith, the First Minister, the other day will go far to disillusion some honest English Catholics who by laying stress on the "branch theory" and the "true priesthood" sophism, have clung for years to and attempted to satisfy their Catholic instincts in the Establishment. They will have to come to us now or find themselves corralled with the unsufferable Evangelical herd. Thus the English Church gradually reaches its proper level and it is well for truth that it is so.—Catholic Register.

We hope that the words unsufferable evangelical herd should have been put between quotation marks. It is impossible to suppose that these are the Register's own words and we do not call them to mind as ever having been actually used by anybody else

HOUDIN WANTED BY THE POLICE

Handcuff King Dives into the Seine Improperly Dressed

Paris, April 29—Houdin the king of handcuffs, who has puzzled American audiences at various times, is wanted by the Paris police. He has been appearing in the music halls here and the other day afforded all the excitement to the idlers and others about the morgue.

Early in the afternoon of a bright day last week an automobile was seen to pull up close to the Seine. To the astonishment of the passers-by a man clad in the scantiest of bathing costumes, accompanied by two others fully dressed, left the machine. The bather's wrists were secured with handcuffs and his arms bound tightly. The crowd believing it had to do with lunatics shouted for police assistance. At the call four officers, who had been doing duty at the side of Notre Dame awoke and ran toward the wildly gesticulating crowd.

In the meantime the principal "lunatic" with the aid of a ladder, had climbed to the roof of the Morgue. He stood there for a moment, with his enchained hands above his head while the four policemen below looked helplessly on. "Come down," said one coaxingly. The man's reply was to plunge headlong into the river. "He is gone without a doubt," was the general comment of the spectators of the incident. But there was an immediate rush to the bank, and two laborers and a policeman plunged in to save the "madman" when he appeared on the surface of the water.

He did appear presently with his arms freed from the chains, and before the officers of the law could reach him, was rescued by a boat which put out from the opposite bank. On reaching the shore he jumped into the motor and was driven off. Later Houdini's identity was discovered. He is to be prosecuted for being improperly dressed and bathing in the Seine during prohibited hours.

Ladies' Literary Society

The last meeting of the season of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S., will be held on Friday evening when a paper on "The Dream of Gerontius," will be read by Miss Ella Brady.

KEEP CHEERFUL.

Use Logic Even When You Have Cause For Feeling Blue.

Whoever went through an entire season without seeing a ray of sunshine? And yet when we have the blues how often we sit down and prognosticate a future for ourselves without a single mitigating circumstance in it to warrant us in not swallowing a tablespoonful of strychnine and getting through with our troubles all at once.

There are few out of custody foolish enough to abandon all hope on a dark, rainy day and say: "Now I know that it is always going to rain. It never can be any brighter. Nothing will ever happen to make it stop, and I rather expect it to keep on getting worse and worse."

It may rain for a day or two, and sometimes things are pretty soppy for a week, but we all know that it will stop eventually, so bear with our rubbers and umbrellas and leaky roofs and wet wood and muddy floors with a fair degree of philosophy, always looking out hurriedly the first thing in the morning for drying weather.

Now, why can't people be as logical about their hard luck as they are about the weather and not let a blue day make them sure it's bound to last?

Nobody ever keeps right on breaking her best china plates or spoiling twelve egg cakes or making both dress sleeves for one arm. Very few break their legs or arms more than once or twice in a lifetime. Not many have typhoid fever more than once. Then why can't people when they are getting their dose of such trouble pull themselves together for the strain, all the time saying over and over so that they won't for a minute forget it: "Never mind. Everybody has to take a turn. A thing like this is sure not to last forever."

AN ABSENT PART.

The Budding Actor Was a Success as Carlos the Fiddler.

"The son of a wealthy old friend of mine, being stage-struck, joined out with a traveling opera company. I met him loafing and strutting about a hotel in a small town," said the veteran actor.

"'Come over to the opera house and see the show,' said he.

"I went, but I saw no signs of this young man on the stage, nor was his name on the program. Afterward I met him in the lobby of the hotel.

"'I did not recognize any of the characters as you,' I remarked. 'What part are you playing?'

"'Why, I am playing the part of Carlos the Fiddler,' said he.

"'There was no such part.'

"'Oh, yes, there was. Didn't you notice how they talked about him? In the first act, in order to get the chorus off the stage, didn't the soubrette put her hands over her eyes, look off L. 4 E. and say, "Oh, girls, Carlos the Fiddler is going to have a dance on the green; let us hasten or we will miss it," then burst into song and skip off? You bet she did.

"'Then, again, in the second act, when the bell is tolled without, doesn't the prima donna say: "Hark that bell! That bell can stand an awful lot of harking, for who is pulling the rope but Carlos the Fiddler?"'

"'That is true, young man, but they only talk about you. You do not show yourself on the stage during the whole performance.'

"'I am aware of that, but you must remember I am as yet a raw recruit. Still I feel I am on my way to fame and glory, though the path may be strewn with thorns.'

"Oh, if the hope and optimism of youth could be with us in our later years!" sighed the veteran actor.

Keir Hardie Has His Troubles.

Mr. James Keir Hardie, M.P., attempted to address a public meeting at Oxford the other night on unemployment and labor, but some undergraduates caused great disorder by throwing rotten eggs, oranges and apples. Free fighting took place and the meeting ended noisily. Mr. Keir Hardie was only allowed to speak for a short time, the greatest disorder prevailing. The undergraduates interrupted at the outset by singing the National Anthem and Rule Britannia. A proctor intervened, but with little effect, and the meeting was brought to an abrupt conclusion.

Mr. Victor Grayson, in spite of his troubles with the labor party, is by no means deserted by them, and has received an important position on the staff of The Clarion, certainly one of the brightest, if not the most originally written organ of the advanced Social and Labor party.

Where the Rejected Ties Go.

A man was buying a tie and carefully laid aside one or two as not worthy of further consideration. The salesman picked out one of the rejects and placed it in a separate box, which prompted the buyer to ask if it had been placed with those he was looking at by mistake.

"Oh, no," was the response, "but we have orders when five or six men turn down a tie as they look over a box to take it out and put it aside."

"Then what becomes of it?"

"We sell them to women who come to buy ties for men."

A Trying Position.

Mrs. Oldwoman was seriously ill and found herself in a trying position. This is how she described her trouble to a friend:

"You see, my daughter, Harriet, married one of those homypath doctors and my daughter Kate an allypath. If I call the homypath my allypath son-in-law and his wife will get mad, an' if I call my allypath son-in-law then my homypath son-in-law and his wife will get mad, an' if I go ahead and get well without either of 'em then they'll both get mad. So I don't see but I've got to die outright."—London Answers.

Four women suffragists were ejected from the British House of Commons Tuesday night.

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Butter—Very firm; fine goods short; receipts 4406. Creamery extras, 26½c; third to first, 20c to 25½c; process, common to special, 16c to 23c.

Cheese—Firm, unchanged; receipts 1397.

Eggs—Firmer, receipts 26,918. State, Pennsylvania and nearby fancy selected white, 23½c; do., fair to choice, 23c; brown and mixed, fancy, 23c; do., fair to choice, 22c to 22½c; western storage packed, 22½c; western first, 22c to 22½c; seconds, 21c; southern first, 21c to 21½c; second, 20½c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Hogs 5c to 10c Lower at Buffalo and Chicago.

LONDON, April 29.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 13c to 13¾c per pound for Canadian steers, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9¾c to 10c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, April 29.—The railways reported the receipts of live stock at the City Market for Wednesday and Thursday as being 102 carloads, consisting of 1583 cattle, 2437 hogs, 351 sheep and lambs and 360 calves.

Exporters.

There have not been enough export cattle on sale all week to make a market, and any prices quoted would be purely nominal. Our last quotations were from $5.40 to $5.75 for the general run of cattle offering, and $5.90 to $6 for something extra choice and properly finished. Export bulls are worth from $4.50 to $5.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots, which were scarce, sold at $5.30 to $5.50; loads of good, $5 to $5.25; medium, $4.60 to $4.90; common, $4 to $4.50; cows, $3.60 to $4.50; butcher bulls, $4 to $4.60.

Stockers and Feeders.

Harry Murby reports nothing doing in feeders, all of which were bought to kill if they had any flesh of any account. Mr. Murby only got two loads all week, and they were stockers, 400 to 600 lbs. each, at $3 to $3.50 per cwt.

Milkers and Springers.

There would be about 50 milkers and springers delivered on Wednesday and Thursday. There were buyers from Quebec Montreal and Ottawa, all looking for cows, and this caused a strong market at an advance of $8 to $10 per head. Prices ranged from $35 to $68 each, and had there been a better class, more money doubtless would have been paid.

Veal Calves.

Receipts, fairly liberal with quality a little better, but there is still plenty of room for improvement and then not be any too good. Prices ranged from $3 to $5.50, with a few of the best at $6 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The run was light, with prices firm. Ewes, $4.50 to $5.25; rams, $3.50 to $4.25; yearling lambs, of good quality, $7.25 to $7.75 with a few very select at $8 per cwt.; common yearlings, $5 to $6 per cwt.; spring lambs $3 to $6 each, with a few extra lambs at $8 each.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris reported prices as follows: Selects, f.o.b. cars, at $7.25 country points; selects fed and watered at the market, $7.50, and off cars unfed and unwatered $7.75.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, April 29.—Cattle—Steady; prime steers, $6.30 to $6.65.

Veals—Receipts 200 head, active and 25c higher; $6 to $7.75.

Hogs—Receipts 2500 head; slow and 5c to 15c lower; heavy and mixed, $7.70 to $7.75; yorkers, $7.40 to $7.70; pigs, $7.25 to $7.40; roughs, $6.50 to $6.75; stags $5 to $5.75; dairies, $7.40 to $7.60.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts 2800 head; active; ewes steady; others 10c to 25c higher; lambs, $4.50 to $7.70; yearlings, $6 to $6.50; wethers, $6.25 to $5.60; sheep, mixed, $2 to $5.35.

New York Live Stock.

Calves—Receipts 301; market steady; common to good veals, $5 to $7.50; city dressed veals, steady at 8½c to 12c; country dressed, do., higher, at 9c to 11c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts 5178; market steady to firm. Clipped lambs sold at $7 to $7.25; clipped sheep, $4.50 to $5.60; unshorn, do., at $6.50.

Hogs—Receipts 1142; feeling steady.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at 2500; market steady to strong; beeves, $4.90 to $6.90; Texas steers, $4.40 to $5.50; western steers, $4.50 to $5.50; stockers and feeders, steady to strong; cows and heifers, $2.20 to $6; calves, $4.50 to $6.65.

Hogs—Receipts estimated at 16,000; market steady; light, $6.80 to $7.30; mixed, $7 to $7.45; heavy, $7 to $7.45; rough, $7 to $7.15; good to choice heavy, $7.15 to $7.45; pigs, $5.75 to $6.85; bulk of sales, $7.25 to $7.35.

Sheep—Receipts estimated at 10,000; market strong; native, $3.60 to $6.10; western, $3.60 to $6.15; yearlings, $6 to $6.90; lambs, native, $5.75 to $8.45; western, $5.75 to $8.45.

Cheese Markets.

BELLEVILLE, April 29.—There were 340 colored and 222 white cheese offered here to-day; 11 7-16c bid for white, 11⅝c for colored. Sales, 155 white, 55 colored, at 11⅝c, and the same on the street for colored.

KINGSTON—Fifty boxes were sold at 11⅝c. There were only 145 boxes registered.

Ran Into an Open Switch.

Montreal, April 30.—The Rutland express from New York ran into an open switch at Iberville yesterday morning. The engineer threw on the emergency brakes and stopped the train just as it crashed into a freight on a siding. The brakeman of the freight had a leg broken.

OUT OF DEPTHS OF THE FOREST IN TWO YEARS; A NEW TOWN IN NEW ONTARIO

The Second of a Series of Interesting Letters Dealing With the Great Northern Country Written for the Review by Mr. Walter F. Stewart.

North Cobalt, April 26, '09.

In this far north country our springs are more backward than in Older Ontario, therefore we still have snow, and cold nights, the thermometer going down as low as 10 above zero. We cannot depend upon having anything like seasonable weather till about May 10th. After that date regular summer weather comes and the growth of vegetation is remarkably rapid.

In my letter to the Review of 16th inst., I left off at a certain pay day when our men went to Haileybury to get their cheques cashed, this may not seem to be an important event, but it was to them. Monday morning always found every man at his allotted work, ready and willing. That summer of 1907, was the wettest I ever experienced, it seemed to rain about every day, keeping the swamps full and roads very bad.

About June 1st, 1907, North Cobalt began to put on airs, she seemed to be feeling her position keenly, as one of some importance. A doctor arrived and took up his quarters on a pretty site overlooking Mill Creek valley, and he looked as if he came to stay. No one knows what for, there was no sickness, no healthier looking lot of people could be found.

Two small houses were erected, one for the doctor's home and surgery, the other to be used for a hospital in which three iron cots were installed. These three cots were made up in the usual hospital style and I almost wished to be a patient, those snowy white sheets and pillows were so enticing. But those three little cots remained clean and white and just as enticing for many a long day. The doctor began to wear a very anxious look. No one would get sick. One day we descried some object coming down the road in the distant from the mines as it came nearer, and all eyes were turned in that direction, we saw that the object grew into four men carrying a stretcher on which a figure was reclining. All was excitement, the doctor rushed down to his hospital to be ready for the expected patient, when lo and behold the procession passed on to Cobalt. We tried to flag them, but to no purpose. To do the doctor full credit he has held on to his post and now has a very good practice, and is today one of our most useful citizens.

The next event of interest was the T. and N.O. Railway station grounds, being laid out and one evening two cars of timber and lumber arrived, when nearly all the population turned out to unload them. Everyone worked with a will and the unloading was done in very quick time, all adjourning to the new pool room where soft drinks and cigars were served.

Our company sent up a building superintendent, having taken the contract to build the station, and while he was here had him erect a 22 room hotel, a store, a bottling factory and a new office for me.

On the 5th of October all were completed, an agent and operator took charge of the station, and we felt secure in having telegraph and telephone communication with the outside world.

Lots were now selling fast and the building operations active, one of our greatest needs was a bank, for I had often large deposits to make and on each occasion had to walk by the track to Haileybury, some three miles. There was a certain amount of risk in carrying large sums of money, as highway robberies was almost a daily or nightly occurrence. On one occasion I left my office about ten in the morning for Haileybury to deposit some money and when I reached a point about half way, I noticed two men ahead of me, they stopped, looked back, then took to the woods, climbing the railway fence, when I reached the place where they had left the track, I was hailed by one of them, who invited me over to show them the corner post of the concession line. I good naturedly started down the railway embankment to show them the post. I climbed the fence and was about to drop down on the other side when I suddenly remembered I had a good sized deposit in my inside pocket, and this may be a hold-up game. There was still plenty of time to back out of my part of the contract, which I did as gracefully as I could under the circumstances. They may not have been bent on robbery but I concluded the open track had purer air so stuck to it.

October 15th, all work being completed I discharged all hands, the mill was closed down for the winter and I was left alone with the regular inhabitants of North Cobalt, and I took to my cosy office to plan out work for the winter in the way of giving contracts for log cutting to supply stock for next season's sawing, also wood cutting and piling. One afternoon while working at my books, I was startled by shouts, and language that would make your hair stand on end. I knew it could not be a Sunday School convention nor even a peaceable gathering of civilized beings. Upon looking out I saw across the street a very savage fight going on between about eight Syrians and six big Swedes in front of a store owned by the former. The Syrians were armed with clubs, pokers and axes, the Swedes used their fists and each was using his respective weapon with some effect. Now we had no police or J.P. not even a lawyer to look to for protection, so it was up to me to do something. People commenced to gather and stand in knots at a respectful distance and looked on with various interests. I knew I had to run up against a pretty bad bunch, and I never was classed among heroes, but was blessed with any amount of luck in getting into and out of scrapes and scraps. When I started across the street on the double, I did not know what I was going to do when I got there. One thought that was uppermost in my mind, was, I must not get too close or I will get spattered with blood and I had my best clothes on. However I was among them before I knew it and I was surprised how easy it was. A note book and pencil stopped the racket in an instant. I did not know a single name but I took them all down in my book anyway.

The Syrians struck for cover and disappeared like magic. The Swedes, I made them arrest one another and take them to the station —Railway station. One who was still crazy for fight and wanted revenge for the blood he had lost, gave some trouble, by making a break for the store, but my foot happened to be in his way and he fell over it. He was immensely strong for it took four to hold him, so they each took a leg and an arm and carried him like a frog. To show how these foreigners dread Canadian law they begged and entreated me to strike their names off that book and not have to be brought before the Magistrate in Haileybury. I promised that if they would be good I would not have them summonsed this time. They were curious to see my book, but I dare not show it to them, the only foreign names I could think of in my hurry was Benson, Smith and Jones. We have a curious mixture here of nationalities. French, Germans, Swedes, Norwegians, Italians, Syrians, Chinese, Russians, Jews and Frenchmen all in this little town, and the nearest police is on the other end of my telephone wire, of course ready to come to my assistance at a moment's notice, but not once yet have I had to use the phone for that purpose. They simply have a wholesome dread of the police and they know I am always in touch with them. A Frenchman told me one morning a Swede had stolen his neck yoke, he could not tell who was, but I told the first Swede I saw that one of his people had stolen this man's neck yoke and must be returned by the next morning and it was. I am always careful to tell them to return it before next morning because they prefer replacing stolen goods after dark.

In my next letter I intend giving a description of our opening the first schools and churches, our concerts, dances and socials, which I will endeavor to make as interesting as possible. Thanking you all for your kind attention. I am,

Yours faithfully,
WALTER F. STEWART.

ONLY TOO TRUE

Last week a man stepped up to us and said he would pay us every cent he owed us if he lived till Saturday night. We presume the man died. Another man said he would pay us in a day or two as sure as we were born. Query, Did the man die or were we never born? Another said he would settle as sure as shooting. We presume that shooting is very uncertain. Another man said he hoped to go to the devil if he did not pay us within three days. Haven't seen him since; suppose he has gone but trust he did not hope in vain. Quite a number said they would see us tomorrow. They must have been stricken blind, or tomorrow has not come. One man told us six months ago that he would pay as soon as he got some money. The man would not lie, of course he has not got a cent since.

BELMONT MAN HEAVILY FINED

$25.00 and Costs Amounting in All to $50.00 or Two Months in Jail Imposed on Frank Varty

Havelock, April 29.—Frank Varty, of Belmont, appeared before County Magistrate Edmison on Tuesday afternoon to answer to the charge of obstructing Constable Brill in the discharge of the latter's duty. Varty having interfered when Fred Varty was arrested here on the 6th inst., the particulars of which our readers are familiar with. The evidence of constable Brill, Geo. Phillips, Jos. Knox, Thos. Wood, Robt. Walton, Robt. Flynn and T. Easterbrook proved that Varty had obstructed the chief thereby letting his brother Fred escape from custody. Character evidence for the defendant was given by Wm. Rylott, J. Spinks, Jas. Freeman and Frank Spinks, and his worship, in summing up delivered a strong temperance lecture to Varty, and impressed upon him the seriousness of his offence, which was punishable by six months in gaol or a fine of $100 and costs. The fact that Fred Varty was a brother of the defendant and that the defendant's interference on that account was to a certain extent justified, inclined him to take a lenient view of the case, yet his worship pointed out that Varty had absolutely no right to obstruct a constable in the discharge of his duty, and that officers of the law had to be fully protected. Thereupon he fined the defendant $25 and costs, or a total of about $50, to be paid within a week or, in default, to two months in gaol. A second charge against Varty, of being disorderly on the streets, was dismissed by his worship. Mr. Geo. J. Sherry, of Norwood, appeared for the prosecution and Mr. F. D. Kerr, of Peterborough, for the defence.

ATTEMPTED TO STEAL A RIDE

Young Man Wanted to Get to Toronto and Did Not Have the Price of a Railway Ticket

John McGathern was charged in police court this morning with attempting, on April 29th, to use the C.P.R. service as a means of transportation without first securing a ticket. He pleaded guilty.

Accused stated that he had no funds and wished to reach Toronto, in an endeavor to secure work.

Magistrate Dumble, however, told him that the railways had to be protected, and imposed a fine of $5.60, to be paid in ten days.

THE DISAPPOINTED LOVER

From "The Triumph of Time."

I will go back to the great sweet mother—
Mother and lover of men, the Sea.
I will go down to her, I and none other,
Close with her, kiss her, and mix her with me;
Cling to her, strive with her, hold her fast.
Born without sister, born without brother,
Set free my soul as thy soul is free.

O fair green-girdled mother of mine,
Sea, that are clothed with the sun and the rain,
Thy sweet hard kisses are strong like wine,
Thy large embraces are keen like pain,
Save me and hide me with all thy waves,
Find me one grave of thy thousand graves,
Those pure cold populous graves of thine—
Wrought without hand in a world without stain.

I shall sleep and move with the moving ships,
Change as the winds change, veer in the tide;
My lips shall feast on the foam of thy lips,
I shall rise with thy rising, with thee subside;
Sleep and not know if she be, if she were—
Filled full of life to the eyes and hair,
As a rose is full filled to rose-leaf tips
With splendid summer and perfume and pride.

This woven raiment of nights and of days.
Were it once cast off and unwound from me,
Naked and glad would I walk in thy ways;
Alive and aware of thy waves and thee;
Clear of the whole world, hidden at home,
Clothed with the green and crowned with the foam,
A pulse of the life of thy straits and bays,
A vein in the heart of the streams of the sea.

—Chas. Algernon Swinburne.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letter From "Fair Play"

Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I see by an item in last night's issue of your paper that the boys have been warned not to play baseball on Central park, as they are ruining the property. Don't you think it would also be a good idea for the authorities to insist on the Collegiate students using the sidewalk that was built for them by the city at considerable expense, instead of trying to make a new roadway through the park from the school to the corner of George and Murray Sts. Thanking you for space,

Yours truly,

BLACKLISTER IN COURT TO FACE TWO CHARGES

Was Fined $10.00, and on Default of Payment Ten Days in Goal

George Martin was served with a notice on the 15th day of April notifying him not to use intoxicating liquor. He was arrested last night, and appeared in police court this morning to answer to the charge of being drunk last night and also last Wednesday. He pleaded not guilty.

After hearing considerable evidence the Magistrate imposed a fine of ten dollars or ten days in jail.

Inspector Stewart gave evidence to the effect that the accused was a shoemaker and kept a store on George street. He had been served with the blacklist notice and the hotels had also been posted. He also stated that Martin had been in the habit of drinking liquor to excess and also supplying it to others who were on the "list."

P. C. Mebarry stated that he had served accused yesterday with a summons for being drunk on Wednesday. He was not on duty last night and had gone into the Crystal. He noticed Martin in a back seat, apparently asleep. Defendant awoke and walked out and appeared to be sick. He also went out and as Martin was staggering around on the sidewalk he took him to the police station and locked him up.

Accused admitted being served with the black list notice by Inspector Stewart, but he did not get any liquor since then, nor had he been drunk last night or on Wednesday. There had not been a man by the name of Sweeney in his shop on Wednesday, nor had there been any liquor brought in. He stated that he had been suffering from rheumatism in his arm and was also sick.

An employee of the Crystal was called and stated that he could not say Martin was intoxicated when in the theatre last night. He had been sitting in a back seat, and when he went out he appeared to be sick. Accused did not stagger when going out the door and as he did not see him going down the street could not say if he was staggering.

Another witness stated that he occupied a store one door north of Martin's. He did not see him on Wednesday nor did he see him lying on the floor but he had heard the words "I can't get off my back," used, during a conversation in accused's shop. Martin had called in his store about six o'clock on Wednesday night and appeared to be sober.

P. C. McGinty and Meagher were on duty last night when Martin was brought in by P. C. Mebarry. Both stated that there was every evidence that Martin was under the influence of liquor.

The Magistrate held that the charge had been proven and gave the above judgment.

DETAILS OF SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT NEAR QUEENSBORO

Bridge Parted and Wagon Went Into Stream—Two Little Children Were in School When Their Parents Were Drowned.

The Tweed News says:

Monday forenoon Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Clark, of Elzevir township, were on their way to Mrs. Clark's brother, John Alexander's place, having a calf in their waggon for him.

They had to cross what is known as the Black Creek bridge, about two miles below Queensboro.

Just a little while ahead of them Miss Sarah Kelly and her little niece had passed over the bridge in a buggy. Previous to this Mr. Lynn had crossed with the milk waggon, and Saturday night Mr. Wilkinson had gone over the bridge with a 2,500-pound load of hay.

The span of the bridge was about forty feet. It is very old, and has been slated for repairs for sometime, material for the purpose being already on the ground.

Without a moment's notice the rotten timbers parted, calf and all were let down into the raging waters. The stream just now is very strong and deep. In a trice they were borne helplessly away to a sad death, without a helping hand being near.

The sad news soon spread and the stream was lined with a living mass of men searching for the bodies.

Boats were brought from Bannockburn. Diligently the search has been kept up, but up to noon to-day (Wednesday) the bodies have not been recovered.

The bodies of the horses and the calf have been found, and Monday afternoon they brought up Mrs. Clark's hat with the grappling irons. Tuesday they found her gloves and handkerchief.

Mrs Clark is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander, blacksmith, of Queensboro. She was about 29 years of age. Mr. Clark was just a few days past 40 years.

They leave behind them a little boy aged 10 years and a little girl aged 8 years. The children were at school.

The drowning has wrapped the whole north country in a mantle of deepest gloom. The deceased were splendid people. Their nearest neighbors speak of them in the very highest terms of praise.

LABOR CONDITIONS HERE AS REPORTED BY THE LABOR GAZETTE'S CORRESPONDENT

Mr. Arthur Sharp has the following report from Peterborough and district in the April number of the Labor Gazette;

GENERAL CONDITION OF LABOR MARKET.

The general condition of labor has improved somewhat since February. Spring building is showing signs of getting under way. Permits are being taken out and everything put in shape to start as soon as the weather will permit. The Weatherstone Co. has built a new factory for the manufacture of mats. Knox church will build a new church this spring; it will be of brick with stone front and will cost in the neighborhood of $25,000. The Wm Hamilton Co. has received a large contract from the Railways and Canals Department of the Dominion Government for the supplying of lock machinery for twenty-four locks on the Trent Canal. The contract amounts to about $80,000. Retail merchants reported business improving. Banks found money easier.

CONDITION OF LOCAL INDUSTRIES

Agriculture— The farmers are doing very little at this time of the year except those who have a sugar bush and who are busy making maple sugar.

Lumbering— In so far as the cut of logs is concerned the past winter has been one of the best for many years and this despite the fact that few of the lumber companies sent up to the woods their regulation quota of men. The men are coming down from the bush now and the drives will begin as soon as the ice in the rivers and streams begins to break up. The lumbermen express great satisfaction at the reports they have received of the season's work in the woods. The camp in Anstruther of the McDonald Lumber Co. closed on the first of the month and about 70 of the men returned to the city.

CONDITION OF PARTICULAR TRADES.

The building trades were quiet, but some are getting material on the ground and will start as soon as weather permits. Painters reported work active for this time of the year. Plumbers, gas and steamfitters were not doing much. Iron moulders and car makers were busy. Machinists reported a slight improvement. Electric workers have been active the last month, but brass workers have not been very busy. Boat builders and canoe workers have been very busy. Pattern makers have also had a good month. Printers have been active this month; also pressmen. Journeymen tailors and garment workers have had a quiet month, but are becoming busy. Cigar makers reported business dull. Tanners and curriers were busy, also leather workers and saddlers. There was very little work for unskilled labor.

DISTRICT NOTES

Haliburton —Malloy and Bryans stave mill started up, employing about 25 hands. W Laking and Austin and Sowan are getting there mills into shape and will be running in a week or so.

Apsley—The county council is about to erect a new bridge at McCall's mill.

Lindsay—The plaining mill has been reopened and a full staff of men has been engaged; the firm expects to be busy for some time.

Known as the Granville Street Bridge—Thirty-Seven Feet Above High Tide—An Evidence of the Strength and Prosperity of the Gateway of the Pacific.

Dr. J. A. L. Waddell, CE, of Kansas City is one of the great bridge engineers of the continent having been engaged either directly or as consulting engineer in many of the largest undertakings of that character in America, notably, the Brooklyn and East River bridges, and the immense structure over the Mississippi at St Louis. Vancouver is rapidly becoming a source of pride, not only to British Columbia but to all Canada and this is one more evidence of its progress and activity. Dr Waddell comes from Cobourg, Ont, and is a son of the late Sheriff Waddell. His brother, Mr Robert Waddell, CE, married a Peterborough lady, Miss Vair, niece of Mrs. W. E. Wood. Dr. Waddell is a cousin of Mr. Hugh Waddell of this city.

Y.W.C.A. ANNUAL MEETING BEING HELD TO-NIGHT

ALIENATION OF WIFE'S AFFECTIONS

Charge Made by Haliburton Man Against Another Resident of That County

Lindsay, April 28.—Frederick Cain, of Glamorgan, Haliburton, issued a writ through Mr. I. E. Weldon yesterday against David Billings, also of Haliburton, for unstated damages for the alienation of the affections of his wife.

The case will come up at the next court with a jury, and has created a lot of interest.

The plaintiff in this case claims, it is said, that the defendant has induced his wife to leave him, and that he has also induced his wife to sell off the farm stock, etc., which the plaintiff claims is his property.

"PARSIFAL" AND ITS MARVELLOUS SCENIC BEAUTIES

We are again to have "Parsifal" this season and the announcement will be received with genuine pleasure and acclaim by every lover of the sublime in art. Managers Martin and Emery will again give local playgoers an opportunity to see their splendidly equipped company live in the characters of Wagner's great religious festival story. The company is still more capable than that seen here formerly the aim of the management being to approach perfection as nearly as possible by securing the best available talent for the several roles. It can be accepted in the utmost good faith on the pledge of Messrs Martin and Emery that the coming presentment will be one of exceptional artistic merit and in every way worthy of the lofty and mystic nature of Wagner's masterpiece.

But in an art story of such colossal imagination not only must the characters live again; they must move amid the surroundings and environment in which they were placed in the author's mind. The demands which "Parsifal" makes on the scenic painter the stage manager, the electrician and the stage carpenter are of the most exacting kind and more difficult to meet than can be encountered in any other known production. Managers Martin and Emery, without wishing to attach any undue importance to the scenic beauties of the production wish it known that they positively give an exact counterpart of the Baireuth stage effects. What that means in expenditure, ingenuity and infinity of detail can be imagined.

May 8—Two performances of "Parsifal" will be given at the Grand.

During this engagement the rule of beginning the performance at 7.45 will be strictly enforced and the public is most earnestly requested to subscribe thereto as none can be seated during the action of the play.

The matinee will begin at 2 pm., doors open at 1 pm.

THEATRICAL

Amelia Bingham, who was seen here "The Climbers," likes the piece so well she has played it ever since. At present she is at the Walker Theatre, Winnipeg.

In a week "The Blue Mouse" will close its season at the Lyric Theatre, New York.

Raymond Hitchcock's latest vehicle is "The Mascot." Hitchcock has never made a really notable success in anything since "The Yankee Consul."

In a short time "The Land of Nod" will open its season for the summer in Chicago. The caste will be changed quite a bit, and with the exception of Knox Wilson, most of the principals that appeared here will not be in the Windy City production. Some of the present musical numbers will be replaced by six or seven new ones and a flying ballet will be introduced.

There will be plenty of fun at the "Grand" to-night. Watch the hook. Prices 5c and 10c,

LAWN BOWLING SKIPS FOR SEASON WERE SELECTED

Tournament for Local Bowlers Will be Held by Club—President vs. Vice-President Matches Will Open the Season.

A meeting of the Peterborough Bowling Club was held last night in the Dominion Bank chambers when the skips for the season were selected and other matters attended to. Mr. D. H. Moore was in the chair.

Each skip is expected to select his vice-skip and report his name to the secretary at once.

It was decided to change the name of the club to the Peterborough Lawn Bowling and Tennis Club. The grounds committee reported that the work of preparing the tennis lawn was progressing as rapidly as the weather would permit.

The bowling season will be opened by the president vs. vice-president, and matches to be followed immediately by a local lawn bowling tournament for which suitable prizes will be given.

BALL TOSSER'S CORNER

STRIKES.

Rule 49—A strike is:

Sec. 1.—A pitched ball struck at by the batsman without its touching the bat.

Sec. 2.—A fair ball legally delivered by the pitcher at which the batsman does not strike.

Sec. 3.—A foul hit ball not caught on the fly, unless the batsman has two strikes.

Sec. 4.—An attempt to bunt, which results in a foul not legally caught.

Sec. 5.—A pitched ball at which the batsman strikes, but misses and which touches any part of his person.

Sec. 6.—A foul tip, held by the catcher while standing within the lines of his position.

Baltimore News.—While the season is of course much too young to make any predictions, it is not a foolish guess to say Toronto will be a first-division club when the end of September rolls around. While the Canuck leader has always been one of the "scrappy" sort—full of ginger all the time—he is ever modest in talking about his club and its chances, and in answer to the direct question this morning said, that while he was not entirely satisfied with the present make-up, a change or two would bring it to the desired standard.

Only one game was played in the Eastern League yesterday. Montreal won from Baltimore by 11—6.

Steps ought to be taken to endeavor to save the baseball situation. Lindsay is interested and might be induced to enter into some arrangement that would result in the formation of some kind of league.

Now that the ball chasers have been warned to keep off the Central Park, they can to to the anti-cigarette meeting with the assurance that their elders are taking a big interest in their welfare.

The Strathconas may invite some outside baseball team here for a game on May 24th, bit it won't be with Bowmanville.

Another meeting of the Church Base Ball league will be held next Monday night in the Y.M.C.A., and those teams who wish to be represented in the league this year are asked to be represented.

Grant, of the Philadelphia Nationals, has made a record for this season, having clouted out five singles in as many times at bat.

The game which was to have been played between Washington and Philadelphia has been postponed. Both teams will attend the funeral of the late Dr. Powers, who was a backstop on the Philadelphia team.

Cy Young, now with Cleveland, during the last nineteen years has won 471 games, and lost 227. His best year was in 1895, when he won 30 games and only lost 10.

If Jack Thoney keeps on he will have have all the diseases on the calendar. The ex-Toronto man is now under the blankets with an attack of malaria fever.

There is trouble in the Intermediate Baseball League, of Peterborough, and the organization is likely to be disbanded.—Lindsay Post.

OMEMEE TO HAVE BASEBALL TEAM

A suitable diamond is under consideration and practice will begin at once.

GOLDFIELD WANTS FIGHT

Citizens in Mass Meeting Decided to Offer $510,000 for Championship Battle

Goldfield, Nev, April 29—A mass meeting of 1000 citizens last night decided that Goldfield should offer $50,000 for a fight between Jack Johnson and James J. Jeffries, to take place in the latter part of September during the session of the mining congress.

Before the meeting adjourned $40,000 of the amount had been pledged and the further decision reached that should $50,000 prove too small a purse to attract the big fighters any sum within reason would be offered. When the subscription list is completed a formal offer will be made to the fighters.

SAM LANGFORD HAS SAILED

New York, April 29—Sam Langford, the heavyweight pugilist sails today on the Deutschland for London where on the night of Derby Day, May 24, he will fight Ian Hague for the heavyweight championship of England. On the same steamer goes Jimmy Walsh, the bantam weight champion who will meet Biggar Stanley, before the Nassau Sporting Club of London, in a championship bout at the new revised English bantam weight of 118 pounds. With the fighters were Eddie Keevin, Walsh's manager; John Davis, Langford's trainer and Joe Woodman, Langford's manager.

MARSH IS THE FAVORITE NOW

For the Canadian Marathon Derby at Toronto To-morrow

There has been a big change in the betting on the Canadian Marathon Derby to be run at Hanlan's Point tomorrow afternoon. John D Marsh, the sturdy Winnipeg runner, has supplanted Simpson the Ojibway Thunderbolt, as favorite. Shrubb's selection of Marsh as the winner has had a lot to do with the play on Marsh. Simpson however, is well backed second choice. Guola, the Italian waiter from the King Edward Hotel, has been played down from 50 to 1, to 7 to 1. Abbe Wood, the Montreal crack, still figures among the dangerous element and is the third choice. These are the latest odds on the race;—

Marsh	8-5	1-2	out
Simpson	2	1	out
Wood	4-1	8-5	out
Coley	6	2	1-2
Guida	7	2	1
Redding	7	2	1
Graham	8	4	2
Booth	10	4	2
Sellen	10	4	2
Meadows	10	4	2
Windmill	10	4	2
Fubre	15	6	5
Jackson	15	6	5
Green	20	8	4
Cumming	50	15	6

A CROOK'S VIEW OF CROOKEDNESS

Paper's Exploiting Art Burn's View of Longboat Being Doped

Art Burn has come out with a long explanation of how Longboat came to lose the Olympic Marathon by being doped. He also remarks that the recent Derby Marathon appears fishy to him.

Any newspaper which would give space to anything serious by Burn must be woefully unaware of the fact that the Calgary wind-jammer is one of the most glaring crooks in the business. When running here his methods were so unscrupulous that he deserved admiration—the sort of admiration any one would have for a professional pickpocket.

SHRUBB PICKS MARSH FOR TO-MORROW'S MARATHON

There is no accurate line upon the men at all, outside of Fred Simpson, John D. Marsh, and Tom Coley. All these are runners who have gone the route before, but at that, two of the three have not stayed in other long races.

Simpson went down in the Svanberg race April 18th, and Coley could not stick out the route in the Canadian Marathon trials last spring.

Marsh has never broken down in long races, but he has had his head beaten off at short distances by men he can, and in most cases has, walloped in longer journeys.

Alfred Shrubb fancies Marsh.

"This Canadian Derby I regard as a very open race," said Alfred Shrubb, the referee, to-day, upon his return from New York. "There are ten dangerous men in the line-up, but after looking them all over I pin my faith to John D. Marsh. Marsh is a plugger, a good strong fellow, with sturdy legs, lots of bottom and courage. Unless Fred Simpson is greatly improved since he ran John Svanberg, Marsh will beat him. Tom Coley, if he is right should be a factor, too. There are three or four cracking good 15-milers in there, too, but I don't think any of them will last the route. Sellen is in great shape right now, but I don't think he can go the route any more than I can. Of course if he can he will win on his earlyspeed. Wood, Meadows, Cummings, and the Indian, Red Hawk, are all 15-milers, and I doubt their ability to go all the way. Of the rest of the field I know nothing, and there is always a chance for the provverbial dark horse to come up, but at that I think Marsh Simpson and Coley will fight it out for the honors."

Shrubb is right about the speed merchants, but the speedy boys are the ones that upset all calculations in these long races. They start in to tear things up early, and some good reliable plugger gets the fevver of impatience, goes after them too early in the race, and kills himself, leavving some more phlegmatic and less fancied individual to come on and get a slice of the prize melon. Then, again, a fast man who gets a race long lead early, is liable to lay in behind a plugger and with gritted teeth hang on till the bitter end and win out a race, which on form he has no license to win.

Look at Shrubb himself in the Marathon Derby. He hung on and hill but won. Had St. Yves weakened a trifle on end, Artful Alfred would have been there at the pay station looking for $5,000 simoleons, marked "P. T. P."

Percy Sellen, Abbie Wood, W. F. Cumming, and Fred Meadows have this speed stuff under their belts, and may uncork a winning streak at any place. There are a whole lot of people who haunt Varsity track who are sweet on the little Mississauga Indian, Red Hawk. They whisper it around that he lifted Fred Simpson's scalp regularly in training stunts before Simpson defeated Appleby.

A belated entry arrived yesterday for the Marathon, bringing the total to 20 entries. The latest is Charles Green of Caledonia. His entry was delayed in the mail.—Toronto Star.

GEORGE KENNEDY OF MONTREAL GOING ON HUNT FOR WRESTLER

George Kennedy the Montreal wrestling magnate, whose ramifications now extend over all North America, is bound to find someone who will defeat Gotch and is going after him.

He says he is going to find him if he has to go as far as darkest Africa but his travels will probably not extend beyond Bosnia, Servia, Bulgaria and the dark fastnesses of Asia Minor.

Yussif Mahmout told him before they parted that there was such a man and Kennedy is bound to find him.

He has just made arrangements with a man of European and Eastern reputation to act as his guide, interpreter and courier and his trip will last about two months.

The date of his departure has not yet been finally settled but will be in a month or so.

Pierri and Mahmout sailed for England. It is Pierri's intention to accompany the wrestler back to Bulgaria for the purpose of getting another Turk to bring to this country this fall. Mahmout has told both Pierri and Kennedy that he knows a young Turk living high up in the Bulgarian mountains who can throw Gotch sure.

It will be a race for a man between the two and Kennedy expects to win and get a few others besides.

WHO WILL BE CHAMPIONS?

Final Game in P. B. C. Bowling League Will Played on Saturday Night --- Two Teams Tied

The Examiner A's got away with two out of three from the Iroquois last night at the P.B.C. alleys. The scores were not of championship calibre but the closeness of each game kept up the interest. The final game for the championship of the league will be played on Saturday night, when the Examiner A's will meet the Pacifics. The team capturing two of the three games will remain at the top of the heap with the losers taking second place.

Last night's scores were as follows:

LADY GOLFERS HELD MEETING

Captain Appointed and Committees Chosen --- First Competition on May 12th

At the meeting of the lady members of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club, which was held yesterday afternoon Mrs. Gardner was appointed captain, Mrs. Aylmer and Miss Moore were chosen for the Handicap Committee, and Mrs. R. R. Hall and Miss Aylmer for the House Committee.

The first monthly competition will be held May 12th at 3 o'clock.

LACROSSE

MILLBROOK ORGANIZE.

The Millbrook Lacrosse Club and all those interested in Canada's national game held a meeting in N. Natrass' barber shop on Monday evening for the purpose of re-organising for the coming season. The following are the officers;

President—W. T. Wood.
Vice-President—H. A. Sims.
Treasurer—P. Handley.
Secretary—F. Burnham.
Manager—W. J. E. Gillott.
Trainer—G. Carveth.
Captain—T. Donnelly.
Executive Committee—O. McGill, H. Southworth, W. O'Brien and T. Donnelly.

There is lots of material in town for a well balanced team this summer and we have no doubt that if the boys get down to practice they will give a good account of themselves in their matches this season.

Practices will be held on Monday and Thursday evenings of each week. —Millbrook Reporter.

SPORTING TALK

Why doesn't Abdul Hamid get into the wrestling game? The name looks good from here.

The Macdonnell family of Kingston have the habit of carrying off gold medals at Queen's College. Of course it's customary for the Scotch to take everything they can get their hands on.

For to-morrow's race Fred Simpson is looked upon as the most likely man outside of John D. Marsh. Close followers seem to fancy Marsh, with Simpson picked to show at second. Others think the Indian has an even chance, but the majority of speculators favor Marsh.

The five mile Marathon race, to be run on Victoria Day, seems to be a taking proposition and some are training for the event. It is expected that many competitors from outside points, will take part. We understand the public library will give an excellent concert on the evening of May 24th—Millbrook Mirror.

THE RING

James Hewitt, manager of Billy Bell, the Toronto featherweight, says that he has matched his man to fight Abe Attell twenty rounds in Philadelphia on July 29th.

"The purse is $8000 of which my man gets $5,000, win, lose or draw" said Hewitt today. "Bell and I will go to New York next week to complete the arrangements. Hugh McIntosh is framing the bout up."

Bell is an Irish lad. He put Kid Lowery away in "Phillie" some months ago and the Quaker sportsmen liked his style, hence the chance at Attell.

CONKLE LOST TO GEHRING

Hamilton Wrestler Was Thrown in two Straight Falls

Cleveland, April 28.—Throwing Chas Conkle in two straight falls, Henry Gehring, of this city, tonight became undisputed middleweight champion. The falls were in 42.30 and 21.30. Gehring was forced to his limit, but put the Canuck to the mat with a double back half and face lock and a half nelson and face lock.

Conkle was outweighed ten pounds but he gave Gehring a terrific battle. The Clevelander had his hands full every minute, and was forced to use every ounce of his strength and all the science at his command to defeat the Canadian mat artist. Conkle displayed great strength and gave a pretty exhibition of science.

The match was pulled off before a good crowd in the Gray's armory. It was for the middleweight title and a side bet of $500. Walter Kelly, formerly of Buffalo, was referee.

SPOTTING CRIMINALS

Plans of London Shops and Banks For Foiling Thieves.

A CODE OF SECRET SIGNALS.

The Moment a Suspect Is Discovered in an Establishment the Warning Is Quickly Given to the Employees, Who Are Instantly on the Alert.

"Do you know if Brown has returned that parcel of stones yet?"

The scene may be the shop of a fashionable west end jeweler. Costly gems glint in velvet lined cases. One frock coated shopman turns casually to another with the perfectly natural question quoted above.

To those customers who may be in the establishment the remark means nothing, but to the man who is addressed it spells volumes. "Brown" is a secret code word, and it means that the elegantly clad woman to whom the speaker is displaying a tray of sparkling stones is suspected by him of being a thief and that her every action must be watched.

Quite recently in connection with a terrible outrage in the west end of London, in which an unfortunate money changer was done to death in his office by a desperate robber, the fact was disclosed that in the case of a sudden attack it had been arranged that one of the assistants should employ the "distress signal" of hurling a brass paperweight through the window of the office.

Although most people are quite unaware of the fact, practically every banker, money changer and jeweler in the fashionable quarter of the metropolis has some prearranged code by which one employee may warn his fellows that a dubious character has entered the establishment.

In one well known bank this is the system adopted: Should a cashier's suspicions be aroused by the actions or speech of a man upon the other side of the counter he will step across in a perfectly innocent way to a certain desk which stands quite apart from the others. The custodian at the floorway sees the action, knows its significance and is instantly on the alert.

In the case of another bank the cashier whose suspicions are aroused need not even move away from his desk to warn the watcher. The scheme employed is this: Along the guarding rail of the counter are a series of plates bearing the word "Prayer" or "Receiver," according to the duties of the cashier in each particular section.

These, by design, are all placed slightly askew. Should one of the officials behind the desks suspect the good faith of an individual to whom he is attending all he has to do in order to place the patrol in uniform upon the qui vive is to reach up a leisurely hand and turn one of these plates so that it is in a perfectly straight line with the rail from which it projects.

The ingenuity of this idea lies in the fact that, while the action is perfectly natural, it is so unmistakable that even when the bank is full of people it cannot fail to be observed by the man who is upon the lookout.

Quite the most elaborate system of which details are obtainable is that installed by a firm of electrical engineers for one prominent west end jeweler. The manager who is on duty sits at a glass screened desk in the rear of the shop in such a position that, while scarcely being seen himself and certainly without making any movement, he has an absolutely unimpeded view of every counter and show case.

Near him, on a small board, shielded from view, is a row of tiny red electric light bulbs. One corresponds to the position of each of the suave assistants who attends to the wants of the jewel buying public. Sunk in the floor, near the foot of each assistant, is a button, and his duty is done when, should he think a customer he is serving may not be "on the square," he places his foot on this convenient button. The little glow lamp lights up at the other end of the wire, and the manager's attention is promptly focused in the direction indicated.

Should his keen scrutiny reveal an actual theft from the articles displayed on the counter or from some unprotected tray he himself presses a button as the thief turns to leave the shop. This serves to warn a smart attendant who is on duty at the portals, and the wrongdoer finds his or her pathway barred without a word having been uttered or sign of warning given.—London Answers.

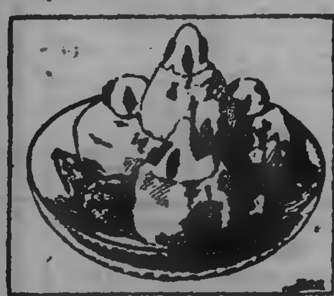
PRESERVED GINGER.

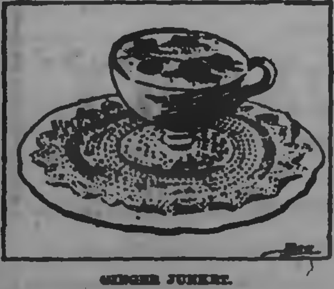
Some Ways of Using This East Indian Sweet.

Preserved ginger is one of those delicacies which might oftener be used for culinary purposes than is the case. There are many delightful dishes in connection with which it may suitably be employed, while numerous others into the composition of which it does not actually enter, in themselves perhaps of a somewhat insipid nature, are greatly enhanced in flavor by being served with a dish of preserved ginger or with a ginger flavored sauce. Ginger junket is one of these dishes, and a mighty easy and dainty little dessert it is, to be sure.



GINGER APPLES.

To make the junket slightly warm a pint of new milk, taking care that it does not get really hot. Blood heat is sufficient. Sweeten to taste, a teaspoonful of powdered sugar being enough for most people, and sprinkle in a pinch of ground ginger. On removing from the fire add a teaspoonful of rennet. Pour into custard cups or into a large glass dish. When firm garnish the top with a few slices of preserved ginger, and with it send to table a dish of the same. A little "ginger" may be introduced into a plain pudding by using the following sauce: Beat the whites of one or two eggs to a very stiff froth and add a gill of whipped cream, a tablespoonful of chopped ginger and a sufficient quantity of the sirup to flavor strongly. Ginger apples, too, are delicious to serve for luncheon or Sunday evening supper. To make them pare and core some good pippins and fill the cavity left in the center of each apple with a spoonful of chopped preserved ginger. Stand them in a fireproof dish and pour over them a sirup, either of sugar and water flavored with lemon and with a piece of green ginger cooked in it, or, if there is enough of the ginger sirup, this may be used with the addition of a little water. Bake till soft and transparent, but not broken, basting occasionally with the sirup. Serve hot or cold with a little whipped cream garnished with pieces of ginger.



GINGER JUNKET.

An Old-Fashioned Woman.

There was an old-fashioned woman who would blush if company caught her with less than six different kinds of cake and seven different kinds of preserves in the house. If a guest liked coffee for supper, she thought it was right that she should have it. Her pies were always rich, and she used lots of butter and cream. She had never heard of the diet cure and believed in people eating just what they liked. What a pity it is that she isn't alive, so we folks who are tired of dieting could go and visit her!

He was still talking when the girl sprang to her feet and sent a shrill cry out over the river, but instantly he was up and upon her, his hand over her mouth, while she tore at it, screaming the name of Poleon Doret. He silenced her to a smothered, sobbing mumble and turned to see, far out on the bosom of the great soiled river, a man in a bark canoe. The craft had just swung past the bend above and was still a long way off, so far away, in fact, that Necia's signal had not reached it, for its occupant held unwaveringly to the swiftest channel, his body rising and falling in the smooth, unending rhythm of a master boatman under great haste, his arms upflung now and then as the paddle glinted and flashed across to the opposite side.

Runnion glanced about hurriedly, then cursed as he saw no place of concealment. The Peterborough stood out upon the bar conspicuously, as did he and the girl. But the chance remained that this man, whoever he was, would pass by, for his speed was great, the river a mile in width and the bend sharp. Necia had cried Poleon's name, but her companion saw no resemblance to the Frenchman in this strange looking voyager. In fact, he could not quite make out what was peculiar about the man—perhaps his eyes were not as sharp as hers—and then he saw that the boatman was naked to the waist. By now he was drawing opposite them with the speed of a hound.

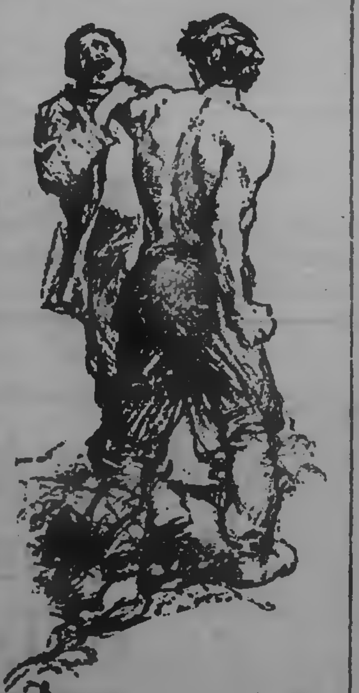
The girl, gagged and held by her captor's hands, struggled and moaned despairingly, and, crouching back of the boat, they might have escaped discovery in the gray morning light had it not been for the telltale fire—a tiny, crackling blaze no larger than a man's hat. It betrayed them. The dancing craft upon which their eyes were fixed whipped about, almost leaping from the water at one stroke, then came toward them, now nothing but a narrow thing, half again the width of a man's body. The current carried it down abreast of them, then past, and Runnion rose, releasing the girl, who cried out with all her might to the boatman. He made no sound in reply, but drove his canoe shoreward with quicker strokes. It was evident he would effect his landing near the lower end of the spit, for now he was within hearing distance and driving closer every instant.

Necia heard the gambler call:

"Sheer off, Doret! You can't land here!"

She saw a gun in Runnion's hand, and a terrible, sickening fear swept over her, for he was slowly walking down the spit, keeping abreast of the canoe as it drifted.

"Keep away or I'll fire!" threatened Runnion again, and she screamed: "Don't try it, Poleon! He'll kill you!"



They grappled and fought, alone and unseen.

At her words Runnion raised his weapon and fired. She heard the woods behind reverberate with the echoes like a sounding board, saw the white spurt of smoke and the skitter of the bullet as it went wide. It was a long shot and had been fired as a final warning, but Doret made no outcry, nor did he cease coming. Instead his paddle clove the water with the same steady strokes that took every ounce of effort in his body. Runnion threw open his gun and replaced the spent shell. On came the careening, crazy craft in a sidewise drift, and with it the girl saw coming a terrible tragedy. She started to run down the graveled ridge behind her enemy, not realizing the value or moment of her action nor knowing clearly what she would do, but as she drew near she saw Runnion raise his gun again and without thought of her own safety threw herself upon him. Again his shot went wide as he strove to hurl her off, but his former taste of her strength was nothing to this now that she fought for Poleon's life. Runnion snarled angrily and thrust her away, for he had waited till the canoe was close.

"Let me go, you devil!" he cried and aimed again. But again she ran at him. This time, however, she did not pit her strength against his, but paused, and as he undertook to fire she thrust at his elbow, then dodged out of his way. Her blow was crafty and well timed, and his shot went wild. Again he took aim, and again she destroyed it with a touch and danced out of his reach. She was nimble and light and quickened now by a cold calculation of all that depended upon her.

Three times in all she thwarted Runnion, while the canoe drove closer every instant. On the fourth, as she dashed at him, he struck to be rid of her, cursing wickedly—struck as he would have struck at a man. Silently she crumpled up and fell, a pitiful, draggled, awkward little figure sprawled upon the rocks. But the delay proved fatal to him, for, though the canoe was close against the bank and the huge man in it seemed to offer a mark too plain to be missed, he was too close to permit careful aim. Runnion heard him giving utterance to a strange, feral, whining sound, as if he were crying like a fighting boy. Then as the gambler raised his arm the Canadian lifted himself up on the bottom of the canoe until he stood stretched to his full height and leaped. As Runnion fired he sprang out and was into the water to his knees, his backward kick whirling the craft from underneath him out into the current, where the river seized it. He had risen and jumped all in one moment, launching himself at the shore like a panther. The gun roared again, but Poleon came up and on with the rush of the great brown grizzly that no missile can stop. Runnion's weapon blazed in his face, but he neither felt nor heeded it, for his bare hands were upon his quarry, the impact of his body hurling the other from his feet, and neither of them knew whether any or all of the last bullets had taken effect.

Poleon had come, like an arrow, straight for his mark the instant he glimpsed it, an insensate, unreasoning, raging thing that no weight of lead nor length of blade could stop. In his haste he had left Flambeau without weapon of any kind, for in his mind such things are superfluous, and he had never fought with any but those God gave him nor found any living thing that his hands could not master. Therefore he had rushed headlong against this armed and waiting man, reaching for him ever closer and closer 'till the burning powder stung his eyes. They grappled and fought, alone and unseen, and yet it was no fight, for Runnion, though a vigorous, heavy muscled man, was beaten down, smothered and crushed beneath the onslaught of this great naked fellow, who all the time sobbed and whined and mewed in a panting fury.

They swung half across the spit to the farther side, where they fell in a fantastic convulsion, slipping and sliding and rolling among the rocks that smote and gouged and bruised them. The gambler fought for his life against the naked flesh of the other, against the distorted face that snapped and bit like the muzzle of a wolf, while all the time he heard that fearful, inarticulate note of blood hunger at his ear. The Canadian's clinched hands crushed whatever they fell upon as if mailed with metal. The fingers were like tearing tongs that could not be loosed. It was a frightful combat, hideous from its inequality, like the battle of a man against a maddened beast whose teeth tore and whose claws ripped, whose every move was irresistible. And so it was over shortly.

Poleon rose and ran to the fallen girl, leaving behind him a huddled and twisted likeness of a man. He picked her up tenderly, moaning and crooning. But as her limp head lolled back, throwing her pale, blind features up to the heavens, he began to cry, this time like a woman. Tears fell from his eyes—burning tears, the agony of which seared his soul. He laid her carefully beside the water's edge, and, holding her head and shoulders in the crook of his left arm, he wet his right hand and bathed her face, crouching over her, half nude, dripping with the sweat of his great labors, a tender, palpitating figure of bronzed muscle and sinew, with all his fury and hate replaced by apprehension and pity. The short moments that he worked with her were ages to him, but she revived beneath his ministrations, and her first frightened look of consciousness was changed to a melting smile.

"W-what happened, Poleon?" she said. "I was afraid."

He stood up to his full height, shaking and weak as the water that dripped from him, the very bones in him dissolved. For the first time he uttered words, "T'ank God, ba gosh!" and ran his hand up over his wet face.

"Where is he?" She started to her knees affrightedly; then, seeing the twisted, sprawling figure beyond, began to shudder. "He—he's dead?"

"I don't know," said Poleon carelessly. "You feel it purty good now, eh, w'at?"

"Yes—I—he struck me!" The remembrance of what had occurred surged over her, and she buried her face in her hands. "Oh, Poleon, Poleon! He was a dreadful man."

"He don' trouble you no more."

"He tried—he— Ugh! I—I'm glad you did it!" She broke down, trembling at her escape, until her selfishness smote her, and she was up and beside him on the instant. "Are you hurt? Oh, I never thought of that! You must be wounded."

The Frenchman felt himself over and looked down at his limbs for the first time. "No; I guess not," he said, at which Necia noticed his meager attire, and simultaneously he became conscious of it. He fell away a pace, casting his eyes over the river for his canoe, which was now a speck in the distance.

"Ba gosh! I'm h—l of a t'ing for lookin' at," he said. "I'm paddle hard; dat's w'y. Sacre, how I sweat!" He hitched nervously at the band of his overalls, while Necia answered:

"That's all right, Poleon." Then, without warning, her face froze with mingled repulsion and wonder. "Look, look!" she whispered, pointing past him.

Runnion was moving slowly, crawling painfully into a sitting posture, uplifting a terribly mutilated face, dazed and half conscious, groping for possession of his wits. He saw them and grimaced frightfully, cowering and cringing.

Poleon felt the girl's hand upon his arm and heard her crying in a hard, sharp voice:

"He needs killing! Put him away!"

He stared down at his gentle Necia and saw the loathing in her face and the look of strange ferocity as she met his eyes boldly.

"You don't know what he—what he did," she said through her shut teeth. "He"— But the man waited to hear no more.

Runnion saw him coming and scrambled frantically to all fours, then got on his feet and staggered down the bar. As Poleon overtook him he cried out piteously, a shrill scream of terror, and, falling to his knees, groveled and debased himself like a foul cripple at fear of the lash. His agony dispelled the savage taint of Alluna's aboriginal training in Necia, and the pure white blood of her ancestors cried out:

"Poleon, Poleon—not that!" She hurled after him to where he paused above the wretch waiting for her. "You mustn't!" she said. "That would be murder, and—and—it's all over now."

The Frenchman looked at her wonderingly, not comprehending this sudden leniency.

"Let him alone. You've nearly killed him. That's enough." Whereat Runnion, broken in body and spirit, began to beg for his life.

"W'at's dat you say jus' now?" Doret asked the girl. "Was dat de truth for sure w'at you speak?"

"Yes, but you've done your work. Don't touch him again."

He hesitated, and Runnion, quick to observe it, added his entreaty to hers.

"I'm beaten, Doret. You broke me to pieces. I need help—I—I'm hurt."

"W'at you 'spec' I do wit' 'im?" the Canadian asked, and she answered:

"I suppose we'll have to take him where he can get assistance."

"Dat skiff ain' carry all t'ree of us."

"I'll stay here," groaned the frightened man. "I'll wait for a steamer to pick me up, but for God's sake don't touch me again!"

Poleon looked him over carefully and made up his mind that the man was more injured in spirit than in body, for outside of his battered muscles he showed no fatal symptoms. Although the voyageur was slower to anger than a child, a grudge never died in him, and his simple, self taught creed knew no forgiveness for such men as Runnion, cherished no mercy for preying men or beasts. He glanced toward the wooded shores a stone's throw above, then back at the coward he had beaten and whose life was forfeit under the code. There was a queer light in his eyes.

"Leave him here, Poleon. We'll go away, you and I, in the canoe, and the first boat will pick him up. Come." Necia tugged at his wrist for fear she might not prevail, but he was bent on brushing away a handful of hungry mosquitoes which, warmed by the growing day, had ventured out on the river. His face became wrinkled and set.

"Bien!" he grunted. "We lef' 'im here biccause dere ain't 'nough room in de batteau, eh? All right. Dat's good t'ing. But he's seeck man, so mebbe I feex it him nice place for stop till dem boats come."

"Better you camp yonder on de point, w'ere you can see dose steamboat w'en she comes roun' de ben'. Dis is bad place." He indicated the thicket, a quarter of a mile above which ran out almost to the cut bank. "Come. I help you get feex."

Runnion shrank from his proffered assistance half fearfully, but, reassured, allowed the Frenchman to help him toward the shore.

"We tell it de first boat 'bout you an' dey pick you up. You wait here, Necia."

The girl watched her rescuer guide Runnion up to the level of the woods, then disappear with him in the firs, and was relieved to see the two emerge upon the river bank again farther on, for she had feared for an instant that Poleon might forget. There seemed to be no danger, however, for he was crashing through the brush in advance of the other, who followed laboriously. Once Runnion gained the high point he would be able to command a view of both reaches of the river and could make signals to attract the first steamboat that chanced to come along. Without doubt a craft of some sort would pass from one direction or the other by tomorrow at latest, or, if not, she and Poleon could send back succor to him from the first habitation they encountered. The two men disappeared again, and her fears had begun to prey on her a second time when she beheld the big Canadian returning. He was hurrying a bit, apparently to be rid of the mosquitoes that swarmed about him, and she marked that, in addition to whipping himself with a handful of blackberry bushes, he wore Runnion's coat to protect his shoulders.

"Woof! Dose skeeter bug is hongry," he cried.

"Dis nice batteau," Poleon remarked critically; "I mak' it go fas'," and began to row swiftly, seeking the breeze of the open river in which to shake off the horde of stinging pests that had risen with the sun. "I come way queeck wit'out t'inkin' 'bout gun or skeeter net or not'in'. Runnion she's len' me dis coat, so mebbe I don' look so worse lak I do jus' now, eh?"

"How did you leave him? Is he badly injured?"

"No; I bus' it up on de face an' de rib, but she's feelin' good now. Yes, I'm leave 'im nice place for stop an' wait on de steamboat—plaintee spruce bough for set on."

She began to shudder again, and, sensitive to her every motion, he asked solicitously if she were sick, but she shook her head.

"I—I—was thinking what—supposing you hadn't come! Oh, Poleon, you don't know what you saved me from." She leaned forward and laid a tiny, grateful hand on the huge brown paw that rested on his oar. "I wonder if I can ever forget!"

She noted that they were running with the current and inquired:

"Where are we going?"

"Waal, I can't pull dis boat 'gainst dat current, so I guess we pass on till I fin' my shirt, den bimeby we pick it up some steamboat an' go home."

Five miles below his quick eye detected his half submerged "bark" lodged beneath some overhanging firs which from the water's action had fallen forward into the stream, and by rare good fortune it was still upright, although awash. He towed it to the next sand bar, where he wrung out and donned his shirt, then tipped the water from the smaller craft and, making it fast astern of the Peterborough, set out once more. Toward noon they came in sight of a little stern wheeled craft that puffed and pattered manfully against the sweeping current, hiding behind the points and bars and following the slackest water.

"It's the mission boat!" cried Necia. "It's the mission boat! Father Barnum will be aboard."

She waved her arms madly and mingled her voice with Poleon's until a black robed figure appeared beside the pilothouse.

"Father Barnum!" she screamed, and, recognizing her, he signaled back.

Soon they were alongside, and a pair of Siwash deck hands lifted Necia aboard, Doret following after, the painter of the Peterborough in his teeth. He dragged both canoes out of the boiling tide and laid them bottom up on the forward deck, then climbed the narrow little stairs to find Necia in the arms of a benignant, white haired priest, the best beloved man on the Yukon, who broke away from the girl to greet the Frenchman, his kind face alight with astonishment.

"What is all this I hear? Slowly, Doret, slowly! My little girl is talking too furiously for these poor old wits to follow. I can't understand. I am amazed. What is this tale?"

Together they told him, while his blue eyes now opened wide with wonder, now grew soft with pity, then blazed with indignation. When they had finished he laid his hand upon Doret's shoulder.

"My son, I thank God for your good body and your clean heart. You saved our Necia, and you will be rewarded. As to this—this—man Runnion, we must find him, and he must be sent out of the country."

It required some pressure to persuade the Frenchman, but at last he consented, and as the afternoon drew to a close the little steamboat came squattering and wheezing up to the bar where Runnion had built his fire that morning, and a long, shrill blast summoned him from the point above. When he did not appear the priest took Poleon and his round faced, silent crew of two and went up the bank, but they found no sign of the crippled man—only a few rags, a trampled patch of brush at the forest's edge, and that was all. The springy moss showed no trail. The thicket gave no answer to their cries, although they spent an hour in a scattered search and sounded the steamboat's whistle again and again.

"He's try for walk it back to camp," said Doret. "Mebbe he ain' hurt so much, after all."

"You must be right," said Father Barnum. "We will keep the steamer close to this shore, so that he can hail us when we overtake him."

And so they resumed their toilsome trip, but mile after mile fell behind them, and still no voice came from the woods—no figure hailed them. Doret, inscrutable and silent, lounged against the pilothouse smoking innumerable cigarettes which he rolled from squares of newspaper, his keen eyes apparently scanning every foot of their slow way, but when night fell at last and the bank faded from sight he tossed the last butt overboard, smiled grimly into the darkness and went below.

CHAPTER XVIII.

RUNNION FINDS THE SINGING PEOPLE.

"No Creek" Lee came into the trading post on the following morning and found Gale attending store as if nothing unusual had occurred.

"Say! What's this about you and Stark? I hear you had a horrible run in and that you split him up the back like a quail."

"We had a row," admitted the trader. "It's been a long time working out, and last night it came to a head."

"Lord—ee! And to think of Ben Stark bein' licked! Why, the whole camp's talkin' about it! They say he emptied two six shooters at you, but you kept a-comin', and when you did get to him you just carved your initials on him like he was a basswood tree. Say, John, he's a goner, sure."

"Do you mean he's—passing out?"

"Oh, no. I reckon he'll get well, from what I hear, though he won't let nobody come near him except old Doc. But he's lost a battle, and that ends him. Don't you savvy? Whenever a killer quits second best it breaks his hoodoo. Why, there's been men layin' for him these twenty years from here to the Rio Grande, and every feller he ever bested will hear of this and begin to grease his holster; then the first shave tail desperado that meets him will spit in his eye just to make a name for himself. No, sir! He's a spent shell. He's got to fight all his battles over again, and this time the other feller will open the ball. Oh, I've seen it happen before. You killed him last night, just as sure as if you'd hung up his hide to dry, and he knows it."

"I'm a peaceable man," said Gale on the defensive. "I had to do it."

"I know! I know! There was witnesses. This dressmaker at the fort seen it, so I hear."

The other acquiesced silently.

"Well, well! Ben Stark licked! I can't get over that. It must 'a' been somethin' powerful strong to make you do it, John." When the old man vouchsafed no more than a nod to a question the prospector inquired:

"Where's Poleon? I've got news for him from the creek."

"I don't know. Why?"

"His laymen have give up. They've crosscut his ground, and the pay ain't there, so they've quit work for good."

"He drew a blank, eh?"

"Worse'n that—three of them. The creek is spotteder than a leopard. Runnion's men, for instance, are into it bigger than a house, while Poleon's people can't raise a color. I call it tough luck—yes, worse'n tough. It's hard biled and pickled. To them as has shall it be given and to them as hasn't shall be took even what they ain't got, as the poet says. Look at Necia! She'll be richer than a cream puff. Guess I'll step around and see her."

"She's gone," said the trader wearily, turning his haggard face from the prospector.

"Gone! Where?"

"Up river with Runnion. They got her away from me last night."

"Sufferin' snakes!" ejaculated Lee. "So that's why!" Then he added simply, "Let's go and git her, John."

The trader looked at him queerly.

"Maybe I won't—on the first boat! I'm eating my heart out hour by hour waiting—waiting—waiting for some kind of a craft to come, and so is Burrell."

"What's he got to do with it?" said the one eyed miner jealously. "Can't you and me bring her back?"

"He'll marry her! God, won't there never be a boat?"

For the hundredth time that morning he went to the door of the post and strained his eyes downstream.

"Well, well! Them two goin' to be married," said Lee. "Stark licked, and Necia goin' to be married—all at once. I hate to see it, John. He ain't good enough. She could 'a' done a heap better. There's a lot of reg'lar men around here, and she could 'a' had her pick. Of course, always bein' broke like a dog myself, I ain't kept up my personal appearance like I ought, but I've got some new clothes now, and you wouldn't know me. I bought 'em off a tenderfoot with cold feet, but they're the goods, and you'd see a big improvement in me."

"He's a good man," said Gale, "better than you or me, and he's all torn up over this. I never saw a man act so. When he learned about it I thought he'd go mad. He's haunted the river bank ever since, raging about for some means of following her, and if I hadn't fairly held him he'd have set out single handed."

SETTLEMENT WAS EFFECTED BETWEEN P. P. YOUNG AND OTONABEE NAVIGATION CO.

The case before the Admiralty Court which has occupied the attention of the court for the past two days has been amicably settled by the two principals. His Honor Judge Hodgins of the Toronto branch of the Admiralty court was on the bench. After he had heard the evidence for two days he adjourned the trial yesterday afternoon stating that it was a case in which the damages claimed were comparatively trifling. He thought it would be advisable for the principals in the case to get together and endeavor to reach a settlement. Each party concerned retired for consultation. After some time it was found that they were still far apart and on returning to court so reported to the judge. Then His Honor addressed a few words to the two principals, Mr P P Young, President of the Stony Lake Navigation Co, the plaintiff, and Mr W H Robertson, president of the Otonabee Navigation Co. the defendants. He pointed out the fact that the costs of the case would be considerably above the amount of the damages that could possibly be shown, therefore a settlement was most desirable for both parties. He recommended another conference and adjourned the court until 9.30 this morning asking the principals to get together in the meantime.

Last night the desired settlement was accomplished and both parties are satisfied. The result will probably mean a better understanding in future between the two navigation companies and a better service will be afforded the public, as the settlement is of such a nature as to mean harmony and good will.

THIS CASE WAS DISMISSED

Storekeeper Charged With Peddling Coaloil Without a License

A charge of peddling coal oil without a license was preferred against a storekeeper this morning at the police court.

Mr F. D. Kerr appeared in the interests of the accused. He stated that there was a misunderstanding as the storekeeper had nothing to do with the coal oil whatever. It was another person who had been delivering the coal oil, as he had taken over the customers from the storekeeper. He was now going to peddle for himself and would get the necessary License.

This explanation was satisfactory to the Magistrate and the case was dismissed.

DAMAGED OR LOST FREIGHT

The Canadian Freight Association Seeking to Lessen the Evil

To prevent the trouble and expense caused by freight being lost or damaged in transit the Canadian Freight Association is circulating amongst the freight agents of the different railways an illustrated booklet which shows why freight is lost or damaged and how this source of loss can be avoided. In the brochure a strong point is made of the absolute necessity for having freight shipped in proper shape and plainly addressed.

Amongst other things that freight men and shippers should remember the booklet makes the following points

"Shippers and consignees blame the carrier when a shipment of freight fails to reach destination or is delivered to consignee in a damaged condition. But a small number stop to think it is more their fault than the carrier's. In the beginning, the fundamental rule of carriers in accepting merchandise, was the requiring of each package to be plainly marked, showing full name of consignee and destination. From a willingness to oblige patrons this vital requirement has been so far "sidetracked," so to speak, that it is not unusual for boxes, bales, bundles and pieces to be accepted without any marks. Coupled to the disappearance of full marks came the gradual decline in the strength of packages in which goods are shipped. Boxes and sacks are made of thinner materials, crates are substituted for boxes, and sacks are now being used by some shippers for articles which should not be shipped in them. To insure the prompt and safe delivery of goods it is necessary for the shipper to plainly mark each and every package, bundle or piece of an less cardboard shipment, showing this information; Consignee's name in full; bill of lading destination in full; state in which destination is located; if more than one station in same state of same name, full name of county must be shown; all previous shipping marks must be obliterated.

The name of consignee and destination must be legibly written or stencilled and as far away from any other writing or marks as possible. It is a great help to all when shipper's name and location are also shown with the word "from" preceding them.

Every package, bundle or piece offered for shipment should be presented to carrier in condition to stand the wear and tear not only via the rail routes but also the additional handling incidental to transportation via rail and water routes.

Charter Has Been Secured — Capital of New Company Will be $75,000

The J. M. Greene Music Co., at their annual meeting, held recently, made a change in character of their company, and it will in future be known as the Greene Music Co. Limited. This company has had a very prosperous year, but will no doubt command a larger business in the future. The officers of the new company will be as follows:

President—Mr. R. C. Braund.
Vice-President—Mr. H. C. Bacon.
Sec-Treas.—Mr. J. M. Greene.

These officers will comprise a board of directors with the addition of Mr. J. S. Braund and Mrs. Gertrude Greene.

The company have recently opened a branch in Tweed, and this, with another branch in Campbellford, and the headquarters in this city, prospects are the brightest for a successful business career. The agency of this district for the Heintzman Pianos has been secured by this company.

The charter was obtained through Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr, the company's solicitors, and the capital amounts to $75,000.

Dog Owners are Reminded That To-morrow is the First of May

There is trouble ahead for the owners of dogs who have not yet secured a tag for this year. So far there have been only 68 licenses taken out, and those who have a dog and have not secured a license to keep it, want to get busy, as this is the last allowed by the law. The authorities state that the law is to be enforced this year, so it would be wise for the owners of canines to take a tip and thus be saved a trip to the police station.

THE DEATH OF MARTIN KENNEALY

Took Place in Keene Last Night —Was Widely Known and Respected

Special to the Review

Keene, April 30—One of the most widely known residents of Keene and vicinity in the person of Mr Martin Kennealy, 84 years of age, passed away here last night.

The late Mr. Kennealy was born in County Cork, Ireland, but had lived in Keene for the most of his life. For years he was proprietor of the Keene hotel. He was very popular and respected in this district.

Several months ago the deceased broke his leg and owing to his advanced age the shock was too great for him.

Surviving are four sons and four daughters. The sons are Michael and Dennis of Keene, and Patrick and Wm of Peterborough. The daughters are Mrs T. O'Neill, Hastings; and Mrs. D McCarthy, Mrs McCann and Miss Josephine, of Keene.

The funeral will take place from the Roman Catholic church, Keene, to St Peter's cemetery, Peterborough where interment will take place.

DIED AT OMEMEE

Special to the Review.

Omemee, April 30.—Mrs. Gabriel Balfour, one of the oldest residents of this district passed away here this morning. She was eighty-seven years of age and death was caused principally by the infirmities of advancing years. Her maiden name was Jane Collum and she was born in Toronto, but had resided in Omemee for many years. Her husband predeceased her thirteen years ago. Mrs. Balfour was a member of the Omemee Methodist church and was held in high regard by a wide circle of friends. She is survived by five sons and one daughter. The sons are, James, William and John, of Manitoba, and Gabriel and George, of Omemee. The daughter is the wife of the Rev. R. J. Fallis, of Toronto.

The funeral will take place on Saturday at 10.30 o'clock, from the family residence to Emily cemetery.

Geo H Tuckett and R W Hand, of Hamilton offer to bear half the cost of the addition to All Saints' church.

SAFE EYE-GLASS FITTING

Selling eye-glasses out of a stock like scissors or thimbles, is a dangerous practice that is altogether too prevalent.

There should not be the faintest doubt in the mind of any person who finds the need of wearing glasses, that they are identically, scientifically fitted to the eyes.

We offer you safe spectacle fitting. And that is the only kind you should be satisfied to accept. There is nothing on this earth dearer than a cheap pair of spectacles that you have chosen yourself simply because you can see with them.

WILL USE PORTS IN UNITED STATES

R. L. Borden Points Out Feature of G. T. P. Contract--Members of Opposition Riddle Government's Position Regarding the Loan to Transcontinental Railway Without Securing Fuller Control Now That They Have the Chance.

Ottawa, May 1.—The G.T.P. loan had another sharp discussion yesterday afternoon and evening. The chief Government arguments were that the road had to be put through and that the Conservatives did not get any better terms from the C.P.R. in Sir John A. Macdonald's time. W. F. Maclean made a strong plea for national control of the railway and received applause from many Conservative members.

Mr. Maclean ventured to predict that within the next ten years the energies and resources of the Canadian people would be devoted to securing control of the great national highways of the country.

R. L. Borden alluded to the contract which contains an emphatic declaration that the object of granting aid to the G.T.P. was the development of Canadian ports. The Opposition at that time pointed out that the obligation should have been made binding on the Grand Trunk Co. as well as the Government, and declined those proposals. Mr. Borden pointed out that the condition which had arisen through the collapse of the Quebec bridge was exactly what the Grand Trunk Co. desired. The G.T.P. might accept the road from Winnipeg to Port Arthur and refuse to accept the line east to Moncton, which will not be completed till the bridge link is reconstructed. In the meantime traffic originating in the west might find an outlet through United States ports.

Could not that condition of affairs be remedied? It might be remedied at the present time by the Government insisting that the Grand Trunk, coming here under the guise of the G.T.P., shall agree on an amendment of their contract, which would absolutely prevent such a contingency as the diversion of the traffic to U. S. ports.

Mr. Borden also reverted to the question of grades, pointing out that the I.C.R. has only three grades exceeding one per cent., namely, two between Moncton and Halifax and one between Moncton and Quebec. The latter is but three or four miles long, and is a grade of 1.22 per cent., compared with the ten-mile one and one-tenth per cent. pusher grade on the National Transcontinental.

Hon. Mr. Graham assured Mr. Borden that the object of the Government was to develop Canadian ports. It must be borne in mind, however, that the more the rates were increased to the ocean ports the more the price to the producer would be reduced.

Referring to the question of grades, it did not matter what was the percentage of pusher grades as extra engines had to be added to push the trains over. The ruling grade of the G.T.P. was 4.10 per cent., whereas the ruling grade of the I.C.R. was 1 per cent., and trains could not be loaded beyond the capacity of engines to haul over that grade.

George Taylor criticized the Finance Minister for making the term of the loan ten years. Mr. Fielding held that it was wise to limit the loan to that term. As to the criticism of the Government for fixing the rate of interest at four per cent., that was exactly what the Conservative Government did in respect to the C.P.R. in 1884.

"Did you approve of that?" asked Mr. Lalor.

"That didn't matter," said Mr. Fielding. Looking back over the years he was glad that the loan was made and on the terms at which it was made. There had been criticism of the Conservatives at the time, but Mr. Fielding now believed that it was legitimate aid to a great enterprise.

E. Guss Porter asked if the Finance Minister would feel comfortable jingling the money of this poverty-stricken company, which he made out of the loan.

Mr. Fielding replied that he would feel more comfortable than the Conservatives felt when they made a loss on a loan to the C.P.R.

R. L. Borden commented on the fact that some of the rolling stock of the G.T.P. had been in use on the old Grand Trunk for two or three years.

Inasmuch, replied Mr. Fielding, as no part of the Government guarantee or obligation covers the equipment, it was no concern of the Government.

HOLLAND'S QUEEN AND THE CHILD ARE BOTH DOING WELL

Populace Are Giving Vent to Wild Jubilation—Heralds in Ancient Dress Proclaimed Glad Announcement in the Streets.

The Hague, May 1.—Wilhelmina, Queen of The Netherlands, gave birth to a daughter yesterday morning. The condition of Her Majesty is most satisfactory, the infant princess is doing well, and Holland is celebrating the happy event from one end of the country to the other, with expressions of joy and gratification such as seldom before have been witnessed on the part of this placid people.

The political significance of the occurrence lies in the fact that there is now an heir to the throne of The Netherlands, a circumstance that very greatly enhances the chances of the country for continued independence.

The Queen was married to Prince Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin on Feb. 7, 1901. On two previous occasions the hopes of the people for an heir to the throne have been disappointed.

Here in the capital, in spite of the heavy downpour of rain, the streets are gaily decorated and great crowds are passing to and fro showing their gratification. The people read eagerly the special news issued free by the newspapers announcing the happy event.

Heralds accompanied by trumpeters clad in ancient Dutch dress made the rounds of the city, halting at the principal squares and other suitable spots to make, after due fanfares, the following proclamation:

"Fellow-citizens: With great joy we announce the news that Her Majesty by the grace of God, has been delivered of a princess.

"The entire population of The Hague shares the feelings of deep joy of the Dutch people and is thankful for the blessing bestowed upon the royal house and upon the country. May the happy event strengthen the bonds uniting The Netherlands and the House of Orange. Long live the Queen! Long live the Princess of Orange!"

At the palace everything is quiet excepting at the entrance hall, which is crowded with people eager to sign the roll of congratulations.

THE CANDIDATES BAULKED AT IT

Kingston, May 1.—When candidates for licensing to preach in the Presbyterian Church were being questioned by the Kingston presbytery, intimation was given that twelve candidates could not accept the statement that the Westminster confession of faith was "founded on and agreeable to the word of God."

The presbytery took the matter into consideration, and while it was not able to change the phrase, yet it was decided to intimate to candidates that the phrase that they had objected to could be amplified by the statement that in substance the confession was agreeable with the word of God. This the candidates accepted and were duly licensed. Had they absolutely refused to assent it would have meant the withdrawal of their names for the ministry.

Dreadnoughts for Austria-Hungary.

Vienna, May 1.—According to good authority, and as a reply to British anxiety on the subject, the delegations at their next meeting will be asked to sanction an expenditure of 400,000,000 kroner for building new Dreadnoughts for the Austrian-Hungarian navy.

The program provides for building seven Dreadnoughts within the next few years.

WAS AT MERCY OF THE GALE

Windsor, May 1.—Half dead from exposure, in battling with the severe gale, Robert Carnegie, keeper of the Middle Island lighthouse, nine miles east of Put-in-Bay, and his assistant, were found on the shore of the latter island, where they had been tossed by the waves.

Late Wednesday afternoon, when the storm came up, a small skiff was torn loose from her moorings at the light, and swept out into the lake.

The keeper and his assistant put out in a small naphtha launch to overtake the boat. Shortly after leaving the island the rudder of the launch was lost and two of the blades of the propellor were torn away.

When they were found on the beach, it was discovered that the hands of both men had been frozen.

Effects of the Budget.

London, May 1.—The fresh burdens imposed upon capital by the new budget as announced by Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George in the House of Commons on Thursday, has not had much effect on prices on the Stock Exchange. Consols improved 1-8 at the opening owing to the comparatively small amount, $15,000,000, taken from the sinking fund, and the markets generally opened quite cheerfully on the theory that the Stock Exchange might have been worse hit.

The increased stamp duties, however, are heartily disliked. It is feared they will drive business away to other centres.

DEATH LIST VERY LARGE

Terrific Tornado is Sweeping Over the United States---Monetary Loss Will be Great

Atlanta, Ga., May 1.—An epidemic of cyclones and tornadoes, the like of which have not been known for years, swept through the south Thursday night and yesterday, leaving in their wake hundreds of dead and mangled bodies and the dismantled wrecks of property worth many millions.

An exact list of the dead and an accurate estimate of the monetary loss may not be compiled for days, but from along the path of the storm came tales of fearful loss of life and descriptions of whole towns and villages completely wiped out.

At ten o'clock last night careful estimates indicate that at least 50 people were killed in Tennessee alone, while the loss will not fall short of a million.

Six Killed in Chicago.

Chicago, May 1.—Six persons were killed and fifty injured in Chicago and environs during the storm Thursday night, according to reports received by the police and coroner.

TIDAL WAVE ON LAKE MICHIGAN

Detroit, May 1.— A tidal wave 10 feet high at South Haven on the east shore of Lake Michigan was the most unusual feature of the terrific wind and rainstorm which swept over Lake Michigan Thursday night. The wave caused about $2,000 damage to waterfront property at South Haven.

At Fenton, where the storm approached the proportions of a tornado, the damage aggregated $30,000. Much live stock was killed all over the state. Streams are running out of their banks in many places. At Grand Rapids the Grand river has risen four feet and flood warnings have been sent out.

CZAR TO GO ON A LONG CRUISE

St. Petersburg, May 1.—It is learned upon excellent authority that the Czar, traveling on the imperial yacht Standart and escorted by four warships, will leave on May 20 for a long cruise, in the course of which he will visit Sweden, Germany, England, France, Spain and Italy.

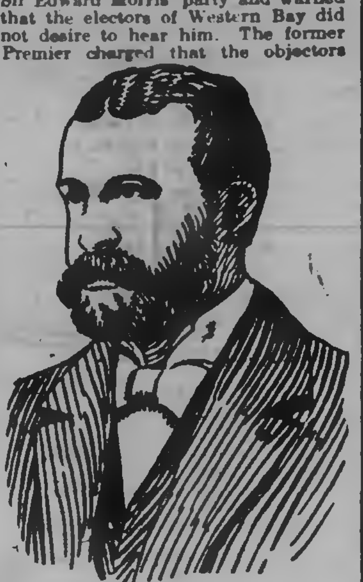
It is rumored that the Premier, M. Stolypin, will accompany His Majesty. This seems to have been decided with the view of disproving rumors current of late with regard to the replacement of M. Stolypin by a more reactionary Minister.

BOND WAS SHOVED INTO THE OCEAN

Newfoundland's Former Premier Gets Rough Reception at Western Bay

St. John's, Nfld., May 1.—Sir Robt. Bond, the former Premier, met with a hostile reception yesterday when he attempted to land from a steamer at Western Bay, the centre of the Bay de Verde district, for the purpose of addressing a political rally.

Sir Robert is touring the towns and villages along Conception Bay in the interest of his party. He was met by a crowd of voters in sympathy with Sir Edward Morris' party and warned that the electors of Western Bay did not desire to hear him. The former Premier charged that the objectors were engaged by the Morris party to prevent him from speaking and announced his intention of landing and making an address.



SIR ROBERT BOND.

The crowd made a rush for the landing place and, in the confusion Sir Robert was pushed overboard. He was not injured and succeeded in climbing into a rowboat. He rejoined the steamer and made no further attempt to land.

The incident is attributed to the intense political feeling which prevails throughout the colony.

Polling will be held one week from to-day. The Bondites and Morrisites have nominated straight tickets in every district. There are no independents running.

LATEST NEWS AS TOLD IN DESPATCHES

Cornwall, May 1.—Thomas Nicholson, contractor, in spite of a great run of hard luck and numerous unexpected difficulties, will finish his contract sharp on time, his concrete wall being now practically erected, and will be ready for navigation from the O. & N.Y. bridge to lock 18 to-day. This wall is 27 feet in height and 437 feet long. The stone, which held down the crib of the coffer dam, built around the break last summer, has been thrown up on the north bank of the canal, and the crib work has been sawn into sections, which will be floated down the canal to the foot, where the cribs will be torn apart and the timber piled up at the Government sheds.

Blackmailers Balked.

San Francisco, May 1.—An attempt to extort under pain of death the sum of $6,000 from Rudolph Spreckels, son of the late millionaire sugar king, Claus Spreckels, was frustrated by the police Thursday night, and in consequence two men are in jail to-day charged with blackmail.

The police instructed the Spreckels' butler to hand a package containing newspapers to any one who should call. At the appointed time a man called and received the package, whereupon he was arrested.

Eight Victims of Fire.

New York, May 1.—Eight persons, five of them children, were burned to death and fourteen others were injured, some of them fatally, in an incendiary fire in a five-storey tenement house at 37 Spring street, occupied by twenty Italian families, early yesterday. The blaze followed a demand by members of a so-called Black Hand society for the payment of $1,000 blackmail.

Suggest Forest Reserve.

Ottawa, May 1.—R. H. Campbell, superintendent of forestry, suggested to the committee on forests and waterways yesterday morning that a belt of land from the Crow's Nest line to the international boundary, and from the British Columbia line fifty miles eastward should be reserved and the cut governed. There seems to be about twelve million acres available, he said.

A Shooting In Court.

Detroit, May 1.—C. K. Boyajish, an Armenian, yesterday shot and fatally wounded his nephew, Haratoon H. Gaspanian, while the latter was being arraigned in the Police Court with his aunt, the physician's wife, on a statutory charge. Gaspanian's home is in Lynn, Mass.

Shah is Worsted.

St. Petersburg, May 1.—Despatches from Persia report a collision between the Nationalists and the forces of the Shah near Kaskin, 90 miles northwest of Teheran. The result was a partial victory for the Nationalists. The forces of the Shah left 31 dead on the field. Further engagements on the Teheran road are expected.

Quiet at Adana.

Boston, May 1.—A cablegram announcing that order has been restored in Hadjin and Adana in Asia Minor was received from Rev. W. W. Peet, treasurer of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions in Constantinople, at the American board's headquarters in this city yesterday.

Forty-Five Cattle Burned.

Salem, Ont., May 1.—The barn of John Barber, near here, was struck by lightning yesterday morning at 2 o'clock, and burnt to the ground, together with forty-five head of cattle, six horses, and some sheep. The fire was so rapid that nothing was saved. A small insurance only was carried.

Goes to New Railway.

Edmonton, May 1.—E. A. James, for many years general superintendent of the Canadian Northern Railway, has accepted the general managership of the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway.

Four Children Burned.

Sydney, N.S., May 1.—A disastrous fire occurred yesterday morning at Glace Bay, when four young children of Stephen McAskill, 6 to 12 years of age, were burned to death.

Docked for Dues.

Glace Bay, N.S., May 1.—The meeting of the U.M.W. has been postponed until to-day. All the men of the district executive were in Sydney last night. About fifty men, who lately went to work for the Dominion Coal Co. at Caledonia Mines, upon receiving their pay sheets yesterday, found that the P.W.A. deductions of dues had been made, although the men had not joined that organization, but on the contrary were members of the U.M.W.

The manager of the mine was approached by these workmen, and he is stated to have told them that the P.W.A. League had handed in their names for lodge stoppage. He promised, however, to see that the money was refunded at once.

The unknown steamer that went down in Whitefish Bay is believed to have been the Corrigan liner Aurania.

Dolly Hardy, a nine-year-old girl, has been committed to the Victoria Industrial School for robbing the house of Thomas Flaxen, near St. Thomas.

KINRADE WARRANT HAS BEEN SERVED

Toronto, May 1.—Provincial Detective Miller and Sheriff's Officer McKim served the crown office subpoena to attend the inquest at Hamilton next Monday on the Kinrade family about five o'clock yesterday afternoon. The service was a purely formal affair. The warrant was signed by Chief Justice Falconbridge.

The crown authorities do not anticipate any further difficulty in the case from the non-attendance of witnesses. Should Miss Kinrade refuse to attend the crown would apply for an order of attachment at Osgoode Hall.

A crown subpoena has not been issued since 1845, when according to Osgoode Hall records, in the spring of that year, Lord Denman, chief justice, issued one for a county officer named Carey, who on counsel's advice had refused to produce records.

Lawyer's Tragic Death.

Harriston, May 1.—A. Hamilton, a lawyer, who at one time practiced in Palmerston, and later held a Government position in the west, came home in Ontario for his health. While visiting in the Township of Howick, some four miles out of Harriston, he suddenly left the house Wednesday evening for a walk. His body was found next day in the river.

Using Fences for Fuel.

Winnipeg, May 1.—The paralysis of industry caused by the coal strike is spreading. Fences are being used for fuel at Swift Current and Gull Lake, and Regina and Moose Jaw are complaining of scarcity. Citizens of Calgary have telegraphed Hon. Frank Oliver, drawing his attention to the holding up of industries by the strike.

Struck by Lightning.

Chatham, May 1.—A heavy storm passed over this city on Thursday night, accompanied by sharp flashes of lightning. The Hotel Sanita was struck by lightning, causing considerable damage. The steeple of the First Presbyterian Church was also struck and badly damaged.

HAVELOCK AND TWEED NOW HAVE LOCAL OPTION

Toronto, May 1.—Ontario is just getting over a very unseasonable cold spell, and now she is right up against a drought.

Twenty-one municipalities will for three years from to-day go a long way for drink.

As a result of the voting on local option last January, twenty-one localities went dry at midnight, and 52 licenses were cut off. Throughout the whole province upwards of 150 licenses have been cancelled this year.

The action of license commissioners in various corporations have greatly reduced the drinking resorts. In Toronto 41 were given three months in which to sell out. While Cornwall lost five, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Niagara Falls and New Ontario four each, Niagara-on-the-Lake, Stratford, and South Elgin each lost one.

Following are the districts affected by local option yesterday, showing the number of licenses affected in each. Seven of these indicated by asterisks are incorporated towns and villages:

Ashfield, 4; *Athens, 2; *Bowmanville, 3; Brougham, 2; Caradoc, 3; Escott Front, 2; *Havelock, 2; Hillier, 1; Iroquois, 2; Kennebec, 1; Limerick, 1; Malahide, 1; Seneca, 4; Thurlow, 4; Tudor and Cashel, 2; *Tweed, 4; *Wellington, 2; Wollaston, 1; *Wyoming, 3; Yonge and Escott R., 2; Sidney, 4. Total, 52.

DETECTIVES STEAL A BOY

Santa Barbara, Cal., May 1.—Detectives employed by J. Shaw, president of the Interborough Railroad Co. of Boston, and a member of the Massachusetts Senate, yesterday entered the house occupied by Mrs. Shaw and H. Keno Marble, formerly the Shaw chauffeur, and seized possession of the 10-year-old son of the Shaws. The boy was taken to the police station and is being held there. The raid was directed early in the morning by Lewis Field, the Shaw family's butler.

According to the story as learned here, Mrs. Shaw deserted her husband in Brooklyn in June, 1907, and came to California, in the company of Marble, bringing her 10-year-old son with her.

REVIEW'S STORY OF MARATHON DERBY

Special to the Review

Hanlon's Point, Toronto, May 1.—When the starter of the big Canadian Marathon Derby, Controller Geary, fired his pistol at 3.08 o'clock this afternoon sixteen runners sprung from the mark and started on the journey of 26 miles 385 yards—the full Marathon distance. The track is four laps to the mile and the going heavy.

The weather is cloudy but no rain is falling.

At 2.30 o'clock there were 12,000 spectators on hand.

THOSE WHO STARTED.

The men who faced the starter were:

Simpson, Peterborough.
Marsh, Winnipeg.
Wood, Montreal.
Coley, Thorold.
Guala, Toronto.
Redding, Toronto.
Booth, Toronto.
Sellen, Toronto.
Meadows, Guelph.
Windmill, Toronto.
Fabre, Montreal.
Jackson (Red Hawk), Midland.
Green, Toronto.
Cumming, Toronto.
Petch, Toronto.
Alton, Toronto.
Bennett, Hamilton.
McNeil, Toronto.

THEY'RE OFF.

Abbie Wood took the lead at the start. Four of those who entered did not start. Peter John, the Six Nations Indian, is one of those who did not face the starter.

MARSH LEADING.

John D. Marsh of Winnipeg is leading at the end of the first mile. The field are well together and the pace is fast.

END OF SECOND MILE.

At the end of the second mile Marsh was still in the lead with Sellen a few feet behind. The runners were commencing to string out.

THIRD MILE.

At the end of the third mile Marsh was in the lead with Coley second and Sellen third.

FOURTH MILE.

Marsh is still leading at the end of the fourth mile. Sellen has moved up to second place a few yards behind and Coley is chasing the little Englishman.

The time for the four miles was 23 minutes, 9 seconds.

FIFTH MILE.

Marsh maintains the lead at the end of the fifth mile. Sellen is second and Wood third. The time is 27.56. Simpson is with the bunch right behind the leaders.

SIXTH MILE.

Marsh is still leading the field and running a nice race. Sellen is following him and the Peterborough Indian has advanced to third place. The race is interesting the crowd more since Simpson has picked up.

Time—33.38.

SEVENTH MILE.

The positions of the three leaders are the same as in the last mile. The time is 39.20. Windmill found the going too heavy and has dropped out of the race.

EIGHTH MILE.

Time—45.06.

NINTH MILE.

Sellen, by a magnificent sprint, passed Marsh and leads by 25 yards. Marsh is second and Simpson a short distance behind him, is third, leading the second division.

The time is 50.53.

TENTH MILE.

Sellen leads with Marsh second and Simpson third. The three leaders have lapped the rest of the field and the pace seems pretty hot for the contingent behind the third man.

Time, 56.24.

ELEVENTH MILE.

There is no change in the position of the runners.

TWELFTH MILE.

Sellen is first seventy-five yards ahead of Marsh. Wood has jumped to third place and Simpson is fourth fifteen yards behind Wood.

The time is 1.08.11. The rest of the field is two laps behind. Sellen is setting a nerve-racking pace.

As soon as the race is over the Review will issue an Extra Edition containing a complete report of the big event. This will be the best report of the race published in Peterborough. Secure a copy of the Review Extra. The price will be 2c.

Two Drown In River.

Southampton, May 1.—Sam Cairns, engineer of the Saugeen Electric Light & Power Co. of Southampton, and Andrew Ruxton of Chippewa Hill, were drowned in the Saugeen river, two miles east of here, yesterday afternoon.

The two men were working on Denny's bridge, and slipped off. The recent rains have made the river very high and the current is very rapid.

Cairns leaves a wife and four children, and Ruxton leaves two sisters, Belle in Berlin, and Annie at Chippewa Hill.

Toronto Boy Loses Leg.

Toronto, May 1.—Wm. Y. Muirhead, a Canadian Northern Railway clerk, fell under a train at Battle Creek, Michigan, yesterday, and lost a leg.

He had left the train for a short time and when he got back it had started. He ran and made a jump for the step, misjudged the speed at which the train was going and went between the two cars.

Appointed to Arbitrate.

Winnipeg, May 1.—Winnipeg Electric Railway Co. yesterday wired the Department of Labor at Ottawa to the effect they had selected W. J. Christie as their representative in arbitration demanded by the men, who appointed J. D. O'Donoghue of Toronto.

30,000 Mariners Strike.

Buffalo, May 1.—One of the greatest marine strikes in the history of labor on the chain of great lakes began this morning, when over 30,000 men, members of the Lake Seamen's Union, left the boats controlled by the Lake Carrier's Association.

Loan Office Raided.

Montreal, April 30.—The Montreal offices of D. H. Tolman, a money-lender, who has agencies in all the important business centres of the United States and Canada, were raided by the high constable and his officers yesterday at the instance of the Thiel Detective Service and everything placed under seizure. Two young women, Tessie Devaney and Josephine Lamoreux, found in charge of the place, were arrested.

Hoodlums Get Off Lightly.

Brantford, April 30.—Eight Harrisburg young men were mulcted $80 in fines yesterday as a result of the series of disturbances in that village.

William Kay and E. Dargis, ringleaders, were fined $5 each.

An old man, Joseph Knight, was the complainant. On three occasions, the disturbers had threatened to hang him, and he had also been dragged along the ground with a rope around his neck.

Robbed Summer Cottages.

Brockville, May 1.—Wm. Robbins of Gananoque and Wm. Russell of Phillipsville pleaded guilty yesterday to a wholesale robbery of cottages in the Thousand Islands region, near Gananoque. Four islands were visited and several boatloads of general furnishing appropriated. Robbins is a brother-in-law of one of the victims of the recent Gananoque drowning tragedy.

Bylaw Carried.

St. Mary's, May 1.—The bylaw to guarantee the bonds of the St. Mary's Portland Cement Co. to the amount of $40,000, was carried here yesterday by a majority of 124 votes.

SATURDAY, MAY 1, 1909.

AN UNEXPECTED DANGER

In an address delivered in Montreal a few days ago Prof. Robertson referred to the Western Provinces as a great surface mine which was in danger of being stripped and a barren waste left behind.

The warning is not without justification. With too many of those going to the West, the idea is to reap the returns of a few bountiful crops, sell the land at an advance on the price paid for it and return. This sort of farming, with immediate profit the one object sought, has been followed by too great an extent in Manitoba, and to a much greater extent in the North Western States. The result is that in Manitoba today yields per acre are less than they were years ago, and in Minnesota, which has been settled for a longer time, the average yield of wheat is about one-half what it was at the beginning.

There is no doubt that the newer provinces of the West are capable of producing a few bountiful crops of wheat. But wheat can be made to succeed wheat only at the cost of impoverishing the soil and filling the land with weeds. Such a system of farming is essentially dishonest in that it takes for immediate use resources which were intended by nature to provide for permanent posterity.

So serious is the danger referred to by Prof. Robertson, that the Government would be justified in exercising some sort of supervision over the manner of farming carried on in the new provinces. The fact should be recognized that no man has a right to use land without any regard to the rights of those who are to follow him in occupation. In France, and in one or two other European countries, this principle is so fully recognized now that a man is not allowed to cut down a tree, on land which may have been in the possession of his family for generations, without consent of the public authorities and without provision being made for replanting. That same principle might well be applied to the West, particularly in the case of lands passing direct from the Crown to settlers, and a provision incorporated in the deed requiring the practise of certain measures of mixed farming, including, where practicable, the plowing down of clover at more or less frequent intervals.—The Weekly Sun (Independent).

RURAL MAIL DELIVERY

Frequent mail delivery is as much a necessity to a well-settled farming community as to a city. The peopling of the west at enormous cost may be good business, but we fail to see it, especially when the farmers of the east are required to sacrifice so much in the way of farm-values and competition in grains. Out west they get everything from state-built elevators to subsidized sidelines of railway all at the expense of the eastern merchant and eastern farmer. It is necessary to ask if the justification for all this can be found in our improved conditions? It certainly cannot. Is the farmer of Galway or Harvey, etc., one whit better off than he was before he contributed to "building up the west." We again answer in the negative. What has gone as his contribution in public funds to the west might with far greater profit to himself, have been spent on his highways, his bridges, his rural mail and parcel delivery, elevators, cold storage, etc. These are the things that go to develop old Canada, which is very badly in need of it and much more in need of it than in need of long-winded articles in the Grit press on a free-trade that fortunately does not exist and a future for the farmer that never comes to pass. Are goods cheaper, is farm produce dearer than it used to be? But there is one thing it is a crime to deprive the farmer of and that is rural delivery of parcels and letters. Promises must be kept in this particular if in no other and the expenditure of money in appropriations for dredging where favorites work their will without tender or contract or let or hindrance is "played out" especially when needed improvements are left over and the farmer is compelled to wait upon those preferred to himself.

THE G. T. P. LOAN

Mr. Borden is demanding no more than common business prudence in asking that the Grand Trunk Pacific put up better security for their ten million loan. With preferred stock in their possession and with common stock in the possession of other promoters of the road, it is a pretty bold request to come to the country asking for ten millions on a fourth mortgage on an unbuilt railway. Hon. Mr. Graham is evidently of the opinion that this will not be the last call by any means; and it is hardly conceivable that the Government intends to go on loaning money indefinitely on security which its own Finance Minister does not regard as good when the men who are building the road, borrowing the money and expecting to make millions out of the enterprise have the best possible security lying idle in their safes.

The Opposition speakers seem unable to discuss the matter without permitting a little pessimism to filter into their speeches. There is not the slightest reason to be pessimistic. Neither is this the proper time to discuss the original bargain. It may have been bad or it may have been good; but the country is now committed to it and to the completion of the road. The only question before the House is whether we will loan the G.T.P. ten millions and if so what security we will ask for it. The answers to these questions should be very simple. We cannot think of doing anything else than advancing the loan; and we surely ought to ask as security the only good article of the sort which the promoters of the railway seem to have—their stock.

The Government practically make no reply to this. They content themselves with talking of the great things which the new railway will do for the country—which no one disputes—and with conjecturing what they will do if the Quebec bridge is not ready on time. This is all beside the question now at issue. The country is about to play banker to the railway; and the only subject to the fore is the security we are to get. The railway offers what is admitted to be insufficient security, while it has plenty of good security lying idle. The Government knows perfectly well where this good security is and how easily it could be obtained. It is surely for the Government to get it or to tell us why it does not.—Montreal Star

Sault Ste. Marie seems to have at last fallen on a good prospect. The extensions there are to be tremendous.

La Patrie's official Ottawa correspondent wires that journal that Parliament will be prorogued on May 18th, [illegible]

What we object to in Ontario's new coat-of-arms is that there is neither coat nor arms about the thing at all, and moreover, the moose and the red deer are made to appear the same size, than which any child one month old knows better.

The young man of 18, of Kansas City will never have a row with his mother-in-law. He has invented an explosive 3 oz. of which will blow up a city and he can fire it by wireless telegraphy. There's trouble in store for somebody.

A deficit of $78,810,000 in the United Kingdom, with Dreadnoughts to build and Old Age Pensions to pay, is an indication that the "weary Titan" will need help if the strain lasts much longer. He has earned help long ago; and the colonies will hardly have the face to send boasting advertisements to the Motherland much longer, unless accompanied by a little gift for John Bull.—The Montreal Star.

The session is nearing an end, having continued since January 20th, and yet not one word has been spoken of the promised house-to-house delivery of parcels and mails in the county of Peterborough. We really do wonder that some bluff has not been put up respecting it, even if it were intended to go no farther. But not even that. However, we shall not cease demanding it until it comes.

No doubt the "gentlemen of the city of Montreal" will find many apologists and sympathizers in this, their hour of "trial." It is a habit some people have, who would bluff everybody—if they could—into the belief that their interests coincide precisely and properly with the deeds they do and conversely. It is a great world. The open thief is better, however, than the most mendacious one any day, and will get less hell, as Dante says, when the final disposition of these gentry is made on the day of judgment.

Dr. Orr found in Scotland at any rate, there was a tendency in the preaching at the time to get away from the Bible and take up other subjects. "It is perfectly amazing the ingenuity preachers have in getting away from the Bible. A man is hard up that needs to go away from the great central things I have been talking about, to talk about these subjects." (Prolonged applause.

"What's emptying our churches is not the preaching of the gospel but the want of it. Take men who know how to handle these central truths and they are veritable magnets. If you want to get the world saved, preach the gospel. All the critics in creation may come and batter away at the Bible, and it will not make tuppence of difference in the long run."

"Rising above the river of God is a great deal of theological mist. I don't know any way of removing that mist except by the breath of the Spirit of God."

We note that Mr E Guss Porter, MP, for West Hastings is still seeking information. This time it is to ascertain how tenders for work on the Canal are manipulated. Mr Porter asks:

> "For a copy of advertisements calling for tenders for sections 1, 2 and 3 for construction of the Trent Canal and of all tenders received for each of these sections; of all correspondence in connection with each of such tenders, if any, and all Orders in Council accepting or respecting all such tenders, of all correspondence respecting such tenders or any of them, after accepting in regard to refusal or desire of party tendering not to compete, and the Departmental replies thereto; showing the deposit made with each such tender and the disposition made of the same, and a copy of each contract entered into, both with any tenderers who refused to compete, as well as those who did not refuse and of any Order in Council or other Order releasing any such tenderer from his tender or contract; also a copy of any contract submitted to any such tenderer which was refused to be executed by any such tenderer."

Members of the present Government are past masters in the art of manipulating tenders and contracts hence Mr Porter must have much faith if he expects to find anything out. His will be a weary hunt.—Belleville Intelligencer.

THE LOCAL OPTION MOVEMENT IN THE CITY

The Matter Appearing in This Department is Furnished by the Peterborough Temperance and Moral Reform League Which Has Arranged for its Publication.

TRAVELLERS AND LOCAL OPTION

Citizens of Peterborough who are afraid that the adoption of local option may lower the standard of Peterborough hotels and keep travellers away from the city would have been interested in a conversation that took place one night recently between two commercial travellers and the writer, in a hotel in Belleville. It started when the two travellers commenced kicking because one of the hotels, in a place near Peterborough where local option carried last January had advanced its rates without giving any improvement in the meals served or the comforts provided. Their resentment was directed against the hotel keeper. They claimed that he was taking advantage of the situation to overcharge the travelling public who had been his regular customer for years. Both expressed pleasure over the fact that the temperance people purpose taking over a hotel and managing it themselves.

When asked point blank whether or not they thought local option a good thing, the older of the two men replied. "I did not at one time, but I do now." To this the younger of the two said, "That's the way it was with me. Now, however, if I had a thousand votes I would give them all for local option."

On being asked what had led him to change his mind, the elder of the two replied: "The village of Winchester is now under local option. Before local option when I used to go there there were two hotels near each other. Nearly every night I was there there was sure to be a fight in one hotel or the other. One night one man chased another out of the bar and into the room where I was sitting. The fugitive caught up a poker from under the stove and tried to brain the man who followed him. For a few moments I thought I was going to be the witness of a murder. Another night a local pugilistic world beater gave the proprietor of the hotel a bad thrashing and for doing so he was set on and beaten into a pulp. Such things are very unnerving. The crowds used to hang around the hotel drinking and singing until the early morning hours. I was never sure of getting a good night's rest.

"Since local option has come into force the temperance people of Winchester have subscribed about $2500 and erected one of the best hotels between Montreal and Toronto. It is splendidly managed and has every comfort. The meals furnished are excellent. The rates have been advanced from $1.50 to $2.00 a day, but I am willing to pay the difference for the sake of the extra comforts I enjoy. There are no more rows around the hotel at night, the way there used to be and it is a pleasure to stop at the hotel.

"In hotels where liquor is sold I am never sure of a good night's rest. At one hotel I was at a drunken crowd kept up their singing and shouting in a room across the hall from mine until four o'clock in the morning although they were asked repeatedly to desist. There is none of that where there is local option.

It Helps Business

"Local option helps business," continued the same speaker. "Collections are better in towns where local option is in force. It frequently happens that if there is a hotel near your customers will invite you over for a drink. These men spend so much time in the hotels they neglect their business. After local option carries they are right on their job, their business improves and they are more prompt with their payments.

Less Expense

"I cannot see why it is necessary for a hotel keeper to advance his rates after local option carries because his expenses must be greatly reduced. He does not have to pay a big fee for a license, he saves the salaries and stealings of one or more bar tenders, his taxes are less, his fire insurance is reduced, he does not keep open so late so that his light bill is less and he saves in other ways.

"The hotel keepers, to a great extent, have themselves to blame that local option is making such headway. They allow such rows around their places when they sell liquor both the local people and the travelling public become disgusted. The hotel keepers need not claim that it is the church cranks and women who carry local option. There are a great many steady drinkers who vote for local option. One of my customers told me one time that he was going to vote for local option because the saloon near his store had got too much of his money and of his father's money before him. He added that his father also was going to vote for local option."

Both the travellers agreed that there has been an improvement in the hotel accommodation at Stirling since local option came into force. One said, "It is funny if, when we see prohibition sweeping over the States the way it is, we cannot carry local option in Canada."

SOME POINTS FOR PETERBORO' CITIZENS

That the young men of Peterborough have an even better idea than many of the older citizens of this city of the curse of the liquor traffic, is indicated by the following excellent paper that was read last Sunday afternoon, at the meeting held in the Crystal, by Mr. Walter Garbutt, representing the Young People's Society of the Murray Street Baptist Church.

The history of strong drink is the history of ruin, of tears and of blood. It is, perhaps, the greatest curse that ever scourged the earth. It is one of depravity's worse fruits, a giant demon of destruction. Men may talk of earthquakes, storms, disasters, famines, pestilence and war but intemperance and the use of intoxicating drinks has sent a volume of misery and woe into the stream of this world's history more fearful and terrible than any of them.

It is the Amazon and Mississippi Rivers of wretchedness. It is the Alexander and Napoleon among the warriors upon the peace and good of men. It is an evil which is limited to no age, no continent, no nation, party or sex, no period of life. It has taken the poor man at his toil, and the rich man at his desk, the Senator in the halls of state, and the draymen on the street, the young man in his festivities and the old man in his repose — and plunged them into a common ruin. It has raged equally in times of war and in times of peace, in periods of depressions and in periods of prosperity, in republics and in monarchies, among the civilised and among the savages.

In Ancient Times

Since the time that Noah came out of the ark and planted vineyards, and drank of their wines, we read in all histories of its terrible doings and never once lose sight of its black and bloody tracks. States have recorded enactments against it, ecclesiastical penalties have been imposed upon it, societies have succeeded societies for its extermination, but like him whose name was legion, no man has been able to bind it.

It was strong drink that brought the original curse of servitude upon the descendants of Ham, that has eaten away the strength of empires, wasted, and energies of states blotted out the names of families and crowded hell with tenants. Egypt, the source of science; Babylon, the wonder and glory of the world; Greece, the home of learning and of liberty; Rome, the mistress of the earth—each in its time had its heart lacerated by this dreadful cankerworm, and thus become an easy prey to the destroyer.

A Cause of Misery

It has drained tears enough to make a sea, and shed blood enough to redden the waves of the ocean, to say nothing of the treasure expended thereon. Some of the mightiest intellects, some of the most generous natures, some of the happiest homes, and many of the noblest specimens of man, strong drink has blighted, crushed and buried in squalid wretchedness.

It Fills the Gaols

The jails, penitentiaries, alms-houses and charity hospitals are tenanted by strong drink victims. It sends forth beggars and floods every city with bestiality and crime, and has, perhaps, done more toward bringing earth and hell together than any other form of vice.

Whatever a man may have been, let him yield to the demon of strong drink, and it requires no prophet to tell what he will be. He inevitably goes down. Manliness fades out of his nature; the tokens of honor, intelligence and integrity vanish from the face that is flushed from excess, and jaded with riot and debauchery, and with accelerated speed he hastens on the downward path. In his sober moments he often curses the instruments of his ruin, but he is powerless to escape the evils that encompass him; he knows not how to break the chains that bind him down. An outcast from all that is pure and high and holy. He may sometimes turn in solemn thought to the graves where slumber those whom once he loved, and whose love for him endured while life remained, but memory stings him as with scorpion fangs. Reflection is bitter to his soul, and his brain, benumbed with alcoholic poison, is no longer thrilled with thoughts that that wander through eternity, and he whose genius once irradiated the land, and whose eloquence charmed the listening multitudes, cracks his silly jokes, moistens his lips with the burning draught and stupefies himself until his pain and sorrow are forgotten.

Oh, it is a fearful thing to see a man on whom God has set, as with his own signet, the impress of intellect and genius, debase themselves to this hell of sin and shame and misery, and yet men laugh and smile and dance as they tread the downward path, and only wake to their danger when they find themselves fettered with bands that cannot break, and sunk in wretchedness from which they cannot escape. Let those who have not yet entered upon this dangerous road flee, as it were, for their lives, from a path so full of peril, and let those who already find themselves entangled in these terrible snares cry out mightily to God for deliverance and hasten to escape ere it becomes impossible.

Would be No Need for Prisons

If we could but dry up this one moral ulcer, and sweep away forever all the results of this one form of sin we would hardly need such things as prisons, asylums, charity houses, etc. The children of haggard want would sit in the halls of plenty and the tears of orphans and widows and and disappointed hope would dwindle in a goodly measure. Disease would be robbed of much of its power. The clouds would vanish from thousands of afflicted homes, and peace would breathe its fragrance on the world, almost as if the day of its redemption had come.

This condition of affairs would be grand, and the sooner we drive liquor from our midst the better. The temperance cause is a cause for Christ, and if we have any desire to have Christ's kingdom come on this earth we must do our best to get rid of this accursed drink business. We cannot have Christ's kingdom and whiskey too, so now it is up to us here in Peterborough to say which we will have.

I venture to say that if the question of "whether or not we should let the kingdom of God come on earth" was put before the public to be decided by their votes that not one vote would be polled against its coming. Now, I think you all agree with me when I say that, and yet, knowing that it is impossible to have it and the liquor business together, how is it that men will vote against its abolition, and not only vote against it but use their influence and power to prevent it! And, I'm sorry to say, that some of these very men are church members and will bow their heads and repeat the Lord's prayer. You know what that asks for as well as I do and you also know the sin those persons are committing in doing that.

Is there one in this meeting who is classed with those whom I have just mentioned. If so, may God forgive you and may He so convict you of your sin that you will never rest until you have meekly on your knees begged for forgiveness and reconciliation and in doing so promise as did Saul of old to do all in your power to bring about the extermination of this awful traffic and live a life for Christ.

Work Here in Peterboro'

We do not need to go outside of Peterborough to find temperance work to do. We can find abundance of it right here in our midst. Why within a month death has visited two homes in our city and carried away two of our citizens who might have been living good, strong, healthy lives had it not been for liquor. Liquor did not kill them outright but it so weakened their system that when disease set in they were not able to withstand it and soon perished. Hard deaths they were too. One with consumption and the other pneumonia.

Are we doing our duty in this matter or do we just put on our Temperance and Christian clothes on Sunday. I hope not. Let us decide today that we will do our best for the cause of Christ and of Temperance and as a previous speaker said some time ago, "Let us not win local option next January by a snap vote but with an overwhelming majority." Make every home a committee room to talk over this matter and every chance you get to do something good, do it and you will be abundantly rewarded.

Campaign Notes

Where are you on the local option question. Have you shown your colors yet or are you still on the fence.

Occasionally we read in the papers of ministers, who oppose local option. In such cases a little investigation generally shows that they are themselves addicted more or less to the liquor habit. When such men take a stand against temperance they are apt to cause more harm than they can remedy by years of faithful work.

If you will follow the police courses in Peterborough from day to day you will soon see what liquor is doing for this city.

Every drunken man who staggers down the streets and lanes of Peterborough is a walking advocate of local option. No wonder the saloon keepers do their best to keep such results of their traffic out of sight.

Time Extended

The committee in charge has extended the time to June 1st for receiving the pupils' essays on "Why Peterborough Should Banish the Bars.

The Shah Is Reactionary.

Teheran, May 1.—The Shah has dismissed the Premier, Muchires Saltaneh, and the War Minister, Amir Bahadur Djeng, and has appointed his uncle, Naib Es Saltaneh to both these offices. The latter is an extreme reactionary. The diplomatic representatives of Great Britain and Russia have intimated to the Shah their disapproval of this proceeding.

Guilty of Libel.

New York, May 1.—A verdict of guilty of criminal libel was found yesterday against The Star Co., publishers of The New York American, by the jury in the trial of the company on an indictment charging the publication of an article libelling John D. Rockefeller, jr. A fine of $500 was assessed.

GROWING BOYS AND GROWING GIRLS

Need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to Give Them Health and Strength

Growing boys as well as young girls need such a tonic as Dr. Williams Pink Pills to keep the blood, rich, red and pure and give them health and strength. Mrs. Edward Koch, postmistress at Prince's Lodge, N.S., tells the great benefit her little son has derived from the use of this world famous medicine. Mrs. Koch says:—"My little son, Reginald, had been troubled with anaemia almost since birth. He was always a sickly looking child, with no energy and little or no appetite. His veins showed very plainly through his skin and he had several serious attacks of stomach and bowel trouble, and on one occasion his life was despaired of by two doctors who were attending him. His little body was slowly wasting away until he was nothing more than a skeleton. He was peevish and fretful and a misery to himself. Having read and heard so much of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I determined to try them in his case, and after giving them to him for a couple of months they certainly worked wnoders with him. To-day he is fat and healthy looking; he has a hearty appetite, is able to play like other children, and is bright and energetic, instead of dull and listless as he used to be. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have changed my puny, sickly child, into a rugged, healthy boy."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured this sickly boy because they went down to the root of the trouble in his blood. That is why they never fail. Bad blood is the cause of all common diseases like anaemia, (bloodlessness) eczema, paleness, headaches, indigestion, kidney trouble, neuralgia, rheumatism and the special ailments that only growing girls and womenfolk know. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills don't bother with mere symptmos. They cure diseases through the blood. They don't cure for a day—they cure to stay cored. Do not take any pills without the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around each box. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medical Co., Brockville, Ont.

Does Your BackAche?

If you are a woman and you have this symptom get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound without delay.

Backache seems an invention of the evil one to try woman's souls. Only those who suffer this way can understand the wearing, ceaseless misery.

We ask all such women to read the two following letters for proof that Mrs. Pinkham's medicine cures backache caused by female diseases.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I have been a great sufferer with a constant pain in my back. I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for it, and the pain has disappeared. I feel like a new woman since that awful pain has gone, and may God bless the discoverer of that great and wonderful remedy."—Mrs. Peter Gaffney, 548 Marcey Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Milwaukee, Wis.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world about it.

"I suffered from female troubles and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I am ready to tell every one what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. Emma Imse, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made thousands of cures of such cases. You notice we say has cured thousands of cases. That means that we are telling you what it has done, not what we think it will do. We are stating facts, not guesses.

We challenge the world to name another remedy for female ills which has been so successful or received so many testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

OLD CHURCH WILL BE HANDED OVER TO ATHLETIC CLUB

Park Street Athletic Club Will Have Gymnasium and Reading Room in Building—Will Have Possession on May 13th

On Thursday evening, May 13th, the old Park Street Church building will be handed over to the Athletic Club of the church.

A gymnasium will be equipped in the main section of that building, a good reading room will be opened and the back room will be used as a dressing room.

The membership to the club is open and the young men of the south end are welcome to join.

A boys' department will be conducted in connection with the club and will have the privileges after four in the afternoons and on Friday evenings. The Y.M.C.A. of the city has promised to lend its sympathy and co-operation to the movement.

The idea of the club is to encourage physical and intellectual development. Well known lecturers from outside towns will be engaged at different times to give addresses.

VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN ON AGAINST THE CIGARETTE

Many Boys Have Enrolled As Members of the Anti-Cigarette League—Meeting at Y.M.C.A. Last Night Addressed by Prominent Citizens.

A vigorous campaign is on against the cigarette in Peterborough. An Anti-Cigarette League has been formed and a large number of boys have enrolled as members. Mr. A. C. Davenport has been instrumental in inaugurating the movement and he has enlisted the sympathy of a large number of prominent citizens in the work of banishing the cigarette. The league held a public meeting at the Y.M.C.A. last night, and about fifty boys and a number of older folk were in attendance. Rev. H. J. Keith was chairman, and the speakers were Inspector Mowat, Dr. J. E. Middleton, J. A. McKone and Police Magistrate Dumble. They all warned the boys to eschew the cigarette and to keep away from tobacco in every form.

The singing of several hymns, a selection by the Charlotte Street Quartette and the excellent accompaniment of an orchestra added to the brightness of the meeting. Rev. H. M. Manning led in prayer.

The first speaker was Inspector Mowat. The boys of to-day, he said, would be men in a few years and would be shouldering the burdens of life. There were great responsibilities before them and it was their duty to be prepared to fill the high positions in life. To succeed in life it was necessary for the boys to have bright intellects, to be strong morally and to be endowed with as much physical strength as possible. Boys who smoked cigarettes were injuring themselves mentally, morally and physically. In his experience as a teacher the speaker had found that boys who used tobacco were not as bright and did not make as good progress with their studies as those who did not use it. At Harvard University the highest honors had never been carried off by a student who used tobacco. Mr. Mowat closed by appealing to the boys, as the future citizens of Canada, to keep away from tobacco.

Dr. J. E. Middleton dealt in an interesting manner on the injurious effects of tobacco upon the human system. The deadly effect of nicotine was pointed out, the speaker remarking that two or three grains of it were enough to kill a person. Nicotine was one of the elements of tobacco and the deadly drug was assisting in the downfall of many bright boys.

Mr. J. A. McKone asked why boys smoked cigarettes. It was a foolish habit, and not only foolish, but injurious. Man was largely a creature of habit and it should be the constant aim to keep from evil habits. Business men realized the harm cigarettes did a boy, and it was impossible now for cigarette smokers to secure positions in many of the largest establishments throughout the country. Mr. McKone appealed to the boys to lead lives that would bring out the best that was in them, and never to do the lower, but always the higher things.

Magistrate Dumble gave a lot of good advice, and gave it in a manner that the boys were much pleased with. In discharging his duties as police magistrate, Mr. Dumble said he had many boys come before him whose downfall was principally due to cigarettes. Bad company, cigarettes, beer, petty thieving, larceny, penitentiary. This was the course of many boys who had they left tobacco alone, would have become good citizens. The speaker told the boys to pay heed to the advice of their parents. The father and mother did not want their boys to smoke cigarettes. It was a sad sight to see boys ruining themselves mentally, physically and morally by smoking cigarettes, and Mr. Dumble hoped that every boy would have the courage to say no when invited to use tobacco in any form.

The boys vigorously applauded the speakers of the evening, and apparently were much impressed with what they heard.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Keith referred to the good work of Mr. Davenport in organizing the Anti-Cigarette movement, and called upon him for a few remarks.

Mr. Davenport invited the boys to join the league, and thanked the speakers, the quartette, the orchestra, the Y.M.C.A. and the press for what they had done in making the movement a success.

A large number of new members were secured, and the league is now in a flourishing condition.

HOUSE AND DRIVING SHED WERE DESTROYED BY FIRE

A frame house and a driving shed on the farm of Milburn Bros. which is located on the Chemong road, about three miles out of the city, were destroyed by fire last night. Warden R. N. Scott had the farm rented and he had about $400 worth of machinery in the driving shed. It was all destroyed and there was no insurance on it. A new binder and mower rake, seed drill and several ploughs were burned.

There was some insurance on the house. The fire started in the house and apparently was of incendiary origin as there had been no fire in the building for over two weeks.

'THE SCHEMING LIEUTENANT" WAS CLEVERLY PRESENTED

Brilliant Comedy Given Last Night by Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute—Amateur Players Did Excellent Work—Interesting Special Numbers.

Richard Brinsley Sheridan's very clever little comedy "The Scheming Lieutenant," was captivatingly presented last night by the amateur players of the Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute under the direction of Mr. S. J. Petit of the Collegiate staff. The presentation was surprisingly good and provided a very entertaining evening for the large audience in attendance. And the audience was evidently greatly pleased for the comedy lines and situations drew forth incessant laughs. In fact laughs were the order of the evening and the many humorous climaxes were effectively reached by the cast.

"The Scheming Lieutenant" is one of the sterling old comedies and is of decided worth both in originality of conception and literary merit. It was a fortunate choice for the occasion and those who saw it played at the assembly hall of the Collegiate thoroughly appreciated it as a very amusing piece and also remarked on the excellent way it was given by the company of amateurs.

The comedy is well known both as a successful stage offering and as a book play and it is probably not necessary to outline its plot at any length. Its principal vein is the scheming of the young lieutenant to win the hand of the daughter of Justice Credulous, and the extreme methods he has to adopt in his endeavors to get the father's consent supply no end of merriment.

The stage settings for the various scenes were in excellent taste and harmoniously arranged, the setting of the last scene, representing the Justice's home, being perhaps the most attractive. Mr Petit looked after the managements of the stage and instructed those taking part during the performance. It is to be hoped that he continues to show an interest in connection with the amateur theatricals at the Collegiate and the presentation of a play by the pupils could be made a very successful annual event.

SPECIAL NUMBERS

Before the commencement of the first act the Girls' chorus of the Collegiate sang a selection in splendid ensemble and responded to an insistent recall. The chorus is under the leadership of Miss Helen Davies, and gave evidence of well directed training. During the evening the school orchestra of nine pieces played "Belle of the Regiment," and for an encore gave "Hunky Dory" and "Same Old Moon." The playing of the orchestra was much enjoyed and very favorably commented upon. Mr. Kenneth Shook's singing of "Loch Lomond" was warmly applauded and he had to give an encore number. Mr. Harold Brown's piano solo was much appreciated and Dr Parks of the Normal School staff was enthusiastically recalled for his violin number.

THE CAST

Lieutenant O'Connor—Cyril Moore.
Dr. Rosy—Alex. Primeau.
Justice Credulous—Maxwell Dobbin.
Sergeant Trounce—Stewart Anderson.
Corporal Flint—John Brightman.
Mrs. Justice Credulous—Miss Katie Leary.
Lauretta—Miss Phyllis Denne.
Nora—Miss Read.
Soldiers—Jack Harstone, Wilfred Fortye, William Gibson, and Fred Conroy.

As the intriguing Lieutenant O'Connor, Cyril Moore was capital, and played the part in a very clever manner. Alex. Primeau caused many laughs as a medico inclined to philosophical moods when his meditations were not hungered after, and Maxwell Dobbin supplied just the required acting for the irritable and highly amusing Justice Credulous. Stewart Anderson and John Brightman as Sergeant Trounce and Corporal Flint gave satisfactory delineations of their parts. To Miss Katie Leary fell the difficult character role of Mrs. Credulous, and her reading of the part was admirable. Great credit must be given Miss Phyllis Denne for her portrayal of the leading feminine juvenile part of Lauretta. She interpreted the role with marked ability, despite the fact that she was cast for it at the eleventh hour, and only had the opportunity of attending one rehearsal, Miss Blewett, who was to have played the part, being unable to do so through illness. Miss Read appeared as Nora, the maid, and did what was required of her in a praiseworthy way. The quartette of red-coat privates acted as spirited men of the ranks would be expected to, under the circumstances.

The production of the comedy was uniformly good, and the size of the audience lent much encouragement to the players. The assembly hall was well filled, and the receipts amounted to about seventy-five dollars.

Not only is tea grown at a high elevation finer flavored and more healthful than ordinary tea, but it is much more economical. That is why one pound of "Salada" will make more cups of tea than one and one-quarter pounds of any other kind.

NEW WAY TO MAKE MONEY

Young Lad Has Engaged Himself to Issue Dog Licenses

An old lady called at the police court this morning to enquire of the chief if it was necessary to secure two tags for one dog. She stated that one tag had already been secured by her, but a young lad had called at her house stating that he was issuing the licenses. Of course the lady refused to get one from him, and called this morning to inform Chief Rossel of the occurrence.

There is nobody engaged by the city to issue these licenses except the city officials, and should the guilty party be apprehended in his work, he will find himself in an awkward position.

Executive Committee—E. Brown and H. Brown.

The officers and executive will meet on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock to draw up a constitution to be presented to the club on Friday evening at 7.30. All members of the boys' department of attend this meeting.

Many Licenses Issued To-day

The city clerk reports a big business in dog licenses to-day, there having been 168 issued up to an early hour this afternoon and more are expected. Still, these will not cover the large number of dogs which are in the city, and there is trouble ahead for those who do not pay the necessary $2 into the city treasury.

SUCCESSFUL SALE

At Home and Sale at George St. Church a Decided Success

There was a large attendance and a handsome sum was realized at the At Home and Sale of Home Made cake, bread and pastry which was held by the Ladies' Aid of George St. church last evening. The Sunday school room was prettily decorated and the tables on which were a large variety of good things to eat, looked most inviting. Everything was disposed of before the evening was over and the proceeds from the tea room were also very satisfactory.

During the evening an informal programme was given and the numbers were thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present. Miss Rosser sang "Somebody" from San Toy while Miss Stinson gave a couple of interesting recitations. Mr. Leadbetter, who has recently come to the city to reside, sang delightfully, two numbers, and Misses McKee and Foy gave a piano duet. Miss Ida Sanderson acted most efficiently as accompanist for the vocal solos.

MEETING OF CONGREGATION

Last Year the Most Successful One in History of First Church of Christ Scientist

The congregation of the First Church of Christ Scientist held their annual business meeting last night, and elected officers for the ensuing year.

The reports of officers show the past year to have been the most successful one since the organization of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd tendered their resignations last January, but at the unanimous request and desire of the members, have consented to continue the work of readers for an indefinite period.

Sheriff James Tibbet, of Andover, N.B, thinks Radcliffe's charges as hangman are high, and may act as executioner himself.

GUILD LEAGUE MAY BE FORMED

Will the old Guild Baseball League be resurrected!

When this league, which was won by the Charlotte street church team was in force, there was lots of excitement, and some good ball was dished up. There are lots of young ball players in the city who have to work on Saturday afternoons and are unable to get out and have a game unless the same are held at night. There is some talk of the league being put into operation again and it is proposed that those teams which were represented in the Church Hockey League put a team in the senior Church Baseball League if one be formed. Meanwhile it is up to those interested in the proposition to get out and see what the prospects are.

MR. CARNEGIE'S RESIGNATION

Mr. Hilliard Carnegie, for so many years representative of North Victoria in the Legislative Assembly, has resigned. A successor will be chosen at a Liberal-Conservative convention called for May 11th.

The Assembly and the Province will miss the services of a prominent and painstaking member, who took part in the work of the House in a practical and beneficial way. The constituency will lose a representative who spared neither time nor trouble to do all in his power for its benefit. Personally he was exceedingly popular, and in order to allow of the education of his daughters, it was necessary for him to remove to Toronto and reside there, he never ceased to keep in touch with his constituents and their best interests.

In the evening at seven o'clock he will speak on "The rejected and exalted of God." A cordial invitation is extended to all to come and hear this gifted young evangelist.

THE AUDIENCE WOULDN'T PUT UP WITH IT

Many Amateur Performers "Hooked" at Opera House Last Night

The hook was used as freely at the Grand Opera House last night as a corkscrew at a German festival. The Lorain Amusement Company had an amateur night, and there were big doings. There were some fifteen entries, vocalists (perhaps), clog dancers, acrobats and some more that cannot be very well defined. Harold Hatcher, the boy vocalist, got first prize, the little Long sisters took second money, and Frank Elliott, boy violinist, was considered worthy of third honors by the audience.

The brigade with the hook was working in fine style and a second request was not necessary to bring it into operation. A young lady wearing a blue jumper dress and white gloves, tried to sing "Are You Sincere," but the gallery apparently wouldn't stand for it. The manager pleaded to let her have a chance but it was no use. A young man with his hair nicely parted in the centre made an attempt to sing, but he couldn't get away with it. He got through two lines and was then hooked. There were others who tried to display their talents, but couldn't get a hearing. The prize winners and some others did very clever work.

There was a packed house.

"PARSIFAL" RETURNS

A Sterling Company and Magnificent Production

There is little, if any doubt, in the minds of theatregoers here that the most notable theatrical offering on the list of last season's attractions was "Parsifal." And it will be remembered that the performance and production given under the management of Martin and Emery created intense satisfaction and a delightfully artistic surprise. The surprise was occasioned, in a sense, by the fact that these managers, of whom comparatively little was known, should possess the daring and confidence to condut an expensive tour of the country with "Parsifal" when impressaries bearing such well known names as Conried and Savage, had failed. But Managers Mratin and Emery not only playyed a long season out, they carried away with them from every city visited the plaudits of the press and the ungrudging good will of the most intelligent citizens. And their tour extended from coast to coast.

This season they return with a still more admirable company and with scenery and other accessories, just as complete; and fitting as art could depict and human ingenuity devise. The stage production as it will be seen at the coming visit, will form an exact counterpart of that seen at Baireuth—the same graceful outlines, the—same marvelous transitions of scenes, which are effected in full view of the audience before they become consious of the change. Parsifal will be given at the Grand matinee and night, Saturday, May 8th.

That which most concerns Parsifal devotees is the hour of commencement. The performance will begin at 7.45 prompt and conclude at 11.15. The matinee will commence at 2 p.m. sharp. Doors open at 1.30 p.m.

JUDGMENT GIVEN IN LIQUOR CASES

One Proprietor Was Fined $40.00 — Case Against the Other Hotel Was Dismissed

Magistrate Dumble gave judgment this morning in the two liquor cases which were heard in the police court recently whereby the proprietors of two hotels were charged with supplying liquor to a black list person.

In the case of the hotel where it was proved the man had been served three times with liquor the proprietor was fined $40 to be paid in ten days and, in default 40 days in gaol.

In the other case where one glass of liquor had been sold, but a request for another at a different time had been refused the Magistrate did not register a conviction.

He held that in the first case the liquor had been served by the bartender who had personally been served by the Inspector with the notices and the proprietor was responsible for his bartender.

The second case was different. The bartender had been served with the notices by the Inspector but it was not proved that the proprietor who had served the liquor had been aware of the notice being posted in the barroom. When the black listed man had come to the bar for a second drink the bartender has brought the proprietor's attention to the fact that he was on the list and the words "I'll get a good look at you so I'll know you the next time" of the proprietor, showed a desire to keep the law.

This was the first time the black listed man had been in the hotel since being served with the notice, and there was no evidence to show that the proprietor knew him.

LOCAL FIRM MANUFACTURING GRANDFATHER'S CLOCKS

The clock of quality to-day is the oldest type in demand—the grandfather's clock. It is also the popular one in a large number of households, and lends a distinction and completeness to home furnishings and surroundings.

The enterprise of F. R. Clarke and Son, proprietors of the well known jewellry house, at George and Brock streets in manufacturing grandfathers clocks will be appreciated by Peterborough buyers.

A Review representative had the pleasure of seeing a couple of the clocks to-day. They are of flawless workmanship and beautiful finish, with their substantial and artistically finished cases, and their richly burnished fittings. The mechanism of the clocks is perfect in construction the parts of the movements being imported by Clarke and Son from a firm that has made a most successful speciality of this particular department.

It will be of interest to know that the cases are manufactured by Harper and Son, Dalhousie street, and Clarke and Son do the fitting and adjusting. An inspection of the clocks cannot but convince one that they are exceedingly fine workmanship in every way, and owing to the facilities offered for their manufacture, exceptional value in the sale price is afforded the buyer. They are on exhibition in the store.

Mr. John Crane, while going through some old papers, a few days ago ran across a document of more than ordinary interest. In 1898 Mr. Crane wrote to a commercial agency at Baltimore, Md., asking for a rating on a man who had written, with the object of doing business with Peterborough people. Here is the somewhat remarkable letter that was received from the commercial agency;

August 18, 1898,—On the 15th inst. made the following statement; "M commenced business as a general merchandise broker in Baltimore in 1874. I have had numerous locations. Finally I conceived the idea of styling myself importer and exporter though never did anything at either, but made a very good living and paid all debts until 1888 or 1889, when I employed a man by the name of Yerkes, who suggested that I stop paying for anything. He led me astray, I finally discharged him for dishonesty, but did not mend my own ways. Paid for very few if any, of the consignments to me after Yerkes was discharged, and judgments rendered against me were worthless. My troubles gradually increased until my arrest in December, 1895, charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes. I secured my release promptly on bond and thought I would have no trouble in having the charges set aside, but in this was mistaken, as on May 8th, 1896, I was sentenced to the Penitentiary for eighteen months on two charges, time to serve currently and to pay a fine of $200 two hundred dollars. I served the time and was released on the 18th February, 1898. The Prisoners' Relief Association became interested in my case and tried to do something for me, but only sueeded in securing for me a place to do manual labor. This I could not do, so went to see the postmaster and secured his permission to again use the mails, and have since since that time been soliciting orders from local parties and then order the goods, though in some instances have ordered the goods without an order. Have received about 20 shipments and paid for 13, have nothing except personal property consisting of household effects but propose to pay for everything I order and am sure that I can again secure enough goods."

The agency also adds; — Married, about fifty-five years of age. There is little to add to his own statement. He deals in everything obtainable on credit from a butcher's clever to a steam engine, including horse blankets and printing presses. He is said to have once bought a cargo of parrots. He claims reformation. There is evidene that he is placing orders for samples and asking for quotations from Maine to San Francisco. Authorities say in no case should he be shipped anything unless the money accompanies the order as all that is shipped him will in all probability mean a gift.

A WARNING TO THE FISHERMEN

The local branch of the fisheries department wishes to warn all those gaffing suckers at the locks against keeping any bass or lunge they may happen to hook and take out of the water. Watch will be kept on "gaffers" to see that they live up to the regulations in this respect.

A sharp outlook will also be kept for those catching and netting fish out of season and offenders will be vigorously prosecuted.

JIM CORBETT PICKS JEFF.

Thinks He Can Put it Over Negro Heavyweight

Jim Corbett is another one of the former great heavyweight fighters who is confident that Jim Jeffries will surely beat Jack Johnson the colored champion if they ever fight for the heavyweight championship title. Corbett who has not seen Jeffries for a long time arrived in town yesterday and last night called on "Jeff."

"Jim, you look great," said Corbett to Jeffries as he grasped him warmly by the hand. "I have nothing on you Jim," replied Jeff as he surveyed Corbett from his feet to his head.

Jeffries then started to get ready for his twenty minute stunt with his manager and sparring partner, Sam Berger, and when Jeff stripped, Corbett exclaimed, "Why, Jim, I never thought you could get into the condition you are at present. You have no stomach to speak of and besides, your muscles are getting hard."

Corbett then watched Jeffries and Berger go through their three-round boxing stunt and was amazed to see the way in which Jeffries danced around Berger and besides, the way in which he hit him so fast.

"Why that big fellow will be just as good when he steps into the ring with Johnson as he was the night he fought me at Coney Island," said Corbett.

"I saw the pictures taken of the Johnson-Burns fight and while they were good I think the fight was a burlesque," said Corbett. "It was nothing but a hugging match all the way. After showing Johnson made against Burns I must say that I really believe I can lick Johnson if that is the best he can do. As for you Jim I am more convinced now than ever that you will beat him beyond a question of doubt. When that fight comes of I am going to the battle grounds and would like to be one of your seconds if you have no objections, Jim."

"I would be glad to have you in my corner, Jim, as I know that you are just as anxious to have me beat Johnson as I am of winning the fight."

THERE'S BELLS ON THIS FELLOW

Cuban Wonder Wears Sleighbells to Regulate His Stride

New York, April 30—Carvajol, the Cuban runner is looked on as a comer in the Marathon game. Carvajol is known as "Sleighbells" due to the fact that when training for or running in a race he wears a set of bells as part of his costume. His reason for this is that it enables him to keep an even pace, as he regulates his stride by the jingling of the bells. Shrubb, who trains with him, has not taken to the bell idea as yet but says Carvajol is some runner when it comes to plugging the distance route.

TO ORGANIZE JUNIOR CHURCH LEAGUE IN CITY

A meeting will be held on Monday night at the Y.M.C.A. at eight o'clock to organize a junior church baseball league. All teams which are desirous of entering the league are requested to be represented as several attempts have been made to organize without result, and if Monday night's meeting is not well attended the proposition to form the league will likely be dropped.

BASEBALL

A meeting fo the senior city baseball league will be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock. The season is getting advanced and something must be done at once to get the league going if it is going to go at all. Representatives of the clubs take notice.

Broadening Jethro.

By CARL WILLIAMS.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

The town could boast no "Seeing Concordia Car," but had one of the ubiquitous omnibuses carried visitors through the pleasant, shaded streets it is certain that Jethro Hawkins would have been pointed out as one of the objects of local interest along with the bank, and pulp mill and the house where Washington had slept when passing through the town.

In the absence of sightseers Hawkins was an object of unfeigned interest to his fellow townspeople, more especially the women, for a confirmed bachelor is ever the cynosure of matchmakers.

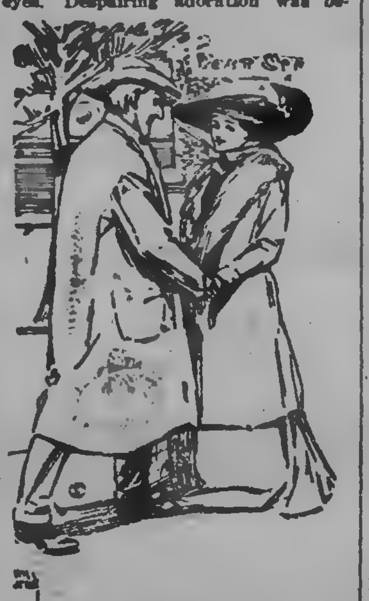
Other cavaliers came and wooed and won or were dismissed to woo again, but Jethro's infatuation for Andadra Wayland could be counted upon as a topic of conversation year in and year out.

When Jethro had been a great, gawky lad of nineteen and Andadra a sentimental slip of seventeen-year-old femininity he had kissed her and had asked her to wait for him. Afterward he never could tell how he had achieved either the kiss or the question.

Jethro was now thirty and Andadra twenty-eight, and they were still waiting, because Jethro was thrown into a panic at the very sight of a woman.

Andadra was patient and said "No" to half a score of suitors, but still Jethro did not speak, so the whole town, knowing the situation, came to take an interest in the affair.

That Jethro was in love was above question. Love shone in his eager blue eyes. Despairing adoration was betrayed in every line of the dejected figure.



"I THOUGHT YOU DIDN'T CARE FOR ME ANY MORE, JETH."

If tongue could have spoken his love as eloquently as his eyes Concordia's matchmakers would have ceased to worry.

Then suddenly Jethro went away. Connected with his departure was no incident, but his return was eventful.

To be sure, he planned to spend a week end with his grandmother, but to Concordians a journey of 200 miles was something more than an event, and practically the whole town saw Jethro off.

It gave him a rather good opinion of himself, and he bore himself with dignity on the journey. He assumed the airs of a traveler of long experience, and when the time came for his return he approached the railroad station with none of the embarrassment he had felt when he went to take the train at Concordia.

He even lingered on the platform until the last moment instead of climbing aboard the train the moment it pulled into the station. With a blase air he let one or two cars slip past him, and he swung himself aboard by the rail of the rear platform.

He threw open the door and passed through the corridor of the sleeper. In the wash room half a dozen men were playing cards with a suit case for a table. Most of them were coatless, and their collars and ties had been removed in the heat of the game. Jethro hurried on. He did not want a seat in the sleeper; it cost more money.

He knew that the day coaches were just ahead and vaguely wondered why one sleeper should be in the rear when all the others were up front ahead of the ordinary coaches. When he issued from the corridor he stood rooted to the floor in amazement.

Instead of the decorous, well groomed city travelers he had expected to find, some twenty flashily dressed women were scattered through the car.

As he appeared one tiny little woman with hair obviously bleached set up a cry of "Look who's here!" and the other nineteen obeyed the command. Now, even a city man may well quail before twenty actresses. What chance had Jethro against their raillery?

He was good looking, with an athletic figure, but his clothes and his manner bespoke the man of the small town. His confusion was immensely diverting to the women members of the burlesque company, who were only too appreciative of a break in the monotony of travel.

In a moment they had flocked about him and were plying him with questions. Stammeringly he explained that he was merely making his way toward the forward part of the train They would not accept the explanation.

"Now, honest, Reuben, you came to visit us!" cried the little soubrette. "You're a sly old boy, and you can't get out of it that way. Sit down and tell us your name and all about yourself. Your name is Reuben, isn't it?"

"It's Jethro," he explained, vaguely conscious that "Reuben" held some hidden meaning not altogether free from sarcasm. "It's Jethro Hawkins, and I didn't come to see you. I got on the tail end of the train, and I want to go to one of the regular cars. I don't know what this car is, but I guess it's a lunatic asylum."

A roar of laughter greeted the comment, and the soubrette patted the bronzed cheek appreciatively.

"You're all right, Jethro," she cried laughingly. "This isn't the foolish foundry on wheels, though it will be if we have to have many more of these long jumps. This is the Gotham Gaiety Girls company, and we're awfully pleased to meet you. This car won't be cut off for three hours yet, and we can have a nice long visit."

"I don't want no visit," declared Jethro, but his wishes counted for naught. The company was train tired and welcomed the diversion of his unexpected call.

They enjoyed Jethro's embarrassment, which amounted almost to terror, and when he sought to push his way forward they clung to his neck, and he was forced to sit down, if only to escape the white arms that detained him.

Almost before he realised it he was chatting with the crowd as though he had known them for years. The men had come into the car from the card game and taken a part in the fun, and when at last they began to get ready for their journey's end he really regretted their going.

When their special car was cut off he waved them a farewell from the rear of the last day coach and then went forward to the smoker for the remainder of the trip.

It was late in the afternoon when the train halted at Concordia and Jethro descended the steps. Andadra was not on the station platform, but as Jethro was driven home in the village bus he passed the girl on her way to the postoffice.

"Leave my grip with the folks, Jim," he cried as he dropped from the step of the vehicle and, to the astonishment of the onlookers, raced after Andadra. But none of them was more astonished than the girl, for Jethro came up with a jauntiness that in him was astonishing.

"I wanted to tell you that I'm coming over tonight to see you," he explained. "I've something I want to tell you," he added importantly.

"Anything you can't tell me now?" asked the girl wonderingly.

"Oh, I don't know," was the assured response. "I just want to ask you to marry me, and I meant to do it right in your own sitting room. But I guess there's no time like the present. Will you have me?"

"I thought you were never going to speak," said Andadra, beaming her delight. "I thought you didn't care for me any more, Jeth."

"Been caring 'bout eleven years," told Jethro, "but I always seemed afraid to speak. I guess travel must broaden a fellow."

Andadra nodded her happy assent, but Jethro wisely forbore to tell her that the guying and the frank friendliness of the Gotham Gaiety Girls had cured his fear of her sex. He felt somehow that Andadra would not understand.

Four women suffragists were ejected from the British House of Commons Tuesday night.

His Face Not His Fortune.

In the wilds of the North island, among the members of the Arawa tribe, there lives a Maori whose face in bygone days carried with it conditions that the owner is pleased were not fulfilled. An artist looking for "subjects" was struck with the exceptional elaborate tattooing on the man's cheek, nose and forehead. The artist at once selected him as a type of the ancient Maori, but the members of the tribe, however, said that he was a "nobody" and did not deserve the honor accorded to him. They explained that he had been a slave and that his face had been splendidly tattooed in order that his head could be sold at a great price in the days when traffic in dried heads was a lucrative calling for the chiefs and notables. The man evidently circumvented the commercial instincts of his master until the grewsome trade was abolished, and after that, of course, his face was no longer a menace to his head.—Wairarapa Times.

Scripts and Manuscripts.

When a novelist delivers the manuscript of a book to his publisher his troubles are over. He can go away and forget about it or sit down and write another book. But when a dramatist turns over the "script" of his play to the stage manager his troubles have just begun; also, for that matter, his fun, for putting on a play is probably the most trying and amusing experience of the whole writing industry.

In fiction the author designs and finishes the whole work, from conception to execution, like a painter of pictures. The manuscript of his story is practically the finished product as it comes to the consumer, except that it is typewriting instead of type. But the manuscript of a play is no more a play which people will pay money to see than an architect's blueprint is a house for a family to live in.—Collier's Weekly.

HATS, HEADS AND HAIR.

The First Pronounced Innocent of Separating the Other Two.

The rules of health for the hair so far as we know them are brief. Brush the hair thoroughly at least once a day, but let the scalp alone. Let the brushing be thorough and preferably with two brushes, which you may use as if you were currying a racehorse to get him into show condition.

Keep the hair thoroughly clean in this way and the scalp will largely take care of itself. Wash the hair as often as may be needed for cleanliness, which, as a rule, for men will be once a week and for women about half as often.

Avoid using too strong soaps, strong alkalies, such as ammonia and soda, and too hot water, as all of these take out too much of the natural lubricant or oil of the hair and leave it dry and harsh. As a rule it is well to dry clean the scalp as much as possible, and it is surprising how clean the hair and scalp can be kept just by thorough and regular brushing and currying alone.

The most important detail about the washing of the hair is that it should be rubbed or brushed until thoroughly dry. If this is done in the short hair of men there is no objection to wetting it daily or even two or three times a day if desired. The risk in leaving it not perfectly dry is that the natural oil of the hair when mixed with water rapidly decomposes or ferments.

This condition both irritates the scalp and furnishes a fine culture medium for germs, which thereupon promptly sweep in and give rise to the commonest form of dandruff. Particularly objectionable is the habit of wetting or slicking the hair in order to comb it and avoiding the use of the brush altogether. The intelligently used brush is the best known hair tonic, but when the vigor of the hair is beginning to fail even this may be carried to an extreme and become injurious.

While it is well to keep the scalp dry and well ventilated and exposed to both light and air, there does not appear to be any valid ground for the belief that going bareheaded, particularly in the sun, in any way promotes the vigor of the hair.

Dr. Woods Hutchinson says in the Cosmopolitan that "so far as we know anything about the intentions of nature it was never meant that the human head should be exposed to the direct rays of the sun. Experts are unanimous in declaring that excessive exposure of already thinning hair to the direct rays of the sun will actually accelerate the process.

"I have seen a great many bald heads exposed to the no hat cure," he said, "but I have not seen any crop, except blisters, produced thereon.

"The bulbs of the roots of the hair go down completely through the skin and into the fatty layer which lies between it and the skull, and the thing that to the expert eye is really significant of the prospect as to progress or cure in a particular case is not the condition or color or cleanliness of the scalp, but the thickness or thinness of this fatty layer which underlies it.

"So long as this is present and the scalp is freely movable over the skull there is hope of restoring a reasonable growth of hair, but when this has been absorbed and the shiny scalp sticks as closely to the skull as the cover on a base-ball the outlook is practically hopeless."

Nearly Asphyxiated.

Chatham, May 1.—Warren Martin, his wife and Miss Hayton, a milliner, had a narrow escape from asphyxiation Thursday evening. The three were sitting in the dining-room of their home, in which is a baseburner lit with natural gas. The heavy wind outside caused a down draft, and fumes came out of the stove into the room. Mr. Martin was barely able to get out of the house to notify the neighbors.

Reorganizing Fire Force.

Belleville, May 1.—The fire committee has adopted a report for the reorganization of the department. The plan will dispense with the services of an assistant chief and five of the oldest members of the brigade. It is claimed the efficiency of the brigade will not be impaired, and enough will be saved to pay for a new hook and ladder wagon in four years.

The Barrier

By

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

While they were talking Burrell came in, and "No Creek" saw that the night had affected the youth even more than it had Gale, or at least he showed the marks more plainly, for his face was drawn, his eyes were sunken as if from hunger, and his whole body seemed to have fallen away till his uniform hung upon him loose, unkempt and careless.

"I can't wait much longer," said Burrell and sank wearily into a seat. Almost the next instant he was on his feet again, saying to the trader, as he had said it a score of times already: "Runnion comes to me, Gale! You understand he's mine, don't you?"

The old man nodded. "Yes; you can take him."

"Well, who do I git?" asked Lee.

"You can't come along," the trader said. "We may have to follow the hound clean to the States. Think of your mine."

"To blazes with the mine!" exploded the shaggy prospector. "I reckon I'm kind of a daddy to your gal, and I'm goin' to be in at the finish."

Suddenly the lieutenant uttered a cry, and with a bound Gale was beside him.

"Look! Over the point! Down yonder! I saw smoke!"

The three stared at the distant forest fringe that masked the bend of the river until their eyes ached.

"You're tired, my boy," said Gale. "Wait."

He obeyed and finally over the treetops saw a faint streamer of black.

"It is! It is!" cried the soldier. "I'm going for my war bag." And before the steamboat had hove into sight he was back with his scanty bundle of baggage, behaving like one daft, talking and laughing and running here and there. Lee watched him closely, then went behind the bar and poured out a stiff glass of whisky, which he made Burrell drink. To Gale he whispered a moment later:

"Keep your eye on him, John. He'll go mad at this rate."

They waited, it seemed interminably, until at last a white hull slowly rounded the point, then shaped a course across the current toward the other bank, where the water was less swift. As it came fully into sight Gale swore aloud in despair:

"It's the mission boat!"

"Well, what of that?" said Burrell. "We'll hire it—buy it—take it!"

"It's no use. She ain't got but three dog power to her engines," Lee explained. "She's a down river boat—has to run with the current to move."

"We can't use her," Gale gave in reluctantly. "She'd only lose time for us. We've got to wait for one of the A. C. boats."

"You go back yonder and set down," commanded Lee. "We'll have a boat before long."

The arrival of the tiny mission steamer was never of sufficient importance to draw a crowd to the river bank, so the impatient men at the post relaxed interest in her as she came creeping up abreast of the town. It was little Johnny Gale who first saw Necia and Poleon on board, for he had recognised Father Barnum's craft at a distance and stationed himself at the bank hand in hand with Molly to bid the good, kind old man welcome.

"I bring her back to you, m'sieu'!"

The men inside the house did not hear the boy crying Necia's name, for his voice was small, and they had gone to the rear of the store.

"Understand? You leave Runnion to me," Burrell was saying. "No man shall lay hands on him except me." His voice trailed away. He rose slowly to his feet, a strange light on his face. The others turned to see what sight had drawn his eyes. In the opening, all splendid with the golden sunlight, stood Necia and Poleon Doret, who had her by the hand, and she was smiling.

Gale uttered a great cry and went to meet them, but the soldier could move nothing save his lips and stood dazed and disbelieving. He saw them dimly coming toward him and heard Poleon's voice as if at a great distance; saw that the Frenchman's eyes were upon him and that his words were directed to him.

"I bring her back to you, m'sieu'!"

Doret laid Necia's hand in that of her lover, and Burrell saw her smiling shyly up at him. Something gripped him chokingly, and he could utter no sound. There was nothing to say. She was here, safe, smiling; that was all. And the girl, beholding the glory in his eyes, understood.

A woman came running into the store and, seeing the group, paused at the door—a shapeless, silent, shawled figure in silhouette against the day. The trader brought the girl to her foster mother, who began to talk in her own tongue with a rapidity none of them had ever heard before, her voice as tender as some wild bird's song. Then the two women went away together around the store into the house. Poleon had told Necia all the amazing story that had come to him that direful night, all that he had overheard, all that he knew and much that he guessed.

The priest came into the store shortly, and the men fell upon him for information, for nothing was to be gained from Poleon, who seemed strangely fagged and weary and who had said but little.

"Yes, yes, yes!" laughed Father Barnum. "I'll tell you all I know, of course, but first I must meet Lieutenant Burrell and take him by the hand."

The story did not lose in his telling, particularly when he came to describe the fight on the gravel bar which no man had seen and of which Poleon had told him little, but the good priest was of a militant turn, and his blue eyes glittered and flashed like an old crusader's.

"It was a wondrous combat," he declared, with all the spirit of a spectator, "for Poleon advanced barehanded and beat him down even as the man fired into his face."

The Frenchman moved uneasily.

"Waal, I don' know. He ain' fight so hard."

"You couldn't find no trace of him?" said Lee.

"No trace whatever," Father Barnum replied, "but he will surely reach some place of refuge where we can pick him up, for the days are still mild and the woods full of berries."

"I'll be on the lookout for him," said the lieutenant grimly.

When the voluble old priest had at last exhausted his narrative he requested of Burrell the privilege of a few words and drew him apart from the others. His face was warm with understanding.

"I had a long conversation with my little girl, for she is like a daughter to me, and I discovered the depth of her love for you. Do you love her as much as you should?"

"As much as I can. They don't make words or numbers big enough to tell you how dear she is to me."

"Then why delay? Tomorrow I leave again, and one never knows what a day may bring forth."

"But Stark?" the young man cried. "He's her father, you know. He's like a madman, and she's still under age."

"I know very little of law outside of the church," the father observed; "but, as I understand it, if she marries before he forbids her the law will hold him powerless. Now, he has never made himself known to her, he has never forbidden her anything, and, although my conclusion may not be correct, I believe it is, and you have a chance if you make haste. At your age, my boy, I never needed a spur."

"A spur? Good Lord! I'm from Kentucky!"

"Once she is yours before God your bold will be stronger in the eyes of men. If I am wrong and he takes her from you—well, may some other priest rewed you two. I shan't."

"Don't worry," laughed Burrell, ablaze at the thought. "You're the only preacher who'll kiss my bride, for I'm a jealous man, and all the Starks and all the fathers in the world won't get her away from me. Do you think she'll do it?"

"A woman in love will do anything."

Burrell seized the little man by the hand. "If I had known more law you needn't have given me this hint."

Together they went into the trader's house.

Back in the store there was silence after the priest and the soldier went out, which Gale broke at last:

"This forgiveness talk is all right, I suppose, but I want Runnion."

"We'll git him, too," growled Lee, at which Poleon uttered a curt exclamation:

"No?"

"Why not?" said the miner.

"Waal," the Canadian drawled slowly, then paused to light the cigarette he had rolled in a bit of wrapping paper, inhaled the smoke deeply to the bottom of his lungs, held it there a moment and blew it out through mouth and nostrils before adding, "you'll jus' be wastin' tam'!"

"Why?"

"You 'member story I tol' you wan day two, t'ree mont' ago," Poleon remarked, with apparent evasion, "'bout Johnny Platt w'at I ketch on de Porcupine all et up by skeeter bugs?"

"I do," answered Gale.

"Waal"—he met their eyes squarely, then drew another long breath from his cigarette—"I'm jus' hopin' nobody don' pick it up dis Runnion feller de same way. Mebbe dey fin' hees han's tie' behin' 'im wit' piece of hees shirt."

"Good God!" cried the trader, starting to his feet. "You—you"—

"Of course I'm jus' s'posin'. He was feel purty good w'en I lef'. He was feel so good I tak' hees coat for keepin' off dem bugs from me, biccause I lef' it my own shirt on de canoe. He's nice feller dat way. He give up easy. Ba gosh, I never see worse place for skeeters!"

Gale fell silent, and "No Creek" Lee began to swear in little, useless, ineffective oaths, which were but two ways of showing similar emotions. Then the former stepped up and laid a big hand upon Poleon's shoulder.

"That saves us quite a trip," he said.

Father Barnum found the three still talking in the store when he had finished an hour's counsel with Necia, so came straight to the point. It was work that delighted his soul, for he loved the girl and had formed a strong admiration for Burrell.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

EVERY DAY BRINGS A FRESH PROOF

That Dodd's Kidney Pills are a Boon to Suffering Women

Mrs. Rousseau Tells How They Cured Her After Three Years of Almost Ceaseless Pain.

Hantonburg, Ont., April 30.—(Special.)—Every day furnishes fresh proof that the women of Canada can be cured of ailments which have hitherto seemed to be a part of the inheritance of the sex by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. And this place has a living proof in the person of Mrs. William Rousseau, of 37 Merton street.

"For over three years," Mrs. Rousseau states, "I was very ill. My troubles were painful. I suffered very much with my back. My head ached almost continuously and I scarcely knew what it was to be free from pain. I was very weak and run down. Occasionally my hands would swell up and this, too, gave me a great deal of annoyance and discomfort. I began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and very soon commenced to improve. Three boxes cured me completely."

A Soft Answer.

When Marshal Bernadotte was offered the Swedish throne Napoleon bitterly opposed the idea. It was a simple answer which quelled the emperor's antagonism. "What!" said Bernadotte. "Would you have me greater than yourself and refuse a crown?"

Costa Rica.

Costa Rica can claim the double honor of being one of the first discovered and least revolutionary portions of the American continent. Visited by Columbus during his third voyage, it was peopled by Spanish adventurers early in the sixteenth century and until 1821 formed part of the kingdom of Guatemala. The greatest battle in its history took place at the Laguna de Ochomogo and decided whether Costa Rica was to become an independent republic or a part of Mexico.

The Nine Points of Law.

The nine points of the law are thus concisely it somewhat cynically given: (1) A good deal of money; (2) a good deal of patience; (3) a good cause; (4) a good lawyer; (5) a good counsel; (6) good witnesses; (7) a good jury; (8) a good judge; (9) good luck.

SCRAPING THE STOMACH

Guelph, Ont., Aug. 6, 1908.

I suffered for many months with dreadful Stomach Trouble, with vomiting and constant pain, and I could retain practically nothing.

My doctor stated that I must go to the hospital and undergo an operation of scraping the stomach and be fed by the bowels for weeks. All the medicine the doctor gave me I vomited at once. I was dreadfully alarmed, but I dreaded an operation and had refused.

I had heard of "Fruit-a-tives" and the great success they were having in all Stomach Troubles, and I decided to try them. To my surprise, the "Fruit-a-tives" not only remained on the stomach, but they also checked the vomiting. I immediately began to improve, and in three days the pain was easier and I was decidedly better. I continued to take "Fruit-a-tives" and they completely cured me.

A DEFENCE OF "THE EASIEST WAY"

Washington Post Commends the Latest Drama by Eugene Walter

Eugene Walter's plays "The Wolf," and "Paid in Full," both of which were seen here last winter, have been wonderfully successful both in their metropolitan and road seasons. "The Easiest Way," by the same author is also deeply interesting New York and other large city audiences, and there is quite a division of opinion concerning its value from a moral viewpoint.

In speaking of it the Washington Post made the following comments:

"There is nothing so shallow as prejudice and nothing so dangerous. In the role of Laura Murdock, Miss Starr considers herself the bearer of a message, and this message is one that should be listened to impartially and pondered seriously, and adapted intelligently by every mother who has the welfare of her daughter at heart. Young girls and young boys go out into the world and meet its dangers, and it is the mission of plays like "The Easiest Way" to warn those who treat those dangers lightly.

"It is an accepted axiom that the first function of the theatre is to hold the mirror up to Nature. If the reflection prove too searching, if it reveals certain weaknesses in our social structure that we have been prone to neglect, it is the fault of nature not of the mirror. Happily that portion of the American public in cities outside of New York has little or no knowledge of the life that goes on after the white lights are in full blaze in the fashionable cafes and restaurants. But these cities send their young girls and their boys to New York and it is proper that they should know about it. The life of artificial gayety, of intoxicating frivolity, of improperly acquired ease and luxury, is all there, paraded night after night in the persons of gorgeously gowned and beautiful young girls, supping lightly and freely with urbane men-about-town.

"We welcome such plays as "The Easiest Way," which is teaching a great moral lesson to thousands of people who see it. Certainly it treats on some existing conditions of immorality with open frankness, and reveals certain weaknesses in our social structure with unfailing clearness, but it is producing a great effect and teaching a great moral lesson."

SIMPLE WASH CURES ECZEMA

Why Salves Fail While a Simple Liquid Has Accomplished Thousands of Cures

It is now thoroughly established among the best medical authorities that eczema is purely a skin disease, due to a germ and curable only through the skin. It is not a blood disease at all; in fact, thousands of people suffer with skin disease and are perfectly healthy otherwise, and and thereby prove they have no diseased blood.

Smeary salves cannot reach the germs because they do not penetrate the skin. The only way to reach the germs is by means of a penetrating liquid.

Such a liquid can be obtained by simply mixing ordinary oil of wintergreen with thymol, glycerine and other healing agents. This compound, known as D.D.D. Prescription, stops the itch instantly—and the cures all appear to be permanent. In fact, it took thousands of cures, case after case, before the best scientific authorities were convinced of the absolute merit of this remedy. D.D.D. Prescription kills the germs in the itching skin. Its effect is seen within one minute after the first application. The cure is even quicker if D.D.D. Soap is used in connection with the treatment.

WHAT MRS. GILMAN SAYS.

The Average Woman Is "Petty" in Daily Life.

I read an article by Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, entitled "Woman the Enigma," said a woman recently who conducts the household page in a New York daily. Mrs. Gilman is always standing up for woman and sincerely so; but, as in this article, she often cries down the "house service" and puts the wider out in the world life above it. She says:

"The average woman in daily life is petty and personal to the last degree. Yes, and what is her daily life? Does it involve the consideration of large affairs, the broadening complex of world business? Hardly. It consists in an endless repetition of the smallest round of duties, in the narrowest personal relation. The universal profession of women, house service, is accountable for her pettiness."

What would become of our homes if all the women could be fortunate (?) enough to find "the broadening complex of world business?" There is a very important field of usefulness still for the homemaker, and it devolves upon her not to allow her work to tyrannize over her and to keep the demon of pettiness under subjection. Happily there are many homemakers who do not regard their part in the world's betterment as petty in ever so small a degree.

If the homemaker is not big enough to regard her part of caring for the male members of her house as important, the caring for her children as the thing nearest her heart, and even the menial part of the work as her contribution to the greater development of the race, I fear her influence out in the great outside world referred to would be small indeed.

Personally I prefer the distinction of being "the power behind the throne." Every one knows that clear thinking and sound judgment depend largely upon a good digestion. If every homemaker could make sure of developing sturdy children, reserve power and strength for the breadwinner and along with that produce an air of ease and comfort in the home which would counteract the trials of the day, making the evening a thing of peace and content, what reasonable judge could call such a life petty?

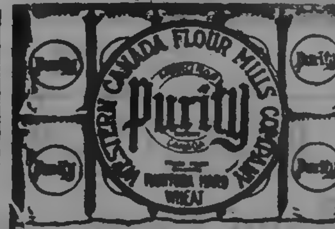
Instead of crying down "house service" let us try to cultivate a greater feeling of pride in our service.

A Historic Schoolhouse.

On the Isle of Wight stands the old Jacobean grammar school where Charles I. held his court during the abortive negotiations with the parliamentary commissioners who sat at the old town hall. The schoolhouse stands on the road to Carisbrooke castle, where the king was a prisoner. The royal apartments were in the gabled front facing the street leading to Cowes, and the schoolroom was used as the king's presence chamber.

DELICATE LITTLE CHILDREN MADE WELL AND STRONG

The little ones are frail. Their hold on life is slight. A slight disorder may become serious if not promptly attended to. At the very first symptom of trouble Baby's Own Tablets should be given. This medicine promptly cures indigestion and all stomach troubles, constipation, diarrhoea, and brings the little teeth through painlessly. You can give the Tablets with equally good results to the new born baby or well grown child. Mrs. R. G. Flewell, Uxbridge, Ont. says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets and find them a perfect medicine for stomach and bowel troubles." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box, from the Dr Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.



What Our Trade-Mark Means to You

IT means that the flour contained in bags and barrels so trade-marked is decidedly whiter, a great deal stronger and more nutritious than other flours.

It means that the flour has been properly aged to mature its full strength.

It means

"More bread and better Bread" and better pastry, too.

It means elimination of uncertainty—"your money back" if Purity fails to give entire satisfaction.

Costs more than the other kind, but worth the difference.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS WERE READ AT ANNUAL MEETING OF Y. W. C. A. LAST NIGHT

Good Work Has Been Accomplished During the Past Year—An Address by Mrs. Robert Kilgour—New Superintendent Has Been Elected.

The annual meeting of the Y.W.C.A. was held last night, and a very encouraging state of affairs was shown by the reading of the various reports. The meeting was held in the gymnasium of the association and there was a good attendance. The chair was occupied by Mrs. Roger, the president of the association. During the reading of the reports musical numbers were rendered, which were well received by those present. Mrs. Robert Kilgour gave a very interesting address, which should encourage the officers and members to try and accomplish greater things in the future. Mrs. Read, of Bobcaygeon, will be the new superintendent, in place of Miss Haycock, who is resigning. The meeting was opened by the singing of "All Hail the Power of Jesus' name," after which the Rev. R. J. Webb led in prayer and afterwards addressed a few remarks to the gathering.

The programme was as follows:
Piano solo—Mr. Devey.
Report of the minutes of last year's regular meeting.
Board of Directors' report.
Treasurer's report.
General Secretary's report.
Solo—Miss Pringle.
Superintendent's report.
Piano selection—Miss Campbell.
Address by the president.
Piano selection—Miss Gladman.
Address—Mrs. Kilgour.
Vocal solo—Miss Pringle.

The president, in her address, stated that eighteen years ago Mr. Caldwell, secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at that time, had called together a number of ladies, with the object of forming an organization for the benefit of young women. Three meetings were called before any real work was accomplished. The first contribution in aid of the work was from the Y.M.C.A., but there were so many disappointments met with that the ladies became discouraged and voted to disband.

But at a meeting, which was held later, a verse was read from the first Chapter of Josiah, which says: "Be of good cheer, fear not." And those present were greatly encouraged, and came to the conclusion that the work could be accomplished. There are only two of the charter members in Peterborough at the present time, and they are Miss Nicholls and Mrs. Walsh. In China the work was started at the instigation of the Y.M.C.A. and as a result the young women of that nation now had a safe home. The speaker said that the ladies in Peterborough should take more advantage of the organization here and endeavor to make it more successful. She thanked the members of the Board of Directors for the pleasant relations that had always existed, and hoped that prayers would be offered to Him who had made the Y.W.C.A. such a success in the past.

Mrs. Kilgour, in the course of her remarks, stated that she was glad to be present on such an occasion. She had heard the different reports, and the Y.W.C.A. was to be congratulated for the successful manner in which the work had been carried out. The speaker said she was pleased to hear of the interest they were taking in junior work, as it was necessary that the young people should be interested in the work of the association. There was nothing more noble than working for others and the young ladies should take advantage of this opportunity for service. She thanked the Peterborough ladies for donations in aid of the foreign work, and gave a few interesting remarks on what was being accomplished in the foreign field. Mrs. Kilgour also spoke on the summer conference, which will be held this year at the Muskoka Lakes, and also hoped that there would be present delegates from Peterborough. She also made some remarks on the training school, which was an important requisition, as it was difficult to secure enough help to carry on the increasing amount of work. At the present time it was necessary for those who wished to train for the work to go to New York, but she hoped that one would be built in Toronto during the next year. Special emphasis should be put on the necessity of prayer, in the work of the Y.W.C.A., and the address was brought to a close by the reading of a number of appropriate verses from the Bible.

GENERAL SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The report of the General Secretary, Miss McCalla, was as follows:

Owing to changes in the conveners of committees, and for other reasons, reports from a number of the committees have been embodied in this report.

As we review the work, which, as an association God has enabled us to do, we would return thanks for His goodness and love. While feeling we have fallen far short of what we hoped to accomplish, and of what we might have done, we are yet grateful for the measure of good which has attended our efforts.

Our work is fourfold; the physical, intellectual, social and spiritual development. In touching the heart of young women and in winning them for Christ, and for workers in His vineyard, lies our all important work, to which we would have all the other activities of the association but subordinate.

It was this desire and purpose which led the Devotional and Bible Study Committee to invite Rev. Elmore Harris, D.D., to come to us in October for a series of Biblical addresses. These studies from Ephesians and Exodus on the Church, was greatly blessed to those who were privileged to study under such a spirit-filled teacher as Dr Harris.

It was also our privilege to have with us in October Miss Little, our Dominion Secretary, when she addressed a large Sabbath afternoon meeting. With such a stimulus we feel we should have a larger number of Bible classes to report. From September to December a Bible class for the study of the Sabbath School lesson was held each Sabbath morning at 9.30. This was not continued after the New Year. A Bible class has been held each Friday evening. The attendance has varied. Character studies of Bible women have been followed by character studies of the great faith heroes of the Bible. A mission study class has been conducted by Miss Brown, and attended by our Normal House girls. The Regeneration of Japan was the text book. In November, the World's Week of Prayer, was observed by prayer meeting in the Boarding Home, and $40 was sent to the Dominion Council for our foreign work in Japan, carried on by our representative, Miss Caroline Macdonald, B.A. We have this year assumed the support of Miss May Cook, B.A., our representative in India, and hope that the amount of our offering this year may be doubled.

We have enjoyed going to the Protestant Home once a month for a song service. The old ladies also enjoy our coming. We are now going regularly on two Thursday afternoons of each month. A half-hour prayer service is held twice a month led by different members of the committee. We hope it may be more largely attended this coming year.

MEMBERSHIP.

While our membership has not been raised to the figures we have worked for, we feel that an increased interest and many new forces have been the encouraging outcome of our efforts, which we trust will result in a much larger membership. Our list stands now—sustaining members, 40; active members, 180; juniors, 40; 75 new names have been added during the year to our active roll.

SOCIAL DEPARTMENT.

In presenting the report of the Social Committee, we wish to thank all who have so kindly assisted us in our work during the past year, especially would we thank the Music Committee, who have at all times so willingly helped. We began our work the 14th of October, on the occasion of our educational rally. A very merry masquerade Hallowe'en party was enjoyed by a large number of our members. Our next effort was to welcome the large number of Normal students, who accepted our invitation to meet Miss Anderson, the National College secretary, at an afternoon tea. Following this was the work done by the committee in furnishing the beautiful Christmas decorations of cedar boughs, holly and many Christmas bells, which so wonderfully brightened our association building during the season, and for our New Year's reception.

In February we enjoyed a second visit from Miss Little, when she addressed a large drawing room meeting in the interests of the Dominion work. Our library was converted into a pretty tea room and during the afternoon all enjoyed a delightful cup of tea. The same week a jolly valentine party was given. On March 18th two of the educational classes held a very enjoyable social evening in honor of the teachers, Dr. Greer and Mr. A. Mowat, whose earnest work had been so appreciated by the respective classes. In addition to these, eight social evenings of a smaller nature have been planned for our girls.

OUR READING ROOM AND LIBRARY.

Carlyle says: "A true university of these days is a collection of books." We have a library of two hundred books, but no new books have been added this year. We need new books, and would gratefully acknowledge such gifts, also a subscription for a magazine for our reading room table.

The following magazines are to be found on our reading room tables:—The Delineator, Ladies' Home Journal, Woman's Home Companion, New Idea, Harper's, World Wide, London Illustrated News, Canadian Magazine, Boston Cooking School Magazine, Record of Christmas Work, Presbyterian, The Young Women of Canada, The Sunday School Times, The Medical Missionary, Evangela, Daily Montreal Witness, Peterborough Examiner, Review and Times, also other magazines placed on the table, though not subscribed for. The association desires to express its hearty thanks to all magazine subscribers, to the Examiner, the Review and the Times for kindly supplying the reading room with a copy of their respective papers, also to thank the Review for the handsome gift of a Webster's International Dictionary.

JUNIOR DEPARTMENT.

This work is partially reported in the physical culture report, where the weekly classes for the boys, girls and intermediate girls are held. In addition to these classes we are pleased to report a large Saturday afternoon class for little girls, who are not members of the association. We feel we have succeeded in reaching and helping a large number of children of the city, who are not likely to come under the influence of the association in any other way. At present we have 85 names on the roll of our "Sunshine Club," with a growing average attendance. The children may come as soon after dinner as they wish, play in the gymnasium until 2.30, when they are called to order and an adjournment made to the class room. The meeting is opened by a bright hymn, others follow. The club song "Jesus Bids Us Shine." Prayer is offered; scripture texts arranged alphabetically learned, and repeated; the roll called, pennies collected, a short missionary or other story told, when the sewing box is produced, and for half an hour many little fingers are busy with needle and bright material. When work is put away a rush is made for the gymnasium, and another happy hour spent in games, swinging, etc.

Recently another club has been reorganized among the junior members, "The Merrymakers' Club," taking for its motto "Serve the Lord with Gladness." Two devotional meetings are planned for each month, with one afternoon each week for athletics, basket ball, etc., to be followed by croquet, tennis, tramps in the woods, picnics, etc.

INFORMATION AND EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

By means of the information and employment bureau a large number of lives are reached during the year. We can only trust that in our efforts to be of use some good seed has been sown. This work is undertaken wholly with a view of helping young women, and no charge is made for assistance rendered.

It is almost impossible to give a definite report of work done by your secretary. A secretary's life seems to be so largely one of faith and love. Statistics of personal work and influence can scarcely be reported, but we believe are known by Him who has promised that His word shall not return unto Him void.

The days have been occupied with office work, studying for meetings and classes, in repeated house and business calls, in calls received from girls craving sympathy and advice. Much grace and wisdom is required in dealing with the variety of dispositions that show themselves. The greatest power on earth is the power of love, and we trust that all that has been done has been done in the power and name of Him who loved us and gave Himself for us.

Personally, I would here place on record my deep gratitude and appreciation of much help and sympathy received from the Dominion Council through their kindness in sending Miss Gilfillan for ten days during my first month here. Also for repeated letters received from Miss Little with advice, suggestions and encouragement. I would also express my appreciation and gratitude for the great kindness and support of the board members, house members, committee workers, teachers and all members and friends who have assisted in any way.

As a house family we are deeply grateful that there has been no serious illness in our midst. The motto of our house is "By love serve one another," and every member strives to exemplify that spirit. The attendance at prayers has been good, all seeming to enjoy the meeting together at the close of the day for a few moments of quiet reverent worship. As a house family we wish to express our regret that Miss Haycock, our efficient superintendent, is soon to leave us, and take this opportunity to express our appreciation of the courtesy and kindness she has ever shown each member of her large family. Nor has Miss Haycock's interest and sympathy been confined to her department. In many ways she helped in the public work.

The earnest prayers and continued financial support of the Christian men and women of Peterborough are requested for united workers together with God, we shall overcome all difficulties and continue to enlarge our work. Real success may be ours if we ever remember the association motto "Not by might, nor by power, but by My spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts."

Faithfully submitted,
MARY D. McCALLA,
General Secretary.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

In presenting this, the eighteenth annual report of the Board of Management of the YWCA of Peterborough, the ladies feel great thankfulness to Almighty God for the very successful standing of the institution. We have closed the year 1908-1909 with a small balance to our credit.

During the year the Board has held twelve meetings with an average attendance of 14 members. The attendance has not been as satisfactory as that of 1907 and we would urge our members to be more regular in their attendance that the work and responsibility may not fall on the shoulders of a few.

We regret that three of our members, Mrs Morrison, Mrs Boucher and Mrs. Lees have been obliged to resign from the Board.

In September 1908 the Board was called on to engage a new secretary, and were most fortunate in securing the services of Miss McCalla, the present secretary.

The fact that domestic science has been introduced into the public schools and the Collegiate Institute has rendered it difficult for us to obtain a paying number of pupils; therefore the Board closed that branch of our work in December last.

The Domestic Science committee put forth strenuous efforts to put this department on a paying basis and a copy of the report of Mrs Burnett, the convener, brought $15 from the "Good Housekeeping" magazine, which Mrs Burnett kindly donated to the expenses of the department.

Along with other good work, we thank the religious committee for being the means of bringing to Peterborough the Rev Dr Harris, of Toronto. It was much to be regretted that the attendance at his Bible classes were small. Dr Harris was greeted here by some 50 people while in other places he is met by hundreds. We trust, that if we are ever fortunate enough to secure his services again, the people of Peterborough will have learned to appreciate the advantages offered them.

To the House Committee and Miss Haycock, the superintendent, we are indebted for the general efficiency of the boarding home. The protected home for young women is the great field in which the YWCA hopes to extend its influence all over the world; and it is with regret that we have to record the resignation of Miss Haycock who has been with us and given faithful service for the past four years; having come to us at the opening of the boarding house and being instrumental in bringing it to its present satisfactory condition.

We desire to express our gratitude to the Educational Committee for their successful work. We feel this branch to be a great advertising medium, for it is the privilege of the Association, through it, to place before the members and the public, many advantages.

This year the classes and lectures held have been particularly good and attractive and we would thank our good friends, Dr Greer, Mr Mowat, Miss Nicholls, Mr Matthews, Mr Adams, Miss Rose, Mr Cornish and Sheriff Hall, and Prof. A H Young, for coming to our assistance and giving their time and energy to the furtherance of the work.

The closing exercises of the physical culture department was held in the Collegiate Institute hall a few weeks ago brought these classes to a very successful finish and we feel that the committee and Miss Coventry are to be congratulated. In spite of having a deficit in our finances, this department has been a great help to the furtherance of our work in general and plans are already on foot to make this work one of our chief features of the coming year. We would like to draw the attention of the public to our Saturday children's class. This has now attained a membership of 65 and its success is due to the efforts of Miss McCall and Miss Coventry whose work in this line we cannot acknowledge too gratefully.

Our Finance Committee is to be congratulated on their statement. After meeting all their expenses in connection with the public department, they have a balance on hand of $87.39 We feel particularly proud of this showing since two branches of our public work have had considerable deficits.

On Feb 10th our president held an 'At Home' when a large number of ladies were invited to meet Miss Little, our Dominion secretary. About 125 were present and we hope by this means a wider interest in our institution has been established.

The paid staff for 1908-1909 has consisted of Miss McCalla, General Secretary; Miss Coventry, physical culture directress; Miss Rinney, musical assistant to Miss Coventry; Miss Elliott, domestic science teacher; Miss Haycock, Supt of boarding home.

We would thank the Review for the gift of Webster's dictionary which they generously presented to the Association. Also the Review and Examiner and Times for copies of their daily papers.

G M STEVENSON,
Secretary.

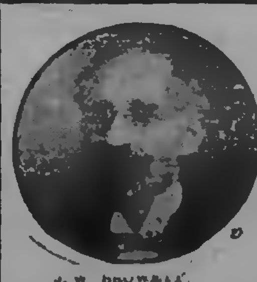
SAFE EYE-GLASS FITTING



J. W. BROWNELL,
Ref. D.M.O., Dr. of Optics of Philadelphia, graduate of the best Colleges of New York, Detroit, Chicago, and Toronto, and for the past 15 years has been teaching Opticians throughout the various parts of United States and Canada.

Selling eye-glasses out of a stock like scissors or thimbles, is a dangerous practice that is altogether too prevalent.

There should not be the faintest doubt in the mind of any person who finds the need of wearing glasses, that they are identically, scientifically fitted to the eyes.

We offer you safe spectacle fitting. And that is the only kind you should be satisfied to accept. There is nothing on this earth dearer than a cheap pair of spectacles that you have chosen yourself simply because you can see with them.

WILL ENDEAVOR TO PUT STOP TO FALSE SWEARING

Efforts Will be Made by Crown Authorities to Stamp Out the Practice

The crown authorities are going to make a big effort to stamp out perjury which is so prevalent in the cases which come before them. For a conviction on a perjury charge a sentence of 14 years imprisonment may be imposed and steps will be taken to enforce the law in this respect. There is altogether too much false swearing in the courts of today and in the future an example will be made of the first conviction that is secured.

THREE SHIPS LOST ON GREAT LAKES

Schooner Nestor Goes Down With All Hands Aboard—Seven Men Are Believed to Have Lost Their Lives in Wreck of Vessel—The Russia Also Sinks and Crew of 22 Men Manage to Get Ashore.

Detroit, May 3.—Three vessels lost, one of them with her crew of seven men, and a fourth craft found floating deserted on Lake Michigan, with the fate of her crew unknown, is Saturday's summary of disaster from the storm and ice on the great lakes.

The ships are the Nestor of Detroit, with all hands; the package freighter Russia, and the Aurania. The steel lighter Batavia was found adrift and deserted on Lake Michigan.

On the bleak and rocky shores of Huron Island Saturday night the schooner George Nester of Detroit was torn to pieces by the furious gale that swept over Lake Superior, and all of her crew of seven were lost.

The furious waves made it impossible to launch small boats from either the Schoolcraft or the lighthouse tender Marigold, which were close behind, to go to the rescue of the seven men aboard the schooner. The Nestor went to pieces rapidly, and every member of the crew was lost. The Marigold made efforts to take the imperilled men off the wreck with life lines, but unsuccessfully.

It is not yet definitely known just how many men composed the crew of the Nester. Nearly all of the crew shipped at Cleveland, and the vessel's log, which held the records, was, of course, lost. At the office of the Nester estate in this city it was stated that there were only seven men aboard. The names of those lost, so far as known, are: Captain George Dubeau, aged 36, of Algonac, Mich.; Peter Prockett, aged 45, seaman, of Algonac, and Fred Douillard, aged 18, seaman, Algonac. Capt. Dubeau leaves a widow, while Prockett leaves a widow and five children.

The Russia was sent to the bottom in Lake Huron by the same storm. She was bound for Duluth on her first trip of the season, with a full cargo of freight. When twelve miles off Detour the Russia's cargo shifted, and the steamer began to fill. Captain John McLean of Port Huron and his crew of 22 launched their small boats into the raging sea and succeeded in saving their lives. They arrived at Detour yesterday.

It is a strange story of marine mystery which the big Ann Arbor car ferry No. 1 brought into port with her yesterday when she arrived towing behind her the big steel lighter Batavia, which was built in 1904 for the Lehigh Valley Transportation Co. The car ferry found the lighter tossing on the waves south of Fox Islands with no crew aboard. In the dining-room was evidence that there had been a crew. The dining-room table was set as for dinner. But nothing except the severed hawser indicated a possible solution of the crew's whereabouts. Marine men think that the evidence which the hawser bore of being cut may mean that the tug or steamer which had the lighter in tow found it necessary in the gale to cast her loose, and if so probably took off the crew before leaving the steel hulk at the mercy of the storm. Lighters of this style usually carry, marine men say, crews of four to ten men.

THREE LIONS TO ROOSEVELT

Nairobi, May 3.—Four lions are trophies of ex-President Roosevelt's camp in the Mau Hills, and the two hundred or more native followers are joining with the party in the celebration of the unusually good luck. Roosevelt's gun brought three of them to earth, each on the first shot. The fourth of the jungle kings fell before the rifle of Kermit Roosevelt.

Lions have been plentiful in the hills for the past month, and the English hunter, F. C. Salous, has been out for several days, laying plans for their extinction. Mr. Selous accompanied the former president, who also was attended by the usual retinue of beaters.

JOHN BURNS RAPS THE SCAREMONGERS

London, May 3.—At a banquet given Saturday night by the International Arbitration League, in honor of the visiting German labor leaders, John Burns, President of the Local Government Board, denounced the journalists who are provoking the Anglo-German war scare.

The scare, however, he declared, would be short-lived, as the people were aware that the scaremongers were the same as had lured them into the Boer war.

He believed that the people would never see an international war, involving France, Great Britain, Germany and Russia.

Japan's Artillery.

Tokio, May 3.—The Japanese War Department has been testing a new field piece that it effective to five miles and fires 6,000 rounds at the rate of 20 a minute. A new method of recoil and some new sighting apparatus has been invented for the ordnance.

The two new battleships just laid down at Yokohama and Kure, are to be larger than the Dreadnought, their dimensions being 20,800 tons, length 480 feet, breadth 85.6 feet, with speed of 20 1-2 knots.

$330,000 Asked for Picture.

London, May 3.—The famous Holbein portrait of Christiana of Denmark, which as a loan from the Duke of Norfolk, has hung in the National Gallery for twenty-eight years, has just been sold by the duke to an art dealer, with an option that the nation may purchase it within a month, for $330,000.

The National Gallery has no resources and an appeal has been made to the public to prevent the picture going to America.

From Boiler-room to College.

New York, May 3.—From the engine-room of a hotel to a professorship in a university is a step few men have taken, but this is what has happened to J. C. Jurgensen, who has quit his job at the Hotel St. Regis to take the chair of engineering plant instruction at Columbia. He will begin his duties next fall on his return from a visit to his native home, Copenhagen.

To Prevent Massacres.

St. Petersburg, May 3.—The Russian Ambassador at Constantinople has been instructed to join with the other ambassadors to have the Turkish Government take measures to prevent a repetition of the massacres in Adana.

Textile Workers to Strike.

Montreal, May 3.—At a meeting on Saturday night of 250 textile employes, a majority voted in favor of a strike to-day. About 200 quit work, but their places can easily be filled.

SEDITION BY GRAMOPHONE

Lord Fred Hamilton Says Bengalis are Making Trouble in India

Victoria, B.C., May 3.—Lord Fred Hamilton, son of the Duke of Abercorn, and a prominent British diplomat and traveler, has arrived here, returning from India where he attended his son's wedding to the daughter of the Governor-General, Earl Minto.

He said the seditious movement in India had been caused by the abolition of the censorship of the press, which allowed the Bengals to scatter their sedition broadcast. The leaders had lately adopted gramophones to spread sedition, and the officials are in a quandary.

"They can't arrest a gramophone, you know," said Lord Hamilton. "It is a mistaken idea, though to say the movement is against British rule. It is purely racial, brown against white, Bengalis are alone spreading sedition, and owing to these tribesmen being despised by other tribes the movement is slower in spreading than it otherwise would."

DETECTIVES CLIMBED IN BY A WINDOW

New York, May 3.—Horace Creeley Robinson of New York, Montreal and Paris, who is said to be well-known throughout this country as a seller of "Marconi wireless" and other stocks, was arrested here Saturday night on a warrant from San Jose, Calif., charging him with having failed to make delivery of Marconi stock for which he had received $800 from F. B. Brown of that city.

Robinson's arrest was not accomplished without difficulty. Detectives went to an apartment where he was supposed to be staying, but were informed that he was not there. Doubting this they procured a ladder and climbed through a second-storey window and found him.

According to the detectives he resisted arrest until they were compelled to use their clubs.

Blow to Von Buelow.

Berlin, May 3.—Chancellor von Buelow's plans received on apparently decisive defeat Saturday at the session of the financial commission of the Reichstag, which rejected the death duties in the Government's finance bill.

The commission adopted a resolution substituting a tax on land increments and calling on the Government to consider an additional tax on increased value of personal property.

THE FUNERAL OF CHINA'S EMPEROR

Funeral of China's Emperor.

Pekin, May 3.—The funeral march to the tombs with the body of the late Emperor will take four days, and the entire route is to be over the great highway especially constructed for the procession. The coffin is massive and heavy. The inside is lined with cypress wood; then comes a covering of catalpa wood, which in turn is encased in rhinocerous hide, while the whole is covered with a stout shield made from the hide of the water buffalo.

The widow of the late Emperor will travel to the tomb by rail, leaving here on May 3.

The Imperial tombs will not be completed for two years, and the actual interment of the body of Kuang Hsu will have to be deferred for this length of time. They will cost, when completed, considerably more than $1,000,000.

MANY DEATHS FROM STORM

Atlanta, Ga., May 3.—The storm which for three days has been sweeping with destructive effect eastward across the Southern States, Saturday night passed out into the Atlantic Ocean.

The havoc wrought in its path included probably 200 killed, twice as many injured, and property worth several millions of dollars destroyed, and business and communication well nigh demoralized.

Saturday, in its passing off to sea, it apparently had lost none of its vicious energy with 34 more deaths in Georgia.

A Drama to Last Five Evenings.

St. Petersburg, May 3.—Count Tolstoi's novel, "War and Peace," is now being dramatized here, and will be staged by permission of the court officials at the Imperial Opera. The novel will form one of the longest plays ever presented on a European stage, the adapters having worked it into fifty scenes, the performance of which will cover five successive evenings.

A Tribute to His Excellency.

London, May 3.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Describing the decision of Earl Grey to remain in Canada for another year, as the best piece of personal news received from the outer Empire for a long time, The Sunday Observer says: "Britain never sent out a more inspiring pro-consul. No representative of the King could have done surer or more splendid work."

Unknown Man Killed.

Brockville, May 3.—The body of an unknown young man awaits identification at Mallorytown, a short distance west of Brockville, on the line of the G.T.R. Saturday night he was either struck by or fell from a freight train, on which he is thought to have been stealing a ride.

Tragic Deaths Killed Mother.

Chatham, May 3.—Grieving since last summer, when two of her sons were killed in a C. W. & L. E. electric car smash here, Mrs. John Pleasance, wife of the proprietor of the Rankin Hotel, died yesterday. She never recovered from the shock of losing her sons.

Union Strike at Poughkeepsie.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., May 3.—The union painters, tinsmiths and plumbers of this city, 250 in all, will go out on strike to-day to force the masters to refuse to take contracts on buildings where work of other trades has been done by non-union workers.

A FIREBUG WORKING AT NORTH BAY

North Bay, May 3.—About 1.30 yesterday morning North Bay was visited by a disastrous fire, the fine new McKeown Block, with stores and offices, being completely gutted. The loss will exceed seventy thousand dollars, partly covered by insurance. Smoke was seen issuing from the basement of Beamish and Smith's clothing store.

There is strong suspicion that the fire was of incendiary origin, due to burglars. When the stores in the building were closed Saturday night the electric lights were turned off, but when the fire was discovered the lights in the store where the blaze originated were on.

Losses and insurance: McKeown Block, owned by D. J. McKeown, $20,000; insurance $1,000; Beamish & Smith, $24,000, insurance $17,000; Begg Bros., $22,000, insurance $1,500; Dr. Wickett, dentist, loss $1,000; insurance $500; G. L. T. Bull, lawyer, loss $1,500, on library and furniture, no insurance; kindergarten piano and furnishings, loss $500, no insurance; Aimee Cusson, township constable and tax collector, loss $100.

Insurance companies affected are: Western, London & Lancashire, Monarch, Phoenix, Yorkshire, Commercial Union, Sovereign, Ontario, London, Montreal, Merchants, Sun, North American, Northern, Hartford and Union.

An investigation will no doubt be held, as several recent fires have had the same earmark of being set by looters to cover up their tracks.

IS JAILED FOR RUNNING AWAY

New York, May 3.—James Hazen Hyde of New York, former vice-president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and his chauffeur, Ladwice, yesterday were condemned by default, Hyde to one month's imprisonment, and a fine of $100, and Ladwice to a month's imprisonment and a fine of $30.

They were charged with running into a public taxicab last October and injuring a passenger.

The complainants charged that after the accident Ladwice sped away. Under a law passed last July flight after an accident is a special offence.

At present Hyde is on an automobile trip in the Riviera.

LATEST NEWS AS TOLD IN DESPATCHES

Grand Jury Indicts Nineteen.

Jackson, Mich., May 3.—The Grand Jury, which spent nearly five weeks investigating the administration of the state penitentiary here and into allegations that a plumbers' trust existed in Jackson, has returned twenty indictments against nineteen persons. Prominent among those indicted is Allan N. Armstrong, former warden of the prison, against whom there are several counts charging the receiving of bribes. John C. Wenger, deputy warden, whose testimony is alleged to have conflicted with that of Armstrong, is indicted on a charge of perjury.

Smallpox Scares Senate.

Ottawa, May 3.—A son of Senator A. H. Comeau, who arrived from Digby, N.S., last week, has been removed to the isolation hospital here, suffering from smallpox.

The incident has caused some uneasiness on the Senate side of the Parliament buildings, where young Comeau spent some time with his father. The Senators' room has been disinfected, and he is quarantined at his boarding-house.

A Queer Visitor.

Chatham, May 3.—The residence of C. S. Lamon at 11 Adelaide street, and that of David Holmes, at the corner of Stanley avenue and Adelaide street, were entered by a mysterious burglar last Saturday night. From his actions, it is thought that the intruder must have been a lunatic. Tracks indicate that he was barefooted.

Bonfires Save Fruit Crops.

Grand Junction, Col., May 3.—Two hundred thousand smudge pots in which fires were kept burning through the night by an army of men, women and children, probably saved from destruction by cold the fruit crop of the Grand Valley, estimated this year to be worth three million dollars.

The Real Peril.

Vancouver, B.C., May 3.—Hon. W. L. Mackenzie-King, Minister of Labor, Canadian representative at the recent opium conference at Shanghai, has returned from Japan, China and India. He said:

"The real peril so far as the Orient is concerned, lies not in the possible movement of labor from Asia to America; that can be regulated, but in the almost certain movement of capital from America and Europe to Asia, once the industrial possibilities become known, and a greater degree of stability and security of investment is offered."

Royalist Marquise In Jail.

Paris, May 3.—A crowd of 200 young Royalists, of both sexes, with bunches of flowers in their hands, gathered at the Palace of Justice Saturday to greet the Marquise de Vasselot when she surrendered herself to the police after her condemnation by default to five days in jail for having taken part in the recent Joan of Arc manifestations. The marquise was escorted by her admirers to prison, where she was locked up to serve her sentence.

Editors Arrested.

Indianapolis, May 3.—Delavan Smith and Charles R. Williams, proprietors of The Indianapolis News, were formally arrested late Saturday afternoon and in the United States District Court they were released by Judge Anderson on $5,000 surety, each giving bail for the other. They are charged with criminal libel in the Panama Canal matter. They will fight extradition.

Where Is Abdul's Gold?

Constantinople, May 3.—A particular search is being made for the hoards of cash which Abdul Hamid is reported always to have had on hand. He has also great sums invested abroad. None, however, has been found as yet, although the former Sultan must have had at least a few hundred thousand pounds in the domestic exchequer.

Healey Succeeds O'Brien.

Cork, May 3.—Maurice Healey, Independent Nationalist, was on Saturday elected a member of Parliament to represent the city of Cork, in place of William O'Brien, the Nationalist member who recently resigned his seat. Healey received 4,708 votes; Crosbie, Nationalist, polled 3,547.

WEST PETERBORO' ELECTION PROTEST

This matter came up before Justice McMahon this morning at Osgoode Hall, when the date set for trial was September 6th. Mr. W. F. Johnston, barrister, of Peterborough, was appointed special examiner to take examinations of both the petitioner and the respondent, and it was ordered that these examinations should take place as soon after the prorogation of the House as the parties to the protest demanded, it being ordered also that particulars of the charges in the petition and cross-petition be furnished to the parties previous to said examinations.

THIRTY THOUSAND WORDS IN QUERY

Cambridge, Mass., May 3.—Cut down over night by some 30,000 words to 1,470, because the judges refused to admit it, a record-breaking hypothetical question in the case of Chester Jordan, on trial for the murder of his wife, was read in court Saturday. It recited the facts of the case and concluded with these words:

"Taking all these things into consideration, was such a person capable at the time of the commission of the act, of knowing its nature and penalty?"

ERROR MADE BY A GRAVEDIGGER

Brantford, May 3.—William Dunne and Patrick Jones were charged at the Police Court Saturday with unlawfully disturbing the remains of the son and daughter of Mrs. Carolan, in the Catholic cemetery. Jones is the gravedigger, and in enlarging Dunne's lot, the two bodies were removed. Mrs. Carolan heard that two other bodies were put back in their stead.

Magistrate Livingston has ordered the graves to be unearthed to allow the woman to establish the identity of the remains by some jewelry. The magistrate refused to accept the plea that a mistake had been made, but since rectified.

$60,000 FOR NEW McGILL CHAIR

Montreal, May 3.—It was announced at McGill convocation that a committee of four millionaire friends of the university had raised a fund of $60,000 to endow a professorship in science to perpetuate the name of the late Dr. Harrington of McGill. Principal Peterson announced that the recent anonymous donator of $25,000 to the McGill fund was R. B. Angus.

The first Chinese lawyer to be turned out by McGill also took his degree of B.C.L., a student named Peter Hing, winning the distinction. The convocation also granted the first degree of Ph.D. from McGill, which was won by R. W. Boyle of the college faculty.

New Forwarding Company.

Fort William, May 3.—A new company has been formed of local men, including G. H. Duncan, E. R. Wayland, S. C. Young and J. E. Swinburne, to be known as the Fort William Forwarding & Warehousing Co. The company has acquired 1,000 feet of river frontage, and will be practically the clearing house for packing freight.

More Gruelling for Pugsley.

Washington, May 3.—The President and Secretary Nagle have practically decided to appoint Col. John H. Clark, immigration commissioner at Montreal, to the place vacated by Robert Watchorn, commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island.

KINRADE INQUEST EXPECTED TO TAKE SIGNIFICANT TURN

Tendency Shown in Earlier Examination Will Probably Be Strengthened by Evidence To-day—Kinrades Leave Toronto Closely Watched by Detectives Baum Will Have Lengthy Examination.

Hamilton, May 3.—Evidence of a significant character along a line which has been more or less clearly suggested more than once at previous sessions of the Kinrade inquest will be brought forward by the crown at the resumption of proceedings this afternoon.

Florence Kinrade having been served with a warrant the crown is not taking any further steps to ensure her presence, but should she fail to appear, no little surprise will be given the authorities, as her counsel, George Lynch-Staunton, K.C., has practically given an assurance that she, with her parents, will be in attendance. It is stated that there is a liability of a fine of $400 for non-recognition of the obligation imposed by the warrant.

What is not so certain, however, is that there will be no hitch in reopening the inquest. Mr. Lynch-Staunton strongly desires that it be in camera, but the crown is understood to be favorable to the admission of newspapermen at any rate.

Coroner Anderson says that if it is left to him to decide the reporters will be admitted. The reporters will be present unless the crown officials or Attorney-General Department issues an order for their exclusion.

The reason for the close association with the case of the specialists, Dr. Bruce Smith, and Dr. Clarke, will, it is believed, be better understood as a result of to-day's development. The psychological aspect will be very prominent. It will be shown also that the recent visit of detectives to the Herkimer street house has added an important link in the chain of reasoning, it is said.

As to the actual circumstances surrounding Ethel Kinrade's death nothing new has been learned. The revolver hasn't been found, and it is learned that the authorities have just about abandoned hope of its discovery.

The crown's intention is to have no more adjournments, except from one day to another. No coroner's jury verdict is expected to-night, but it is thought the evidence may be wound up Tuesday night. Miss Kinrade and her father and mother will be the first witnesses Monday, and the evidence of "Jimmy" Baum will be taken at length. Miss Kinrade's examination will be finished by 6 p.m. or 6.30 p.m.

Kinrades Leave Toronto.

Toronto, May 3.—The Kinrade family left for Hamilton on the 11.20 Grand Trunk train last night. They drove from 28 Homewood avenue, where they have been stopping, in two taxicabs to the depot.

Thiel detectives, who have been watching the house started in pursuit, but were not provided with means of swift locomotion. A crowd of curious saw the Kinrades enter the taxies at the door. One man who attempted to follow on foot, gave up the chase in half a block.

It is understood, however, that the departure of the Kinrades was "covered" by the detective agency, and that the train carried one or more of the men who have been working on the case.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION WILL OPEN THIS EVENING

President of Ontario Sunday School Association Will Speak at St. John's School Room—To-morrow's Sessions at St. Paul's.

The annual joint Sunday school convention of the city and county Sunday schools will open tonight at St. John's schoolroom and will be continued tomorrow when the several sessions will be held at St. Paul's. A large number will be present from the county and city Sunday schools.

SICKENING SIGHT IN TURKISH CAPITAL

Constantinople, May 3.—Thirteen political offenders tried and condemned to death by court martial, were hanged in the city to-day.

The most conspicuous points were chosen, and thousands of people gathered to look upon the [illegible] swinging from the improvised [illegible].

The sight was a most sickening one. The prisoners took their fate cooly and walked to their death with great courage.

The victims included the assassins of Mazm Pasha, and those who promoted the uprising of the Marines in the Kassim Barracks.

TWENTY YEARS AT ST. ANDREW'S

Anniversary of Induction of Rev. J. G. Potter Will be Celebrated Next Sunday

Next Sunday the congregation of St. Andrew's church will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the induction of the pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter. Rev. Alexander MacGillivary, of Bond St. Presbyterian church, Toronto, will preach at both services, and will give an address at the annual congregational re-union, which will be held on Monday evening, May 10. The re-union promises to be a very successful event. It was to have been held to-night, but on account of the Sunday school convention.

PRESS WILL BE ADMITTED

To the Kinrade Inquest at Hamilton To-night—Public to be Excluded

Hamilton, Ont., May 3.—Crown Attorney Washington this morning received word from Toronto stating the Crown would offer no objections to Mr Staunton's motion to have the inquest proceedings in camera, and that the matter would be left in the hands of Coroner Anderson.

At one o'clock the Crown Attorney and the coroner had a conference, and although the latter would not say before hand what action he would take, it was authoritatively stated he would exclude the general public but allow the press to remain.

THREE SHIPS LOST ON GREAT LAKES

Schooner Nestor Goes Down With All Hands Aboard—Seven Men Are Believed to Have Lost Their Lives in Wreck of Vessel—The Russia Also Sinks and Crew of 22 Men Manage to Get Ashore.

Detroit, May 3.—Three vessels lost, one of them with her crew of seven men, and a fourth craft found floating deserted on Lake Michigan, with the fate of her crew unknown, is Saturday's summary of disaster from the storm and ice on the great lakes.

The ships are the Nestor of Detroit, with all hands; the package freighter Russia, and the Aurania. The steel lighter Batavia was found adrift and deserted on Lake Michigan.

On the bleak and rocky shores of Huron Island Saturday night the schooner George Nester of Detroit was torn to pieces by the furious gale that swept over Lake Superior, and all of her crew of seven were lost.

The furious waves made it impossible to launch small boats from either the Schoolcraft or the lighthouse tender Marigold, which were close behind, to go to the rescue of the seven men aboard the schooner. The Nestor went to pieces rapidly, and every member of the crew was lost. The Marigold made efforts to take the imperilled men off the wreck with life lines, but unsuccessfully.

It is not yet definitely known just how many men composed the crew of the Nester. Nearly all of the crew shipped at Cleveland, and the vessel's log, which held the records, was, of course, lost. At the office of the Nester estate in this city it was stated that there were only seven men aboard. The names of those lost, so far as known, are: Captain George Dubeau, aged 36, of Algonac, Mich.; Peter Prockett, aged 45, seaman, of Algonac, and Fred Douillard, aged 18, seaman, Algonac. Capt. Dubeau leaves a widow, while Prockett leaves a widow and five children.

The Russia was sent to the bottom in Lake Huron by the same storm. She was bound for Duluth on her first trip of the season, with a full cargo of freight. When twelve miles off Detour the Russia's cargo shifted, and the steamer began to fill. Captain John McLean of Port Huron and his crew of 22 launched their small boats into the raging sea and succeeded in saving their lives. They arrived at Detour yesterday.

It is a strange story of marine mystery which the big Ann Arbor car ferry No. 1 brought into port with her yesterday when she arrived towing behind her the big steel lighter Batavia, which was built in 1904 for the Lehigh Valley Transportation Co. The car ferry found the lighter tossing on the waves south of Fox Islands with no crew aboard. In the dining-room was evidence that there had been a crew. The dining-room table was set as for dinner. But nothing except the severed hawser indicated a possible solution of the crew's whereabouts. Marine men think that the evidence which the hawser bore of being cut may mean that the tug or steamer which had the lighter in tow found it necessary in the gale to cast her loose, and if so probably took off the crew before leaving the steel hulk at the mercy of the storm. Lighters of this style usually carry, marine men say, crews of four to ten men.

THREE LIONS TO ROOSEVELT

Nairobi, May 3.—Four lions are trophies of ex-President Roosevelt's camp in the Mau Hills, and the two hundred or more native followers are joining with the party in the celebration of the unusually good luck. Roosevelt's gun brought three of them to earth, each on the first shot. The fourth of the jungle kings fell before the rifle of Kermit Roosevelt.

Lions have been plentiful in the hills for the past month, and the English hunter, F. C. Salous, has been out for several days, laying plans for their extinction. Mr. Selous accompanied the former president, who also was attended by the usual retinue of beaters.

JOHN BURNS RAPS THE SCAREMONGERS

London, May 3.—At a banquet given Saturday night by the International Arbitration League, in honor of the visiting German labor leaders, John Burns, President of the Local Government Board, denounced the journalists who are provoking the Anglo-German war scare.

The scare, however, he declared, would be short-lived, as the people were aware that the scaremongers were the same as had lured them into the Boer war.

He believed that the people would never see an international war, involving France, Great Britain, Germany and Russia.

Japan's Artillery.

Tokio, May 3.—The Japanese War Department has been testing a new field piece that it effective to five miles and fires 6,000 rounds at the rate of 20 a minute. A new method of recoil and some new sighting apparatus has been invented for the ordnance.

The two new battleships just laid down at Yokohama and Kure, are to be larger than the Dreadnought, their dimensions being 20,800 tons, length 480 feet, breadth 85.6 feet, with speed of 20 1-2 knots.

$330,000 Asked for Picture.

London, May 3.—The famous Holbein portrait of Christiana of Denmark, which as a loan from the Duke of Norfolk, has hung in the National Gallery for twenty-eight years, has just been sold by the duke to an art dealer, with an option that the nation may purchase it within a month, for $330,000.

The National Gallery has no resources and an appeal has been made to the public to prevent the picture going to America.

From Boiler-room to College.

New York, May 3.—From the engine-room of a hotel to a professorship in a university is a step few men have taken, but this is what has happened to J. C. Jurgensen, who has quit his job at the Hotel St. Regis to take the chair of engineering plant instruction at Columbia. He will begin his duties next fall on his return from a visit to his native home, Copenhagen.

To Prevent Massacres.

St. Petersburg, May 3.—The Russian Ambassador at Constantinople has been instructed to join with the other ambassadors to have the Turkish Government take measures to prevent a repetition of the massacres in Adana.

Textile Workers to Strike.

Montreal, May 3.—At a meeting on Saturday night of 250 textile employes, a majority voted in favor of a strike to-day. About 200 quit work, but their places can easily be filled.

THE FUNERAL OF CHINA'S EMPEROR

Funeral of China's Emperor.

Pekin, May 3.—The funeral march to the tombs with the body of the late Emperor will take four days, and the entire route is to be over the great highway especially constructed for the procession. The coffin is massive and heavy. The inside is lined with cypress wood; then comes a covering of catalpa wood, which in turn is encased in rhinocerous hide, while the whole is covered with a stout shield made from the hide of the water buffalo.

The widow of the late Emperor will travel to the tomb by rail, leaving here on May 3.

The Imperial tombs will not be completed for two years, and the actual interment of the body of Kuang Hsu will have to be deferred for this length of time. They will cost, when completed, considerably more than $1,000,000.

MANY DEATHS FROM STORM

Atlanta, Ga., May 3.—The storm which for three days has been sweeping with destructive effect eastward across the Southern States, Saturday night passed out into the Atlantic Ocean.

The havoc wrought in its path included probably 200 killed, twice as many injured, and property worth several millions of dollars destroyed, and business and communication well nigh demoralized.

Saturday, in its passing off to sea, it apparently had lost none of its vicious energy with 34 more deaths in Georgia.

A Drama to Last Five Evenings.

St. Petersburg, May 3.—Count Tolstoi's novel, "War and Peace," is now being dramatized here, and will be staged by permission of the court officials at the Imperial Opera. The novel will form one of the longest plays ever presented on a European stage, the adapters having worked it into fifty scenes, the performance of which will cover five successive evenings.

A Tribute to His Excellency.

London, May 3.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Describing the decision of Earl Grey to remain in Canada for another year, as the best piece of personal news received from the outer Empire for a long time, The Sunday Observer says: "Britain never sent out a more inspiring pro-consul. No representative of the King could have done surer or more splendid work."

Unknown Man Killed.

Brockville, May 3.—The body of an unknown young man awaits identification at Mallorytown, a short distance west of Brockville, on the line of the G.T.R. Saturday night he was either struck by or fell from a freight train, on which he is thought to have been stealing a ride.

Tragic Deaths Killed Mother.

Chatham, May 3.—Grieving since last summer, when two of her sons were killed in a C. W. & L. E. electric car smash here, Mrs. John Pleasance, wife of the proprietor of the Rankin Hotel, died yesterday. She never recovered from the shock of losing her sons.

Union Strike at Poughkeepsie.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., May 3.—The union painters, tinsmiths and plumbers of this city, 250 in all, will go out on strike to-day to force the masters to refuse to take contracts on buildings where work of other trades has been done by non-union workers.

SEDITION BY GRAMOPHONE

Victoria, B.C., May 3.—Lord Fred Hamilton, son of the Duke of Abercorn, and a prominent British diplomat and traveler, has arrived here, returning from India where he attended his son's wedding to the daughter of the Governor-General, Earl Minto.

He said the seditious movement in India had been caused by the abolition of the censorship of the press, which allowed the Bengals to scatter their sedition broadcast. The leaders had lately adopted gramophones to spread sedition, and the officials are in a quandary.

"They can't arrest a gramophone, you know," said Lord Hamilton. "It is a mistaken idea, though to say the movement is against British rule. It is purely racial, brown against white. Bengalis are alone spreading sedition, and owing to these tribesmen being despised by other tribes the movement is slower in spreading than it otherwise would."

DETECTIVES CLIMBED IN BY A WINDOW

New York, May 3.—Horace Creeley Robinson of New York, Montreal and Paris, who is said to be well-known throughout this country as a seller of "Marconi wireless" and other stocks, was arrested here Saturday night on a warrant from San Jose, Calif., charging him with having failed to make delivery of Marconi stock for which he had received $800 from F. B. Brown of that city.

Robinson's arrest was not accomplished without difficulty. Detectives went to an apartment where he was supposed to be staying, but were informed that he was not there. Doubting this they procured a ladder and climbed through a second-storey window and found him.

According to the detectives he resisted arrest until they were compelled to use their clubs.

Blow to Von Buelow.

Berlin, May 3.—Chancellor von Buelow's plans received on apparently decisive defeat Saturday at the session of the financial commission of the Reichstag, which rejected the death duties in the Government's finance bill.

The commission adopted a resolution substituting a tax on land increments and calling on the Government to consider an additional tax on increased value of personal property.

A FIREBUG WORKING AT NORTH BAY

North Bay, May 3.—About 1.30 yesterday morning North Bay was visited by a disastrous fire, the fine new McKeown Block, with stores and offices, being completely gutted. The loss will exceed seventy thousand dollars, partly covered by insurance. Smoke was seen issuing from the basement of Beamish and Smith's clothing store.

There is strong suspicion that the fire was of incendiary origin, due to burglars. When the stores in the building were closed Saturday night the electric lights were turned off, but when the fire was discovered the lights in the store where the blaze originated were on.

Losses and insurance: McKeown Block, owned by D. J. McKeown, $20,000; insurance $1,000; Beamish & Smith, $24,000, insurance $17,000; Begg Bros., $23,000, insurance $1,500; Dr. Wickett, dentist, loss $1,000; insurance $500; G. L. T. Bull, lawyer, loss $1,500, on library and furniture, no insurance; kindergarten piano and furnishings, loss $500, no insurance; Aimee Cusson, township constable and tax collector, loss $100.

Insurance companies affected are: Western, London & Lancashire, Monarch, Phoenix, Yorkshire, Commercial Union, Sovereign, Ontario, London, Montreal, Merchants, Sun, North American, Northern, Hartford and Union.

An investigation will no doubt be held, as several recent fires have had the same earmark of being set by looters to cover up their tracks.

IS JAILED FOR RUNNING AWAY

New York, May 3.—James Hazen Hyde of New York, former vice-president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and his chauffeur, Ladwice, yesterday were condemned by default, Hyde to one month's imprisonment, and a fine of $100, and Ladwice to a month's imprisonment and a fine of $30.

They were charged with running into a public taxicab last October and injuring a passenger.

The complainants charged that after the accident Ladwice sped away. Under a law passed last July flight after an accident is a special offence.

At present Hyde is on an automobile trip in the Riviera.

LATEST NEWS AS TOLD IN DESPATCHES

Grand Jury Indicts Nineteen.

Jackson, Mich., May 3.—The Grand Jury, which spent nearly five weeks investigating the administration of the state penitentiary here and into allegations that a plumbers' trust existed in Jackson, has returned twenty indictments against nineteen persons. Prominent among those indicted is Allan N. Armstrong, former warden of the prison, against whom there are several counts charging the receiving of bribes. John C. Wenger, deputy warden, whose testimony is alleged to have conflicted with that of Armstrong, is indicted on a charge of perjury.

Smallpox Scares Senate.

Ottawa, May 3.—A son of Senator A. H. Comeau, who arrived from Digby, N.S., last week, has been removed to the isolation hospital here, suffering from smallpox.

The incident has caused some uneasiness on the Senate side of the Parliament buildings, where young Comeau spent some time with his father. The Senators' room has been disinfected, and he is quarantined at his boarding-house.

A Queer Visitor.

Chatham, May 3.—The residence of C. S. Grand Junction, Col., May 3.—Two hundred thousand smudge pots in which fires were kept burning through the night by an army of men, women and children, probably saved from destruction by cold the fruit crop of the Grand Valley, estimated this year to be worth three million dollars.

Jap Fleet at Frisco.

San Francisco, May 3.—With the booming of salutes and the exchange of official visits, the Japanese training squadron, commanded by Rear-Admiral H. Ijichi, anchored within a cable length of Rear-Admiral Swinburne's Pacific fleet in San Francisco Bay Saturday.

Inquiry at Fort William.

Fort William, May 3.—Judge O'Leary will commence a civic investigation on Tuesday. The Board of Water, Light and Telephone Commissioners have requested the council to enlarge the scope of the investigation to include the year 1907.

The Real Peril.

Vancouver, B.C., May 3.—Hon. W. L. Mackenzie-King, Minister of Labor, Canadian representative at the recent opium conference at Shanghai, has returned from Japan, China and India. He said:

"The real peril so far as the Orient is concerned, lies not in the possible movement of labor from Asia to America; that can be regulated, but in the almost certain movement of capital from America and Europe to Asia, once the industrial possibilities become known, and a greater degree of stability and security of investment is offered."

Royalist Marquise in Jail.

Paris, May 3.—A crowd of 200 young Royalists, of both sexes, with bunches of flowers in their hands, gathered at the Palace of Justice Saturday to greet the Marquise de Vasselot when she surrendered herself to the police after her condemnation by default to five days in jail for having taken part in the recent Joan of Arc manifestations. The marquise was escorted by her admirers to prison, where she was locked up to serve her sentence.

Editors Arrested.

Indianapolis, May 3.—Delavan Smith and Charles R. Williams, proprietors of The Indianapolis News, were formally arrested late Saturday afternoon and in the United States District Court they were released by Judge Anderson on $5,000 surety, each giving bail for the other. They are charged with criminal libel in the Panama Canal matter. They will fight extradition.

Where Is Abdul's Gold?

Constantinople, May 3.—A particular search is being made for the hoards of cash which Abdul Hamid is reported always to have had on hand. He has also great sums invested abroad. None, however, has been found as yet, although the former Sultan must have had at least a few hundred thousand pounds in the domestic exchequer.

Healey Succeeds O'Brien.

Cork, May 3.—Maurice Healey, Independent Nationalist, was on Saturday elected a member of Parliament to represent the city of Cork, in place of William O'Brien, the Nationalist member who recently resigned his seat. Healey received 4,706 votes; Crosbie, Nationalist, polled 3,547.

Calgary business men generally favor the daylight saving bill.

The second national peace conference opens in Chicago to-day.

The postoffice and a number of stores at Elk Lake were burned on Saturday.

It is reported in England that Earl Grey's term as Governor-General is to be extended a year.

The young son of Mr. Archibald Hogg was drowned near Chatham by falling into a roadside ditch.

WEST PETERBORO' ELECTION PROTEST

This matter came up before Justice McMahon this morning at Osgoode Hall, when the date set for trial was September 6th. Mr. W. F. Johnston, barrister, of Peterborough, was appointed special examiner to take examinations of both the petitioner and the respondent, and it was ordered that these examinations should take place as soon after the prorogation of the House as the parties to the protest demanded, it being ordered also that particulars of the charges in the petition and cross-petition be furnished to the parties previous to said examinations.

THIRTY THOUSAND WORDS IN QUERY

Cambridge, Mass., May 3.—Cut down over night by some 30,000 words to 1,470, because the judges refused to admit it, a record-breaking hypothetical question in the case of Chester Jordan, on trial for the murder of his wife, was read in court Saturday. It recited the facts of the case and concluded with these words:

"Taking all these things into consideration, was such a person capable at the time of the commission of the act, of knowing its nature and penalty?"

ERROR MADE BY A GRAVEDIGGER

Brantford, May 3.—William Dunne and Patrick Jones were charged at the Police Court Saturday with unlawfully disturbing the remains of the son and daughter of Mrs. Carolan, in the Catholic cemetery. Jones is the gravedigger, and in enlarging Dunne's lot, the two bodies were removed. Mrs. Carolan heard that two other bodies were put back in their stead.

Magistrate Livingston has ordered the graves to be unearthed to allow the woman to establish the identity of the remains by some jewelry. The magistrate refused to accept the plea that a mistake had been made, but since rectified.

$60,000 FOR NEW McGILL CHAIR

Montreal, May 3.—It was announced at McGill convocation that a committee of four millionaire friends of the university had raised a fund of $60,000 to endow a professorship in science to perpetuate the name of the late Dr. Harrington of McGill. Principal Peterson announced that the recent anonymous donator of $25,000 to the McGill fund was R. B. Angus.

The first Chinese lawyer to be turned out by McGill also took his degree of B.C.L., a student named Peter Hing, winning the distinction. The convocation also granted the first degree of Ph.D. from McGill, which was won by R. W. Boyle of the college faculty.

New Forwarding Company.

Fort William, May 3.—A new company has been formed of local men, including G. H. Duncan, E. R. Wayland, S. C. Young and J. E. Swinburne, to be known as the Fort William Forwarding & Warehousing Co. The company has acquired 1,000 feet of river frontage, and will be practically the clearing house for packing freight.

More Gruelling for Pugsley.

Ottawa, May 3.—The matter of the New Brunswick Central Railway commission's report, involving Hon. William Pugsley, Lieut.-Governor Tweedie and George McAvity will be brought before the Commons on Tuesday. T. W. Crothers will move the motion on going into supply.

From Montreal to Ellis Island.

Washington, May 3.—The President and Secretary Nagle have practically decided to appoint Col. John H. Clark, immigration commissioner at Montreal, to the place vacated by Robert Watchorn, commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island.

KINRADE INQUEST EXPECTED TO TAKE SIGNIFICANT TURN

Tendency Shown in Earlier Examination Will Probably Be Strengthened by Evidence To-day—Kinrades Leave Toronto Closely Watched by Detectives Baum Will Have Lengthy Examination.

Hamilton, May 3.—Evidence of a significant character along a line which has been more or less clearly suggested more than once at previous sessions of the Kinrade inquest will be brought forward by the crown at the resumption of proceedings this afternoon.

Florence Kinrade having been served with a warrant the crown is not taking any further steps to ensure her presence, but should she fail to appear, no little surprise will be given the authorities, as her counsel, George Lynch-Staunton, K.C., has practically given an assurance that she, with her parents, will be in attendance. It is stated that there is a liability of a fine of $400 for non-recognition of the obligation imposed by the warrant.

What is not so certain, however, is that there will be no hitch in re-opening the inquest. Mr. Lynch-Staunton strongly desires that it be in camera, but the crown is understood to be favorable to the admission of newspapermen at any rate.

Coroner Anderson says that if it is left to him to decide the reporters will be admitted. The reporters will be present unless the crown officials or Attorney-General Department issues an order for their exclusion.

The reason for the close association with the case of the specialists, Dr. Bruce Smith, and Dr. Clarke, will, it is believed, be better understood as a result of to-day's development. The psychological aspect will be very prominent. It will be shown also that the recent visit of detectives to the Herkimer street house has added an important link in the chain of reasoning, it is said.

As to the actual circumstances surrounding Ethel Kinrade's death nothing new has been learned. The revolver hasn't been found, and it is learned that the authorities have just about abandoned hope of its discovery.

The crown's intention is to have no more adjournments, except from one day to another. No coroner's jury verdict is expected to-night, but it is thought the evidence may be wound up Tuesday night. Miss Kinrade and her father and mother will be the first witnesses Monday, and the evidence of "Jimmy" Baum will be taken at length. Miss Kinrade's examination will be finished by 6 p.m. or 6.30 p.m.

Kinrades Leave Toronto.

Toronto, May 3.—The Kinrade family left for Hamilton on the 11.20 Grand Trunk train last night. They drove from 28 Homewood avenue, where they have been stopping, in two taxicabs to the depot.

Thiel detectives, who have been watching the house started in pursuit, but were not provided with means of swift locomotion. A crowd of curious saw the Kinrades enter the taxies at the door. One man who attempted to follow on foot, gave up the chase in half a block.

It is understood, however, that the departure of the Kinrades was "covered" by the detective agency, and that the train carried one or more of the men who have been working on the case.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION WILL OPEN THIS EVENING

President of Ontario Sunday School Association Will Speak at St. John's School Room—To-morrow's Sessions at St. Paul's.

The annual joint Sunday school convention of the city and county Sunday schools will open tonight at St. John's schoolroom and will be continued tomorrow when the several sessions will be held at St. Paul's. A large number will be present from the county and city Sunday schools.

At tomorrow evening's meeting which will be held in the auditorium of St. Paul's the centre seats will be reserved for the Bible class students and it is expected that all the classes of this city will rally to this meeting. An offering to meet the expenses of the convention will be taken up at the meeting.

SICKENING SIGHT IN TURKISH CAPITAL

Constantinople, May 3—Thirteen political offenders tried and condemned to death by court martial, were hanged in the city to-day.

The most conspicuous points were chosen, and thousands of people gathered to look upon the bodies swinging from the improvised gibbets.

The sight was a most sickening one. The prisoners took their fate cooly and walked to their death with great courage.

The victims included the assassins of Nazim Pasha, and those who promoted the uprising of the Marines in the Kassim Barracks.

TWENTY YEARS AT ST. ANDREW'S

Anniversary of Induction of Rev. J. G. Potter Will be Celebrated Next Sunday

Next Sunday the congregation of St. Andrew's church will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the induction of the pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter. Rev. Alexander MacGillivray, of Bond St. Presbyterian church, Toronto, will preach at both services, and will give an address at the annual congregational re-union, which will be held on Monday evening, May 10. The re-union promises to be a very successful event. It was to have been held to-night, but on account of the Sunday school convention.

Events To-night

Grand Opera House— Lorain Amusement Co. New specialties.

St John's church— Opening meeting of Sunday School convention. Address by Rev Canon Greene, of Orillia.

Armouries— Weekly drill of the 57th regiment.

YMCA—Meeting to organize junior church baseball league.

City Council Chamber — Regular meeting of city council.

PRESS WILL BE ADMITTED

To the Kinrade Inquest at Hamilton To-night—Public to be Excluded

Hamilton, Ont., May 3.—Crown Attorney Washington this morning received word from Toronto stating the Crown would offer no objection to Mr Staunton's motion to have the inquest proceedings in camera, and that the matter would be left in the hands of Coroner Anderson.

At one o'clock the Crown Attorney and the coroner had a conference, and although the latter would not say before hand what action he would take, it was authoritatively stated he would exclude the general public but allow the press to remain.

FREAK SHOW MAY COME HERE

It is understood that Peterborough's next enterprise may be a "freak show," where freaks and curiosities of different kinds will be shown.

This has not been definitely decided upon by the manager of the show, but if he follows out his intention he will open his attraction here after showing in Lindsay. It is not known whether or not he will bring any subjects from Lindsay.

WHY THE COUNTRY?

It is quite evident that Canada will have to put itself at the disposal of the G. T. P., or that the G. T. P. must put itself in the hands of Canada—one or the other. It is plain to the least observant that we are nearing a crisis in G. T. P. affairs. Why then should we take a "fourth mortgage on an unbuilt railway," as the Montreal Star puts it, as our security for the ten millions now asked for? Why in the name of all that is decent should Canada not have had a first mortgage, if she was to go into that business? This is where the folly crops out of virtually building a railway and handing it over to a company. The truth is no doubt that the G. T. P. has got us at its mercy. It is or will be a case of "Well! What are you going to do about it?" When the Hon. George P. Graham stood up in the House of Commons the other day, and in response to a question by Mr. Borden flatly declined to say if the G. T. P. would come back again, or be allowed to come back again for more, the people of Canada must have been surprised, at least all those who did not know what to expect. Canada is being made the convenient means of making fortunes for a lot of capitalists who will terrorize through a compliant and weak Government, the people of Canada into carrying the burden which the G. T. P. pretended to assume. The eastern section is our funeral altogether, and it looks as if it would be a funeral sure enough. But what good is it all doing the County of Peterborough? Let the electors ask themselves that simple yet direct question. The decrease in the price of school books is a striking instance of what commonsense business legislation can do when it tries.

A GREATER QUEBEC

We take the following from the editorial column of La Patrie "All parties united yesterday in the Legislative Assembly to second the efforts of the first minister to increase our province and extend it even to the Arctic ocean by the annexation of the immense and important region of Ungava. The annexation of this territory will make the province of Quebec the largest in the Dominion. What will that give us? Not much from the point of view of agriculture but the country is rich in minerals, water-powers, forests fisheries and fur bearing animals. The new territory will constitute for our province an immense field of exploitation and a reserve of natural riches beyond computation which will gradually become more valuable as those of the more temperate regions become exhausted. Sir Lomer Gouin deserved the congratulations which were showered upon him on all sides and by all parties. The increase of the province of Quebec almost exclusively his personal achievement is one of the most important events of his term of government." It will be remembered that Sir Wilfrid Laurier devised the plan of dividing up the unappropriated territories of Canada amongst the provinces. Quebec has taken the place of British Columbia as the largest province of the Dominion and it has good cause to congratulate itself on the acquisition of the whole Atlantic waterfront of the Dominion.

WHENCE OUR POLITICAL CORRUPTION?

The Montreal Star.

Visitors to Canada from lands where they do not mix "graft" with their public business, usually offer two explanations of the sad state of affairs they find in this country, taking our own press and our own public men as witnesses. They lay the blame first on our "foreign vote," and then on our proximity to the American Republic. This is all very courteous and considerate of them; but few Canadians can accept this explanation complacently with an easy conscience. The "foreign vote," after all, is a very small and inconsiderable factor in our politics; and we are not so devotedly enamoured of American institutions that we copy slavishly even their faults.

If what we may call the "Canadian vote" were clean, vigilant and honest, no corrupt politician could live for an hour by the corruption of the "foreign vote" or under the shelter of the American example. The constituencies which are absolutely controlled by native voters constitute an overwhelming majority of the whole; and if their voice were steadily for upright public men and downright honesty in public administration, no "grafter" could get near enough to the treasury to loot a copper. If there were among pure Canadians that instinct and indignant feeling of outrage at the rumor that a public trustee had manipulated to his own advantage the powers given him by the people, which we are told obtains in communities where "graft" is unknown, no party dare shelter a man about whose conduct there hung the least suspicion.

But it must be confessed that Canadian public opinion is not as alert as could be desired in decrying and demanding the punishment of the politician who takes a material view of his responsibilities. We have yet to hear of a Canadian constituency which resented the insult of having dangled before its eyes as an election lure the promise of a local public work or the expenditure of public money for its especial advantage. Yet such "insults" are offered to many of our most purely native constituencies during every election contest. The insulters, instead of being ridden on a rail, or, at all events, left at the bottom of the poll, more often are triumphantly elected to Parliament. Now, if a whole constituency will go "grafting" in this fashion, it is a little too much to expect that it will seriously condemn the politician who looks out for himself in the same fashion.

It is the fine principle of public responsibility and high public honor that we have betrayed. We have ceased to feel that it is a greater affront to ourselves personally to have a public representative tamper with the trust reposed in him than to have him take us individually by the throat and go through our pockets. We do not condone stealing or any other gross crime. If a politician is caught with his fingers vulgarly in the till, we sacrifice him—though at times with regret. But we do not maintain a sufficient sensitiveness toward the suspicion that politicians are self-seeking. For instance, it is difficult to arouse much feeling over the spectacle of a man lifted into the civil service through a political friend; yet, unless he is the best possible man, the spirit is precisely the same.

While this condition of public opinion prevails, it is no less than cowardly to permit our political corruption to be blamed loosely on the "foreign element" or the American example. The "foreign element" often find little enough left for them to get; and the American example would frequently be hard put to it to teach us anything new.

LAST MEETING OF ST. PETER'S T.A.S.

The last meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. for the season 1908-09, was held on Friday night, and the usual large and appreciative audience was present. Miss Minnie Coughlin occupied the chair and presented the following musical programme:

Duet—Misses Sullivan and Hatrick.

Vocal solo—Miss Florence Gardiner.

Vocal solo—Miss O'Lette.

Duet—Misses K. White and M. Murty.

Violin Solo—Misses L. Dorris and McCarthy.

The event of the evening was the reading of an essay on "The Dream of Gerontius," by Miss Ella Brady, who treated the subject entirely from a literary standpoint. She divided the composition into two parts—the first describing the death-bed scene and the second the flight of the soul to the gates of Purgatory. The dream is a rare poetic rendering into English verse of that high ritual, which from the deathbed to the Man of Supplication encompasses the faithful soul. It pierces indeed beyond the veil but in strict accordance or analogy with what every Catholic holds to be there. It teaches us the great mystery of how the spirit feels when its fleshy tie to earth is severed and we soar with the soul into those unknown and untried regions. We are invited to follow a soul through its last agony and upward flight, to leave it where its guardian angel must leave it for a while in the place of the final purification.

What gives this remarkable poem its distinguishing characteristic is that while to a superficial glance, it seems to tread a well known and beaten track, it is in truth, a vigorous flight of the imagination into a region scarcely entered before Gerontius unveils to us all the processes of his mind in its emmarcation and its voyage over the untried sea, with an air of sober reality which carries conviction of truth along with it. By a strong effort of thought, the poet has so placed himself under new conditions of existence, so projected himself into his own future, that we do not dream of questioning the accuracy of his description. Gerontius is the representative of that noblest type of man—the saint. Holy resignation to the Divine will and ardent love of God compose his character, so far as we are made acquainted with it. When the drama opens Gerontius is lying on his death-bed. He is conscious of the utter collapse which follows the withdrawal of God's sustaining power—he discerns the nearness of death. Feeling his strength fast failing, he beseeches his friends to pray for him; and it is during the recital of their prayer that the voice of faith is heard; the hand of faith is seen stretched out to grasp the things invisible and external. Gerontius gathers his remaining strength together and rouses himself to make this last profession of faith and to make the best use of the short interval left him, by preparing to meet his God. Alone, the spirit utters its beliefs, while it seems to be falling into an abyss. The friends, who kneel around his death-bed, repeat their Litany, and call earnestly on the Deliverer of all His faithful of old in their time of trouble, to give help and comfort to His dying servant now. Strengthened by their intercourse Gerontius commends his departing spirit to His Lord and yields it up in peace.

In the second division of the poem we accompany the new freed spirit into the unseen world, and from this moment whatever happens can only be "dreams that are true, yet enigmatical." Gerontius goes to sleep—he dies—but soon awakes to find himself refreshed by a strange sleep, followed by an "inexpressive lightness, and a sense of freedom." Now ensues a subtle analysis of the mind's workings, the strange power of divining the unknown by the known in the midst of his conjectures the soul becomes conscious that it is no longer alone. A mystic, heart subduing melody reveals the presence of the guardian angel, in the hollow of whose hand it is being borne to judgment. In conversation with the angel it discovers something of the marvels of its present state. It discovers that it is in the "immaterial world," where intervals are no longer measured by "the swing this way and that of the suspended rod," and that it is hastening to its Judge's presence with a flight not ruled by space or time, yet rendered slow by its own impatient desire. "It is the very energy of thought which keeps thee from they God." And now, as the soul speeds onward to the goal of its long desire, it encounters the baffled powers of the evil beings, who are lingering after it, and endeavoring to renew in it the old spirit of rebellion, and in spiteful mockeries accuse God's servants of obeying Him, only for interested motives. But the soul, instead of becoming afraid, is filled with serenest joy and all its fear of judgment is fled. But pain is still before the soul—pain, not longer of temptation and fear, but of fiery and purifying desire of love at finding itself so unworthy of God. The soul learns that its veriest, sharpest purgatory will be the agony which from "the face of God shall smite it with a keen and subtle pain."

"There is a pleading in his pensive eyes
Will pierce thee to the quick and trouble thee.
And thou will hate and loathe thyself."

The whole scenery of the creation, fall, redemption and the soul's approaching agony is made known to the soul in the songs of angels, through whose hosts he is borne, till again he hears the prayers and intercessions of those kneeling around his death-bed ascend from earth, "as dew in summer even," and borne into the very presence of God. Before the throne the Great Angel of the Agony intercedes for this fresh penitent and his pleading obtains for the soul the sight of Him, whom it loves. The eager spirit darts from the hold of its guardian angel, and with an intemperate energy of love flies to the feet of its Redeemer. The keen sanctity which encircles the Crucified, now seizes it and it lies passive and still before the awful throne. That one moment of the beatific vision soothes by its sweet remembrance the coming ages of the soul's anguish.

The golden prison — Purgatory — opens its gates and the souls in purgatory are heard chanting their solemn praise. "In the morning we shall be filled with Thy mercy." "We shall be glad according to the days of our humiliation." "The soul "without a sob, or a resistance," is consigned by its guardian angel to its cleaning sorrows.

So ends a poem which not only elevates our thoughts, but at the same time sends them down deeper, but the feeling left in our souls by its peculiar and serious harmony is best expressed by Cardinal Newman's own melodious words and must be read in the original to be appreciated.

During the evening, the secretary, Miss K. M. McGrath, read the annual report, which gave evidence of a very successful year for the society.

SAMSON'S STRENGTH

Will Not Resist the Pulling Down Influence of a Kidney Aching Back.

The strongest man or woman with a back constantly aching find daily existance a struggle. It is the same way with urinary troubles. Booth's Kidney Pills cure these ailments. Peterborough people prove this statement.

W Worthington, No 121 Brock St. Peterborough, Ont., says:

"I had suffered with rheumatism for over three years. I had found little or no relief in any of the remedies I had tried. I became so stiff and sore that I could scarcely turn in my bed and had to lay off from my work. The urine was highly colored and filled with a heavy sand-like sediment which plainly told the disordered state of the kidneys. I tried Booth's Kidney Pills through an advertisement at McDermid & Jury's pharmacy. I was surprised to see how quickly the urine cleared. The kidneys were soon active and the uric acid went from my system. The rheumatism gradually became less severe and finally left me. I am better than in years previous and could not hesitate to recommend Booth's Kidney Pills."

Town That Moves Twice Every Year.

Gartok is a trade town in Tibet. During three months of the year it is situated at the place where it is designated on the map. During the other nine months it is not there at all, but is about forty miles farther south at a much lower altitude. Climatic conditions are the cause of this migratory habit. When the heat grows too intense for comfort the whole town packs up and, driving the herds of yaks, sheep and goats, moves up to the higher altitude, and the traders from India at once begin to drift in. Trade continues for three months; then, before the severe Tibetan winter begins, the town moves back again to the warmer climate of the lower altitude and its period of hibernation sets in.

Not at the Theatre.

The absent-minded man didn't look up from his paper when the conductor came around. He just felt in his side pocket for his ticket and handed the ticket to the conductor. The ticket, however, was a theatre coupon.

"Here," spoke up the conductor rather sharply; "this doesn't go. Come on with the right one."

"Well," he snapped, "that's the coupon off the ticket the man gave me, and I purpose to occupy this seat right through all three acts. You can just"—

Then he came out of the fog and, with a sheepish look, fished out the car ticket.

A Puzzling Letter.

A business communication in Arabic recently reached a Manchester firm and when translated by a Syrian interpreter proved to contain a request for the price of coppering "two water sheep" of certain given dimension. The translator was confident of his version, but admitted that he did not know what "water sheep" could be. For the moment even the heads of the firm were puzzled until it struck some one that this was the nearest synonym in the vocabulary of a pastoral people for "hydraulic rams."—Manchester Guardian.

Disraeli Among the Lords.

Disraeli was a past master of the art of flattery, but his audacity carried him out of danger. Soon after his elevation to the House of Lords he was asked by a brother peer how he felt in his new surroundings. "Oh, don't ask me," he groaned; "dead and buried."

Then, remembering that his questioner was of the company which he was condemning, he added, "and in the realms of the blessed!"—Westminster Gazette.

Fizzle in New York.

New York, May 3.—Ungracious May Day weather here spoiled the plans of the industrial workers of the world for a "monster parade, mass meeting and demonstration in behalf of labor." Fewer than 3,000 of the expected 50,000 persons turned up for the parade, while only about 400 men with umbrellas stood in Union square, chosen for the public meeting, and listened to the speakers. There were a number of meetings held under roof during the afternoon and evening, and for the most part well attended.

Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Columbus, Ohio.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during change of life. My doctor told me it was good, and since taking it I feel so much better that I can do all my work again. I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fine remedy for all woman's troubles, and I never forget to tell my friends what it has done for me."—Mrs. E. HANSON, 304 East Long St., Columbus, Ohio.

Another Woman Helped.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength, and proved worth mountains of gold to me. For the sake of other suffering women I am willing you should publish my letter."—MRS. CHARLES BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

REX BEACH

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

The priest returned to Necia after giving directions about the wedding, leaving the trader and Poleon alone.

"I s'pose it's best," said the former.

"Yes."

"Beats the deuce, though, how things work out, don't it?"

"I'm glad for see dis day," said the Frenchman. "He's good man, an' he ain' never goin' to hurt her none." He paused. "Dere's jus' wan t'ing I want for ask it of you, John. You 'member dat day we stop on de birch grove an' you spik 'bout her an' tol' me dose story 'bout her moder. Waal, I was dreamin' dat tam', so I'm goin' ask it you now don' never tell her w'at I said."

"Doesn't she know, my boy?"

"No. I ain' never spoke 'bout love. She t'inks I'm broder wit' her, an'—dat's w'at I am, ba gar!" He could not hold his voice even—it broke with him—but he avoided the old man's gaze. Gale took him by the shoulders.

"There ain't nothing so cruel in the world as a gentlewoman," said he, "but she wouldn't hurt you for all the world, Poleon; only the blaze of this other thing has blinded her. She can't see nothing for the light of this new love of hers."

"I know! Dat's w'y—nobody onderstan's but you an' me."

Gale looked out through the open door, past the sunlit river which came from a land of mystery and vanished into a valley of forgetfulness, past the forest and the hills, in his deep set eyes the light of a wondrous love that had lived with him these many weary years, and said:

"Nobody else can understand but me. I know how it is. I had even a harder thing to bear, for you'll know she's happy at least, while I"— His voice trembled, but after a pause he continued: "They neither of them understand what you've done for them, for it was you that brought her back. But some time they'll learn how great their debt is and thank you. It'll take them years and years, however, and when they do they'll tell their babes of you, Poleon, so that your name will never die. I loved her mother, but I don't think I could have done what you did."

"She's purty hard t'ing, for sure, but I ain' t'ink 'bout Poleon Doret none w'en I'm doin' it. No; I'm t'ink 'bout her all de tam'. She's li'l' gal, an' I'm beeg, strong feller w'at don' matter much an' w'at ain' know much, 'cep singin' an' lovin' her. I'm see for sure now dat I ain' fit for her. I'm beeg, rough, fightin' feller w'at can't read, an' she's de beam of sunlight w'at blin' my eyes."

"If I was a fool I'd say you'd forget in time, but I've lived my life in the open, and I know you won't. I didn't."

"I don' want to forget!" the brown man cried hurriedly. "Le bon Dieu would not let me forget. It's all I've got to keep wit' me w'an I'm lookin' for my 'new countree.'"

"You're not goin' to look for that 'new country' any more," Gale replied.

"Today," said the other quietly, "dis afternoon. De blood in me is callin' for travel, John. I'm livin' here on dis place five year dis fall, an' dat's long tam' for voyageur. I'm hongry for hear de ax in de woods an' de moose blow at sundown. I want for see the campfire t'rough de brush w'en I come from trap de fox an' dem little wild fellers. I want to smell smoke in de dusk. My work she's finish here, so I'm paddle away today, an' I'll fin' dat place dis tam', for sure. She's over dere." He raised his long arm and pointed to the dim mountains that hid the valley of the Koyukuk, the valley that called good men and strong year after year and took them to itself.

"Have you heard the news from the creeks? Your claims are blanks. Your men have quit."

The Frenchman shook his head sadly, then smiled—a wistful little smile.

"Waal, it's better I lose dan you or Necia. I ain' de lucky kin', dat's all, an', affer all, w'at good to me is riche gol' mine? I ain' got no use for money any more."

They stood in the doorway together, two ragged, stalwart figures, different in blood and birth and every other thing, yet brothers withal whom the ebb and flow of the far places had thrown together and now drew apart again. And they were sad, these two, for their love was deeper than comes to other people, and they knew this was farewell, so they remained thus side by side, two dumb, sorrowful men, until they were addressed by a person who hurried from the town.

He came as an apparition bearing the voice of "No Creek" Lee, the mining king, but in no other way showing sign or symbol of their old friend. Its style of face and curious outfit were utterly foreign to the miner, for he had been bearded with the robust, unkempt growth of many years, tanned to a leathery hue and garbed perennially in the habit of a scarecrow, while this creature was shaved and clipped and curried, and the clothes it stood up in were of many startling hues. Its face was scraped so clean of whiskers as to be a pallid white, but lack of adornment ended at this point, and the rest was overladen wondrously, while from the center of the half brown, half white face the long, red nose of Lee ran out. Beside it rolled his lonesome eye, alive with excitement.

He came up with a strut, illuminating the landscape, and inquired:

"Well, how do I look?"

"I'm darned if I know," said Gale. "But it's plumb unusual."

"These here shoes leak," said the spectacle, pulling up his baggy trousers to display his tan footgear, "because they was made for dry goin'. That's why they left the tops off, but they've got a nice, healthy color, ain't they? As a whole, it seems to me I'm sort of nifty. But I'm a plain man without conceit. Now let's proceed with the obsequies."

It was a very simple, unpretentious ceremony that took place inside the long, low house of logs, and yet it was a wonderful thing to the dark, shy maid who hearkened so breathlessly beside the man she had singled out. When they had done he turned and took her reverently in his arms and kissed her before them all. Then she went and stood beside Gale and the red wife who was no wife and said simply:

"I am very happy."

The old man stooped and for the first time in her memory pressed his lips to hers, then went out into the sunlight, where he might be alone with himself and the memory of that other Merridy.

The first word of the wedding was borne by Father Barnum, who went alone to the cabin where the girl's father lay, entering with trepidation. He was there a long time alone with Stark, and when he returned to Gale's house he would answer no questions.

"He is a strange man, a wonderfully strange man—unrepentant and wicked. But I can't tell you what he said. Have a little patience and you will soon know."

The mail boat, which had arrived an hour after the mission boat, was ready to continue its run when just as it blew a warning blast down the street of the camp came a procession so strange for this land that men stopped, eyed it curiously and whispered among themselves. It was a blanketed man upon a stretcher, carried by a doctor and a priest. The face was muffled so that the idlers could not make it out, and when they inquired they received no answer from the carriers, who pursued their course impassively down the runway to the water's edge and up the gangplank to the deck. When the boat had gone and the last faint cough of its towering stacks had died away Father Barnum turned to his friends:

"He has gone away, not for a day, but for all time. He is a strange man, and some things he said I could not understand. At first I feared greatly, for when I told him what had occurred—of Necia's return and of her marriage—he became so enraged I thought he would burst open his wounds and die from his very fury. But I talked a long, long time with him, and gradually I came to know somewhat of his queer, disordered soul. He could not bring himself to face defeat in the eyes of men or to see the knowledge of it in their bearing. Therefore he fled. He told me that he would be a hunted animal all his life, that the news of his whipping would travel ahead of him and that his enemies would search him out to take advantage of him. He said the only decent thing he could or would do was to leave the daughter he had never known to that happiness he had never experienced and wished me to tell her that she was very much like her mother, who was the best woman in the world."

KELLY AND TOMMY DALY

Possibility of Two Meeting Here at Roller Rink Soon

There is a prospect of Jimmy Kelly, of Buffalo, and Tommy Daly being brought together here in a ten-round bout in the near future at the roller rink. This would make an excellent go, as both men are very clever boxers, and have splendid ring reputations.

SCHOOL LEAGUE MAY BE FORMED

Three Schools Have Organized a Baseball Team and Others Will Follow if a League is Formed

A meeting will likely be called in the near future for the purpose of organizing a baseball league for the schools of the city. Teams have been organized to represent the Central, St. Peter's and King Edward schools and the scholars are showing considerable enthusiasm. Other schools would likely organize a team if a league is formed and there is every reason to believe that the league would have a successful season.

PACIFICS ARE THE CHAMPIONS

By defeating the Examiner A's two games out of three at the P. B. C. alleys on Saturday night, the Pacifics won the championship of the P. A. C. Bowling League. The newspaper team took the first game, but fell down in the last two and the Pacifics did not fail to take advantage of the opportunity. The scores were as follows:

Glover	166	153	105

BASEBALL

What Providence did to Toronto yesterday is only an illustration of the fickleness of baseball players. The Greys corralled 13 runs with 20 hits and chased the three Toronto pitchers to the beach. Barry, who pitched a game for Cobourg against Peterborough two years ago, at Riverside Park, twirled for Providence.

Johnny Evers has at last signed a contract to play with the Chicago Cubs for two years.

Pittsburg Nationals put it over Chicago yesterday for two games, the scores being 5-2 and 6-0.

SPORTING TALK

SPORTING TALK

The kids returning from school nowadays are generally either engaged in a Marathon stunt or are giving an exhibition of square heel and toe. No records are attempted, however, when they are going to school.

The bitter rivals, Artie Edmunds and Young Muldoon, a Toronto paper says will meet at the Labor Temple Thursday. No doubt this will be more bitterly contested than the last bitter bout. As it will mark their third meeting the better man of the two should be pretty nearly known when it is over.

Marsh, Wood and Meadows—this combination makes a noise not unlike a stretch of rural scenery.

Sir Edward Clouston Returns.

Montreal, May 3.—Sir Edward Clouston, Bart., vice-president and general manager of the Bank of Montreal, returned from Europe yesterday, and announces that a good number of British investors and moneyed men will come over to Canada this summer. He believes that the recent imperial budget will have a marked tendency in directing a good deal of surplus holdings here.

Sir Edward said that Lord Strathcona had recently accepted the presidency of the Anglo-Persian Oil Co., a large enterprise recently floated in London, the issue being subscribed from eight to ten times over.

Highest Mason in U. S. Resigns.

Milwaukee, May 3.—Henry L. Palmer, sovereign grand commander of the supreme council, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rites, of the Northern Jurisdiction of the United States, has resigned, owing to ill health. This is the highest Masonic office in the United States, and has been held by Mr. Palmer since 1873—a remarkable record. Until his successor has been elected, Lieutenant Commander Lawrence of Boston will occupy the high office.

Man Dead In Woman's Dress.

London, May 3.—The body of a man dressed completely in woman's clothes, from dancing shoes to corsets, was found Saturday night on the seashore of Cornwall, near Penzance. The wrists and ankles were shackled and there were severe bruises across the eyes, which suggested foul play.

The body was identified as that of a London visitor to Penzance, who had been missing since April 26.

May Celebrate

A Victoria Day celebration is being considered in Omemee. A five mile Marathon, for a silver cup, aquatic sports, and baseball will be features of the day.

On Exhibition at Roy's

ALL RECORDS SMASHED BY MARSH'S GREAT RUNNING

Toronto, May 3.—All roads did not lead to the Island Saturday, for the big Canadian Marathon Derby, but all records were broken in the big event, when that western farmer, John D. Marsh, romped home a winner by one and three-quarter laps over Abbie Wood, the Montreal Harrier. The time was 2.39.47, and firmly establishes Marsh as a runner of some class, and one who will bear watching when the tracks book up at New York next Saturday.

Sellen and Marsh set all the early pace, but after sixteen miles had been reached, the former dropped by the wayside, Marsh, who had the stamina, as well as the early speed, taking the lead, which he maintained to the end. Wood tried often to start a sprint that would reduce Marsh's lead, but the latter stuck like glue, and the real race developed into a race for second place, which Wood landed by a lap over Meadows, who was a lap ahead of Simpson. Coley was two laps behind Simpson, while Jackson finished a lap behind Coley.

These proved the only finishers, although some stuck it out to the finishing gun, when their trainers should have used some horsesense and taken their charges off the field.

Out of the original twenty entries, sixteen faced the starter, but half of these should have been eliminated from the contest, as they figured at no stage in the running, proving very bad also-rans, and, while some of them kept running till Marsh finished, they should have followed McNeil's footsteps and dropped by the wayside in the second mile. The also rans were Jackson, Petch, Guala, Cumming, McNeil, Hatton, Bennett, Booth, Redding and Windmill, five of these being on the track when the first five finished, they being Jackson, Guala, Bennett, Booth and Petch, and they ranged from half a mile to five miles behind the leader.

Without Percy Sellen in the contest, it would have been no race at all, as Marsh would have gained such an early lead that it would have been all over but the shouting. But, with Sellen in, he and Marsh kept the crowd on edge for the first sixteen miles by their numerous sprints, and when Sellen retired, at the sixteenth mile, Marsh then had a clear lead of two laps over Wood, his nearest competitor, which he held safely in the remaining miles.

There is some doubt about the track being right, and, while, for the time being, it must be accepted as right, yet a surveyor's declaration would not do any harm.

SALE OF LANDS IN GILLIES LIMIT

Under authority of an Order-in-Council dated 22nd April, 1909, the northerly portion of that tract of land generally known as the Gillies Limit, situated in the District of Nipissing, and Province of Ontario, containing about [illegible] acres, is offered for sale by tender in parcels containing 20 acres or thereabouts, such tenders to be addressed to the undersigned, at the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines, Toronto, marked on the envelope "Tender, Gillies Limit," and to be receivable at the said Department up to one o'clock p.m. on Tuesday, the 15th day of June, 1909.

Tenders are to be for each parcel separately, and to name a lump sum of money therefor. An accepted cheque for ten per cent of that amount to accompany the tender, and the remainder to be paid in full within twenty days of acceptance of the same.

A royalty of ten per cent. on the gross proceeds (less freight and smelting charges) of all ores, minerals or concentrates taken from the land will be payable to the Crown, and purchasers will be required to enter into a satisfactory agreement with regard to the same.

Working conditions will be attached to the sale, and certain lands and rights will be reserved, full particulars of which, together with a map or plan showing the said tract, and the subdivisions thereof, may be obtained on application to the Department.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted

HARRY ADAMS

POWERFUL SERMON ON THE EVILS OF INTEMPERANCE

Father Derling Spoke of Its Ruining Influences at St. Peter's Cathedral Yesterday Morning—Commended Work of T.A.S. in Peterborough.

An appealing and eloquent sermon was presented yesterday morning at St. Peter's Cathedral by Rev. Father Derling, a redemptorist priest, who dealt with the subject in a thoroughly, practical and very forceful manner. The reverend speaker held the interest of the congregation during his magnificent discourse, and he impressed the congregation with the striking truths of his sermon on the terrible results of indulgence in strong drink.

The speaker's references and illustrations were very practical and applicable to existing conditions, and his denunciation of the crime of drunkeness was a very strong and impressive one. The inestimable value of temperance was dwelt upon, and the wisdom of keeping away from the evil temptation of drink.

There were several phases of the sermon—in crimes that a drunkard commits against his body, against his family, against his fellow-men, and against God and His holy religion.

The drunkard ruins his body, degrades his soul, is a disgrace to society, and a scandal to his fellow-man. Drunkeness keeps a married man away from his family, and causes him to neglect his religious duties. It also is the means of making a man a source of trouble and sorrow to the church.

In order to safeguard each man against falling into such a condition as that of the drunkard, Father Derling urged his hearers to join the forces of the organization that is doing, so much good for temperance in Peterborough—St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society. He also spoke on the growth and prosperity of that body and congratulated its members on their splendid turnout to communion on the Sunday previous.

THE PURPOSE OF CHRIST IN FOUNDING HIS CHURCH

Brought Out Forcibly by Rev. Dr. Taylor of Toronto at St. Paul's Church—Anniversary Services Held Yesterday.

A scholarly discourse was preached at St. Paul's church yesterday morning by Rev. Andrew T. Taylor, D.D., on the occasion of the anniversary. Large congregations were present both morning and evening. Rev. Principal Gandier, D.D., of Knox College, delivering an inspiring sermon at night.

Rev. Mr. Taylor's remarks were given an attentive hearing. He is a forcible speaker and his sermons yesterday could not fail to impress those who were fortunate enough to hear him. The musical service was of an exceptionally high order. At the morning service Miss Helen Davies and Mr. Harold Lee sang solos in an acceptable manner. During the offertory the choir rendered the anthem, "I heard the voice of Jesus say," with solos by Miss Davies and Mr. W. McIlroy.

THE SERMON.

Dr. Taylor based his discourse on part of the eighteenth verse of the sixteenth chapter of St Matthew's Gospel, "I Will Build My Church." That, he speaker said, was a portion of the graphic dialogue between Simon Peter and Jesus Christ. Two ideas were expressed in the words of the text, the nature of the foundation of Christ's church and the purpose and determination of it. It was to the latter of these that Dr. Taylor directed the attention of his hearers. The speaker took each word and dealt with the significance of them.

The first one "I" conveyed the thought of the Master mind, the model character of Jesus Christ. The most essential thing to the whole institution of the church was the Spirit of the Saviour. Then the speaker noted the significance of the words "I will build it." If one compared building with creating, he said, he would catch the true meaning of the word. In building, material things were much in evidence, but God created from nothing. Thus, he asked, what were the materials with which Christ built His church. He constructed it of both the human and divine elements. The Catholic church said that Christ founded His church on Peter. Others said that it was founded on Peter's confession, but the speaker believed that it was founded on Simon Peter, possessed of a conviction.

CHRIST'S CHURCH

Christ did not say "I will build a church," but He called it "My church." It was not to be a Presbyterian one which the speaker remarked was but a fragment of Christ's church. He meant every one that represented Him. The church of Christ was a vital collection of those who followed the Saviour. As one read through this passage of Scripture he would at once see the sublimity of Christ's purpose, (the Master's exhortation to bring together in one fellowship those that believed in Him, to develop spiritual training. That all might be one in Him was His constant prayer.

Secondly He desired the promulgation of His gospel to the ends of the world. All Christians must work. Christ's plan was that each one should be individually responsible to Him. The reverend gentleman urged his hearers to consecrate their talents to Christ in His service. No more was expected of one than he was able to give. The work of the church was no child's play. It was just as necessary now as it was in the early days. The same conditions existed today. Many were giving plenty of money to the church but were doing no real spiritual work. They were hiring as it were, others to do their share.

In closing he said that the supreme thing in this life was to make men and women like Christ, the performance of Christ's purpose.

ST. ANDREW'S OBSERVED ITS 74th ANNIVERSARY YESTERDAY

Rev. Prof. Gandier Preached in the Morning and Rev. Dr. Taylor in the Evening—An Appeal For Aid in Building New Knox College.

The twenty-fourth anniversary of St. Andrew's Church was observed yesterday with special sermons morning and evening. The preacher at the morning service was Rev. Principal Gandier, of Knox College, Toronto, and the preacher in the evening was Rev. Dr. Taylor, pastor of Cooke's Presbyterian Church, Toronto.

St. Andrew's Church is going ahead steadily under the pastorate of Rev. J. G. Potter, and each anniversary marks the completion of a year that was more successful than the one that preceded it.

At the morning service, Principal Gandier preached an able sermon, setting forth the claims of Knox College as an institution worthy of the support of the Presbyterians of the province. The Christian church, said Principal Gandier, was the most complete embodiment of and gave the truest expression to the spirit of God. All through the ages since it had been founded, the church had held this position, even in the darkest days.

The church wielded a tremendous influence upon society. It might be said that the church moulded society. Take the church out of the world and mankind would suffer the severest blow that it could be given.

Principal Gandier spoke of the great need that existed to-day in the church for leaders. Now, with the most perfect training it was possible to obtain, men were wanted for the ministry in these days of doubt and inquiry on the part of so many.

The Presbyterian Church of Canada wanted men, strong men, trained men for its ministry. The supply of men for the ministry was totally inadequate for the demand. The field was widening rapidly, especially in the west and north. In addition to the work at home the Presbyterians of Canada had been allotted the great work of evangelising fourteen million people in the Orient. To do God's work men were wanted for the ministry who had the best education possible to obtain, the highest training, and with a strong grasp of the things unseen and eternal. Money was needed but men were wanted more than money.

Principal Gandier told of the good work Knox College had done and was doing in the training of men for the Presbyterian ministry. The time had come when it was imperative that a new building must be had and arrangements had been made to dispose of the present building and site and to build a new on a site that had been secured on the campus of Toronto University. Three hundred thousand dollars would be required to erect the new college and of this amount the city of Toronto was going to contribute a hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The Presbyterians of the province were expected to contribute the remainder of the amount required, and Principal Gandier trusted that Peterborough would do its share. It was a great work and it was worthy of the support and prayers of the people.

The musical services were of an especially pleasing nature. Mr. Gordon Wright sang "He Wipes the Tear From Every Eye," at the morning service, and Miss Lean took the solo in the anthem. The anthem at the evening service was "Praise Ye the Father."

Senator J. H. McColl of Australia, is in the city today, the guest of his cousin, Mrs J W Galvin. He arrived in the city this morning from Trenton where he has been visiting a relative of his Mrs Kelly. Father McColl of the cathedral staff is a cousin of the Senator's.

The visit is a pleasure trip and it is three years since the Senator has been here.

STUDENTS TEACHING IN RURAL SCHOOLS OF THE COUNTY

Thirty-four pupils of the Normal School left for the rural schools of the county to-day, where they will act as teachers for the week. They will return on Friday and the students of another form at the school will instruct the rural classes next week. The members of Form II. are in charge of the work this week.

This is in accordance with the departmental regulations concerning those who have entered the Normal School without having had any previous teaching experience.

CHORAL FESTIVAL IN NEAR FUTURE

"The Daughter of Jairus" Will be Presented at St. John's Church

A choral festival of more than ordinary interest is preparing for presentation by St. John's choir in the present month, under the able leadership of the organist and choirmaster, Mr. R. J. Devey. St. John's possesses one of the largest purely voluntary choirs in Canada, with a membership of over fifty voices, and a library ranging from simple anthems to oratoria solos and chorus s. Sir John Stainer's well known work, "The Daughter of Jairus," will be given, having as soloists Miss Helen Davies, Mr. H. Morphet, Mr. G. Chandler and Mr. Barton, (Toronto). The Grand Opera House Orchestra, complete with tympani from Toronto, will furnish effective accompaniments, with the organ. and Handel's "Hallelujah" chorus will be the final number.

By kind permission of the Rev. Canon Davidson, the festival will take place in St. John's Church. All residents of the city interested in choral music are asked to communicate with the conductor, Mr. R. J. Devey, at his home, 285 Park street, by letter or telephone 1323.

Three Dozen Spilled From a Basket on Saturday Morning

An amusing incident occurred on Gilmour street on Saturday morning —amusing to anyone but the good woman with the eggs and the housewife.

A farmer's wife was delivering three dozen eggs to a householder, when she slipped and fell on the verandah, the footing of which had been made uncertain by the rain and the basket of eggs she was carrying overturned with a smash breaking them all to fragments. The lady of the house spent considerable time reducing the floor of the verandah to its normal appearances.

THE SISTER IN THE HOME

The Last of a Series of Sermons on the "Pillars of a Home" Preached by the Rev. J. R. Webb Last Night

The Rev. J. R Webb, pastor of Murray street Baptist church delivered his fourth and final of a series of sermons on "The pillars in a home" to a large congregation last night. The father, mother and brother, as three of the pillars in the home have been ably dealt with by the reverend gentleman and last night he took for his subject "The sister in the home." The text was taken from Exodus 2.4 "And the sister stood afar off to, to watch what would become of him." These words were spoken in regard to Miriam the sister of Moses, when he was being hidden in the bullrushes out of the reach of Pharoh. Speaking of different parts of the life of Moses he told how Miriam had showed her love and devotion for her brother, even when he was placed in the greatest of dangers. This was only natural as we should expect great things from the sister and in most of the great movements for the betterment of humanity the seed had been sown by the women. Miriam was an example of a sterhood, as she had given up all the world that she might save a soul. She was not only unselfish but had inspired others. But Miriam became envious and this was a fault be found among the women of the present day. Another fault which Miriam had was that she loved Moses better than she did God. This afterwards caused her much sorrow and was also the cause of much sorrow in the world today.

In concluding the speaker said that the love and affection and admiration of a sister were something to be desired as it was through them that a man should be inspired to do the loftiest and noblest things in life.

OBJECTS TO THE CHOIRS TALKING

Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I should like to protest through your columns against the habit of members of some of the church choirs of the city of talking and apparently enjoying themselves in frivolous conversation while prayers are being said by the pastor. I have noticed this several times in different churches of the city and have heard different people comment upon it.

The practice is not only unbecoming in the strongest sense of the word but sets a bad example to the congregation and annoys many worshippers who do not like to see the sacred occasion of divine service desecrated in such a fashion.

It seems to me that the choirs above all, should act with the greatest propriety and I don't see why they should take liberties which would mean disorder if indulged in by the congregation. In fact the choirs on account of the active connection with the service should set an example to those in the pews. I trust that this matter will come in for recognition and that my suggestion will have the desired effect.

Yours truly,
CHURCHGOER

SUDDEN DEATH AT HAMILTON

Of Mr. W. H. Porter, a Former Resident of Smith Township

Hamilton, April 30—The death occurred today at the home of Chas. H. Mann, 132 Young St, Hamilton, of Wm H. Porter, aged 70 years, a former resident of Smith township, having lived a number of years at Bridgenorth and Selwyn. Some four years ago Mr Porter moved to Hamilton to make his home with Mr Mann He has been in ill health for some time but his sudden demise was quite unexpected as he had been around as usual during the morning. Mr Mann and sister were attracted to the dining room by his fall and found him helpless and in a few seconds he passed away in their arms.

The funeral will take place on Monday morning at 10.30 o'clock to the Hamilton cemetery.

AN INTERESTING MOVEMENT AMONGST THE LUMBER-CAMPS

Travelling Libraries—Improved Sanitary Conditions—Government Inspection—The Advantages of Civilization Carried to the Frontier Camps.

Some eight or ten years ago Mr Alfred Fitzpatrick, then a student at Queen's university found it necessary to visit the lumber towns and camps in northern California. This visit opened his eyes to a new field for educational and religious effort. He saw that thousands of intelligent men were forced by their occupation to live many months at a time far removed from the refining influences of civilization. The total absence of any elevating influence had made these camps hotbeds of vice and degradation. These revelations made such a deep impression upon the student's mind that he resolved to devote his life to the work of improving the moral condition of Canadian frontier laborers.

After a few experiments in Ontario lumber camps had proved the feasibility of camp education, the work was organized under the name of the Reading Camp Association. In time, the provincial governments were persuaded to assist in the work and now travelling libraries are circulated among the camps by the Departments of Education of Ontario and Manitoba. Lumber companies have built reading camps for the benefit of their men. Moreover, as a result of the efforts put forth for the benefit of the shantymen the laws governing the sanitary arrangements of the camps are more rigidly enforced than formerly and every company is compelled to build a hospital in connection with its camp. The compulsory attendance of a doctor at least once a month to each gang has also been instituted

Every year the Association sends out instructors to the lumbering, mining, fishing and railway construction camps in Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The instructors are university students or graduates. During the day they swing axe, pick and crowbar. At night they teach their classes. This summer about twenty-five instructors will be sent out to the different camps throughout the Dominion.

Anyone caring to learn more concerning the work done by the Reading Camp Association may receive an illustrated report of the work done last year by applying to Mr A. Fitzpatrick, BA, Superintendent of Camp Education, 1123 Traders Bank building, Toronto, Ont.

MEETING OF ASTRONOMICAL SOCIETY HAS BEEN POSTPONED

Owing to the importance of the Sunday school gathering on Tuesday evening it has been decided to postpone the meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society which was to have been held on that night, until Thursday evening.

It will be question night and besides the answering of the specific questions which have already been received, opportunity will be given as each of the beautiful photographs are thrown on the screen, for all questions relating thereto. This feature should prove of great benefit as it will clear up many doubts concerning certain planets and their characteristics.

Over sixty new lantern slides have just been received by the Society and in themselves will prove very interesting and instructive. There are some 18 slides on the moon, the majority of which were made from the famous photographs of this planet taken at the Paris observatory. There are also 12 slides on the Sun showing the wonderful sun spots at close range and many other interesting features.

As the slides have been sent they will be returned immediately after Thursday evening a good attendance is expected to enjoy the treat.

CROOK BEAT HOAGLAND IN EXCITING HANDICAP RACE

With 400 people on their feet shouting for their favorite, Ted Crook, the Marathon runner, won the novelty race at the roller rink last evening, by defeating Willard Hoagland by three-quarters of a lap. The handicap was a big one, Crook running 20 miles while Hoagland walked 14, square heel and toe and at many points it looked as if the handicap was a trifle too large. On account of the grouch that the weather man had on last evening, the crowd was not as large as expected, but the people who were present were very enthusiastic and they made a big noise and did a heap of rooting for their favorite. One feature that has played an important part in all of the other races, but was not to be found last evening, was the band. The fans have grown to think a lot of this conglomeration of players who have become experts at playing "It looks like a big night tonight" in seven keys, and the Teutonic aggregation was missed last evening. Before the race, Crook told a representative of the Advertiser that he had endeavored to get the band but he had been unsuccessful.

The two men were sent away at 8.42, 20, both starting at a killing pace. Both racers realized that the race would be a hard proposition and both made a noble attempt to be in the lead at the finish. The first mile was run in 5.49 3-4 by Crook and was walked in 8.13 by Hoagland. The fans had the race doped out in fourths, that is, when Crook ran five miles, Hoagland should have walked 3 1-2 miles and when Crook had run 10 miles, Hoagland should have covered seven miles. As the men neared the quarter post, the enthusiasts watched the score board with much interest and a great shout went up when the Hoagland rooters saw he was 2 laps ahead. The time was 29.38 for Hoagland and 30.35 for Crook. During the second quarter, Hoagland still kept up the heavy grind and when the half-way post was passed he was 4 1-2 laps ahead of the runner. Not being satisfied with this lead he pushed on harder than ever and at the three-quarter post he had increased the lead to 5 1-2 laps. It began to look rather dubious for Crook, but he seemed to know what he was doing and when he reached the seventeenth mile, he began to loosen up and at the sixteenth lap of the last mile he had closed up the 5 1-2 lap gap and was neck and neck with Hoagland. It was then very easy to win, and the Fall River man crossed the tape three-quarters of a lap ahead of the Auburn walker. The last half mile was the best part of the whole race and it brought nearly every man in the house to his feet. The official time for the race was, Crook, 2.04.38; Hoagland 2.04.50.

The West End Athletic Club will hold a meeting in the Y.M.C.A. tonight at eight o'clock for the purpose of organising a baseball team for the season and a good attendance is asked for.

Junior Church League teams are reminded of the meeting in the Y.M.C.A. tonight. This is the last meeting which will be called by the president, unless there is a good attendance tonight.

The baseball teams wishing to be represented in the intermediate league are asked to send representatives to the meeting tomorrow night, which will be held in the Y.M.C.A.

St. Andrew's church may be represented in the Intermediate Baseball League. A good nine could be secured and there is no reason why the team should not give a good account of itself.

A baseball team from the Cordage Works played a tie game with the Rovers at the Exhibition grounds, Saturday afternoon. The score was 13—13 at the finish, but neither team worked very hard as the weather was not very suitable for baseball. There were lots of bad hits and plenty of errors on both sides, and as this is the second time the teams have played a tie game, the question of which is the better team will be settled at a later date.

The business manager of the Winnipeg Maroons in writing to the Free Press says:—"I have just this minute returned from the ball grounds, and will say regarding the team, that there is good reason to believe that we have a fine, nice, clean, gentlemanly lot of ball players." He says it would be early to size up some of them as they have not been seen at practice, though McMahon, Kane, Lohr, Beatty, Monette and Edmunds, all look like first-class men. Edmunds has a fine arm and throws like a big leaguer and is also there with the stick."

The Central School Baseball team will play the St. Peter's school team on the former's grounds Wednesday at four o'clock.

Here's a novel record in baseball. For the third time in as many days the White Sox defeated the Browns 1 to 0 Tuesday. (White and Waddell were the pitchers, "Doc" allowing three hits and the Rube four. Waddell gave two passes and fanned four. White gave no passes and fanned one. The Browns made two errors and the Sox none. In Monday's game, Frank Smith shut out the Browns with two hits. The Sox got one run in the first inning. In Sunday's game, the Browns made three hits and nary a run off Scott, the man from Wichita. The Sox got a man around in the ninth.

Montreal is beginning to wake up and take a few games themselves. Yesterday they again won from Baltimore, 1—0. Toronto did not play.

The Edmonton team is practicing hard in Toronto at the Island. They leave for Edmonton on Tuesday.

Larry Hesterfer, who pitched for various Eastern League teams, including Toronto, is now twirling for a city league team at his home in Newark.

The seven ages of man: Rattle box, marbles, baseball, baseball, baseball, baseball, baseball.—Buffalo Express.

St. Andrew's may have a team in a junior and senior Church Baseball League, if both are formed.

For the seventy-seventh time in three years the Detroit Tigers on Tuesday won a game in the ninth inning.

Old Cy Young has been getting "hit up" pretty freely in the American League during the past few days.

Willett has won four straight games for the Detroit Tigers.

Eastern fans say that the Chicago Cubs are far from being as "classy" as last year.

NOT SO MUCH INTEREST SHOWN

In Saturday's Race as in Former Events of the Kind

There was not the same interest displayed in the race on Saturday that there has been in most big events of its kind. Locally there was quite a bit of attention paid the progress of the race but in some of the Canadian cities the followers did not appear particularly enthusiastic over it.

A Peterborough man who was in Ottawa on Saturday says the usual crowds did not flock around the newspaper offices and a lack of interest was displayed in the result.

EDMONTON WANTS ALBERT KERR

Whitcroft Says His Team Will Visit Ottawa After the Cup

Ottawa, May 3.—The Edmonton hockey team, according to a letter received by an Ottawa hockeyist from Fred Whitcroft, will come to Ottawa in quest of the Stanley Cup in January next. The Edmonton Club has again won the championship of the Alberta League, and its challenge is in the hands of the trustees, who have promised to give Edmonton dates as soon as possible. Edmonton not only have Stanley Cup hopes, but they hope to have the "find" of last season in the E. C. H. A. on their team when they come east—viz., Albert Kerr, of Brockville. The Edmonton Club has already made overtures to Kerr, who is in a survey near Prince Albert, and Kerr has informed some of his Ottawa chums of this fact. It appears that Kerr was approached while in Winnipeg on his way west by a representative of the Edmonton team, who asked him to sign on with the prairie septet for next winter.

Officers of the Ottawa Club say that they have Kerr practically cinched for next season. He did not sign any contract for 1909-10 before leaving, but gave Mr. L. N. Bate, of the Ottawa Executive, his word that he would be here for the opening of the season. Should Kerr decide to play with Edmonton he will be in the same unique position as is Percy Lesueur, the Ottawa goal keeper, who is now at Haileybury and who intends to play goal for Cobalt. The cup trustees would also have something to say as to his eligibility.

HOW ARE THE MARATHON RACES?

The question is arising now as to whether the Marathon races are fixed or legitimately contested. Not being on the inside it is a hard question to answer but until something of a definite nature has been proven it is only fair to give the runners and the promoters the benefit of the doubt.

WRESTLING

They are looking for more Bulgarians to match with Frank Gotch. If no more formidable ones than Yussif Mahomet are dug up, Gotch's claim is pretty safe. It seems remarkable that the Turk has thrown Beell, America's Jenkins, and other good ones in such quick time and then be defeated by Gotch so easily. All of which goes to show that they will have to travel pretty fast to get anything in the same class as the Lion Tamer.

ROLLER PUT UP GREAT MATCH WITH GOTCH

Kansas City, Mo., May 1st.—In the cleanest and the fastest, the cleverest and the most scientific wrestling match ever staged on the Convention Hall mat Frank Gotch, champion grappler of the world, gradually wore down and conquered the toughest opponent he has faced in many months, Dr. Benj. Franklyn Roller, the muscular physician from Seattle.

The champion won the first fall in 35 minutes 35 seconds with his favorite hold, a crotch and half nelson. The second fall was won by the Iowan in 18 minutes and 29 seconds. A reversed nelson did the damage.

A crowd of 5,500 persons witnessed the match and before the affair had progressed ten minutes the lithe athlete from the Pacific coast was in the good graces of the grappling bugs, and cries for Gotch, the ever popular, were often drowned in the volume of lungings for Ben Roller. The wrestlers appeared in purple wrestling tights, Both are Elks. Roller took the offensive right on the jump, and for ten minutes he cuffed Gotch around and heaved him one way and another with such ease that the Gotch fanatics began to fear that the big gun from Humboldt, Iowa, had at last bumped into something he could not budge. When Gotch did liven up and tear into the coast prodigy there was something doing in the way of chain lightning speed and nimble hoof work. Back and forth the giants of the mat struggled around the ring, they stamped and surged, through the ropes, tangled up in the ropes, then out and back around the ring. Roller seemed to give the Iowan about as much as he sent, and that's going some. Finally physical condition began to tell. Slowly Gotch began to batter down his antagonist. Roller fought hard, he fought bitterly. It was for the championship of the world that the popular grappler of the Pacific Coast was toiling and he fought so bravely that the crowd frantically cheered him on. But Gotch beat him down and the westerner was blowing like a football player after a ninety-yard sprint for a touchdown when Frank Gotch slipped over a half-nelson and a crotch, his favorite hold—the hold that tamed the Terrible Turk—the trophy—and gradually pushed his foeman's shoulders on to the mat.

When they returned for the second fall each was greeted with tremendous applause. Gotch seemed more inclined to the offensive than he had been at the start. The Seattle man was just as game as he was when he first faced Gotch. Several times he had Gotch in a bad way, but he had put up his best fight and was milling more on his nerve.

ANOTHER KNOCK IS REGISTERED

The Toronto Telegram, in its usual knocking mood, gives Marathon running a hard smash in an editorial on the sporting page of Friday night's issue. The writer claims that people don't go to a 26-mile race to see the real race, and that excitement only begins when a man collapses. He also refers to it as the dullest form of entertainment ever offered the gullible public by promoters, which is rot in the most unadulterated sense.

Spectators patronize a Marathon because they want to see the sport and it not only interests those in attendance, but people in every city and town of any size for hundreds of miles around, and the spectators are mostly civilized and don't go to see the races on account of barbarous promptings or love of cruelty. They go to see the race just the same as they would to see a ball game, a horse race or any other form of sport. And, judging by the immense audiences the Marathons attract, they must be interesting to the crowds.

From a common sense standpoint Marathons may not be the best kind of sport, but they are just as clean and certainly as interesting as Rugby, lacrosse and other forms of competitive athletics; more or less of a fad, perhaps, but nevertheless they are what the public wants, and when the public wants something and wants it badly the public voice of a solitary sporting writer, who is obviously "in wrong" is not going to matter much.

SPORTING TALK

It is beginning to dawn upon the minds of sporting men that Frank Gotch is the physical wonder of the age, says a writer in the St. Paul Dispatch. The country has been dazed by Gotch's unexpected snap over Yussif Mahmout, the Turk, and has overlooked the fact that this match proves the Iowa farmer to be the greatest man who ever stepped on a mat. There is no man left anywhere near in his class. Gotch is greater today than he ever was. Wise cool headed critics thought Yussif might throw Gotch. Yussif is no dub, he has beaten the best men in America, and came undefeated up to the big champion. And Gotch surprised everybody because he is a better man than anybody guessed. Gotch has improved tremendously. He is better than he was when he wrestled the Russian Lion. Right now he is at the top of his form and power.

And there is no man living who can give him a hard bout. So he will have to go back to the farm.

Gotch has never been a popular hero. But he is the best type of American and a credit to his country. His like is not apt to be seen in many years.

Gotch and Mahmout drew $58,000. Think of that. Bat Nelson must turn green with envy when he reads these returns. No other wrestling match in history ever drew such a house as that.

Another Marathon race will about make or break Fred Simpson in an athletic sense. The Peterborough Indian has not yet showed himself to be in the same division as the classy distance performers, and the showing he has made lately has been somewhat of a disappointment to his numerous sympathizers.

When Fred was running in Georgia in such remarkable fashion that the fans of the south christened him the Red Thunderbolt, great things were expected of him. When he made the ten-mile mark at the Riverdale rink he was regarded as a wonder, and it was argued that he would beat them all over the big route, as it was known that was his favorite distance. Going back farther he was looked upon by some, after his splendid trial and exercise runs, as a likely candidate for first honors in the Olympic Marathon.

But in actual competition in a race Simpson seems to fall short of the mark. He runs strong, has speed, and is intelligent and careful in his training methods, but he just seems fast enough to lose.

The Peterborough Indian has the best wishes of local followers of the game, and while they hope he will redeem himself in the $10,000 Derby, they won't back him very heavily.

If Longboat had Simpson's good sense he could run away from any of them in easy fashion at any distance over ten miles. The Onandaga is the greatest natural runner that ever donned a shoe, not barring any of them, but he doesn't show a surplus of grey matter when it comes to training methods.

It is not at all likely that Tom Sater will be there for the walk in the week of May 24th. Tom took to distance running a short time ago, and then dropped back into the walking game. He didn't show to special advantage in either, and has apparently retired from both for a time at least, as he has not been heard of at all lately.

Shrubb, the coolest and brainiest calculator of them all, selected Marsh as a certain winner.

Somebody should publish a text book on Marathon running. It's one of the very few lines of sport that have not been written on for beginners.

Johnson claims that Jeffries is not going to fight him, and that the former champion will never perform inside the ropes again. Perhaps Jeff looks to Ketchell to beat the black champion, and in that case it won't be necessary for the boilermaker to reclaim the title for the white race. A significant fact is that Jeffries didn't make public declaration of his willingness to fight the present title holder until after Johnson and Ketchell were matched. In the meantime Fitz's conqueror can arouse enthusiasm and make money by doing his theatrical turn.

The six-round bout between Johnson and O'Brien doesn't look any too promising from a distance, although it may be all right at that. Both O'Brien and Johnson have figured in deals that were not of the clearest character.

The Philadelphian had a frame-up planned with Tommy Burns one time and the Canadian slipped a double cross over on him, and Johnson, it is said, didn't try to beat Marvin Hart in a twenty-round bout in San Francisco. That looked altogether too raw to even the uninitiated. And the above are only two well-known instances.

Ketchell recently beat O'Brien in ten rounds, and now Johnson and O'Brien will box six. Suppose the result is a draw with O'Brien showing up a shade better than his opponent, that might make Ketchell a favorite when he meets the negro; or, at any rate it would make the betting somewhat livelier.

Fred Houser, writing in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, says that crooked manipulation is killing wrestling, which he regards as the grandest of all competitive sport.

"It is the most natural game played," he writes. "Children struggling wrestle for supremacy by instinct, and big heavyweights at the same sport are simply doing the same thing on a more scientific plan. The wrestlers are the most magnificently-developed athletes we have, and it seems a shame that the finest form of athletics is being ruined beyond reclaim by a horde of unscrupulous managers and grafting wrestlers, whose vision into the future is obscured by the comparatively paltry purses dangling before them."

SAME OLD SNOW.

"It's just the same old snow a-falling,
In just the same old wintry way,
No wonder every one is calling the weather man a jay.
For all the nights are cold and frosty;
Bleak and drear is ev'ry day—
Soon will be sleighing,
Song birds will go,
Probs still are saying,
Same old snow.

The Hatton who ran in the Marathon on Saturday was the same old seasoned go-as-you-please artist that was in the six day walk here last spring, and also lost to Davy Hartley in a running jaunt the two had. He was entered as Dr. Johnston's Unknown, and lived up to the name as far as his showing was concerned.

EASY PICKING FOR 20 MILERS

Whether he means it or not Mr. Stan. Coin of the Crystal has intimated several times lately to the sporting section of the Review that he is willing to run anybody in the county 20 miles for a substantial side bet. No later than this morning he called at this office and requested that a challenge to the above effect be published.

As far as can be learned the only thing that Mr Coin has run to date is a picture machine. However at his request the defi is launched.

A BAD GUESS ON THE RESULT

Tom Flanagan's previous summing up on the Marathon, which was run at the Island Saturday, is neither here nor there. The only tip he handed out was concerning Sellen, and he picked the I.C.A.C. man to lead at ten miles, which he did. On the main issue the dope just took up space and gave nothing but a wrong clue that Simpson might win. The writer evidently has a poor line on the abilities of Marsh and Wood, as he says:

None of the runners show class for 26 miles, except Simpson, and he is too erratic to bet on. The race is not worth playing.

NEW TIME-TABLE WENT INTO EFFECT AT COLLEGIATE TO-DAY

The new "daylight saving" time-table went into effect at the Collegiate Institute this morning. The classes commenced at 8.30 o'clok and the students were dismissed for noon period at 11.30, returning to their work again at one o'clock. The school was dismissed for the day at 3.30 o'clock.

Only about a half dozen students were late this morning and apparently the new order of things is going to work out very successfully.

ONTARIO IS BEST HOME FOR THE POOR MAN

Experiences of a Traveller—Conditions of Life and Opportunity in Nova Scotia, the Canadian and American West and in Ontario Compared.

Andrew Elliott passed through Toronto last week on his way home from an eight weeks' trip on Institute work in Cape Breton, Antigonish, and Pictou, N.S.

"That is," said Mr Elliott, "one of the most interesting parts of North America I have ever been in. The people are all of Highland Scottish descent and have been in their present home from one hundred to two hundred years. They are partly Catholic and partly Protestant but they live side by side on the most amicable terms, with one school serving the whole. An illustration of the extent to which religious prejudices are absent was afforded by the fact that a Protestant was recently elected to the council in a township overwhelmingly Catholic in opposition to a Catholic.

"These counties contain wonderful possibilities but much of the soil is in a badly exhausted condition. The people have been growing oats after oats until the soil which was at one time highly productive is now in some cases abandoned. I was told of a 500-acre farm on what had been good bottom land which has been given up altogether. In another case a 200 acre farm on which a house costing $1,400 had been put up some fifteen years ago sold for $1200. The people are however, thoroughly adapted to the situation and anxious to improve their condition and I look for rapid progress in the near future. Prof. Cumming, of the Truro Agricultural College is having a wonderful influence in stimulating the upward movement. His short courses have been immensely popular and have been attended by men up to fifty years of age. The land is particularly adapted to the growing of turnips and sheep do exceedingly well there.

"What has occurred in these eastern counties should contain a lesson for the new provinces of the west. What has occurred in Nova Scotia in the way of soil exhaustion will occur in a far shorter time in the Canadian West if prompt measures are not taken to restrain the tendency to wear out the land by a one crop system.

"I have," concluded Mr Elliott, "in the course of the last few years, been practically all over the eastern, middle and western states and have pretty well covered as well Canada from Maritime provinces to the Coast. As a result of what I have seen I would say there is no part of North America where a man can make such a good start on the land with such limited capital as he can in Ontario. No where is land so cheap in proportion to actual value. Out in Nebraska, farms sell up to $125 an acre which are no more valuable or productive than farms which sell here for half or one-third of that amount."—The Weekly Sun.

CHARGED WITH SERIOUS OFFENCE

Walter Allen of Harvey Appeared Before Magistrate Edmison Saturday—Was Allowed Out on $200 Bail

Walter Allan, of Harvey Township, appeared before Magistrate Edmison Saturday, charged with having committed an assault and abused his brother's wife, Mrs. Albert E. Allan, also of Harvey, on Tuesday, April 20th. The case was not ready to be proceeded with and the magistrate demanded a guarantee that the accused would appear when called for. Bail to the amount of $200 was given and Allan was allowed his freedom. The case will likely be tried this week.

"PARSIFAL" IS COMING TO THE "GRAND" HERE

The legend of "Parsifal" which Messrs Martin and Emery will offer at the Grand Opera House next Saturday May 8th crystalizes around two mystic objects, a cup or chalice and a spear. The Holy Grail and the Sacred spear as they are called in the play and by poets, have been the subject of more song and story than any other themes in history. As legend will have it, both the spear and the grail were presented to Joseph of Aramathea by Pontius Pilate. The spear is accounted as being the one that pierced the side of the Saviour at the crucifixion and the chalice as being the cup used at the last supper and later to catch the blood of Him who died on the cross. Around these two central objects in woven the poetic and mighty theme used by Richard Wagner in "Parsifal." The plan opens Thursday morning at 10.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE FARMS

"Farm and Dairy" Will Issue Special Number on May 6th—Many Good Features

That entertaining and instructive farm weekly, Farm and Dairy, which is now published at Peterborough, is becoming more and more popular. Its front cover is an education in itself. Photos of farm houses, farm buildings, rural scenes, illustrations of improved types of stock, cattle, sheep, pigs and poultry, and cartoons, all in good season, enliven the cover.

All who read Farm and Dairy are loud in its praise. Many expressions are heard of how this farm weekly has come to the front. Subscriptions for Farm and Dairy can be secured at this office by taking advantage of our special clubbing rates with that paper. Sample copies may be had by applying to Peterborough direct.

A special farm improvement number will be issued May 6th, which is the fourth in a series of a set of eight special magazine issues to be issued throughout the year. This magazine number contains much information of value to the farmer, on the improvement of his farm.

The Farm Water Supply in its Installation, with illustrations, by J. H. Philp, of Huron Co., forms the introductory article. It alone is worth the subscription price. Rural Telephones, fencing, roofing, underdrainings and many other kindred subjects are handled in this special issue by well-known authorities.

Special plans and drawings of farm houses with a timely article on the Model Farm Home, by Dr. Helen McMurchy, will be a feature of the household department. The regular departments of the paper are not curtailed in any way, in the issuing of these special magazine numbers.

Complete plans for an up-to-date piggery are furnished by Mr. J. K. Grisdale, of the Experimental Farm, at Ottawa. A large number of illustrations will appear in connection with the special articles.

You cannot afford to miss this issue if you are thinking of improving your farm this year. The issue is full of good, live and economical hints that may be worth many dollars to you.

WARNING TO BOYS USING CATAPULTS

Citizen Complains of Boys Using Catapults and Air Guns on the Street

A citizen of the south end of the city complained to Chief Roszel to-day that boys with catapults and air guns are making it dangerous for citizens in this locality. It is said that the boys practice on the streets and as a result someone is liable to be seriously injured. While there is no objection to the boys preparing themselves for the future defence of the country, they must confine themselves to places other than those used by the public. This is a serious offence and the authorities intend to make an example of the first offender who falls into their hands.

SAFE EYE-GLASS FITTING

Selling eye glasses out of a stock like scissors or thimbles, is a dangerous practice that is altogether too prevalent.

There should not be the faintest doubt in the mind of any person who finds the need of wearing glasses, that they are identically, scientifically fitted to the eyes.

We offer you safe spectacle fitting. And that is the only kind you should be satisfied to accept. There is nothing on this earth dearer than a cheap pair of spectacles that you have chosen yourself simply because you can see with them.

IN MEMORIAM

In memoriam of Jane Steele Elmhurst, beloved wife of John Lancaster and second daughter of Henry and Rachael Elmhurst, who died April 10th, 1909, aged 26 years;

She is gone to her reward,
And crossed the Jordan o'er,
She whom all did with love regard
Her death they now deplore.

God did to her reveal,
That she had naught to fear,
And never was she heard
To murmur or repine.

God's word did her sustain
Through all her sufferings here,
She calmly passed away,
And in Jesus fell asleep.

She is gone to meet a dear sister and brother,
Who a few short months ago,
Had been called away from their loved ones here.
To mansions in the sky.

Be still troubled hearts
The ways that seem rough,
Shall be smooth bye and bye,
And dark things shall be plain.

God knoweth all your griefs,
He giveth the peace that endures,
Be hopeful and trustful till time shall be done,
He keepeth your dear ones above.

CONMEE'S MEASURE GIVEN CHECK BY THE OPPOSITION

Although Sir Wilfrid Refused Positively to Hold Proposed Power Legislation Until Ontario Could Be Heard From Conservative Members Finally Bring Mr. Fielding to Terms.

Ottawa, May 4.—A second time James Conmee's Ontario & Michigan power bill has been set aside after a strong provincial rights argument by the Opposition.

All day they kept hammering away at the Premier, endeavoring to force him to delay the measure until the Province of Ontario had a chance to be heard on the amended bill, but at 6 o'clock Sir Wilfrid had refused to yield. At 8 o'clock he was not in his place and Mr. Fielding, after learning that the Conservatives meant to fight the question to a finish, agreed to the demand to hold over the bill for a few days.

This is the second notable victory the Opposition has achieved over this attempt to infringe on the rights of the province.

Mr. Blain opened the discussion yesterday morning, saying that Premier Whitney had expressed the view that Parliament should leave the question to the Ontario Legislature, as being one of provincial jurisdiction. Mr. Conmee declined to recognize Sir James Whitney as an authority on this point. On the banks of the Pigeon river is a location, the patent for which goes back some 50 years, and that it is so situated as to destroy the claim that the province owns the land along the river bank.

What would the House profit by defying the expressed wish of the people of Ontario? queried Claude Macdonnel, who believed the bill ultra vires.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier contended that the Dominion had exclusive jurisdiction. The whole difficulty was over the power of expropriation; it would expedite matters if they could pass the other parts of the bill, and come to this point at once.

Mr. Blain remarked that the principal promoters are American capitalists, who know that the Ontario Government will give such large powers to no man, friend or foe, in the country or out of it.

Mr. Conmee confessed that he had no regard for the Ontario Government's power policy.

Mr. Magrath asked Sir Wilfrid Laurier if the Canadian section of the Waterways Commission had been consulted in regard to the bill. Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied in the negative.

Haughton Lennox argued in the afternoon in favor of the retention of all available water power in Canada for the development of our own industry. Such a policy would force Americans who desire to use the power to establish industries in Canada.

Assuming, for the sake of argument, that jurisdiction rests with the Dominion, would it be a good policy to alienate Canada's wealth of power without providing for some form of compensation? asked Sam Sharpe.

Sir Wilfrid repeated that jurisdiction rests with the Dominion. As to the wisdom of allowing the exportation of power he had an open mind.

F. E. Carvell stated that the property at Pigeon River Falls was the private property of a Mr. Stewart since 1856, and had passed out of the hands of the province.

Mr. Macdonnel opposed the bill on the other ground that the bill did not specify where the work was to be erected and Mr. Lennox described the company as simply exploiters who wanted to export Canada's power into a rival country.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier commended Ontario for conserving the water powers of crown lands, but did not believe that the province contemplated expropriation of private property.

Dr. Sproule said that the interference of the Government with the provincial rights of Manitoba and British Columbia was the cause of the defeat of the Liberals in these provinces at the last election. Was Sir Wilfrid inviting also the condemnation of Ontario?

Mr. Blain asked that the bill be returned to the private bills committee in order that a representative of the Province of Ontario might present the case of the province.

Mr. Middleboro cited a New Brunswick case to show that the province had all the authority to grant the powers asked for in this bill, and had had jurisdiction.

Edmund Bristol could not understand why the Premier should not find it consistent with the dignity of his position to let the bill stand for three or four days to allow the Premier of the Province of Ontario to express his views.

Just before 6 o'clock J. E. Armstrong asked the Premier to definitely state his objections to delaying the bill until the province was heard from.

In the evening Mr. Armstrong reminded the House that he had asked Sir Wilfrid Laurier for a reply, but, that as he was not present, Mr. Fielding might answer. Mr. Lennox followed up on the same line and Mr. Fielding thereupon held conversation with Mr. Conmee and the Liberal whips. He then crossed the floor to the Opposition and discussed the situation with the Conservative whips, after which he moved that the House rise and report progress. He said that the business of the House could not make much headway on the present lines, and in view of the notice by Sir James Whitney regarding the bill, the measure would be delayed for a few days.

Another bitter discussion arose last night in the Commons over the Canada Life Bill.

The proposal to send the bill back to the banking and commerce committee was defeated, but further consideration of it was deferred until Friday.

MISS FLORENCE KINRADE WAS ON THE STAND SIX HOURS

Her Answers Were Not Very Satisfactory to Mr. Blackstock—Letters Found in Kinrade Home Read at the Inquest—Mrs. Kinrade Fainted in Witness Box.

Hamilton, May 4.—Florence Kinrade has survived the ordeal of six hours' sharp inquisition at the hands of such a brilliant examiner as G. T. Blackstock, K.C., and if she has not emerged with flying colors, as the saying is, neither has she been led into any apparent very serious admissions, so far as the subject of the enquiry is concerned. The enquiry adjourned at 11.30 to resume at 7.30 to-night.

The crown played a trump card in the production of a number of letters—the important discovery made last week in the Kinrade residence. They brought out one sensational point—that it was not until a fortnight prior to the tragedy that Florence Kinrade wrote Jimmy Baum, terminating their love affair, because she said, she now realized that her affections were centered on Montrose Wright.

It was brought out that there had been trouble in the Kinrade home between Florence and the others, following the discovery that a Christmas present from Baum to Florence had been intercepted and returned.

It was made evident, too, that the crown's investigation in the vicinity of Richmond and Virginia Beach had been productive of considerable results. Miss Kinrade was confronted with statements that persons with whom she had been more or less intimate, according to her own story, couldn't be discovered to exist, and, most surprising of all, that she wasn't known at Manchester Presbyterian Church, in which she had said she was soloist.

Mr. Blackstock's "My instructions are" were a frequent prelude to the introduction of statements so flatly contradictory to what Miss Kinrade had sworn that the wonder was how she could bear up with such apparent unshaken composure. Time and again she was compelled to retract statements.

The most important bit of evidence in the evening came when Mr. Blackstock asked:

"Did you write Baum between Christmas and New Year's and tell him that if he had written a letter it must have been intercepted by your people, as you did not receive it?" "Yes."

"Your mother and Ethel did not tell you they had intercepted Baum's letter?" "No."

"And you were angry when you found it out?" "Yes."

"You continued writing love letters to Mr. Baum until Feb. 10, two weeks before the tragedy?" "Yes."

"And in one you say that sometimes you think you would go crazy with your trouble. What had that reference to?" "I don't know."

"What had that reference to, Miss Kinrade? Was that a joke?"

"No. They wanted me to marry, and he had wanted me to marry him and go on the stage, and I was very much undecided."

When Mrs. Kinrade, the first witness, was called, Mr. Lynch-Staunton formally asked that the enquiry be continued in private, emulating U.S. grand jury methods, which he thought were a desirable innovation for Canadian courts.

"As you say," replied the coroner, "there have been some misrepresentations made, and it is for that reason that I cannot grant your request. I think it will be far better if further investigation will be corrected by public opinion."

Later, Mr. Lynch-Staunton actually appealed to Mr. Blackstock to continue the enquiry in private, but the coroner declined to accede.

Care was also taken by counsel for the defence to secure for Florence Kinrade all the legal "protection" from answering incriminating questions that was available and once or twice was objections taken to Mr. Blackstock's line of enquiry.

Both afternoon and evening, the court was crowded, indicating that the extremely liberal policy of issuing passes was still in force.

The air of the small room was heavy soon after 8 p.m. and an excited buzz of voices indicated high expectations. Outside was a crowd of several hundred, and on the arrival of the carriage containing the Kinrade family there was a general scuffle to get a view of their faces as they alighted and hurriedly passed the portals. The solemnity of the occasion seemed to weigh little upon the spirits of the gathering, and Coroner Anderson had to enjoin order by threatening to clear the room.

Miss Kinrade's examination, which began at 4.05 p.m., lasted over two hours, until adjournment, while she again bore the brunt of attack for three and a half hours at night, she being the sole witness. Through it all she retained apparent absolute self-possession and answering deliberately, if vaguely, a constant fire of interrogations. At 10.20 p.m. Mr. Blackstock informed her she might withdraw if she wished, but she choose otherwise, and for another hour calmly endured her ordeal.

Miss Kinrade betrayed no nervousness other than an occasional restless swaying. Her gaze wandered often but always returned to her examiner.

MOB RESCUED THE PRISONER

Morrisburg, May 4.—Police Chief Hall had an exciting experience while bringing Jos. Lawande from Montreal to answer charges of smuggling. Immediately on boarding the train, he was mobbed by some fifteen to twenty men, a portion of whom were Assyrians, who pulled him and the prisoner out of their seats. In the meantime, one of the party produced a document written in French, which was all Greek to Chief Hall, and demanded the release of the prisoner. The mob pulled and pounded Chief Hall all the way from Lachine to Dorval, having him out on the platform twice. The last time he was forced to release his man. The mob also rifled Chief Hall's pockets.

THREE MEN ARE ELECTROCUTED

Paris, May 4.—A boy and two men were electrocuted in Paris yesterday before the eyes of several thousand spectators. The boy was walking along a fence flanking the tracks of the Belt Railroad, when he fell upon an exposed high tension cable and was killed instantly. A nearby workman rushed to the boy's rescue, but the instant he touched the body he fell dead. Another workman, ignoring the warning cries of the people, tried to save his comrade, and shared a similar fate.

FIRE IN FIVE CENT THEATRE

Peoria, Ills., May 4.—As the result of the explosion in the film room of the Crescent Nickelodeum, plunging the entire front of the theatre in flames, W. W. Robinson, city editor of The Peoria Star, and manager of the playhouse, is dead.

More than three hundred persons were in the theatre, but no panic ensued, the crowd walking out of the theatre through the fire-enwrapped main entrance. Robinson dropped dead an hour later as the result of inhaling flames.

OPERATOR PLACED UNDER ARREST

Saskatoon, May 4.—Albert Wisewell former C.N.R. operator at Humboldt, was arrested on a charge of stealing certain private telegrams sent by H. E. Perry, Liberal organizer, during the bye-election at Humboldt, sent through the C.N.R. office. Following the alleged theft Wisewell went to the States. Recently he returned, and while at Regina had certain letters photographed, negatives being secured by the police. Wisewell, when arrested, was with Sinclair Elliott, who was defeated by Hon. Mr. Motherwell in the bye-election in question.

Insane Woman Suicides.

Stafford Springs, Conn., May 4.—Driven insane apparently by the sight of a memorial card which she had ordered for her daughter, Elsie, who died about a month ago, Mrs. Bernard Rister yesterday morning beat Chas. E. Emory of Boston, who had called to deliver the cards, over the head with an axe, inflicting serious wounds; shot and killed her two-year-old son Bernard, and then took her own life by sending a bullet through her heart.

DR. WORKMAN COMMENCES

Action For Five Thousand Dollars Against Wesleyan Theological College

Montreal, May 4.—An action for $5,000 damages has been entered by Rev. Geo. C. Workman, D.D., through his attorneys, against the Wesleyan Theological College. In his declaration Dr. Workman, after reciting the fact of his appointment as professor of Hebrew and Old Testament exegesis in Wesleyan Theological College, at a salary of $1,600 a year, from May 1, 1904, proceeds to state that he occupied and fulfilled the duties of that position until the first of May, 1908, when, without his consent and without any legal or just cause therefor, he was dismissed from the position, and although he has ever since the first of May, 1908, been ready and willing to continue the duties of the position, he has been illegally prevented from doing so.

FOREIGN SAILORS PRAYED IN STORM

Fort William, Ont., May 4.—Capt. Logan of the Hutchison, an American boat with coal, arrived yesterday after a hard struggle across the lakes.

He left the Soo Thursday morning with a crew of five Italians and two Galicians. In the storm on the lake, the foreigners refused to work, and occupied themselves with their beads. The engineer was endeavoring to keep steam up himself by firing, as well as attending to the engines, but felt himself succumbing to the unequal struggle.

Logan headed the boat into the storm, but a great wave coming aboard sunk the deck nearly two inches, causing the hatches to spring out.

The Hutchison was within ten miles of the Aurania when that boat sank.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

The Turkish Cabinet has resigned.

Rev. J. Roy Van Wyck, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church at Hamilton, has resigned.

A number of Italians employed on the street railway construction at Hamilton struck for better pay.

The British Government has suggested to the colonies that a conference on the defence of the Empire be held this summer.

The defence in the Levis forgeries blames Bank Manager Lindsay as the instigator of the crime for which Anderson is on trial.

The steamer Edwin F. Holmes collided with the dredge used in laying the Detroit river tunnel, and knocked a hole in the dredge's side.

Evidence brought out at the Hains trial yesterday tended to show that the act of Captain Hains in shooting Annis was not premeditated.

Edmonton will distribute public drinking fountains throughout the city. [illegible]

TWO JUDGES ARE ACCUSED

Washington, May 4.—Making charges against Federal Judges John F. Philips and Smith McPherson of the western district of Missouri, Representative Murphy of that state yesterday introduced a resolution to investigate their contract in the litigation between the state and the railroad companies over the maximum freight law and the Missouri two-cent passenger rate law.

Murphy claims that the two judges accompanied certain railroad attorneys on a fishing trip, on which occasion members of the party were arrested for violation of the game laws of the state.

Shot at Poachers.

Buffalo, May 4.—Discovered fishing with seine in the Niagara river at Bridgeburg early yesterday morning, two Canadians were ordered by Game and Fish Protector Briggs of Bridgeburg, and his deputy, Luther Jeffries of London, to surrender, but the men jumped into the river. The officers emptied their revolvers, but did not hit the men. The men were picked up by a negro companion in a boat and rowed to the American side. Later they returned to Fort Erie.

Van Horne on Reciprocity.

London, May 4.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Sir W. Van Horne, interviewed in London regarding the possibility of reciprocity between Canada and the United States, said:

"I consider that there are only about 6 1-2 per cent. fools in Canada. So long as the percentage doesn't materially increase we are in no danger of reciprocity, or such reciprocity as would throw down all the customs barriers."

A youthful incorrigible was given two years in the Industrial School for burglary at Vancouver.

G.T.R. BRAKEMAN VICTIM OF ACCIDENT AT LINDSAY

Lindsay, May 3rd—Stafford Halpin, a brakeman on the G.T.R. yard engine slipped and fell between two railway cars at the egg house this morning, at 11.30 o'clock with the result that he now lies at his home, south ward, in a critical condition.

CAUSE OF ACCIDENT

Brakeman Halpin was riding between two cars for the purpose of uncoupling them while switching the cars from one track to the other. Just as he was about to uncouple them he slipped and fell between the side of the cars and the platform of Flavelles, Ltd., cold storage, with the result that he was thrown forcibly against the platform. His head came in contact with the wooden structure and the right side was badly scalped both shoulders seriously injured and two ribs fractured. The scalp wound was several inches long and caused considerable pain.

TAKEN TO DOCTOR

Mr. Jos. O'Neil, foreman for Flavelles, Ltd, was the first person to notice the injured man lying on the ground in a helpless condition. He removed him to the egg house and sent for a hack and conveyed him to Dr Simpson's office, he being one of the G.T.R. physicians. Halpin's wounds were attended to and are said to be very serious.

IN CRITICAL CONDITION

The injured man was then removed to his home in the south ward near the iron bridge where he now lies in a critical condition. It is feared by his physician that erysipelas my set in and if it should his life will be greatly endangered. The injuries Halpin received are very serious and he will be confined to his home for a long time.

A MARRIED MAN

Mr. Halpin has been a brakeman on the G.T.R. for the past three years. He is married and has one child. He is a young man and is well known by the citizens of Lindsay who will regret to hear of his serious accident.

TUG LEFT TO-DAY WITH A CONSIGNMENT FOR STONY LAKE

Mr J. E. A. Fitzgerald's tug, with a scow, left Warsaw road this afternoon for Stony Lake with a load of lumber, lime, cement and groceries. This is the first business trip to Stony Lake this season, although the tug was up the canal past Lakefield a few days ago.

The groceries will be delivered to different points on the lake, and the other cargo is for Messrs. Denne and Stubb's cottages.

PENNY BANK SYSTEM FOR SCHOOLS OF PETERBOROUGH

At the meeting of the Board of Education tonight, Mr A. McMurchy, K.C., of Toronto, and Mr R. T. Mulholland of Port Hope, will outline the penny bank system with a view to having it introduced in the schools of Peterborough. Mr. McMurchy is at the head of the "Penny bank" and Mr Mulholland is deeply interested in the work as it has been very successful in the schools of Port Hope.

It is desirable that as many teachers as possible attend the meeting tonight in order that they may have a thorough explanation of the system.

HAS PLUMBER'S LICENSE BUT IS NOT A PLUMBER

As the result of someone's part T. F. Matthews is the possessor of a plumber's license and now Mr. Matthews isn't a plumber and does not need the certificate, which gives him the right to work at the trade.

It appears that a man was engaged to do some plumbing at Mr. Matthews' house. He had no license and Mr. Matthews sent to the City hall to get a license for the plumber. It cost ten dollars, but in some way or other the license was made out in Mr. Matthews' name, instead of for the workman. The latter had to take out another license and Mr. Matthews has applied to the city council to have his license cancelled and the ten dollars refunded.

THIRTEEN YEARS AT ST. ANDREW'S

Rev. J. G. Potter Became Pastor of Congregation in August 1896.

Next Sunday will be the twentieth anniversary of the ordination of Rev. J. G. Potter to the ministry of the Presbyterian church. Mr Potter was ordained by Rev Alexander McGillivary at Merrickville, Ont, on May 10th, 189. He was pastor there for four years and afterwards was pastor of the South Side Presbyterian church, Toronto, for four years. Mr Potter was inducted to the pastorate of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough in August, 1896.

The twentieth anniversary of the ordination will be observed at St. Andrew's on Sunday, May 9th. The preacher morning and evening, will be Rev Alexander McGillivary who ordained Mr Potter. Mr. McGillivary will also give an address at the congregational re-union on Monday evening next.

BRAKEMAN READ ENTERS APPEAL

Against His Conviction on Criminal Negligence Charge

Today's Osgoode Hall notes contained the following:

Application was made to the Court of Appeal for a stated case upon the conviction of criminal negligence of Chas J. Read sentenced to 3 months imprisonment by Mr Justice Britton.

Read was front brakeman on the train wrecked at Sandbank, near Peterborough, a few months ago.

Judgment was reserved.

VERDICT TO-NIGHT

Inquest at Hamilton Nearing Close—Will it be Open Verdict?

Special to the Review.

Hamilton, May 4.—The general impression here is that the Kinrade inquest will be closed this evening, providing the jurors consent to sit long enough.

The Crown officials will say nothing, but it is understood that they have decided not to recall Florence Kinrade, and that Jimmy Baum will be the first witness called this evening followed by Mr. and Mrs. Kinrade.

It is not known that the Crown has any more witnesses, with the possible exception of Detective Pender, who may not be put on the stand.

It is the general belief the jury will return an open verdict, but a Crown officer stated this morning he thought it would be stronger than that.

A FINE VIEW

When one reaches the river side of the Parliament buildings at Ottawa, which stands at the brink of the sheer precipitous bank of the Ottawa river fully 200 hundred feet high, a great sweep of city country and river bursts upon the view. Looking up the river the eye first encounters the Chaudiere falls, a seething cauldron of pounding waters. Farther up the river becomes Lake Duchene about 4 or 5 miles from the city proper and on the Ottawa side is a large village of rather pretty but unpretentious summer houses and an excellent golf links. Down the river to the right of the spectator and at the western limit of the city proper, the Rideau river joins the Ottawa and goes foaming off into the distance. On the land side is a city of many superb buildings and many unworthy even of the name of shacks. Beyond doubt the most cosmopolitan city in the Dominion, Ottawa is, yet increasingly French. The latter predominate everywhere upon the borders of the two provinces having far surpassed the English-Canadians in that respect.

THE PARTY

A visit to the Conservative members of the House of Commons at headquarters during the session, impresses the visitor with the seriousness with which they regard their duties, and with their strong desire that the grand old party shall be strong and clean throughout. Although, perhaps, not unnaturally a few "protested" ones would welcome a saw-off or any other labor-saving device, it is not so with the party proper, which is anxious that wrong-doing shall be shown up wherever found, since it is only by a radical change in our modern methods of administration and conduct that Canada can take her place and hold up her head amongst the nations of the earth. Last week the little boards of control for administration, appointed a year or so ago, to supervise small districts composed of 6 or 4 constituencies, committed to their charge, were abolished. Each riding will hereafter stand alone and on its own responsibility, except in so far as it may ask advice of headquarters. No man or set of men have in the future any authority whatever be "boss" more than this on their own constituencies. The idea of saw-offs is repugnant to the party and its chiefs. There is nothing to regret or be ashamed of in the professions and practices of the Conservative party proper. It reflects the highest-minded form of public opinion, and while it cannot control all its professed followers it does not endorse or hesitate to condemn compromises with any form of wrong-doing, political or otherwise. One side is not as bad as another.

Jenny Lind, according to a painting was of the full-featured, large-eyed type and not petite in that respect as often supposed.

Sir Edward Clouston, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, says that much British capital will be driven out of England, etc. by the new British taxes and that some of it may come our way.

Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., has acquired the reputation of being a painstaking and practical member of the House. Although it is only his first session he is not afraid to express his opinion and does it well.

Our American friends with that clear-sightedness characteristic of them have formed numbers of village-improvement associations with the result that life in villages and small towns and in the country too, is becoming a joy instead of a disease.

Mark Twain has written a scathing satire upon the belief prevalent in England that Shakespeare wrote the plays bearing his name. He says that "fad" is good for another century.

Many Americans have tried to dethrone the original, but the evidence is too strong.

The Gillies limit lands with the exception of a certain government reserve, are now open for sale by tender. It is said by those who are least likely to admit it even if true that there have been many "finds" and that the prices realized ought to be large. The reserved part is said to be very rich.

An employment bureau where men out of work can register and where situations vacant can be filled by applicants is sorely needed in connection with our municipal organization. It should be free. There is no reason why it should not be added with a corresponding increase of salary to the charity officers' duties. Such a department would be we are persuaded of great benefit.

Mr. Sexsmith. One of the most satisfactory inspectorships we have in the province of Ontario is that of milk inspectors. They have power to inspect factories and to prosecute offenders. I do not think there has ever been an inspector in that province that has done so much good and has given the people so much satisfaction. But they are not responsible to the minister, nor to the government, nor to anybody, but their duties are defined by an act of the legislature, and they are doing very effective work.—House of Commons debate.

Greater govermental care and encouragement of the farming and exporting industry in Canada would do wonders for the farmer who is being compelled by neglect to fall back more and more on his own resources. We read of the American farmers taking up the Canadian farmers' lands made marketable at the latter's own expense and wonder that such things are tolerated. It is now the fifth week since we called for Rural Mail Delivery for Peterborough County, but no appropriation has been made nor will it be mentioned again until the session is over and the opportunity of doing something is gone by.

Regarding the Panama Canal inquiry the President clinches his argument with these words;

"The facts to-day are the same as they were when the lock type was adopted, namely, that it would take at least $200,000,000 more of money and at least five years more of time to construct the sea-level type of canal 150 to 200 feet in width; that the canal when constructed would be dangerous for the passage of the large vessels; and that the lock type of canal constructed at $200,000,000 less in cost and five years less in time will be a better canal, a safer canal, and one in which the time of passage for large vessels will be even less than in the sea-level type.

"For these reasons the Administration is proceeding to construct the canal on the type authorized and directed by Congress, and the criticisms of gentlemen who predicate all their arguments on theory and not upon practical tests, who institute comparisons between the present type of canal and the sea-level type of 300 to 600 feet in width that never has been or will be on sea or land, can not disturb the tenor of those charged with the responsibility of constructing the canal, and will only continue to afford to persons who do not understand the situation and are not familiar with the history of the canal and of the various plans proposed for the canal, an unfounded sensation of regret and alarm that the Government is pursuing a foolish and senseless course. Meantime the canal will be built and completed on or before January 1st, 1915, and those who are now its severest critics will be glad to have their authorship of recent articles forgotten."

OF INTEREST

Voices Lost and Found

The future of Mr Caruso's voice is a matter of grave anxiety for many music lovers. If he never sings again he will be only adding one more to a long list of singers who have suffered the tragic fate of losing a beautiful voice in the mid-career of their genius. Some indiscretion is usually at the bottom of the fatality. Caruso it is said, almost collapsed after the curtain went down on the second act of an opera at the Metropolitan a few weeks ago; "I can not finish this opera," he sobbed, "I can not do it." He did it, however, but he should not have sung at all, says Mr Henry T. Finck in the New York Evening Post, April 17. "He was endangering a delicate vocal apparatus that gives joy to tens of thousands of operagoers on two continents and that is worth to its owner about $200,000 a year, including about $50,000 for singing into the talking machine." Last summer, so it is reported a growth of some sort was removed from his vocal cords by an Italian surgeon. He was advised to rest for a few months, but instead of that he sang in several European cities and began the last New York season with six appearances in the first week. This overexertion left its trace throughout the winter, and now the end is in doubt. Mr Finck recalls that the same crisis was once met by Jenny Lind, who in her early life before her voice was fully developed, much overworked her vocal organs. She went to Paris to study with Manuel Garcia who gave her this crushing verdict; "It would be useless to teach you, miss; you have no voice left." But being moved by her youth and her tears he agreed to hear her after six weeks, if she promised to speak as little as possible in that time and not to sing a note. Then after arduous practice, guided by a right method, the voice came back. Mr. Finck gives the story of one of Garcia's disobedient pupils told in Sterling-Mackinlay's book on that famous teacher;

"One day there came to Garcia a girl who had strained her voice by singing higher than her natural voice. He told her not to sing anything in a high register. Once only she disobeyed and the next time she called on him, and had spoken a few words she was surprised to see his face flush with anger. He reproached her with having sung soprano. Surprised, she asked him how he knew, and he answered; "I heard you speak, that is quite enough." He told her that in ten years not a note would be left of her brilliant voice. As she promised not to disobey his instructions again he agreed to take her back, on condition that she would study a whole year without interruption before appearing in public.

"After a few months she left London to spend the winter on the continent. She hoped he would take her back on her return, but he sternly refused, telling her that he never went back on his word, and adding; 'You will probably get engagements but do not base your future on singing.'"

"Time proved that he was right," says Mr Mackinlay. "After a few years she began to lose her high notes rapidly and soon her voice was completely gone!"

Mr. Finck does not mention the case of Etelka Gerster, well known here, in the eighties. Whether the loss of her voice was "the penalty of motherhood," as some said, or "the result of worry over the failure to hold her place in the face of opposition" as others alleged, nature and time have brought their consolations. Her daughter has the past season made a successful debut. The writer gives two interesting instances of singers who turned in the dramatic stage. Thus;

"Charlotte Cushman is now remembered chiefly as an actress, but she began her career as a singer. As a girl she had a voice of unusual compass and richness, with a full contralto register. Friends of her father, one of them John Mackey, in whose piano factory Jonas Chickering was then foreman, provided her with good musical instruction, and she subsequently appeared in concerts as well as in operas. She went with an opera company to New Orleans, and there there voice, strained by the soprano parts assigned to her, suddenly failed. A theatrical manager in that city thereupon advised her to become an actress, and in 1835 she made a successful debut as Lady Macbeth.

"Genevieve Ward is another famous tragedienne who began her career as an opera singer, her stage name being Ginevra Guerrabella. She made her first appearance in opera in Milan in 1856, and subsequently in Paris, London and American cities. Having injured her voice by overstrain, she taught singing in New York for some years and then prepared herself for the career of an actress, making her debut as Lady Macbeth. In this country she is best known by her impersonation of Stephanie, in 'Forget-Me-Not.'"

Jean de Reszke's voice once went under a cloud, but he brought it back to sunshine, and sang for several years longer until shortness of breath forced him to leave the stage. Renaud once lost his voice for a whole month and it took two years to restore it to its former condition. Melba at one time nearly "came a cropper." We read:

"Mme. Sembrich attributes the preservation of her vocal powers during a career of nearly three decades to the fact that she always knew what roles and songs were suited to her voice, and avoided the others. Mme. Melba did not always do this, and for her mistake on one occasion she suffered serious, but luckily not permanent, injury to her voice.

"It was at the time when the De Reszkes were there and Wagner was all the rage, so that even Melba longed to appear in one of these roles that brought their interpreters so much glory, while Calve likewise talked as if she was in similar mood. The Frenchwoman refrained, but the Australian succumbed. One day Jean de Reszke suggested half in jest, half jocularly, maybe, that she should try Brunnhilde in 'Siegfried.' She promptly made up her mind to do so, and had a clause inserted in her contract securing that part for herself. To sing that role, one must have a voice pliant and strong as a Damascus blade. Melba's was pliant, but not of steel, and it broke in its contest with the Wagnerian orchestra; she had to retire for the season and make it whole again.

"There were not wanting critics, who asserted that Wagner was to blame. If that was the case, are Puccini and Verdi to blame for the present predicament of Caruso?

"At one time, early in his stage life, the eminent English barytone, Charles Stanley, suffered from an abnormal activity of his salivary glands which threatened to terminate his career. The muscles of his throat seemed to relax, and the voice, instead of issuing with freedom and vigor, appeared to recede, producing a choking sensation, very unfavorable to the delivery of a sustained phrase. For some years after his return from America in 1873 the inconvenience increased to such an extent that at one time he thought he would have to retire from the public exercise of his profession. He consulted several medical men; one of them starved him, a third dosed him with quinine, strychnine and iron until he almost lost the sense of taste, and the sight of food nauseated him. He was advised to take a sea journey; there were ominous hints of fatal malignant disease; but finally he came across a real doctor, who found that his trouble as simply due to inactivity of the liver, and in a short time restored his health. His voice recovered, and he did (so he boasts in his 'Reminiscences'), more and more varied work than any singer before the public except Sims Reeves.

"He is still singing, though seventy-five years old. The latest London journals speak of him as taking part in a concert at the Crystal Palace on Good Friday, when he sang, Gounod's 'There is a Green Hill' and the air 'Honor and Arms,' from Handel's 'Samson.'"

THAT AWFUL PAIN IN THE BACK

Lots of men, and women too, are limping about the house—groaning in easy chairs—or tossing about the bed—because of that nagging pain in the back. The old standbys—hot vinegar, porous plasters, liniments, etc.—don't do any good any more. You see, you are a bit older now. The kidneys are not as strong as they used to be. And even those "blistering" liniments and plasters won't stimulate the kidneys.

Your trouble is kidney trouble. The kidneys are not diseased, they are overworked and strained. The bowels and skin—which help the kidneys to rid the system of waste matter—have not been doing their share of the work. The kidneys have had to do too much.

What you need is a medicine to cure the bowels, liver and skin. This medicine must cure the Constipation by acting on the liver and thus make the bowels move regularly and naturally. This medicine must heal and strengthen the kidneys, and thus relieve the congestion. "Fruit-a-tives" is this medicine. It is the most effective Kidney Remedy known, and keeps these vital organs in a vigorous, healthy condition. For aged people, for those who work hard, for tired-out women, "Fruit-a-tives" never fail to stop that severe pain in the back and build up the whole system. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

LETTER FROM A FORTY-NINER

Here is a simple, interesting and sincere letter from a rugged pioneer of '49, who braved the dangers and hardships of the overland trail to California. It should appeal to all catarrh victims.

Santa Rosa, Cal., May 5, 1908.
Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

Dear Sirs;—I was afflicted with catarrh and tried a number of remedies, but received no relief. I purchased an outfit of Hyomei, and before I had used the bottle I noted a marked relief. I used it for a month or so, and thought I was cured, and stopped using it for a year or so. Thought I was getting catarrh again, and started using it again. I used it every morning, and keep myself clear of catarrh. I consider it the best catarrh medicine that is used. I have often recommended it to my friends. I am 81 years old. I came to California in 1849, and of course am not as vigorous as I was 68 years ago. My address is 841 4th street. Yours truly, W. Mock.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is guaranteed by Wm. Madill, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough, not only for catarrh, but for grip, coughs, colds, bronchitis and croup. A complete outfit, including inhaler, costs only $1.00; extra bottles of Hyomei, if afterwards needed, cost but 50 cents.

Export steers sold from $5.50 to $6.65, one extra quality load being sold by McDonald and Halligan at the latter price. Export bulls sold at $4.25 to $5 per cwt.

Butchers.

Butchers' cattle sold well, fully as high as the best quotations on Thursday last week. Prime picked lots brought from $5.50 to $5.90; loads of good, $5.10 to $5.25; medium, $4.75 to $5; common, $4.25 to $4.65; cows, $3.50 to $4.75; bulls, $4 to $4.25.

Feeders.

A few short-keep feeders were bought, weighing 1150 lbs. each, at $5.10 to $5.25 per cwt.

Milkers and Springers.

Fred. Rowntree bought four milkers and springers at $45 to $52 each.

Veal Calves.

Receipts were light, prices for the bulk ranged from $3 to $5.50 per cwt., but a few of good to choice quality brought $6 to $6.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Export ewes were quoted at $4.50 to $5.25; rams, $3.50 to $4.25; yearling lambs, grain fed, $7.25 to $8 per cwt.; common yearlings, $5 to $6 per cwt.; spring lambs, $3 to $6.50 each, with something of good weight and choice quality worth more money.

Hogs.

All kinds of prices were quoted. H. P. Kennedy quoted $7.15, f.o.b., cars, at country points, and $7.40 fed and watered. E. Puddy bought 6 hogs from a farmer's wagon at $7.60 per cwt.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, May 3.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending May 1, were 2120 cattle, 130 sheep and lambs, 2760 hogs and 2740 calves. The offerings this morning for local consumption consisted of 800 cattle, 25 sheep and lambs, 125 hogs and 250 calves.

A stronger feeling prevailed in the market for cattle and prices advanced fully ¼c per lb. This was attributed to the smaller run, the improved quality of the stock and the more active demand from exporters, out-of-town and local buyers. A feature of the market was the buying for export account to complete shipments for the first vessels sailing from this port this week, and 6c was paid for choice, stall-fed steers, and 5¼c to 5¾c for good. The demand for supplies from local butchers was keener than usual, owing to the fact that they were well cleaned out of stock and on the whole quite an active trade was done in spite of the higher prices demanded. Choice steers sold at 6c, good at 5¾c to 4c, and inferior at 3c to 3¾c per lb. There were a number of good to choice bulls on the market for which the demand continues good and sales were made at 4½c to 5¾c per lb. Fat cows were also more numerous than usual and met with good sale at 4c to 5¼c per lb. There were no new developments in the market for small meats, supplies being still very limited and especially so of sheep and lambs. There was considerable enquiry for this class of stock, but buyers found it somewhat difficult to fill their wants, and prices ruled firm. Yearling lambs sold at 6½c to 7c, and old sheep at 5c to 5½c per lb. A few spring lambs were offered, which met with a ready sale at prices ranging from $3 to $6 each, as to size. The trade in calves was active, of which the offerings were not excessive and prices were steady, at from $1.50 to $7 each, as to size and quality. On Friday and Saturday of last week there was a very keen demand from local packers for hogs and as supplies were limited a stronger feeling prevailed in the market and prices scored a further advance of 10c per cwt., with sales of selected lots at $8.65 per cwt., weighed off the cars. In consequence of the above and larger offerings this morning than were anticipated, an easier feeling developed and prices reacted 10c per cwt., and sales were made at $8.55 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

CHAPTER XIX.

THE CALL OF THE OREADS.

THERE were mingled rejoicing and lamentation in the household of John Gale this afternoon. Molly and Johnny were in the throes of an overwhelming sorrow the noise of which might be heard from the barracks to the Indian village. They were sparing of tears, as a rule, but when they did give way to woe they published it abroad, yelling with utter abandon, their black eyes puckered up, their mouths distended into squares, from which came such a measure of sound as to rack the ears and burden the air heavily with sadness. Poleon was going away—their own particular Poleon! They had found the French Canadian at the river with their father loading his canoe, and they had asked him whither he fared. When the meaning of his words struck home they looked at each other in dismay; then, bred as they were to mask emotion, they joined hands and trudged silently back up the bank with filling eyes and chins a-quiver until they gained the rear of the house. Here they sat down all forlorn and began to weep bitterly and in an ascending crescendo.

"What's the matter with you tikes, anyhow?" inquired the lieutenant. He had always filled them with a speechless awe. He was a nice man, they had both agreed long ago, and very splendid to the eye, but he was nothing like Poleon, who was one of them, only somewhat bigger.

"Come, now! Tell me all about it," the soldier insisted. "Has something happened to the three legged puppy?"

Molly denied the occurrence of any such catastrophe.

"Then you've lost the little shiny rifle that shoots with air?" But Johnny dispelled this horrible suspicion by drawing the formidable weapon out of the grass behind him.

"Well, there isn't anything else bad enough to cause all this outlay of anguish. Can't I help you out?"

"Poleon's goin' away!" said Johnny.

"Now, that's too bad, of course," the young man assented. "But think what nice things he'll bring you when he comes back."

"He ain't comin' back!" wailed the little girl and, being a woman, yielded again to her weakness, unashamed.

Burrell tried to extract a more detailed explanation, but this was as far as their knowledge ran. So he sought out the Canadian and found him with Gale in the store, a scanty pile of food and ammunition on the counter between them.

"Poleon," said he, "you're not going away?"

"Yes," said Doret. "I'm takin' li'l trip."

"Oh, but you can't," cried Burrell. "I—I"— He paused awkwardly, while down the breeze came the lament of the two little Gales. "Well, I feel just as they do." He motioned in the direction of the sound. "I wanted you for a friend, Doret. I hate to lose you."

"I ain' never got my satisfy yet, so I'm pass on—all de tam' pass on. Mebbe dis trip I fin' de place."

"I'm sorry—because—well, I'm a selfish sort of cuss—and"— Burrell pulled up blushingly, with a strong man's display of shame at his own emotion. "I owe all my happiness to you, old man. I can't thank you—neither of us can. We shall never live long enough for that. But you mustn't go without knowing that I feel more than I'll ever have words to say."

He was making it very hard for the Frenchman, whose heart was aching already with a dull, unending pain. And then, as if he were not tried sufficiently, the girl herself came flying in.

"What's this I hear?" she cried. "Alluna tells me"— She saw the telltale pile on the counter, and her face grew white. "Then it's true? Oh, Poleon!"

He smiled and spoke cheerily. "Yes, I been t'inkin' 'bout dis trip long tam'."

"It's the wanderlust," murmured Burrell to himself. "He'll never rest."

"What a child you are!" cried Necia, half angrily. "Can't you conquer that roving spirit and settle down like a man?" She laid her hand on his arm appealingly. "Haven't I told you there isn't any 'far country'?"

He laughed aloud, for all the world as if the sun were bright and the fret for adventure were still keen in him, then, picking up his bundle, said:

"Dere's no use argue wit' Canayen man. Mebbe some day I come paddle back roun' de ben' down yonder an' you hear me singin' dose chanson. But now de day she's too fine, de river she's laugh too loud, an' de birds she's sing too party for Frenchman to stop on shore. Ba gosh, I'm glad!" He began to hum, and they heard him singing all the way down to the river bank as if the spirit of youth and hope and gladness were not dead within him:

"Chante, rossignol, chante!
Toi qui a le coeur gai;
Tu as le coeur a rire
Mai j' l' ai-ta pleurer.
Il y a longtemps que j' t'aime
Jamaise je ne t'oublierai."

["Sing, little bird; oh, sing away,
You with the voice so light and gay!
Yours is a heart that laughter cheers.
Mine is a heart that's full of tears.
Long have I loved; I love her yet.
Leave her I can, but not forget."]

A moment later they heard him expostulating with some one at the water's edge, and then a child's treble rose on high.

"No, no! I'm goin', too. I'm goin', too-o-o-o"—

"Hey! John Gale!" called Poleon. "Come 'ere! Ba gosh, you better horry too! I can't hol' dis feller long!"

When they appeared on the bank above him, he continued, "Look 'ere w'at I fin' on my batteau," and held up the wriggling form of Johnny Gale. "He's stow hisse'f away onder dem blanket. Sacre! He's bad feller, dis man—don' pay for hees ticket at all; he's reg'lar toff mug."

It took the efforts of Necia and the trader combined to tear the lad from the Frenchman, and even then the foul deed was accomplished only at the cost of such wild acclaim and evidence of undying sorrow that little Molly came hurrying from the house, her round face stained and tearful, her mouth an inverted crescent. She had gone to the lame puppy for comfort and now strangled him absentmindedly in her arms, clutching him to her breast so tightly that his tongue lolled out and his three legs protruded stiffly, pawing an aimless pantomime. When Johnny found that no hope remained he quelled his demonstrations of emotion and, as befitted a stout hearted gentleman of the woods, bore a final present to his friend. He took his little air gun and gave it into Poleon's hands against that black night when the bears would come, and no man ever made a greater sacrifice. Doret picked him up by the elbows and kissed him again and again, then set him down gently, at which Molly scrambled forward and without word or presentation speech gave him her heart's first treasure. She held out the three legged puppy, for a gun and a dog should ever go together; then, being of the womankind aforesaid, she began to cry as she kissed her pet goodby on its cold, wet nose.

"W'at's dis?" said Poleon, and his voice quavered, for these childish fingers tore at his heartstrings terribly.

"He's a very brave doggie," said the little girl. "He will scare de bears away!" And then she became dissolved in tears at the anguish her offering cost her.

The time had come for the last goodby—that awkward moment when human hearts are full and spoken words are empty. Burrell gripped the Frenchman's hand. He was grateful, but he did not know.

"Good luck and better hunting," he said, "a heavy purse and a light heart for you always, Poleon. I have learned to love you."

"I want you to be good husban', m'sieu'. Dat's de bes' t'ing I can wish for you."

Gale spoke to him in patois, and all he said was:

"May you not forget, my son."

They did not look into each other's eyes. There was no need. The old man stooped and, taking both his children by the hand, walked slowly toward the house.

"Dis tam' I'll fin' it for sure," smiled Poleon to Necia.

Her eyes were shining through the tears, and she whispered fervently:

"I hope so, brother. God love you—always."

It was grief at losing a playmate, a dear and well beloved companion. He knew it well, and he was glad now that he had never said a word of love to her. It added to his pain, but it lightened hers, and that had ever been his wish. He gazed on her for a long moment, taking in that blessed image which would ever live with him.

"Goodby, li'l' gal," he said, then dropped her hand and entered his canoe. With one great stroke he drove it out and into the flood, then headed away toward the mists and colors of the distant hills, where the oreads were calling to him. He turned for one last look and flung his paddle high; then, fearing lest they might see the tears that came at last unhindered, he began to sing:

"Chante, rossignol, chante!
Toi qui a le coeur gai;
Tu as le coeur a rire
Mai j' l' ai-ta pleurer."

He sang long and lustily, keeping time to the dip of his flashing paddle and defying his bursting heart. After all, was he not a voyageur and life but a song and a tear and then a dream or two?

"I wish I might have known him better," sighed Meade Burrell as he watched the receding form of the boatman.

"You would have loved him as we do," said Necia, "and you would have missed him as we will."

"I hope some time he will be happy."

"As happy as you, my soldier?"

"Yes, but that he can never be," said her husband, "for no man could love as I love you."

"Yours is a heart that laughter cheers.
Mine is a heart that's full of tears.
Long have I loved; I love her yet.
Leave her I can, but not forget,"

came the voice of the singer far down the stream.

And thus Poleon of the great heart went away.

BURLESQUE DANCER MUST STAY A WEEK IN GAOL

Montreal, May 3.—Millie de Leon, the "Girl in Blue," who was arrested at the Theatre Royal on Thursday night, charged with performing an indecent dance, was committed to jail on Saturday, bail being refused, until this morning, when Recorder Dupuis will render judgment in the case.

When the dancer was informed that she would have to be locked up until Monday, she jumped from her chair, and shouted to her counsel, Mr. T. C. Casgrain, K.C.: "I cannot stay here till Monday, I cannot, I have an engagement in Toronto."

However, Recorder Dupuis had adjourned the court and the woman was told she would have to remain, unless a Superior Court Judge could be got to issue a writ of habeas corpus, so as she could be brought before him and admitted to bail.

When the de Leon woman learned that she would have to remain in jail she became hysterical and her screams could be heard throughout the City Hall.

Manager McBrien, of the Theatre Royal, with the assistance of a couple of newspaper reporters, helped to revive her. She was then taken across to the headquarters, where she was locked up with half a dozen other women who had been condemned for drunkenness or loitering, and were waiting to be sent down to jail in the Black Maria.

During the early part of the afternoon Mr. T. C. Casgrain worked to have the woman admitted to bail on a writ of habeas corpus, but his efforts were unsuccessful.

It was the impression that the reason the dancer was committed without bail, was that Recorder Dupuis, who did not appear to be in the best of humor, was annoyed at her demeanor during the proceedings, especially at the flippant manner in which her jaws worked on a piece of chewing gum.

When she entered the witness box to give her evidence the Recorder sternly demanded: "Take that gum from your mouth."

"Pardon me, Your Honor," said the dancer. "I felt a little nervous, which anyone would under the circumstances, and I thought it might help me."

That was all the recorder had to say until after a long statement by the de Leon woman as to all the cities in the United States and Mexico that she had done her "muscle dance," in without having been interfered with in any way she volunteered to show the court how she could control her muscles. She proceeded to throw off her jackets.

That was too much for the Recorder, who half rising out of his chair and leaning towards the woman shouted; "Put on your clothes. This is no theatre."

The dancer begged his pardon, said she was aware it was not a theatre, but just wanted to show that she was not ashamed of her dance.

In giving a description of her costume Millie de Leon said that everything was made to fit tight in order to show the form and give it a pretty figure "and I think I have a pretty good one," she remarked to the court.

When asked if she had allowed a man who took one of the souvenir garters off her ankle on Wednesday night to take undue liberties, with her, she answered "No. I did not, and anyone who comes here and says that I did, is telling a story and a falsehood."

"Did you hear any calls or shouting from the audience while you were performing your dance," asked Mr. Casgrain.

"No, I did not," said Miss de Leon. "Usually when I am on the stage the theatre is even quieter than a church. You can hear a pin drop."

The evidence with the exception of that of two or three policemen and a clerk, who admitted they had never seen any muscle dancing outside of Montreal, seemed to be in favor of the accused.

Captain Landriault the police censor, whose duty it is to visit the Royal and other theatres said he saw nothing immoral in the dance. In his opinion it all depended on the state of a man's mind as to whether the dance was suggestive or not.

Manager McBrien, of the Theatre Royal, the manager of the Fashion Plates Burlesque Company and three or four newspaper reporters said they did not consider the "muscle dance" suggestive or immoral. Madame Lajennesse, the police matron testified that when the dancer was brought to police headquarters on the night of her arrest, in the costume she had worn on the stage, she found her properly clothed. The dancer's colored maid testified to the same effect.

SINGING EVANGELIST CURED BY ZAM-BUK

Wife Also Reaps Benefit

Mrs Birdie Ellis Johnston, of 166 Christina Street, Sarnia, Ont., gives the following testimony of what Zam-Buk has done for herself and her husband—

"Some time ago my husband was touring through Michigan on the car, 'Herald of Hope,' as a singing evangelist. The minister in the car had a son who in some manner contracted a serious skin disease, and my husband unaware of it, caught this from him. He was all broken out in sores which gave great pain and he tried first one remedy and then another, but none of them did him any good.

"When all else failed, we finally decided to try Zam-Buk, and see if this balm would succeed in healing the sores and stopping the itching and irritation. I am pleased to say that a few applications of Zam-Buk made a marked improvement, and perseverance for a short time with Zam-Buk effected a complete cure.

"About the same time sores also broke out all over my back and spread rapidly, until my back seemed one big sore! This was painful, and as Zam-Buk had proved so beneficial for my husband, I determined to give it another trial. My nurse rubbed my back well with Zam-Buk. We continued this treatment, and in a remarkably short time, considering the seriousness of the case, my back was quite cleared of the awful sores.

"On still another occasion I had need to use Zam-Buk. While cooking something on the stove, I happened to burn my finger very badly. I applied Zam-Buk, and bound up the finger. In the morning the pain had ceased, and the burn healed nicely."

For skin diseases, eczema, ringworm, blood-poisoning, and all kinds of eruptions, Zam-Buk is absolutely without equal. It also cures cuts, burns, bruises, sprains, scratches, ulcers, piles, salt rheum, prairie itch, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box, or post-free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

MODERN METHODS IN BUSINESS

Mr. Younge has delivered a series of three addresses on "Salesmanship" before an audience of young business men at the YMCA, in Montreal. Each of these three addresses took up one particular phase of a Salesman. The first one dealt with "The Salesman with Himself," the second with "The Salesman with his House," and the third with "The Salesman with his Customer." From these addresses the following outstanding elements that make for success have been gleaned. The elements of success according to him, are:

Honesty—with himself, with his house, and with his customer.

Health and confidence.

Companionship, tact, politeness and the power of liking men.

Patience and industry—the use of spare time in planning work, and in keeping the house posted on the minutest detail of every account.

Attractive personal habits in dress address and use of good language.

Absolute confidence in the house—and in the men at the head of the house.

Respect for and pride in the house and its officials.

Absolute obedience to instructions.

Enthusiasm about the firm's goods and a knowledge of the goods and the factory.

Orders—the house expects orders as well as expenses.

Economy in matter of expenses, and time.

A knowledge in human nature and how to handle men.

Consideration of courtesy to customers not as an obligation, but as a pleasure.

Judgment in selling goods—to sell goods on which there is the most profit.

Maintaining of prices—except under special circumstances.

Grit and courtesy under defeat.

Cultivation of honest methods with customers.

A study of how much to talk and how little—of when to go and when to stay.

Elimination of talk about yourself—of gossip—of too much talk about your competitors.

Don't load up customers with unprofitable lines.

Possession of good common sense.

Dr. CHARLES FLESH FOOD

The One Great Beautifier—This delightful dainty toilet preparation will positively beautify the human face and form. Applied to the skin it nourishes by absorption.

An Unrivalled Wrinkle Remover—Dr. Charles' Flesh Food acts quickly and surely on a skin seamed and otherwise blemished by exposure and advancing age.

Thin Cheeks, Necks, and Arms—These may be quickly rounded out and beautified by applying the Flesh Food as directed and there is no excuse for any woman to show unsightly angles if she will take heed.

Bust Developing—Undeveloped busts and those lost through sickness or nursing may be increased in size, made full, firm, plump and rounded into a beautiful contour by the use of this wonderful flesh developer. It acts alike upon the growing girl and matured woman.

For the complexion—Applied the same as a cold cream, it clears the complexion of all disfiguring blemishes, such as pimples, blackheads, a sallow or roughened skin and gives it the fresh appearance of youth. On sale at—

GETTING USED TO THE NOISE

The new fire team is being driven along George street to-day to accustom them to the street cars and general confusion of Peterbrough's hustling main parade.

A gentleman who is regarded as an expert judge of horseflesh, told the Review this morning that no cleaner cut or more likely looking span could be found in any Canadian fire department.

HARRY ADAMS

ENTERTAINED YOUNG PEOPLE OF ST. PAUL'S

Knox Church Y. P. S. Were "At Home" Last Night — A Good Time

A social evening was spent with the young people of St. Paul's Church last night. Mr. R. F. McWilliams occupied the chair. Rev. Dr. Gray was called upon to speak and gave an excellent address. To aim at one thing and do it well, was impressed strongly by the speaker. He spoke of the opportunities in this great country, if we work hard and are true to whatever we put our hands to. If we did this we would make a success of life. Physical culture was touched upon. The spiritual side, also, was plainly put forth. The musical programme was as follows:

Solo—Miss Dawson.
Dialogue—"Train To-morrow," Miss Eva Bentley, Messrs. Mervin, Williamson and Wm. Shepherd.
Duet—Misses Long.
Recitation—Miss Eva Bartley.

Cards and pencils were given to each person, the one having the most signatures received the prize. Miss Georgina Long was the winner, having 120 names on her card.

Refreshments were served, after which Mr. Laing, President St. Paul's Young People's Society, replied to words spoken by the president of Knox Society. He thanked Knox for the good time spent together. The National Anthem closed a splendid and well attended meeting.

Mrs. McPherson will talk on "Missions," next Monday, May 10th.

The graduating exercises of the Nicholls Hospital Nurses' Class of 1909, will be held in the Collegiate Institute Hall on Friday evening next, at 8 o'clock. The graduates will receive their diplomas and medals, and an interesting programme will be given. There will be no charge for admission and all interested are invited to attend. 3d

THE ANNUAL C.G.E. BENEFIT CONCERT

Will be Held To-morrow Night at Opera House—Plan is Open at Box Office

There promises to be a very large attendance at the annual C.G.E. Benefit concert tomorrow night. A most entertaining programme has been prepared.

The sale of tickets is now on at the Grand Opera House box office and the plan is filling up rapidly.

The plan opens for the general public on Wednesday morning, at 10 o'clock.

A NEW DEVICE FOR BUILDING MATERIAL REINFORCED BRICK

Five-eighths Inch Mesh of Heavily Galvanized 17-Gauge Wired Tested to 32 Tons Per Square Inch—Laid in the Mortar Between Courses of Brick—A Bond of Reinforced Concrete.

In December of 1908 an interesting test was made as to the strength of reinforced brickwork. Two piers were erected ten feet apart, and a hollow 8 inch brick wall was then built on top of these piers for three feet in height with one end projecting to make a cantilever five feet long. The 8-inch hollow wall consisted of brick-on-flat 4 inches; hollow of 1 1-2 inches; and brick-on-edge 2 1-2 inches; and no ties of any description were used to tie the walls together.

The reinforcement, which consists of 5-8 inch mesh of heavily galvanized 17 guage wire tested to 32 tons per square inch, was laid in every course of brick directly in the cement mortar which was in the proportions of three of sand and one of cement. This in hardening formed a band of reinforced concrete between each course brick.

The test was built in 15 degrees of frost and was allowed ten days to dry. The weather was mild during the drying and on December 4th the loading was commenced. Pig iron was used to load the test with, and on the first day of loading, 5,000 pounds was put on the span and 1,000 pounds on the cantilever. During the next three days the load was increased to 17,111 pounds on the span and 4,088 on the cantilever.

During the progress of the test, measurements were taken to find out if there had been any giving or sinking of the work with the load. It was found that while the cantilever had sunk 1-8 inch, the centre part had not sunk in the least and showed no signs of fracture whatever.

This test should prove of great interest to prospective builders as the adaptibility of this material lends itself to various forms of construction hitherto impossible without great expense.

An 8-inch hollow wall can be built by this system and as a hollow wall is damp-proof, the plaster can be put on the inside wall without using furring and laths and effects a considerable saving, besides giving a sound-proof and fire-proof wall, walls can be built and reinforced in this way, giving a stronger partition than an ordinary 4-inch or half brick partition and saves brick and mortar (by being built on edge); time in building, as there would be fewer bricks to handle to cover a given space; space (the partition would only measure 2 1-2 inches instead of 4 inches.

A partition reinforced in this way will support itself between piers or columns and carry a load as well there by doing away with the necessity of using a steel beam or heavy timber to carry it on.

The material may be used over door and window openings in place of steel beams and brick arches, and when this is done a saving of 50 per cent. over the cost of steel beams is effected.

For example, a five foot window opening can be reinforced with this material for $2 while it would cost at least $4.20 for two steel beams sufficient for that span.

The material makes a very good bonding fin between concrete work and under course of construction and the ends left sticking out for attaching to the brick.—Canadian Manufacturer.

COLONIAL WEAVING CO. TO GO AHEAD WITH ERECTION OF THEIR NEW FACTORY

The Colonial Weaving Company are arranging to proceed at once with the erection of their new factory in the south western part of the city near the Electric Works. The plans and specifications have been prepared and tenders for the building will be called for at an early date. A large amount of new machinery will also be installed.

Mr R. R. Hall waited upon the city council last night and outlined the plans of the company to the aldermen. Mr Hall was satisfied with the resolution passed by the council a week ago in reference to the company with two exceptions. He asked that the number of hands which must be employed be placed at fifty for ten months of the year instead of twelve months and that the city refund the $200 deposited by the company if they go ahead with the erection of the new factory at once.

Mr. Coulthard was also present.

The council was favorable to the amendments suggested by Mr Hall, and a resolution to that effect was passed on motion of Ald. Gillespie and Ald. Buller.

THE SEYMOUR POWER AND ELECTRIC COMPANY WANTS TO DO BUSINESS HERE

At the meeting of the City Council last night the following letter was read:

Toronto, April 30, 1909.

S. R. Armstrong, Esq.,
City Clerk,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—The Seymour Power and Electric Co. expects to complete the construction of a 7,000 h.p. power house about the beginning of September in the present year, and to supplement this very shortly with a still larger installation on water powers already controlled by the company. We have been given to understand that the City of Peterborough is desirous of largely increasing the supply of power available for consumption in the city and its suburbs. If this information is correct we would be glad if you would inform us officially upon what terms and conditions our company would be permitted to do business in your city. We do not desire any special or exclusive privileges of any sort, or any contracts for the sale of power to the municipality, but wish to secure the same rights and privileges to do business which are extended to merchants handling any line of goods. As the construction of the transmission line to your city from our power house will require about four months time, and an expenditure of considerably more than $100,000, we would ask that this enquiry be given prompt attention in order that we may complete our constructions during the summer months, if satisfactory arrangements should be made.

(Signed) Seymour Powwer and Electric Co., Limited.
Per U. G. G. Kerry, President.

The matter was referred to the Special Power Committee.

TO HAVE FULLEST POSSIBLE INFORMATION REGARDING NEW SMITH ST. BRIDGE

The city council is going ahead with the Smith bridge proposition. Ald. Turner brought up the matter at the meeting last night and moved that a report from an independent engineer be secured in reference to the bridge. He had every confidence in the city engineer but considered that it would be well to have a report from another engineer in order that the council and ratepayers would have the fullest information possible.

Ald. Hicks seconded the motion.

Ald. Phelan did not think such a move was necessary.

What engineer would you secure? asked an alderman.

This led to some discussion. Finally it was decided to have Mr W. J. Francis of Montreal, make a report upon the plans of the city engineer if a satisfactory agreement could be made regarding the price for such a report. The chairman of the Board Works will take up the matter.

WILL CLOSE AT ELEVEN O'CLOCK

Barber Shops to Close at This Hour on Saturday Nights and Before Holidays

After the 15th of this month the barber shops of the city will close at eleven o'clock on Saturday nights and nights before public holidays. A by-law to this effect was passed at the meeting of the City Council last night, a petition making the request having been presented to the Council. It was signed by the proprietors of all the shops in the city except two.

When the by-law came up Ald. Hicks suggested that it be left over for a month, as he would like to secure some information about it. The other aldermen did not see why there should be a delay and the by-law passed.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

Young Englishman Fell into the Water and was Unable to Swim

Only for the prompt action of R. J. Johnson, an employee of the Coal Dock Co., a young Englishman by the name of Grant, off the dredge Monarch, would have been drowned in the coal dock slip at Midland on Saturday last. The two men were in a punt, when in some way unnoticed by Johnson, Grant fell overboard and being unable to swim, was soon floundering helplessly about in the water. Johnson saw that he could not get the punt around quick enough to save him, and pulling off his coat he secured Grant in an exhausted condition, ready to give up. He managed to get him under the dock, where both men clung until assistance came. It requires a good deal of courage to jump into the icy waters of Georgian Bay just at present and the risk is a great one. This man, however, took the risk, and in so doing saved a life.—Lindsay Post.

A BRIGHT AND PLEASING SHOW

The Lorain Amusement Company Furnished an Unusually Good Entertainment Last Night

The addition of the clever vaudeville team of Ford and Miller makes the entertainment of the Lorain Amusement Company, which are filling an engagement at the Grand, a doubly attractive one This bright pair of specialty artists present an amusing and very pleasing act including singing, dancing and original comedy. The two juvenile performers have something new to offer and their turn last night was a particularly bright one and won them the favor and appreciation of the audience. The other special features are also most entertaining.

The pictures shown are the latest and best productions of the leading film firms and will be of a superior order this week.

The illustrated ballads at last evening's show were warmly applauded a couple of the latest popular ballads made a big hit with the audience.

Total Strength Last Night Was 230---Orders for the Week

There was a larger turnout of members at the regular weekly drill last night than the previous week. The regiment is shaping up nicely and should make a creditable showing in the celebration to be held here on May 24th. The orders for the week are as follows;

Headquarters, Peterborough,

Orders to officers commanding 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers;

No 1 company, detail of duty for the week ending May 10th, 1909; Capt. for the week, Capt. McWilliams, next for duty, Capt McLean; subaltern for the week, Lieut Higgins, next for duty, Lieut Comstock.

No 2 company— Following have been taken on the strength of the regiment A company, May 3rd, Privates Foster, Peters, Eolestone, Myland, McCarthy and Glover; D company, April 26th, Privates Moore, Brock, Uncles, Armstrong, Kemp, and Layfield. May 3rd, Privates Stone, Dunnitt, Shaughnessy, Caulder, Kellar and Carton; D company, May 3rd, Privates Gibson, Gray, Montgomery, Gurney and McEntaw.

No 3 company —Leave of absence from parade is hereby granted Lieut J. D Clarke.

No 4 company— The commanding officer has been pleased to make the following promotion;

A company—To be Sergeant, provisionally, Corp J M Storey.

D WALKER,
Capt. and Adjt.

"PARSIFAL" AT THE GRAND

The present theatrical season will be marked by the re-appearance of "Parsifal," at the Grand, Saturday, May 8th, for two performances, matinee and night. So much was written and printed on its first entry here that no extended notice of the story is necessary. It is, however, pleasing to announce that Managers Martin and Emery, who were the first to succeed in presenting this magnificent Wagnerian conception to thousands of delighted playgoers, are out again this season in more dazzling strength than ever.

The costumes and scenery will display a wealth of artistic beauty, in full keeping with the rigorous requirements of the production. Everything is new and has been specially prepared for the present tour, which is excelling in popularity and approval the signal success of last year's long run.

Managers Martin and Emery lay special emphasis on the fact that they have aimed at giving a performance and production in which the true relative importance of each is critically preserved. In other words, the presentment is made with the very best talent it was possible to secure, and the production has been prepared with the greatest care that skill and art could bestow.

As heretofore the performance will commence at 7.45 sharp and conclude at 11.15. The matinee will commence at 2 p. m. sharp. The auditorium is in total darkness throughout the first act, late comers, therefore, cannot be seated until its conclusion.

AUTOMOBILE IS BEING REPAIRED

Will be Put in Commission Within Next Few Days

The big automobile which was engaged last season in carrying passengers to and from this city to Chemong is undergoing repairs and will in a few days be ready for this season. It will be thoroughly overhauled and repainted and a capable chauffeur will be engaged to see that those using the automobile this year will be conveyed to their destination safely and sure.

HONORED BY HIS FRIENDS

Mr. Harry Mann Presented With Locket and Address Last Night

Mr. Harry Mann, who is leaving tomorrow for Grand Forks, B. C., was handsomely remembered by some of his associates last night, when he was presented with a beautiful gold locket and fob and a neat and appropriate address. The scene of the function was at the residence of Ald. Tovey, Boswell avenue.

The address was as follows:

We, the undersigned, take great pleasure in presenting you with this gift, and hope that when you gaze upon it; that is after you are through with admiring what is between the lens, you will remember the boys who looked upon you as one of the closest and best friends one would care to meet.

We are sorry you are severing your connections from us, but hope you will accept this locket as a small token of friendship, and wish you every success and prosperity in the Golden West.

EVOLUTION OF A BOY

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt Gave His Lecture Before Young Men at Park St. Church

A large number were present last night at the Park street Baptist church to listen to the lecture by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt on the "Evolution of a Boy," held under the auspices of the Men's Association. The Rev. Mr. Riddiford occupied the chair and the meeting was opened by devotional exercises. The speaker received good attention from his audience, during the lecture, which was told in a pithy and humorous manner. At the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Langfeldt for the profitable and entertaining evening which had been enjoyed, as a result of his lecture.

Young Man Voluntarily Asked to be Served With the Notice

A young man called at the Police Court this morning and stated to the Magistrate that he wished to be placed on the black list. Unfortunately he cannot abstain from the use of intoxicating liquor without assistance and is taking this means whereby he hopes to be helped. The Magistrate will give an order to the License Inspector to serve the necessary papers on the young man and also the liquor houses.

WEST PETERBORO' ELECTION PROTEST

The West Peterborough election trial will take place on Monday, Sept. 7th, before Mr. Justice MacMahon and Mr. Justice Magee.

The examination for discovery of J. R. Stratton, M.P., will be held before Mr. Johnston, barrister, at Peterborough when the Ottawa session closes.

When J. E. Jones, acting for the petitioner, asked the election judges to-day to fix the date, they were compelled to indulge in some calculating. One date would be suggested, and only Mr. Justice Magee would be available. Then another date would be mentioned, and Mr. Justice MacMahon would be engaged. Finally, the month of June was abandoned, and July and August, being vacation months, September was the next best. —Toronto Star.

FIDDLED FOR THE HONORS

They are having amateur nights in Port Hope as well as here. The following is from the Port Hope Guide:

The violin contest at the Picture Show in the Opera House last Saturday caused all kinds of amusement and the crowd which packed the theatre applauded loud and long. There were five entries but some didn't travel well on the heavy track. Johnnie Johnson, the veteran fiddler, romped home all alone, with first money and Hyndert Harris got a place, Peter Hawthorne, of Merrish, got show money and A. Putman and Daniel Byrne also ran.

The conditions were that all contestants should play jigs and the way they tore off "Turkey in Straw," and other old timers just made ones feet ache. Mr. Putman was not up in the jig music and he contributed "Old Black Joe" and "The Last Rose of Summer" with variations.

The first prize was $3, second $2 and third $1. Mr. Nelson Reynolds introduced the contestants and Mr. W. A. Russell acted as judge.

LEARN JIU JITSU TO FOIL POLICE

London Suffragettes Have Adopted a Novel Method

London, May 3.—Hitherto the London police have tackled the militant suffragettes with confidence in their ability to overpower any resistance. Is this confidence about to receive a rude shock?

The Japanese have taught the world that strength of muscle alone cannot always ensure victory when two humans come to grips, and the suffragettes are taking the lesson to heart by preparing themselves for future onslaughts upon the forces of law and order which have so far successfully barred their entrance to the House of Commons. Jiu jitsu is the means by which they hope to show how the weaker sex can overcome, by scientific skill, the brute force of mere man.

Jiu jitsu displays are to be a feature of the forthcoming fair of the Women's Freedom League at Caxton hall. Mrs. Garrud, one of the members of the league, is to show how easy it would be to overthrow by such methods any man who attempted to lay rough hands on the women.

"We shall have a mock suffragette meeting," she says, "and it will be invaded by a number of supposed rough men, who will attack us. Then the fun will begin.

"I will try my jiu jitsu on them, throw them, and the girls will hold them down. It will show how it is possible for women effectively to defend themselves against even the strongest and biggest of men.

"I have at present about 25 members of the league who are learning jiu jitsu, and they are making excellent progress."

SONG SERVICE AT SALVATION ARMY CITADEL

Rescued in London Will be Rendered by the Local Singing Brigade

Next Thursday evening at eight o'clock in the Salvation Army citadel, a song service entitled, "Rescued in London" will be rendered by the local singing brigade. This beautiful service was written by the Rev. M. Shaw and wherever given has met with a large measure of success, as it portrays so vividly schemes of every day life, as it really is. All those interested in the cause of Godliness, Temperance and Morality should be present as it gives an object lesson which should be beneficial to those in the various walks of life. The chair will be occupied by Staff Capt. Walton and the local silver band will render musical numbers during the evening.

ELEPHANT IS 221 YEARS OLD

Anniversary of Birth of Huge Beast is Celebrated at Chicago Museum

Chicago, May 3.—There was a surprise party at the Coliseum yesterday It came after the crowds that attended the circus matinee had left the building, and it was given in honor of Sallie. It was her birthday, and it marked the beginning of her 221st year.

Sallie is an elephant, and is said to be the oldest in captivity in this county. The table was laid in the middle ring and was decorated with a cake that stood nearly ten feet in height. The cake, the work of a chef at one of the big downtown hotels, was baked in sections, and covered with glace. It was filled with shelled peanuts and fruits, says the Record-Herald.

Sallie, wearing a big red bow around her neck and accompanied by her consort, Pete, was introduced to the guests at 5 o'clock. Sallie sat on a tub at the head, while Pete sat at the other end of the table. Every one went right through the menu. When the cake was cut both the elephants were given huge pieces of it.

Sallie, like a decorous, well brought up elephant, munched hers slowly, while Pete behaved like a bad boy. He tried to swallow all of his cake at once, and having done so started out to gobble up some of Sallie's. He was so miffed at being thwarted in his designs that he pulled the chair from under one of the guests.

Sallie is an Indian elephant and was exhibited in England before she was brought to this country. P. T. Barnum saw Sallie and purchased her. That was forty years ago and since that Sallie has travelled the country over many times under the Barnum banner.

The circus yesterday was the Mecca of many thousands. Children were very much in evidence at the afternoon performance. They fed the elephants, marveled at the hugeness of the mouth of the hippopotamus and laughed at the monkeys. The clowns delighted them, they applauded Bersac's ponies and any number of them went home fired with the ambition of becoming circus men and women when they grew to be as big as father and mother.

During the two and a half weeks that the circus has been on exhibition it has drawn a succession of enormous audiences.

The R.N.W.M.P. rounded up nine ladies of easy virtue and fined them $50 and costs.

JUNIOR CHURCH LEAGUE ORGANIZED FOR SEASON

Enthusiastic Meeting Held Last Night at Y.M.C.A.—Five Churches Were Represented and Prospects are the Brightest for a Successful League.

An enthusiastic meeting was held in the Y.M.C.A. last night and the Junior Church League was organized for the season. Those teams which were represented were George street, St. Andrew's, Knox, All Saints' and a Murray street representative came around after the meeting was over, and these five teams will have a strong nine in the league. The president, E. N. McWilliams, occupied the chair, and the minutes of last years' meeting were read by Mr. Mort Johnston, and the election of officers then followed.

It was decided that a player must belong to the church which is represented by a team and his certificate must be signed by the pastor.

The sum of $1 must be paid before a team will be admitted into the league.

A shield will be placed on the championship cup, which was won by the Chieftians last year.

Another meeting will be held in the near future for the purpose of drawing up a schedule for the season and all teams interested are asked to send representatives.

Mr. McWilliams was asked to accept the presidency again for another year, but reluctantly refused on account of not being able to spare the time. The officers of the league for this year will be:

Patron and Patroness, Mrs. and Rev. E. A. Pearson, Mrs. and Rev. H. G. Keith, Mrs. and Rev. J. G. Potter and Rev. Mr. Trumpour.

Hon. President—T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P.

President—Mr. Jack Pilling.

Vice-President—Mr. H. R. Hassard.

Secretary-Treasurer—C. Curtis.

BALL TOSSER'S CORNER

Rule 60.—The umpire is the representative of the league, and as such, is authorized and required to enforce each section of this code. He shall have the power to order a player captain or manager to do and omit to do any act which, in his judgment, is necessary to give force and effect to one and all these rules, and to inflict penalties for violation of the rules as hereinafter prescribed.

Rule 61.—There shall be no appeal for a decision of the umpire on the ground that he was not correct in his conclusion as to whether a batted ball was fair or foul, a baserunner safe or out, a pitched ball a strike or a ball, or in any other play involving accuracy of judgment, and no decision rendered by him shall be reversed, except that he be convinced that it is in violation of one of these rules. The captain shall alone have the right to protest against a decision, and seek its reversal on a claim that it is in conflict with a section of the rules.

In speaking of the necessity of a good backstop for a team to be anywhere near the top, one writer says: "I want to tell you when a club loses a good catcher, it hurts like the dickens. The N.Y. Giants are not as strong as they were when they had Bresnahan and look what a poor showing Chicago is making without Kling. Base-runners are taking such long chances nowadays that keeping down runs practically depends on the backstop's ability to head them off when they try to steal."

The floral tributes at the funeral of the late Dr. Powers were very beautiful and unique. One Philadelphia paper says—It was one of the finest collections of flowers ever seen at a funeral in this city, and several big vans were used to transport these mute tributes of grief and sympathy to the grave. One big bunch of roses left over was sent to the Northwestern General Hospital, where Dr Powers died. Two of the finest contributions were a miniature representation of a baseball field made of green ferns, with a diamond laid out in carnations. Running from third base to first base were spelled the word, in white roses, "Out," and a big red catcher's mitt with the word safe. The former came from the Philadelphia baseball writers, and the glove from President Johnson, of the American League.

The West-Ends did not hold their meeting last night, but will call another in a few days.

The Junior Church League got off to a good start last night. The success of this league is largely due to the hard work of the retiring president, E. N. McWilliams, and it is safe to say that the league will have another successful year with Mr. Jack Pilling at the helm.

Toronto received another beating yesterday at the hands of the Providence team. Rudolph pitched for Toronto, but the Grays managed to get away with four runs, and also kept Kelly's gang from crossing the plate.

Remember the intermediate ball meeting to-night. A large amount of business should be transacted, and all teams should have a representative on hand.

The senior league is not "dead" by any means, and a good attendance should be at the meeting to-night. It is up to the ball players themselves as to whether they wish to play this season or not. There are many good ball tossers who will unfortunately be barred from the other leagues, and if a senior organization is not formed they will be out in the cold.

Hal Chase held down first sack for the New York Americans yesterday it being his first appearance. He was presented with a silver cup by his team mates and was largely instrumental in taking a fall out of Philadelphia.

Toronto may secure the services of Lundgren of the Chicago Nationals.

Hans Wagner furnished the only excitement in the game with Chicago yesterday and with his base running and batting. This makes three straights for Philadelphia, the score yesterday being 9-2 in their favor.

A LONDON LETTER ON IAN HAGUE, MOIR'S VANQUISHER

London, April 29.—Is Ian Hague a coming world's champion? This was widely discussed by followers of the fistic art at the National Sporting Club last Monday evening, both before and after the Yorkshireman has so quickly defeated Gunner Moir. As is now well known, the men met to decide a 20-round contest for the heavyweight boxing championship of England, and a purse and stakes amounting to £1,300. Both had plenty of admirers, while the general body of sportsmen hoped for the success of Hague. This was solely because a win for Moir would have left us no better off than before, while a victory for Hague would improve our chance for regaining the world's championship. Directly the principals entered the ring, it was noticed that Hague was carrying many pounds of unnecessary fat around his waist, and and at that was fitter than when he met Taylor. The Gunner looked cool and collected as he sat in his corner and also well trained. Nothing of particular happened for half the first round, but Hague then got in a straight left on the Gunner's jaw, which toppled him over. He was up at once and foolishly dashed at his rival, without taking time to recover. Hague quickly got in another left and again Moir went to the boards, and when he got up was certainly "groggy." The Yorkshireman saw this, and, giving his man no rest, had him leaning on the ropes, in a helpless manner, in a few moments. A powerful right then caused Moir's knees to give way, and he sank into a sitting position right in his corner. Moir tried to rise after about five seconds, but found he could not do so, whereon he placed his hand in front of his face and looked the picture of misery. When the fatal ten seconds were up, the friends of Hague gave vent to their joy in demonstrative fashion, and the new champion was overwhelmed with congratulations, while he showed how pleased he was by shaking his hand to a number of his supporters behind the press seats. Hague quickly thought of his beaten rival, and like a good sportsman, walked over to Moir to say what a pity it was "both could not win." The contest only lasted two minutes 47 seconds, so it was short and severe.

It was instructing to listen to the comment after the contest and groups of sportsmen were observed in all directions going over the incidents. Mr. A. F. Bettinson, the hard-working club manager, and Lord Lonsdale, stood in the arena for some time discussing the affairs and what the former thinks of Hague was demonstrated the next day. Hackenschmidt, a big supporter of Moir, naturally looked upset at the summary defeat of his man, while, of course, the Gunner was much cut up, though he wants another chance at his conqueror. One of Hague's supporters remarked to the writer, "What do thee think of our lad fra Yorkshire?" and on your correspondent stating Hague might, with advantage, be better trained, added, "Well, I had some money for him, but I don't think so"—of which more anon.

Hague certainly possesses the ability to hit exceptionally hard, for Moir would not have been toppled over so quickly when he was strong. His past contests have also demonstrated that he can "mix it up," and take punishment. It is admitted, however, that he lacks the polish which made such men as Fitzsimmons, Corbett and Jackson so famous. Personally, the writer would like to have seen Hague wait a year, at least, before tackling one of the top notchers such as Sam Langford. A music hall tour, with a skilled and fast middle-weight boxer as a partner, would have greatly improved his speed and ring craft, while there are plenty of American and Australian boxers he might have met before "slipping" himself at a man, who many good judges believe, is better than Johnson. Against this, we have the National Sporting Club offering a purse of £1,400 ($7,000) as an inducement to Hague to meet Langford at headquarters on the Monday of Derby week, May 24th. Now, A. F. Bettinson is just as anxious as anyone to see the world's championship come back to England, and he evidently thinks Hague stands a good chance against Langford, and that should he be beaten it will not affect the future of the new star. Some men triumphed over a good beating, and Hague certainly impresses one as the sort of a man not to be easily daunted. Whether it would have been better for Hague to wait a bit or not, does not now matter, for he has committed himself to meet Langford and we shall not have long to wait for the result.

It is to be hoped the new champion will take steps to reduce his "tub" during the next few weeks. He should secure a skillful masseur, who would rub away a lot of fat and what is very important, harden the abdomen. Deep breathing and bending exercises would also help to this end. So much has been written anent Hague and Moir, that little space can be devoted to other important fistic affairs. It is good to know Jeffries has virtually decided to again enter the fray, while the victory of Jeannette over McVea, in 49 rounds, at Paris, brings this talented and game boxer right into the lime light.

Montreal's Venerable Canon.

The celebration by Rev. Canon Ellegood of Montreal of his 85th birthday, must have been a source of gratification to all the many friends of that venerable gentleman, who is both a vigilant apostle of the church and, old though he is, still a devoted disciple of old Isaak Walton and an enthusiastic golfer. Quite a common sight is that of the canon going over the course at Dixie in a time which puts many a youngster to the blush. And he invariably spends his summers in the pursuit of the frolicsome salmon or the wily trout. Probably no Montrealer has a better knowledge of the Maritime Provinces than has Canon Ellegood, and he never fails to impress upon his Montreal friends the much-needed lesson that there is no necessity to go out of Canada for recreation at any time of the year.

But the canon has some peculiarities. He is a vegetarian, and although not a teetotaler, he is one of those Anglicans who believe that drink is the cause of most evils. He makes it a rule never to have any liquor in his house, except, as in following the example of St. Paul, to keep a little alcohol ready to meet any stomach complaint. A few years ago Montreal reporter went to see the old gentleman in regard to some parish business and had an interesting interview. At its conclusion the following colloquy took place:

"Do you ever take anything?

The scribe, like most newspaper men, answered in the affirmative, and then the canon said:

"What will you have—an orange or an apple?"

What Heaven Is.

The wife of a minister was entertaining some friends the other day when one of the visitors asked the dominie's wife if she had ever painted a mental picture of Heaven. She said that she had not. Moreover, she declared, she had not thought it necessary to do so.

"Do you mean to say," inquired one of the visitors, with a show of surprise, "that you have listened to your husband's sermons without feeling that you know what Heaven is like?"

"I mean to say that I have not given the matter much thought. When my husband dies I want to go wherever he goes. That will be heaven enough for me," announced the clergyman's wife.

One of the women told her husband that night what the minister's wife said, and the brute remarked:

"That's what I call love that never grows cold."

Homemade Pocket Lamp.

A simple and safe pocket lamp that will last for about six months without extra expense can be made at home for a few cents.

Have your druggist take a strong vial of clear glass or a pill bottle with screw or cork top and put into it a piece of phosphorus about the size of a pea and fill the bottle one-third full of pure olive oil that has been heated for fifteen minutes, but not boiled. Cork tightly, and the result will be a luminous light in the upper portion of the bottle. If the light becomes dim, uncork and recork again. The lamp will retain its brilliancy for about six months. This makes a perfectly safe lamp to carry. These lamps are used by watchmen of powder magazines. Care should be exercised in handling the phosphorus, as it is very poisonous.

ANIMALS' WEAPONS.

Toothless Ant Eaters Have Claws Capable of Killing a Man.

Not long ago a British scientist and animal lover contributed to the world the result of his studies of animal life. Not the least interesting of his observations was "How Animals Defend Themselves."

"The larger animals in general," he says, "are provided with weapons more or less effective. The carnivora have sharp teeth, with which they rend their prey, and the toothless ant eaters have enormous claws, capable of killing a man.

"Many reptiles use their tails to strike down their game, while a large number of animals are supplied with pungent odors or secretions that are equally potent as a defence. In certain groups we find enormous horns and tusks that are intended entirely for purposes of protection. In some cases they are upon the top of the head, as in cows or oxen. Again, as in the elephant or some cetaceans, they are highly developed teeth.

"Our common horned animals depend upon their head weapons for defence. They are of two distinct kinds and subject to a marvelous variation in the different families.

"One group, represented by the common cow, is called the hollow horned ruminants, because the weapons are hollow and persistent—that is, they are never shed except in one instance—the prong-horned antelope.

"Another great group, represented by the deer, have solid horns that are cast at certain times and grow again very rapidly.

"When a stag loses its horns it retires to the dense woods, away from its kind, and remains secluded until it is armed again. The growth of the new horn is very rapid.

"In the rhinoceros we find a curious arrangement, the horns in some being easily moved, seemingly only held by the skin. They form terrible weapons, however, though totally different in their construction from the ivory tusks of the elephant, with which they are often matched, being formed of hairy fiberlike matter. Some species have a single horn, while others have two."

Fought a Duel.

Lisbon, May 4.—Following a violent altercation in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, Mello Barretto, and Rodrigues Nogueira, fought a duel with swords. Deputy Nogueira received a wound in the wrist.

The Turkish Fez.

The use of the fez is not controlled by religious faith, for it is worn by all classes in the Turkish empire and even beyond its limits. It is said to derive its name from the African city of Fez. In the Levant it is more commonly known under the modern designation of tarbosh. While the fez is not distinctively Turkish or Mussulman, its use is by no means ancient among the Ottomans. It is said that it was introduced to Turkish use by the Sultan Mahmud II., who adopted it from the Greeks.

Very Different.

"How dare you!" exclaims the angry composer to his critic. "How dare you, sir, characterize my music as you have?"

"I don't understand you," demurs the critic.

"You said that my rhapsody impromptu was a bum tune!"

"Bum tune! Oh, my good friend, I said no such thing! I said it was a vagrant melody."

Non-Union Bread Causes Riot.

New York, May 4.—Two men were in Gouveneur Hospital and ten were under arrest yesterday as a result of disorders arising from the strike among the bakers on the east side.

Schulem Rubenstein entered Michael Novak's restaurant and wine cellar early yesterday, and when he found a loaf of bread without the union label he struck the proprietor. Novak's wife threw a bowl of sugar at Rubenstein, fracturing his skull. A riot followed.

Good Coachman; Bad Chauffeur.

Lakewood, N.J., May 4.—Despondent over his troubles with his employer's motor car, owing to his inexperience as a chauffeur, is believed to have been the cause for the suicide of Carper Harbell, aged 52, chauffeur for Parke Wright of Buffalo. Harbell drowned himself by lying down in comparatively shallow water. He had been for many years coachman for the family and was recently given charge of the auto.

Castro May Sue France.

Paris, May 4.—Cipriano Castro, former president of Venezuela, is consulting with lawyers here with a view to bringing a damage suit against the French Government for his recent expulsion from Martinique, based on the fact that he was forcibly placed aboard a ship at Martinique and compelled to return to France, without being given the option of choosing his destination.

Aeroplanes for British Army.

London, May 4.—Wilbur and Orville Wright, aeroplanists of Dayton, Ohio, visited the War Office yesterday morning and had a conference with War Secretary Haldane and Major-Gen. Sir Charles F. Hadden, master-general of the ordnance, at which a proposal that they supply the British Government with one or more aeroplanes, was discussed.

OBITUARY

MRS. JASON ELLIOTT.

The death occurred to-day at noon of Elizabeth McPherson, wife of Mr. Jason Elliott. Deceased, who was 66 years of age, had been ailing for a considerable time, and was a daughter of the late John McPherson, of Cavan. One sister, Mrs. George Elliott, and one brother, Mr. John McPherson, of this city, are the only surviving members of the family. The late Mrs. Elliott was a Presbyterian in religion, and attended St. Andrew's church.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from her late residence, Alberta street, to the Little Lake cemetery for interment.

PERSONAL

Mrs. John Crane will not receive this week, but will receive the last week in May.

Mrs. Jas. Kendrey, who has been ill is improving. This will be good news to her many friends.

The many friends of Mrs. J. T. C. Lang will be pleased to hear that she has almost recovered from her recent illness.

AUTOMOBILE CAUSED RUNAWAY

Horse Attached to Delivery Rig Ran Away Yesterday

An exciting runaway occurred yesterday when the horse attached to Mr C. James' delivery waggon became frightened by a passing automobile and bolted from the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets where it had been left standing by the driver.

The waggon was well filled with cases of ginger beer and several were thrown out and demolished. The frightened animal was caught on Hunter street and neither horse nor outfit were damaged.

Y. M. C. A. T. AND F. CLUB.

The Y.M.C.A. Track and Field Club will have a run to-night at eight o'clock.

Calgary ratepayers voted against improvements to fire protection and the city hall.

A little German lad, while securing driftwood in the Red River, was drowned.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL IS THE PRINCIPAL PART OF A CHURCH

A Very Fine Address by Canon Greene at Convention in St. John's School Room—Annual Meeting of the City Sunday School Association.

The address of Canon Greene, of Orillia, president of the Ontario Sunday School Association, at St. John's school room last night, was a pleasure to his listeners, and a discourse of deepest interest. Canon Greene spoke on his subject in a delightfully simple, but very convincing way, and the earnestness and reasonableness of his remarks could not have failed to convey the impression that the speaker desired that his audience should have. The occasion of the address was the opening of the annual convention of the city and county Sunday schools. Rev. H. J. Keith, president of the city association, occupied the chair.

The meeting was opened by the singing of a hymn, followed by a scripture reading by Canon Davidson, who offered prayer on behalf of Sunday school work and workers. After a second hymn Canon Davidson welcomed the speaker of the evening and those assembled for the convention.

In connection with the convention the annual reports of the City Sunday School Association were presented. Mr. F. E. Kerr, the secretary, read his report and the treasurer, Mr. A. J. Johnson, presented the financial statement for the year. Both reports were adopted.

Mr. Keith suggested that a nominating committee be chosen to appoint the officers of the association for the coming year, and proposed that the committee present its list of nominations at St. Paul's to-morrow morning. The following were then chosen as members of the committee—Messrs. R. J. Devey, convenor; H. P. Kennedy, J. Hill and A. J. Johnston.

CANON GREENE.

When he arose to speak Canon Greene was cordially received. He said he was more than grateful for the very kind reception of the convention. He referred to the fine address he had recently heard in Orillia by the brother of Canon Davidson. It was a magnificent discourse in missionary interests, and one that was very inspiring and profitable.

THE PASTOR AND THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The speaker believed that anyone who had a really sincere love for souls, and who knew their lesson, could teach it. The address was directed especially to the pastors, but was of the greatest value to the lay worker, in that all important branch of the Christian church—the Sunday school.

Unless the pastor—the shepherd—was thoroughly in sympathy with the Sunday school he would kill it. The same applied to the temperance movement.

The indifferent pastor would have an indifferent Sunday school before very long. One who was officious would have a chaotic school. But the co-operate pastor would have a successful Sunday school, and the Sunday school was the basis of the church.

It was far easier to bring little children to Christ than it was to bring men. The children were far more easily influenced. If the pastor was sympathetic and threw his soul into the work of the Sunday school he would have a living church. The pastor should be the children's friend, and if he was the church would soon be filled to the doors.

THE RESPONSIBLE HEAD.

The pastor was the official, the responsible, the spiritual head of the Sunday school. He should know what every teacher in the whole school was teaching. To have the lessons rightly taught he should himself be the teacher of the teachers if possible. For he was responsible to God for the way the lesson was taught. He should be in active touch with teachers and thoroughly understand and sympathize with them.

KNOW THE CHILDREN.

The great necessity of knowing the children was dwelt upon. It was necessary to be familiar with the little ones, and to treat them with consideration. If the pastor gained the love of the children he would later have a loving congregation in his church.

Out of Canon Greene's own class fifteen ministers had graduated.

CHURCH AND HOME NOT SUFFICIENT.

It had been said that the Sunday school was an excrescence, and that the church and home were sufficient. The speaker knew of a man hostile to the Sunday school, and he trembled to bear it. But the greatest churches in the missionary work had the finest Sunday school attendances, and the children had been taught the value of the missionary cause.

In Canon Greene's own parish in Orillia he had the name of every boy and girl in the parish. He described the effective system employed in his parish in finding out these names.

The pastor with the interests of the Sunday school at heart was always looking out for the best teachers, and for the most spiritual man in his congregation to be his superintendent. A perfect understanding should exist between the pastor and his Sunday school superintendent.

The Sunday school and the church should always be one and harmonious. They were not two things, but should be one grand home.

SHOULD SELECT LIBRARY BOOKS WITH CARE.

"We are not half careful enough, I'm satisfied, about the books we get for our libraries."

As an example the speaker told of a very harmful book that he had seen in a Sunday school library. It had apparently been selected without thorough examination, for, while it had the appearance of a religious book in binding and in reading matter at the beginning, it made a mock of the whole of the scriptures. It was a blasphemous and dangerous book to fall into the hands of children. Such a book might find its way to the shelves of any Sunday school library, and care should be exercised in making selection of Sunday school reading-matter.

In conclusion the speaker admonished the pastors to encourage conventions and gatherings of the kind that was being held, and urged them to develop the missionary spirit in the children.

Rev. J. G. Potter spoke in eloquent appreciation of Canon Greene's address and a hearty and useful discussion followed.

IRL HICKS' PREDICTIONS AS TO WEATHER CONDITIONS IN MAY

A reactionary storm period is in progress as May comes in. Low barometer, cloudiness over the country from 1st to 3rd, breaking into electrical storms in many localities on the 2nd. The reaction to higher barometer, westerly winds, and fair, cooler weather will follow in regular order immediately behind these storm areas.

A regular storm period is central on the 6th, covering the 4th to the 8th. By the 5th, western sections will show decided rise in temperature, with corresponding fall of the barometer. Cloudiness and rain will attend and move promptly eastward over the country during the 6th, 7th and 8th. The Mars period will practically fade out after this period, although its presence may be noticeable up to the 20th. A decided change to cooler, with probable frost at night, will set in behind the storms to the westward about the 7th, and during the 8th, 9th and 10th, this change to fair, cooler weather will follow close on the western sides of storm areas, reaching in its eastward progress, most parts to the Atlantic coasts. If seismic shakes are to occur during the first half of May, in every probability they will fall within three days of the 5th, or during the moon's sweep from the celestial equator on the 2nd, to the greatest declination south on the 8th.

A reactionary storm period falls on the 11th, 10th and 13th, and but for the fact that all central parts of our continent are in the focus of solar energy, storm-producing causes are about at the minimum at this period. As a rule there is an abnormal tendency to daily cycles of thunder storms for several days in succession in much of this month, but the indications are that disturbances will be light at the reactionary period. The barometer will react to higher, and change to decidedly cooler will appear from about the 12th to the 15th. It is very common for frosts to occur in most parts to the northward between the 10th and 15th of May, but there are no decided probabilities of heavy frosts at this time.

A regular storm period will be in force from the 15th to the 20th, having its centre on the 19th. The month's passage over the celestial equator on the 15th, so near its perigee on the 16th, and new on the 19th, will hasten storm conditions at this time. Sudden change to very warm will appear westward on the 15th, attended by falling barometer and other decided indications of coming storms. These conditions will widen in extent and grow more intense as they move eastward, causing a series of heavy rains, wind and thunder storms from about the 16th to 20th. There are no abnormal reasons to apprehend dangerous storms at this time, and yet tornadoes are entirely possible. Those who observe with any degree of care will readily foresee any such danger. Heat, humidity and low barometer always precede dangerous storms, and for many hours in advance all these conditions are manifested. Even the birds and beasts show that they experience bodily discomfort with instincts of approaching danger. With a reliable barometer and hygrometer to consult, such a thing as being surprised by a tornado, or other violent storms, is simply an impossibility. These faithful instruments always give timely warning, and no home or public building should be unprovided with them. Another seismic period lies about the 17th to the 21st, central on the 19th. Change to higher barometer and much cooler will be natural from about the 20th to the 23rd, the change of course being progressively from west to east, carrying with it fair and clearing weather.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 23rd, 24th and 25th. The storm diagram shows that this period is at the centre of a mercury period, which fact increases the chances of active disturbances at this time. Thick, prolonged cloudiness, with storm paroxysms on the storm days, are characteristics of the Mercury periods. Only moderate and brief change in weather conditions will take place between this and the closing storm period of the month, causing a prolonged threatening spell of weather, with possibly cooler about the 26th and 27th.

A regular storm period covers the 28th to 31st, being central on the 29th. This period is at the culmination of the Mercury disturbance and is apt to bring several days of threatening, stormy weather. From Saturday, the 29th, to June 1st, a series of daily thunder storms with possibly some severe wind storms, should not be unlooked for. The outlook for May this year seems better and more placid, upon the whole, than for two or three years.

THE CITY COUNCIL'S BUSY NIGHT

Mayor Rush and all the aldermen were present at last night's meeting of the City Council, when a large amount of business was transacted. Adjournment took place at 10.30 o'clock.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A letter was received from Mr. Harper, secretary of the 57th Regiment Band, for the usual yearly grant. This was referred to the Finance Committee.

The request for privileges to erect boat houses on city property were granted under the usual conditions.

The following communications were received and dealt with.

From C. M. Schmidt in reference to the blocking of the Downie street creek, which has before caused sickness in his family and is now injuring his buildings.

The council was to have taken this matter up two years ago but failed to do so.

From the Seymour Power and Electric Co., Ltd., of Campbellford, re power. The company's letter will be found in another column.

Ald. Buller reported as follows for the Fire, Water and Light Committee:

Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows;

1. That the chairman be authorized to arrange with R. Hall to look up two horses for the fire department, he to be paid for doing so, if he gets a horse or horses, which the Committee purchases.

2. That the street lights put up on the authority of the committee of last year be inspected by this committee and if the committee approves of the location of the lights that they be paid for.

3. That the order to place arc lamps at the corner of Smith and Park sts. and the corner of Smith and Fairbairn streets be rescinded.

4. That the amount saved by the reduction in the rental to be paid for hydrants be added to the appropriation for the fire department.

WANT $100.

Ald. Bradburn wanted $100, the amount saved by the reduction of the hydrant rental, left with the Finance Committee. The total amount is in the vicinity of $500. The $100 which was to be given the 57th regiment to assist in the entertainment of the visiting regiments on May 24th, was to come out of this money.

Ald. Buller opposed it. The money belonged to the Fire, Water and Light Committee, he said.

Ald. Hicks agreed with Ald. Buller. After the Fire, Water and Light Committee had pared down their estimate to the finest possible point, the Finance Committee had cut them a thousand dollars. The tax rate was too low.

Other members of the Fire, Water and Light Committee also took this stand. After a lively discussion it was decided to deduct the $100 and give the remainder to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Ald. Morrow was in favor of having the whole amount left with the Finance Committee.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Morrow that the treasurer be authorized to pay for the gravel purchased by the city, on the authority of the city engineer.

The report of the Board of Works was read by Ald. Phelan, the report of the Property committee, by Ald. Bradburn, the report of the Legal committee by Ald Turner and the report of the committee of the whole by Ald Hicks.

SEWER EXTENSION

Ald. Morrow asked what was being done regarding sewer extension, a matter upon which Mr Chipman had been asked to make a report.

Ald Phelan said Mr Chipman was in the west and had not made his report yet. He would, however, look into the matter at once.

Ald. Duncan drew the attention of the council to a hydrant near the Cordage Co's. factory which was leaking. Ald. Buller said it had been repaired.

Ald. Morgan said that although two motions had been put through the council, the watering trough in Ashburnham had not been connected with the sewer as authorized.

Ald. Phelan said he would look into the matter at once.

ABOUT THE MARKET

Ald. Duncan said the market hall was not being kept clean and moved that Mr. Ball be dismissed if it was not put in proper condition.

This caused some discussion and it was decided to have Ald. Bradburn notify Mr Ball to have the market hall put in good condition.

SAFE EYE-GLASS FITTING

Selling eye-glasses out of a stock like scissors or thimbles, is a dangerous practice that is altogether too prevalent.

There should not be the faintest doubt in the mind of any person who finds the need of wearing glasses, that they are identically, scientifically fitted to the eyes.

We offer you safe spectacle fitting. And that is the only kind you should be satisfied to accept. There is nothing on this earth dearer than a cheap pair of spectacles that you have chosen yourself simply because you can see with them.

LAWLESSNESS STILL RULES

Massacre Continues at Adana and District--Dead in Province Surrounding Stricken City Number 30,000—Refugees Reach 35,000.

Adana, Asiatic Turkey, May 3, via Larnaca, Cypress, May 5.—Adana is still lawless. More people were killed in the city Monday. There are 30,000 dead in Adana province as a result of the massacres and 35,000 homeless and penniless refugees are wandering in the vilayet.

The deaths in Adana city alone are estimated at 6,500. Adana is terrorized by 4,000 soldiers, who are looting, shooting and burning. No respect is paid to foreign property. Both the French schools have been destroyed, and it is feared that the American schools, commercial and missionary, in Adana are totally ruined.

The new vali has not as yet inspired confidence. There is reason to believe that the authorities still intend to permit the extermination of all Christians. The troops here are making a pretence of throwing "water" on the flames; instead of water they use kerosene, and are thus purposely adding to the conflagration. Apprehension is felt here regarding the American missionary stations at Hadjin and Tarsus. All letters and telegrams sent out through Turkish channels are censored.

Tales of Cruelties.

Tarsus, Asiatic Turkey, April 24, via Constantinople, May 5.—Authentic details of the atrocities committed by the fanatical Mohammedans in the villages and farms in this district are now coming into Tarsus with sickening abundance. At least 10,000 persons lost their lives in this province, some estimates placing the total at 25,000. In one town of 4,000 people, there are less than 100 left, nearly all women and children. Entire families were burned to death in their homes. Hundreds of girls and women were seized and carried off to the harems.

At one place a party of 100 Armenians surrendered to the soldiers. The prisoners were taken to an open field, where the women were ordered to stand apart from the men. Every one of the men was then shot. In many cases they were done to death with their women clinging to them, trying to save their lives.

Turkish young men around Tarsus to-day are trading Armenian girls among each other for horses and modern repeating rifles.

There have been numerous instances of the murdering of women and children with deliberation and there are other instances where women were brought out one by one and shot down, the bystanders clapping their hands at each fresh execution.

DRINK CENSORS ARE ASKED FOR

Orange, N.J., May 5.—The first request which has come up in New Jersey that a governing body take advantage of the Hillery law for the appointment of a board of protectors was made to the Orange Common Council last night. Under this law, which is mandatory, it is the duty of the governing body of every municipality to appoint three discreet persons, whose business it shall be to designate all drunkards in the municipality and furnish the list of saloonkeepers who are forbidden to sell intoxicants, to those whose names appear on the list.

RECORD RIDE IN A TAXICAB

London, May 5.—A taxicab ride of more than 1,000 miles, the longest one on record, has been made by Chas. Klein, a New York playwright.

Calling a taxicab off the cabstand in the Strand, Mr. Klein ordered the much astonished chauffeur to head for Edinburgh.

From Edinburgh he proceeded to Glasgow, from which port a steamer was taken for Londonderry.

After an extensive tour through Ireland, Mr. Klein dismissed the taxicab man at the Queen's Hotel, Queenstown. The trip took five days. Mr. Klein is now on the way to New York on the Cedric.

Four Arrests for Smuggling.

New York, May 5.—Four arrests were made yesterday by United States Marshal Henkel on charges arising out of the seizure of smuggled trunks at this port about a year ago. Those arrested are George C. White, dealer in dressmakers' supplies; Lorne B. Walker, a former employe of the customs' department; W. H. Kilgamon, a former salesman, and his wife. The Government is said to have been cheated out of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Chester Jordan Guilty.

Cambridge, Mass., May 5.—Chester S. Jordan was found guilty in the first degree, on a charge of murdering his wife, by a jury in the Middlesex County Superior Court yesterday, after being out 19 hours.

The woman's dismembered body was found in a trunk which Jordan had taken to a Boston lodging-house. The defence was "epileptic insanity."

The Fencing of Railways.

Ottawa, May 5.—Counsel for the railways yesterday protested before the Railway Board at the recent order providing for fencing of right of way of railways improved cattle guards and improved farm crossings.

Chairman Mabee remarked that he had been told that railways could be fenced for $80 a mile. Mr. Phippen for the C.N.R. retorted that it would cost more like $500. The railways were asked to get some additional information.

Charge Withdrawn.

Midland, May 5.—Joseph Peak yesterday withdrew the charge of assault laid against License Inspector Fisher, resulting from a fight in court last week, and the men shook hands and departed together.

THE STRUGGLE FOR A STORE

Employes of Montreal Dealers Engage in Battle

Montreal, May 5.—Carsley's and Scroggle's departmental stores engaged in a pitched battle yesterday morning for the possession of the Scroggle store. The police were called in, and men were thrown through the glass doors into the streets in the excitement.

A couple of years ago Carsley bought the store occupied by Scroggle. Scroggle made no arrangements to leave, claiming that Carsley senior, before his death, had given his consent to staying another year, but he has no paper to that effect.

The Scroggle firm were notified on Monday that they could not sell goods yesterday. Carsley had men in the store all night measuring for counters, and when Scroggle and his men came at 8.30 they were let in, but told that they could not sell goods, that all they could do was to take their goods out. Only one door was open. They took a crow bar and opened the front door by force. Then they threw the men from Carsley's out by force, and, in doing so, threw Lalumiere, special constable, through the window of the front door.

Scroggle has had a writ issued asking Carsley to appear in the Criminal Court on a charge of house-breaking.

ELECTROCUTED AT NIAGARA FALLS

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 5.—Jos. Cronin, 16 years old, of Chicago, a member of the Paulist Chorister Society of that city, was electrocuted yesterday morning by an Ontario Power Co. cable carrying 11,000 volts. Francis Kepperling, aged 19, who was with Cronin, was badly burned about the hands.

Members of the Paulist Choir were here to give a concert and were visiting the Falls. Coming down hill from the convent they encountered three cables carrying 11,000 volts. Kepperling caught hold of one and was thrown insensible to the bottom of the hill, while Cronin, touching the same cable, was killed. Flames immediately broke out, burning the grass for 40 feet around and incinerating the body.

Kepperling said the hill was so steep that the two boys crawled down it backwards and did not see the cables until they touched them.

PRIZES OFFERED FOR BEST ESSAYS

Ottawa, May 5.—The executive council of the Strathcona Trust for the Encouragement of Physical and Military Training in Public Schools has decided to offer prizes for the best papers upon the following subject: "The best method of introducing and developing a general system of physical and military training in public schools throughout the Dominion, upon the principle enunciated in the rules governing the administration of the Strathcona Trust." Six prizes of $250, $150, $100, $75, $50 and $25 respectively will be awarded. Competitors are limited to Canadian school teachers and pupils in Normal Schools. Essays may be written in either English or French and must reach the Department of Militia not later than August 1st next.

Graham Sues Forget.

Montreal, May 5.—The suit taken by Sir Hugh Graham, proprietor of The Star, against Rodolphe Forget, M.P. for Charlevoix, is causing a good deal of comment in political circles as the relations of the two gentlemen were extremely intimate during the campaign of 1904. The now defunct newspaper, The Journal, was printed the first few months in The Star office, and from this comes an action for $1,700. Sir Hugh claims that Mr. Forget promised him responsibility, which the defendant absolutely denies.

MGR. SBARRETTI ISSUES CALL

Official Notice of Plenary Council to be Held at Quebec is Published

Toronto, May 5.—In the Catholic Register yesterday, Monsignor Sbarretti issued his official call for the plenary council to be held in Quebec next fall. The conference will be for the purpose of widening the scope of the Roman Catholic Church in Canada. The conclusion of the letter is as follows:

"Our holy father, Pope Pius X., the Vicar of Christ on earth, among the innumerable cares of his supreme pontificate, manifesting another signal proof of his paternal solicitude for this chosen portion of the Lord's vineyard, has deigned after consultation with the most eminent father of the Sacred Congregation of the Council, to approve and praise the project of a Canadian Plenary Council to be held in the City of Quebec; and by apostolic letters under date of March 25, 1909, to entrust to us, though unworthy, the office of convoking the same council and presiding over it."

BOARD OF EDUCATION FAVOR THE PENNY SAVINGS BANKS

Mr. A. MacMurchy, K.C., Toronto, and Mr. R. A. Mulholland, Port Hope, Outlined the System at Meeting Last Night--Matter Was Referred to the Supervision Committee.

At the conclusion of the addresses by Messrs McMurchy and Mulholland before the Board of Education and the teachers of the city schools, the following resolution was moved by Mr Robt. Fair and seconded by Mr W H Hill and carried:—

"Having heard Messrs. MacMurchy and Mulholland on the advisability of establishing Penny Savings Banks in connection with our schools, and believing that the matter is deserving of our most serious attention and should be dealt with by the Board of Education, I would therefore move, seconded by Mr W H. Hill, that the matter be referred to the Supervision Committee together with the Principal of the Collegiate Institute, Principal of Separate School and the Public School Inspector who may consult with their teachers, and that they bring in a report at the next meeting of the Board.

I would also couple with this motion the thanks of the meeting to Messrs. MacMurchy and Mulholland for the trouble they have taken to bring the matter to the attention of the members of the Board of Education and the teachers of Peterborough."

The chairman submitted the first part of the motion to the members of the Board of Education and it was carried unanimously.

The Chairman then submitted to the whole meeting the resolution of thanks to Messrs. MacMurchy and Mulholland which was carried by a standing vote.

As a result of the forcible and convincing remarks of the two speakers, at the Collegiate Institute last night Penny Savings Bank may be established in connection with the schools in this city. In addition to the members of the Board of Education many of the teachers were present in good numbers to listen to the addresses of Mr. Angus McMurchy, KC, of Toronto and Mr R A Mulholland of Port Hope. They were greatly impressed with the large amount of good accomplished in other places and which would result here if the system was introduced into the schools.

Mr L M Hayes, KC, occupied the chair and introduced the speakers to the audience.

Mr. McMurchy was the first speaker and he expressed his appreciation at so large a number being present and also congratulated the city upon its splendid educational equipment by which the training of the young was carried on. Thrift was the foundation of all great nations and was like all great things not a new idea. The character of a nation was also determined by the amount of thrift exercised, and was it not a good thing to teach the children the habit of saving when young? The children of today receive a larger amount of pocket money than the children of years ago. Then there is more temptation in their way and they are apt to learn habits which will lead to their disadvantage in later years. They spend their money in useless things and thus lose the opportunity of doing good both to themselves and others. The Penny banks in Toronto were started by two Peterborough men, the first one being started in 1877 by Rev. D. J. Macdonnell and there was today deposited in the Penny Banks, the sum of $110,000. The first year the bank was started the deposits amounted to over $500 and many homes have been built and families made happy through the instrumentality of these children being taught to place their money in a Penny Bank. The second branch of the penny banks was started by Mr Chas E. Clarke who introduced the system into three Public schools. It was in 1903 that a charter was obtained for the Penny Bank and in Toronto not one dollar had been lost. Three quarters of a million dollars worth of transactions have taken place and a surplus of between four and five thousand dollars realized. The Penny Bank was now in most of the Public schools in Toronto besides other institutions. The speaker gave a very clear and interesting account of how the money is received by the teacher from the pupils in the schools and it did not mean a waste of time. In Port Hope, the bank has been in operation two years and there are deposits amounting to one thousand dollars. This system is backed by other banks and financial men and is worthy of the serious consideration of all. Financial reports tell us of the large amount of money which is being wasted mostly by children who spend their nickles and coppers on the many things which appeal to their fancies. The five cent shows in Toronto had done a lot of harm in cutting down the deposits in the schools but the teachers are making a big fight as facts show that the money is spent in these places by those who can ill afford it. It is better to teach both adults and children the habit of thrift than give them charity. This had been shown in the hard times in Toronto in 1907 when much good had been done by those who had deposits in the Penny Banks, and it was necessary to increase the interest if the banks were to be a greater success. He dealt with some objections that were raised against the object of the institution. Some people thought that it encouraged the children to be mis-

OPEN VERDICT AT HAMILTON

With Assurance From Jimmy Baum That Miss Kinrade Had Nothing to Do With Crime and Belief That Man She Feared Was Guilty

Hamilton, May 5.—The verdict was brought in at 11.50 last night by the coroner's jury after deliberation of almost exactly one and a half hours, thus ending an inquest which was without parallel with respect to duration and the herculean efforts put forth by the crown to elucidate the mystery of the tragic end of Ethel Kinrade in her home at 105 Herkimer street, Feb. 25, last. The finding is:

"We the jury assembled to enquire into the death of Ethel Kinrade, hereby find the deceased met her death by shot wounds inflicted by some person or persons unknown to the jury.

"Owing to the fact of the unreliability of some of the evidence produced, the crown is specially requested to continue this investigation.

"And we also desire to express our hearty appreciation of the able, courteous and kindly manner in which this investigation has been conducted by Coroner Anderson and counsel for the crown."

There was little of the dramatic in the rendering of the verdict. The court room was bare of the curious crowd which has packed it to suffocation during the long sessions of the proceedings.

Only the newspapermen, Coroner Anderson and jury were present when B. B. Spera, the foreman laid the document on the coroner's desk. He read it deliberately, pausing upon almost every word in the midst of a dead silence.

The open verdict was quite expected, and the significant comment and suggestion therein contained all that the crown had looked for, so it is learned. The absence of direct tangible evidence it has been felt all along would not justify any other kind of verdict, but the investigation will go on.

"Jimmie" Baum testified regarding Miss Kinrade's behavior in the south and said it was all that could be desired. On many occasions he said she seemed to be in terror of someone.

The dramatic moment of the whole enquiry was when counsel dismissed him and he asked permission to say a word. In a voice vibrating with emotion he made his statement.

"'Taint this little girl," he concluded, after warning coroner and jury that they were wrong if they thought Miss Kinrade committed the crime. If they caught the party who chased her from Portsmouth they would have the person who killed her sister.

It is stated that what Baum had in mind as a theory of the crime was that the mysterious Miss Elliott had come to Hamilton to persuade Florence to return to the south, and that Ethel found her in the house when she returned and was shot then by the strange woman.

Pinkerton Detective Pender declared that Miss Kinrade's conduct at Virginia Beach had apparently been irreproachable.

MOTION FOR G.T.R. TRAFFIC STIPULATION IS DEFEATED

Loan Bill is Given Its Third Reading and Amendments by Borden, Ames, Middlebro and Meighen Are Voted Down By Small Majorities

Ottawa, May 5.—The G.T.P. loan was debated again yesterday. In the afternoon R. L. Borden introduced a resolution calling for a Canadian traffic stipulation. It was defeated 106 to 70, the lowest Government but one this season. Amendments moved by Messrs. Ames, Middlebro and Meighen were likewise lost, and the bill given its third reading.

Hon. G. E. Foster opened the attack yesterday morning and was informed by Hon. Mr. Fielding that all the Grand Trunk was doing was pledging its credit. In the end it turned out that the Grand Trunk has floated equipment bonds for three million pounds, the last million having been floated very recently. Of this amount $8,273,000 has been spent. Mr. Foster then declared that had Laurier been promoter of a company to build the road and had in his prospectus put his name to the statement by him in the House he would have been in the hands of the law for falsification.

"Blind hostility," was Sir Wilfrid's characterization of the Foster attack:

In answer to the question yesterday afternoon why they were not making use of the Intercolonial Railway, his reason was the same, he said, for which the Conservative Government in their day refused to make use of the Intercolonial for the C.P.R. transcontinental—it was unsuited. If they had been as generous to the G.T.R. as the Conservatives were to the C.P.R., the G.T.P. would have better securities to offer, said Sir Wilfrid.

R. L. Borden took issue with the Premier that the Conservatives were opposed to the building of the railway. They were only opposed to the methods by which it is being built. Mr. Borden moved his resolution, which was as follows:

"That the order for the third reading be discharged and that the said bill (G.T.P. loan) be referred back to committee of the whole House, with power to amend by adding effective provisions binding the Grand Trunk Railway Co., as well as the Grand Trunk Pacific, to fulfill the conditions upon which aid has been granted to the enterprise, namely, the development of trade through Canadian channels and Canadian ocean ports, and forbidding the diversion of Canadian traffic to foreign ports, except when specifically routed thereto by the shipper."

After Messrs Conmee, E. M. Macdonald, Crosby and Loggie had spoken, the vote was taken and Mr. Borden's amendment was defeated 106 to 70.

A VICTORY FOR LABOR PARTY

London, May 5.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The bye-election for the Attercliffe division of the City of Sheffield has resulted in the return of the Labor candidate. Four candidates offered themselves: King Farlow, official Unionist; Muir Wilson, Independent Unionist, who contested the seat at the general election; R. C. Lambert, Liberal, and Mr. Pointer, Labor. The poll showed Pointer 3,531, Farlow 3,380, Lambert 3,175 and Wilson 2,803.

At the general election there was a straight party contest between Ald. Batty Langley, Liberal, whose unexpected resignation created the vacancy, and Muir Wilson, the former being sucessful by a majority of 787, the figures standing at 6,523 to 5,736. It is not, therefore, easy to institute a comparison, but at this bye-election the aggregate Unionist exceeded that at the general election by 447. This is a Labor gain.

BARILLIER IS GIVEN FREEDOM

St. Catharines, May 5.—Charles E. Barillier yesterday afternoon appeared before Magistrate Campbell to answer to a charge of aggravated assault on his wife. He pleaded guilty. His wife was not present, but it was explained that she desired that no punishment be inflicted, if possible. Barillier had handed over $2,250 cash to his wife and had signed an agreement to give her about half of the expensive furniture in the home on Vine street and the couple mutually agreed to separate. Barillier further agreed to pay all the bills incurred by his act. The magistrate gave the prisoner a severe lecture on the evils of drink and a bad temper, and suspended sentence.

River Driver Attacked His Brother-in-law With an Axe --- Liquor is Blamed for it

North Bay, May 5.—Provincial Constable Connor arrested a man named William Dagg at Cache Bay Monday and lodged him in jail at Sturgeon Falls as a result of a murderous assault which took place last week on the Sturgeon river, about 20 miles north of Sturgeon Falls. Dagg was employed as a river driver on J. R. Booth's log drive, and in the same crew was Abe Welsh, his brother-in-law, with whom it is alleged he was on bad terms, on account of family differences arising out of a legacy. Dagg filled up with liquor one night at the hotel at Field Settlement, on the Sturgeon river, and the next morning attacked Welsh with an axe, cutting his head open. A fierce fight ensued, Welsh defending himself with a stick and disarming his assailant.

A short time afterwards, when the men were standing about the fire, Dagg suddenly sprang upon his brother-in-law and knifed him just above the heart. He was again disarmed and taken with the wounded man to Cache Bay.

Welsh is recovering.

Dagg admits his guilt and blames the liquor. The giving of a liquor license at a place like Field, in the heart of extensive lumber operations, has long been a source of regret.

THE TARIFF SITUATION

"The new United States tariff now in process of making will most likely concede much to Canada. According to an expert estimate the duties specified in the Payne bill, on the whole, are considerably higher than the Dingley schedules. That measure is being amended in the Senate, but when Congress finishes its task the American tariff wall against Canada will remain something like twice as high as the Canadian tariff against the United States. Not that the Washington Government is imbued with any animosity towards this country, but that is the way in fiscal policy works out."—The News.

It is a matter of regret that the Toronto Globe does not circulate more amongst American Senators. The Globe says a protective tariff—even Canada's—is a foolishness, etc. By so much and more, therefore, is the American tariff a foolishness. But when we come to the French tariff, then, as the negro said after the explosion, "Where are we?" The Globe cannot even have been heard of in France or the people of that rich but benighted region would never do the things they are doing, and in a land of peasant farmers, too! But since poverty does not arrive to bring such people to their senses what must be our conclusion? None other than that the Globe is wrong. But the Globe is nothing, if not pig-headed, and that it will change its squeal to a more reasonable tune is unlikely.

COAL

There is no justification for the retention of a protective tariff on anything that is thereby raised in price, where that commodity is a natural product such as coal. The duty on coal coming into Canada is due to the request of Nova Scotia coal owners. As a consequence, we in Ontario pay heavily to protect the coal trade of the St. Lawrence in the hands of free-traders like Senator Cox, Mr. James Ross and other coal mine owners. This is pure privilege. It does not develop an industry which will ultimately be able to stand competition. It involves a great hardship upon our working people, not a benefit. It is time that it, like other combines, should be shut off. Protection is for protection, not punishment.

WHAT'S THE MATTER?

This old drill shed is now even a greater eyesore than before and the scores of people whose eyes are offended by it ask why the Militia Department is not communicated with and the debris removed. Surely it would be no extraordinary effort of public spiritedness on the part of our representative at present at Ottawa to "get a move on" and move the few cart loads of black rubbish that looks like a black-eye on the face of the fine new drill hall. If it is an example of laziness or inefficiency that is being set up for the information and instruction of Collegiate students in the art of how not to do a thing the motive is apparent but, as it is, without some such explanation it affords a perpetual cause of irritation and complaint. If we can't get the [illegible] Lake bridge and rural mail delivery at any rate let us get this heap of debris removed and if the government at Ottawa won't do it let us call for volunteers from among the vast multitude whose idea of spring housecleaning is not exemplified in Central Park.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Rev. Dr. Workman is suing the Wesleyan College of Montreal for "wrongful dismissal." The sum asked is $5,000.

Dr. Workman has not, evidently, an altogether supramundane view of Old Testament exegesis.

A young French-Canadian in Montreal breaks saw teeth with his own. He bites them off. It's a thing most people cannot do with pliers. In a boarding-house he is able to cope with the toughest steak.

Mr. Sexsmith asked:

"What amount has been paid by the Government up to the present, for damages to land caused by the overflow of water from Peterborough up to and including Pigeon Lake, on the Trent Valley Canal, and to whom have such damages, if any, been paid?" —Hansard.

Stands as a notice of motion.

It is said on good authority that the discipline at some of the leading Collegiate Institutes in Ontario such as Toronto Ottawa and Brockville, is so bad as to threaten their destruction. Boys will be boys and more if allowed and the new method of applying punishment by means of positives and moral suasion is not "working." These fads are fearsomething.

Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, B.D., of happy memory, of whom Mr. Macmurchy spoke as a founder of the penny-bank system in Toronto, was at one time minister of the Auld Kirk here, now St. Andrew's. He afterwards assumed the incumbency of new St. Andrew's, Toronto, where he lived and laboured with great success. He was a fine, earnest preacher, and a peerless reader of the scriptures. To such men the world owes much.

It must be gratifying to every lover of fair-play and common decency without distinction of party that the Conservative chiefs and those in authority do not in any way countenance, even if they cannot prevent, sawoffs and other compromises of a doubtful character. "For whom or what do you stand, square-dealing or crookedness?" Every man must at some time ask himself this question and if he slumps there is no escape from the name that he deserves and will receive in the estimation of the great public.

It will be remembered that over a year ago Mr. J. H. Burnham communicated with the Board of School Trustees and the County Council, respecting savings banks and savings books for school children in the city and county but nothing came of it. It is to be hoped that the question will meet a better fate this time for the teaching and practice of thrift form the foundation of a family's an individual's or a nation's prosperity. Thrift teaches calculation and housekeeping. It focuses the thoughts upon the practical affairs of everyday life and gives in a few years a grasp of them that means much.

The attention paid by Mr. McMurchy and Mr. Mulholland to the problem will likely result in the much to be desired success of the scheme.

The trial balance as originally compiled contains the balance of each personal account or the excess footing of one side over the other and when totted in aggregate the short side plus the balance taken from the controlling account keeps the transcription in equilibrium; but in such an abstract you have no alternative for locating a difference but to go all over your work and foot and check the entries. You may have suppositions but no tangible way of localizing the mistake.

A ledger proof is a compilation of the continuous Dr and Cr. footings of each ledger account and gives you the amount on each side to reconcile with the Dr and Cr. entries of the controlling account.

OF INTEREST

Why the Turks Rebelled

Political history is being made rapidly in Turkey these days, and the movement for freedom and liberty inaugurated by the Young Turks seems likely to succeed. To quote the recent remarks of a Turkish publicist, "Judging from appearances the awakening of Turkey will be as far-reaching in its results as that of Japan."

The first official Turk who advocated reform was Raouf Mahmoud Effendi, the private secretary of Agah Effendi, who was the first Ottoman Ambassador to be accredited to England, about a century ago. While residing in London, Raouf regularly sent reports on the British system of government to the Sublime Porte, and on the accession of Sultan Mahmoud II.—Mahmoud the Reformer—to the throne he was invited to return to Constantinople and assist in the work of reorganization and reform. The spendthrift policy of Sultan Abdul Aziz and the continual growth of the Ottoman public debt, together with the disorganized state of Turkish finances at the period, again brought the question of freedom to the front, and when Abdul Aziz was deposed and subsequently assassinated, and Murad II. placed upon the throne, it was felt that the epoch of reform and progress had begun.

Unfortunately, Murad was a weakling, a born poet, but no Sovereign. In three months after his enthronement he was deposed and imprisoned for life.

UNDER THE PRESENT RULER.

Murad was succeeded by the present Sultan, and at first the prospects of reform again appeared bright. Abdul Hamid II desired, with all the ardour of youth, to see his country marching on the path of progress, and in 1877 he approved and issued a constitution to his country. The Turkish Parliament, instead of following its legitimate function of advising and legislating, began attacking the prerogatives of the Crown. The result was friction, and the Sultan cut the Gordian knot by dissolving the Parliament and proceeding to rule without its help or interference.

The Opposition or Reform party was then split up into various sections, each one working for its own ends. There were the "Yeni Turkhlar," or "New Turks"; the "Roumi" or Greeks whose real object was to make the task of government by the Turks impossible, in the hope that the Hellenic kingdom would be extended; the Armenians, whose desire was to secure autonomy for Armenia and the splitting up of the Ottoman Empire; and the Arabs, who maintain that the Caliph should be of the blood of the Prophet, and be chosen from the tribe of the Koreish. Several other and minor groups also fought, each for their own hands. No wonder, then, when the Sultan saw his people thus divided among themselves, and the imminent danger of his Empire falling to pieces, that he said, "A plague on all your houses," and decided to play the game in future "off his own bat."

At first the members were all civilians or persons who had been in the service of the government, and who had been obliged to flee from Turkey; but soon others were enrolled in large numbers, and then the army was tampered with, and here was found a field ripe for the acceptance of the programme. It does not require much argument to convince a man whose pay is in arrears for over 12 months that something is wrong and requires remedying. Thus the rank and file of the army were won to the cause, and the officers also gave in their adhesion. So rapidly has the movement spread within the last three years that in Salonica it is said that seven of every ten Moslems belonged to the society, and that in Constantinople and district there were 100,000 members.

The "Young Turks" had their agents in the custom houses, in the Teskereh and passport offices, and among the police; and men who had been condemned to death or to imprisonment in a fortress for life, and who had fled from Turkey, returned in disguise to their native land, bringing messages and receiving information, and then withdrawing themselves to Switzerland, Paris or London, as occasion required.

A UNITED RESPONSE.

Then came the great day when the blow for freedom was to be struck. The word was given, and nobly and thoroughly was it responded to. From Albania to Bagdad, from Adrianople to Yemen, there was a united response to the cry of "Zerbestiq" (Freedom).

The excellent arrangements of the "Young Turks" have been manifested by their complete success all along the line and the manner in which prominent official after official has fled. "The committee of Progress and Reform" has declared its policy to be "the carrying out of the constitution in its entirety and the maintenance of a regime of liberty for all subjects of the Ottoman Empire." The Vlachs, the Greek Christians, and the Armenians have thrown in their lot with the "Jeune Turc"; and if the Bulgars in Macedonia are not equally amenable they will probably receive a serious lesson. The Young Turks hope that all foreign officers in the gendarmerie will refrain from tendering their services after their present period of engagement has expired. In short, it is a national movement, expressed in the sentence, "Turkey for the Turks."

It is hoped that in future the patriotism of all Ottoman subjects, without distinction of creed, will be towards one subject—the solidarity and progress of the empire. It is calculated that the finances of the empire, properly administered, will be sufficient to pay regularly the salaries of all proper functionaries and the cost of the maintenance of both army and navy on an effective footing. New sources of revenue will be found, it is believed, in the exploitation of the mineral wealth of the country, and probably no place in the world is richer in minerals than Turkey. Copper, iron, lead, chrome, arsenic, asbestos, magnetite, nickel, antimony, silver, and gold are to be found. There are workable seams of lignite in Roumelia and virgin forests in Anatolia. In future all subjects of the empire, Jews, Christians and Moslems, will be called upon to serve as soldiers, and it is calculated that this will add in a few years quite another million of trained men to the army.

Meanwhile the Committee of Progress and Reform is not ceasing from its labors. Each member now has a card of membership, with his name and number inscribed thereon and the muhir, or official seal, impressed upon the same.

The old officials at once ranged themselves on the side of the Sultan and incessantly instilled it into his mind that the reformers were really trying to subvert his authority, establish a Republic, and drive him from the throne. Those who had assisted in the deposition of Sultan Abdul Aziz were denounced as accessories to his assassination, and gradually one by one were removed from office and from power. Measures were taken under the advice of the Ministers of the Crown and palace intriguers until Turkey became subject to a despotism and a tyranny which reminded one of the days of the Star Chamber in England. And, finally, a system of espionage was established and maintained which became absolutely intolerable.

To his credit be it said, Abdul Hamid had no conception of the actual state of affairs in his Empire. His immediate entourage took good care to prevent anyone who would be likely to tell him the truth ever getting near him. About five years ago an order was issued through the notorious Izzet Pasha that verbal messages were not to be given to his Majesty but that all reports must be in writing and pass through either the private secretaries or chamberlains and all replies would come through the same channels.

A REIGN OF TYRANNY.

Some years ago an edict was issued that no more than six persons, other than members of the family or persons resident in the house, were to assemble at any one time in a dwelling house. The telephone was vetoed because people could talk treason on it. A Turk was not allowed to ride with his own wife alone in a closed cab. Spies were everywhere; wives denounced their husbands and brothers their brothers. The strictest censorship was exercised over all printed matter either issued in or coming into the country.

Was it then, any wonder that the people, groaning under such a system of tyranny sought relief and listened with attentive ears to the propagandists of reform and liberty. At first it was but the voice of a few, as it were, calling in the wilderness. Some of the reformers were imprisoned, some exiled, many fled but still the propaganda went on and succeeded the more it was attempted to suppress it. Then an organization was instituted in the form of a secret society. The head centre or "Bash Merkez," as he was termed, was known only to three persons, themselves unknown to each other; each of these three "Centrals" or "Merkezlar" had seven trusted followers, also all unknown to one another; each of these seven was the centre of another group of seven, and so on in ever-widening circles. The pass word was 'Abdul Hamid," the response "Zerbestiq" (Freedom). The society was confined to Mussulmans, and all new members were sworn to secrecy and fidelity upon the Koran.

STOMACH COMFORT

When the Stomach Rebels, Headache Indigestion and Nerve Pain Follows—Mi-o-na Brings Relief.

Just as soon as you are done eating the healthy stomach commences to churn the food around and mixes it thoroughly with the juices of the stomach.

If the food is not churned, it lays heavily on your stomach, turns sour and causes all kinds of distressing symptoms, such as headache, indigestion, stomach pain and dyspepsia. Mi-o-na brings the stomach to properly mix the food.

John H. May, of Isabella street, Belleville, Ont., says: "For over seven months I was in constant agony with a case of nervous dyspepsia and indigestion that medical skill could not relieve. I was weak and had lost much weight through loss of appetite and suffering. My meals would fill me with gas and a feeling of oppression across the stomach and all up the left side left me in a miserable condition. I was restless at night and so tired and unrefreshed in the morning as on going to bed. A choking sensation in my throat was always constant when lying down, and my heart seemed to flutter and pound as though it were coming out through my side. I was benefitted from the first two days' use of Miona. I began to feel like myself again, my appetite returned and the depressive feeling left me. I can enjoy my meals without suffering the least worry of after sufferings. I have gained in weight and can sleep the night through in comfort."

Go to Wm. Madill, the druggist and get a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na Tablets. Money back if Mi-o-na does not cure.

What the Grocers say, ABOUT Lea & Perrins' Sauce

Fraser, Viger & Co, Limited, of Montreal, have the reputation throughout Canada, of catering to the highest class of trade. This well known house also believes in telling their patrons about their best goods.

In an advertisement, which appeared in "The Montreal Daily Star" of February 13th., Fraser, Viger & Co., Limited thus call attention to the merits of "The Original and Genuine Worcestershire."

Genuine Worcestershire Sauce Lea & Perrins'
Among all the various Sauces that flood the market, Lea & Perrins', the "GENUINE WORCESTERSHIRE," is still in the lead by a big margin. Its flavor is unique and most appetizing, different from all others. We sell Lea & Perrins' Genuine Worcestershire Sauce in three different sizes.
Large bottles.......$1.00 each
Medium bottles.......60 each
Small bottles.......35 each

This advertisement was unsolicited by us, and is a striking instance of the esteem in which Lea & Perrins' Sauce is held by the grocers, as well as by the consumers.

England's Dead

By Mrs. Hemans

Sons of the ocean isle!
Where sleep your mighty dead?
Show me what high and stately pile
Is reared o'er Glory's bed.

'Go, stranger! track the deep
Free, free the white sail spread!
Wave may not foam, nor wild wind sweep,
Where rest not England's dead.

On Egypt's burning plains,
By the pyramid o'erswayed,
With fearful power the noonday reigns,
And the palm-trees yield no shade,

But let the angry sun
From heaven look fiercely red,
Unfelt by those whose task is done!
There slumber England's dead.

The hurricane hath might
Along the Indian shore,
And far, by Ganges' banks at night,
Is heard the tiger's roar.

But let the sound roll on!
It hath no tone of dread,
For those that from their toils are gone—
There slumber England's dead.

Loud rush the torrent-floods
The western wilds among,
And free, in green Columbia's woods,
The hunter's bow is strung.

But let the floods rush on!
Let the arrow's flight be sped!
Why should they reck whose task is done?
There slumber England's dead.

The mountain storms rise high
In the snowy Pyrenees,
And toss the pine-boughs through the sky,
Like rose leaves on the breeze.

But let the storm rage on!
Let the forest wreaths be shed:
For the Roncesvalles' field is won—
There slumber England's dead.

On the frozen deep's repose
'Tis a dark and dreadful hour
When round the ship the ice-fields close,
To chain her with their power.

But let the ice drift on!
Let the cold blue desert spread!
Their course with mast and flag is done,
There slumber England's dead.

The warlike of the isles,
The men of field and wave!
Are not the rocks their funeral piles,
The seas and shores their grave?

Go, stranger! track the deep,
Free, free the white sail spread!
Wave may not foam, nor wild wind sweep,
Where rest not England's dead.'

STUDY OF FAIR SEX

London Doctor Thinks He Knows All About Womankind.

Woman has been minutely analysed by Dr. H. Olaye Shaw, a well known London physician. He gave the result of his study the other day in a lecture on "The Psychology of Women." Below the most salient points of his lecture are given.

It is really her physical inferiority that has made woman subject to man. Not being of such powerful muscularity, she must resort to artifice to protect herself. She is a prize. But as there are many prizes she has to use artifice to obtain the victory of marriage. She has to fight her own way. Hence she is deceitful both in dress and self presentation. At times she hides her charms; at other times she exposes them.

"The great factor in the personal characteristics of woman is the presence of emotion and feeling and it may be added obstinacy and sympathy. It is obstinacy that comes to her aid when she is beaten. A wise man knows that her obstinacy is merely evidence of his successful attack and should not blame the woman for it. It is best to gracefully concede the point and let her march out with all the honors of war.

"Another emotion in women is jealousy. Women having approached man, does not mind how the latter deals with her so long as he confines his attention to herself. Jealousy carries with it the rankling sense of inferiority— that something is lacking in her attractiveness or her duty. It is jealousy that prompts to violence and murder, more perhaps than anything else except drink. It is particularly an instinct. The only way to overcome it is by education.

"Women are more sympathetic, have to endure more. There is no true sympathy without experience.

"A great deal is said about women's desire for amusement. Perhaps much of it is owing to want of occupation. I do not find that where women have plenty to do they acquire any inordinate amount of recreation. They must expend their vitality, their energy in some way, and of course they naturally take it in the usual way. So do men when they have no work to do.

"So we come to the greatest of all emotions—love. This is of two kinds, intellectual and sexual. It is at times difficult for men to understand women's actions in this connection. They may show the greatest nonchalance when they really have the most intense feeling. So they may imperil their chances of success. They prefer to take the risk though the strain may be so great as to pass the breaking point. This seems to be partly due to the instinct of self preservation. The woman is waiting to see how real the feeling of the man may be. It is partly due also to the knowledge that the attack is generally in proportion to the resistance and partly to self-conceit or pride. There may also be the idea of unreality that often attends emotional display. The woman knows that to her marriage is a much more serious undertaking than it is to the man.

"Therefore the first is not to be wholly condemned. She does not always mean to give pain. She is merely enjoying herself at another's risk in order to see whether the conditions suit her, and if she does cause pain, it is not her fault.

"It is often said that women are cruel to each other. If this is so it is owing to their anticipatory protective instincts. Self-interest, due to inherent weakness, must engender obstinacy, craft, cruelty, recklessness of means of securing ends, personal adornment to attract, quick perception, action on impulse, if necessary artfulness and the capacity of waiting until success is assured.

"What is the psychological future of women. They are outnumbering men, they are taking up the occupations of men, they cannot all be married, and as so much of the chief side of nature cannot be developed, their intellect must suffer. They will become abortive in character and mind. They will develop certain aptitudes which they happen to have, and may become notable in special ways of intellect and work. They will, by their weight of numbers, bring about such social conditions that a revolution will ensue. The married woman, instead of being looked upon as the favored one, will be thought an impediment to their plans by their single sisters.

"To men there is something of a mystery about the female mind. They look for something different from themselves to revere and treat with regard. It comes to them as a shock to find that women want to be like men. Is it worth while to disillusionize them. Let women hesitate before they throw away the charm and interest of mystery for the commonplace of similarity."

NORWOOD

Special to the Review.

Norwood, May 4—Mrs. A. Davidson and daughter, Miss Nellie, have returned after visiting Mrs. A. Anderson in Keene.

Mr. J. McKelvie has rented the farm north of the village, owned by Mrs. G. Grover. Mr. Mangus, who has been living on the farm for the past year has rented a farm near Peterborough.

On Thursday, May 13th, the Jubilee singers, in the persons of the "Old Southland Sextette," will give an entertainment in the Methodist church.

Miss Smart, of Toronto, visited her sister, Mrs. J. Mickle, last week.

Mrs. Perrin, of Peterborough, visited her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Beck, last week.

Mr. Hugh Robb has secured an experienced marble cutter to take charge of his workshop for the season in the person of Mr. Arthur Priestly, of Toronto.

Mr. Fred Cummings left for Toronto last week to complete his course in the Optical School in that city.

Mr. Alex. Hall, who spent last summer in the west, left for there again on Monday of this week. Mr. Hall thinks the west is the place for the man who is willing to work.

An interesting and exciting game of football was played on the Fair Grounds last Friday evening, between the clerks in the village and the High School team. The High School students thought they would have an easy thing, but in this they were disappointed. Both teams went in from the start at full steam, and though some brilliant work was done, no goals were scored when full time was up. The game was continued for a few minutes and the clerks, being satisfied that they were as good as the H. S., allowed their opponents to score one goal. As a consequence of the game the clerk's goal-keeper almost froze, and says football is too slow for him. Another clerk has been nursing a lame knee ever since, he having fallen and tramped on it. The clerks think that with a little practice they will be able to trim the winners of the Midland League games.

Rev. Wm. Peer, of New Ontario, who has been visiting friends here for the past few weeks, has been combining business with pleasure, and during his stay has been wielding the paint brush to such an extent that his house on Queen street has put on a very smart and neat appearance. While he has been improving the outside, the inside has not been neglected, it having been papered throughout. Truly Mr. Peer is a model landlord.

Mr. Sam. Hendren and Mr. Jas. Calder are each having handsome new verandahs erected in front of their homes.

The regular meeting of the Board of Education will be held on Monday evening next.

Mr. John Baskin, Norwood's railroad contractor, has secured an extensive job near Montreal, and last week shipped his tools and horses there to commence immediate operations. Several of the young men of the village accompanied him, and expect to be absent for the remainder of the summer.

The water in the creek is going down some, and in a day or two the run will be suckers.

Several hands were laid off at the Finlay factory last week.

Mr. King, proprietor of the King's hotel, has had a new stable erected to replace the one recently destroyed by fire. He has also had the interior of the house improved by new paper and some metallic ceilings.

Miss Nellie Davidson visited Mrs. Morrison in Havelock on Tuesday.

Miss Annie Murray visited at her home in Hastings on Sunday.

Miss Mollie Johnston was in town one day last week.

On Tuesday evening there was a farewell supper given under the auspices of Mr. A. S. Harrison, who is leaving for Lindsay in a few days.

HE GOT THE CHANGE.

Then He Got a Jolt When He Got Back to His Wife.

After haggling for twenty minutes over the price the dealer finally consented to let the vase go for $3.79. Mrs. Brownlee knew she was getting a bargain at that price, so she considerately refrained from insisting upon a further reduction.

"Have you the money with you to pay for it?" she said to Mr. Brownlee.

"I've $10," said Brownlee.

"That'll do," she replied. "The man can change it."

Somewhat reluctantly Mr. Brownlee produced the bill. With reluctance the dealer refused it.

"No gota change," he said. "Saturday afternoon. Put alla da mon ina da bank."

"But aren't there other shops near where they will change it for you?" asked Mrs. Brownlee.

"No leava shop," the Italian explained. "Boy gona home. Other customer he wanta buy. Gota stay here."

Mrs. Brownlee was disappointed, but not discouraged.

"I must say," she said, rather severely, "that you don't seem very anxious to make a sale. However, I am bound to have that vase. Dear," to Brownlee, "suppose you get the bill changed. You'll only have to go down to the corner and buy a cigar."

Mr. Brownlee already had six cigars in his pocket, but he obediently made a trip to the nearest tobacconist's for another. He selected a strong, black cigar worth 15 cents and offered the ten-dollar bill in payment.

"Smallest you've got?" asked the clerk.

Brownlee lied and said it was.

"Sorry," said the clerk. "I can't change it. This is Saturday afternoon, and we've put most of our money in the bank."

Mr. Brownlee returned the cigar and renewed his quest for small change. The pursuit took him to two more cigar stores, two groceries, a drug store and a saloon. In the latter place, by appealing to all the other thirsty customers present, the desired change was finally secured in dollars, halves and quarters. Mr. Brownlee then took his bearings. He computed that in his wanderings he had traversed a distance of fourteen blocks and had consumed half an hour's time. As a result of that calculation he was in a bad humor when he again entered the little store.

"Here's the change," he said, "and a confoundedly hard time I had to get it too!"

Mrs. Brownlee patted his hand sympathetically.

"Oh," she said. "I'm so sorry! I shan't need it, after all. After you went out I saw several other little things that I liked, and I bought enough of them to come to the whole $10."

Castro's Plans.

San Sebastian, May 5.—Gen. Castro has told several persons here that he would leave Spain for Ecuador, where he would await events which would permit him to return to Venezuela "even by force."

Wreck In Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., May 5.—Great Northern passenger train No. 3, westbound, ran into a light engine at Delano, Minn., Monday night. Two day coaches were burned and about 20 passengers hurt.

Cold In Germany.

Cologne, May 5.—The cold weather that has prevailed for the past few days in the Rhine and Moselle Valleys has done enormous damage to the vineyards and orchards.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. NEW TABLE LINEN.

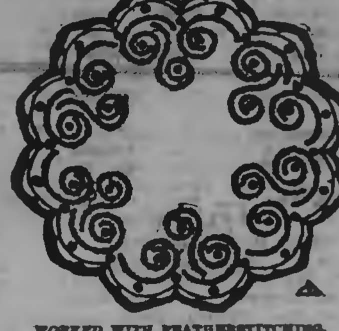
Centerpieces Attractively Worked In White Mercerized Cotton.

No department of embroidery affords more interest and pleasure to the woman who takes pride in her household furnishings than the working of table linen.

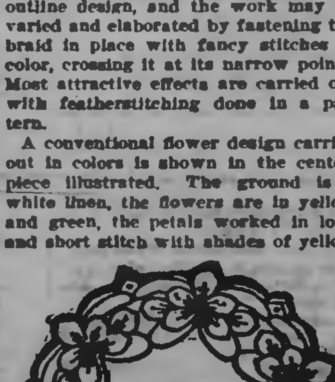
Embroidery worked with mercerized cottons in white or colors is perhaps most satisfactory of all the styles of the present season, as it is most practical and durable. For the groundwork a rather heavy linen is used and for the embroidery a coarse mercerized thread. Many of the pieces are edged with lace. A linen torchon lace corresponds well with the texture of the linen. Good effects are produced by couching fancy braids, cords or several strands of silk on a simple outline pattern, introducing fancy stitches as the occasion demands.



WORKED WITH FEATHERSTITCHING.

White coronation braid is much used on table linen and is a most satisfactory material with which to work. It is easily fastened in place and keeps its shape well after laundering, a point always to be considered when choosing material. It should be used on a rather heavy linen ground. Very dainty is the effect of the white braid combined with embroidery in white on an ecru ground or the white braid with stitches of some delicate color on white. This braid may be used on any outline design, and the work may be varied and elaborated by fastening the braid in place with fancy stitches in color, crossing it at its narrow points. Most attractive effects are carried out with featherstitching done in a pattern.

A conventional flower design carried out in colors is shown in the centerpiece illustrated. The ground is a white linen, the flowers are in yellow and green, the petals worked in long and short stitch with shades of yellow floss, and the centers in light green. An outline of dark green forms a setting for the flowers and follows the inner line of embroidered edge, which is in white. This design stamped on ecru linen will allow strong coloring. Warm, rich shades of red combined with dull green or blue are very attractive. A good cord may be used for the outlining, adding much to the beauty of the work.



A CONVENTIONAL FLOWER DESIGN.

A Will and a Way.

To keep music so that it can be easily found and is free from dust is no easy task without a cabinet that is well supplied with shelves and a door.

One impecunious young music student has solved the problem rather happily.

She found in her cellar a box a yard high, fourteen inches wide and ten inches deep, or just an inch or so wider and deeper than the average sheet of music.

The box was scrubbed inside and out, and a number of shelves were made from thin pieces of whitewood that rested on small screws stuck in the inside of the box at irregular intervals.

Some old broomsticks were cut up into four legs, each one ten inches high. These were fastened to the bottom of the box by stout nails. The lid was turned into a door by means of two brass hinges bought for a few cents.

When the cabinet was finished it was given three coats of white paint and a fourth of white enamel. In the center of the door an inexpensive copy of the "Child Handel," Margaret Dicksee's well known painting, was used as a panel. It was held in place by a narrow framing of white silk soutache, fastened with large brass headed tacks.

Inside on the front of each shelf was lettered the kind of music to be kept upon it.

Just a Stitch.

The question of laundry is one of the worst difficulties to overcome when on a vacation. The laundry is sent away and is more than likely to come back with several pieces missing.

Tape embroidered with one and two initials can be purchased in the shops for a very small price, and if these initials are sewed on every piece of underwear it will be almost impossible for them to go astray.

These initials can also be made to order in monograms of three initials or the whole name embroidered on the tape in tiny letters for better identification. The cost is so small that every one should adopt this plan.

WILL PREACH AT WARSAW SUNDAY

Rev. John Gray, D. D. Will Present the Claims of Knox College

Warsaw, May 4.—Rev. John Gray, D. D., of Knox College, Toronto, will preach at both services in the Presbyterian church on Sunday next, May 9th. As Dr. Gray was prevented by an accident from being present, according to arrangements in March, the people will now have a fresh opportunity of hearing of the claims of that college. Dr. Gray will also address a mass meeting in the church on Monday evening at 8 p.m. A cordial invitation is extended to all and especially to young men to hear this talented speaker at which ever of these services they may have the opportunity.

Rev. P. W. Currie preached a very eloquent and timely sermon last Sabbath on the subject of Sabbbath observance.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clements spent Sunday last visiting friends in Lakefield.

Rev. Mr. Currie attended the meeting of the County Sunday School Association in Peterborough the early part of this week as representative of the Presbyterian church and Dummer Township Association.

Mrs. David Miller spent Sunday in Port Hope, the guest of her mother.

THE HEALTH OF KING EDWARD

London, May 3.—Although the word that comes from King Edward, who is now on a yachting trip for his health, is favorable in tone, it was learned to-day that his physicians have told him plainly that on resumption of official duties he must cut down his engagements by at least half.

Unless he does so, his physicians say, the King's days are numbered.

The rejuvenation of the Prince of Wales has an interesting history. Not very long ago the Prince allowed marked symptoms of that depression which has oppressed his two elder sisters so grievously. King Edward saw that he needed rousing, and consulted Sir James Reid as to the means.

Sir James, who has often tried to persuade the King to shift some of the burdens of his position on to his son's shoulders, saw an opportunity of hitting two marks with one bullet.

"To be Europe's international minister is a sufficient task for any man drawing near seventy," were his exact words, and the King began to see the wisdom of them.

The King sent for the Princess of Wales, in whose judgment and common sense he has the greatest confidence, and after a consultation with her, told the Prince that he must henceforth be more in the public eye.

"I, myself," he said to the heir, "did public duty during the latter years of Queen Victoria's reign that I was obliged to hold aloof from political and diplomatic influence. It was not until within very recent years that I have been enabled to show myself to my empire in my true light. I do not want this atmosphere of misunderstanding to envelop you."

Mrs. Bernard Rister of Stafford, Springs, Conn, insane from grief murderously assaulted a man and then killed her little son and herself.

HARRY ADAMS

FAMILY ESCAPED FROM THE HOUSE IN NIGHT ATTIRE

Tragedy Narrowly Averted in Fire Near Downeyville—One Man Was Severely Burned About Head and Face.

Lindsay, May 4.—On Saturday morning the dwelling and contents of Mr. William Fitzpatrick, on lot 16, con. 9, Emily, and a few miles east of Downeyville, was destroyed by fire, and had it not been for a farm hand a terrible holocause would have occurred. The cause of the fire was the explosion of an incubator. Mr. Fitzpatrick and family were sound asleep when aroused by the boy. The house was a frame structure, and together with the contents are a total loss, with no insurance.

Mrs Fitzpatrick got out with two of the children in their night clothes. Mr. Fitzpatrick went up stairs for the other child, and fell unconscious, and was badly burned, but was taken out by neighbors.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

An Emily resident stated this afternoon that the fire occurred about two o'clock Saturday morning. Mrs. Fitzpatrick was roused from her slumbers by one of the children, who was somewhat restless, and was startled to find the house in flames. She immediately awoke the members of the family and carried one of the children down stairs, bravely returning to the burning building for the other little one, which was rescued in the nick of time from a terrible death, and carried into the yard in an unconscious state, in which condition it remained for about ten minutes.

In the meantime Mr. Fitzpatrick made a heroic effort to save some articles of value upstairs, and while in the act of doing so was overcome by the dense heat and smoke. With rare presence of mind he threw himself over the banister, where he lay in an unconscious condition until rescued, just in the nick of time, by his sister-in-law and hired boy.

Mr. Fitzpatrick was severely burned about the head and face, and was almost suffocated by the dense smoke. Dr. Blanchard was summoned to attend him and his condition was rather serious until Sunday evening, when he showed signs of improvement.

It is providential indeed that the little one aroused its mother when it did, as the entire family would have perished in the flames.

REGULAR MEETING OF BOARD OF EDUCATION HELD LAST EVENING

Reports Were Read and Adopted—Other Business Transacted—Members Attended Meeting in Collegiate Institute.

Only routine business was transacted last night at the regular meeting of the Board of Education. Those present were Chairman L. M. Hayes, Messrs. W. H. Hill, D. W. Dumble, Dr. Burnham, Dr. Morrison, R. Fair, E. F. Mason, W. F. Nelson. At the close of the session the members all adjourned to the Collegiate Assembly Hall, where addresses were given by Mr. Angus McMurchy, K.C., of Toronto, and Mr. R. A. Mulholland, when the Penny Bank System was outlined by them.

The first business was the reading of the minutes of last meeting, and these were adopted.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were received:

From W. J. Stacey, secretary Teachers' Association, asking for use of the Assembly Hall in the Collegiate Institute for the afternoon and evening sessions of May 20th and 21st.

From W. J. Dunlop, secretary of the Peterborough Historical Society, thanking the Board for the use of the Assembly Hall.

From Mr. A. Mowat, Inspector of Public Schools, stating that the more valuable tables, scientific apparatus and books in the old Collegiate had been removed to the new building, while the balance of the furniture had been stored in the third storey of the old building.

From Mr. Barlow Cumberland, acknowledging with thanks the resolution passed by the Board.

From Miss F. E. De La Matter, superintendent of Nicholls Hospital, thanking the Board for granting the nurses the use of the Assembly Hall for their graduating exercises.

From F. Norris, tendering his resignation as janitor of the East City School, taking effect May 1st.

From the Youghiogheny & Ohio Coal Co., of Buffalo, N. Y., quoting the Board $2.65 per ton f.o.b. cars International Bridge. This is for best grade. They also have a grade at $2.15 per ton f.o.b. on cars at the bridge.

From McGregor & Reid, in reference to their account of $12.60, for drain work done at the King Edward School. They claimed the cause of the trouble was due to the imperfect bottom in the manhole built by the Board. They had to pay Smith, their drain man, the above sum with costs on an order from Judge Weller. Messrs. MacGregor & Reid now ask the Board to settle with them and save further proceedings.

It was moved by Mr. D. W. Dumble that the Property Committee confer with the City Council in reference to the proper drainage of the King Edward School.—Carried.

Mr. W. F. Nelson will visit the Collegiate Institute to-day and inspect the hinges on a door at the west side of the building. The door is very hard to open and is liable to cause trouble.

It was moved that Mr. Hodgson be placed on the Board of Examiners. Carried.

The following reports were read and adopted:

Chairman,

CRESSMAN'S DEPARTMENT STORES

A Beauty Array
Early Summer Costumes

THE first impression that is made on you when you step into our large show room is the striking difference that seems to pervade every corner where the new summer costumes and gowns are displayed. There is not the usual sameness that is noticed in the ordinary displays of women's wear, seen in nearly every ready-to-wear department. We pride ourselves in the fact that our showing is exclusive—away from all others, and each suit or gown bears its own individuality. Doubtless some are similar in texture to others but the effect is so altogether different that this feature is lost sight of entirely,

¶ The large button trimming is used to some extent on the skirts and the coats varying in length from ⅝ to ¾, self trimmed or trimmed with Persian Cretonne [the new fad]. All the new shades of the season including Ceil Blue, natural linen, hello and champagne also white, mostly in linen or Indian Head fabric.

¶ The Lingerie dresses are in very dainty styles, mostly Princess, beautifully trimmed with lace and fine embroidery, some of plain white or colored mulls and others of fancy flowered organdies.

¶ A most pleasing and effective display—interesting too, to any woman whether she is a prospective purchaser or not Come and feast on the handiwork of "Dame Fashion"—see the handsome new coats in street and auto styles—Every one a style of its own.

SEE WINDOW TO-NIGHT

Cressman's
385, 387, 389 George Street.

Don't miss the C.G.E. Benefit Society concert at the "Grand" to-night. Moving Pictures, Vaudeville and local talent. Prices 10c and 15c. Some good seats left yet. Doors open 7.30. Performance at 8.15.

NEW COTTAGES AT PIGEON LAKE

Mr. Percy Fitzgerald left to-day for Pigeon Lake, where he will build two summer cottages, one for Mr. A. A. Hollingshead and the other for Mr. Heaton, of Toronto.

ROLLER RINK HELD CARNIVAL

Large Number of Skaters and Spectators Present—The Prize Winners

There was a big crowd at the first carnival at the roller rink last night. The skaters and spectators were both numerous, while there was great rivalry for the valuable prizes offered. The judges were Mr and Mrs Titterson and Mr and Mrs Manning.

Men's best fancy costume — Mr. Munden.

Ladies' best fancy costume — Miss Elliott

Best Rube—Harvey Staunton.

Ladies' comic—Miss Davis.

Little girl—Miss Sullivan.

Best sailor boy—Percy Parrington.

On Friday night there will be the weekly band concert and the band has some good music for that night.

On Tuesday night the greatest excitement of the season is promised. There will be a real live fox chase around the rink and a valuable prize is offered.

Prof. Genno and Miss Patterson are to be congratulated upon providing an attraction of this kind as it is bound to be a big drawing card.

"Princess Chrysanthemum"

Don't fail to hear this beautiful operetta, to be given in Conservatory Music Hall to-night, (Wednesday) and to-morrow (Thursday) under the auspices of All Saint's young Men's Guild. Prices 25c., children 15c. The play will be handsomely staged the costumes brilliant and effective, and the principals have made most thorough rehearsal in their several parts. It will be very interesting. Not only because of the intrinsic merit of the play, but because it will encourage the performers and aid a worthy object there should be a large attendance.

Building Permits

The following building permits were issued yesterday and to-day—

Jas. E. McIlmoyle, brick veneer house on Stewart street, $2,000.

W. J. Henry, dwelling on Cedar street, $1,000.

Anthony Taylor, brick veneer dwelling, on Aylmer street, $1,250.

W. H. Peblick, stable at 315 Maitland avenue, $125.

Militia Note

Recent militia orders contain the following note of local interest—

THE BAY OF FUNDY TIDES BILL

Moncton, NB, May 4—"The Development of power from Bay of Fundy Tides" was discussed by J. L. Weller, C.E. Superintendent of the Welland Canal, before the Canadian Club here last night. Engineer Weller, who is one of the promoters of the Fundy tides bill now before parliament, asking power to harness the Bay of Fundy tides explained his scheme in detail.

The proposal is to dam the Petticodiac and Merramcook rivers at Folly point at Hopewell cape, the construction being such as to keep the Petticodiac river full all the time and the Memramcook river dry. The proposed dam will be over a mile long and forty feet high. This would leave about twenty feet of water in the river at Moncton. Fifty thousand horsepower is to be developed and Engineer Weller said he was willing to risk his reputation on the practicability of damming the river.

The company is capitalized at $10,000,000 and Mr Weller was prepared to say $7,500,000 would more than complete the gigantic undertaking. The bill before parliament not only seeks authority to develop power in the Petticodiac river but at several other points along the Bay of Fundy.

Engineer Weller said it was the intention to make a survey this summer and have plans of the scheme ready this coming fall.

Mr. Weller is a nephew of His Honor Judge Weller.

HALL'S BRIDGE

Hall's Bridge, May 4.—Spring season is nearly over, but as yet we have not had the spring weather.

On Wednesday evening there was a re-election of officers of the League. Those elected for the coming year were as follows:

Hon. Pres.—H. Latimer.
Pres.—Rose A. Blewett.
1st Vice-Pres.—Olive V. Pearson.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Georgie A. Howson.
Sec.—Evans Blewett.
Treas.—Sam Trude.
Organist—Josie Northey.

We again hear of the rattle of the milk waggons in the early hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Ottis Northey were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Northey on Sunday.

Mrs Jos. Harris and Mrs. F. J. Armstrong spent Saturday afternoon in Buckhorn.

Mrs Wilson Blewett and Miss Blanche Ivey visited at the home of Mrs. D. Blewett one day last week.

STOMACH INDIGESTION.

Pe-ru-na Strikes at the Root of the Trouble.

MR. S. J. MASSEY.

Mr. S. J. Massey, formerly a resident of Toronto, and a well-known business man, writes from 247 Guy street, Montreal, Quebec:

"I wish to testify to the good results I have derived from the use of Peruna.

"Having been troubled for several years with catarrh of the head, I decided to give Peruna a fair trial and I can truly say I have received great benefit from its use. It evidently strikes at the very root of the trouble and good results are soon noticeable.

"I have also found Peruna a very valuable remedy for stomach trouble and indigestion.

"I have no hesitancy whatever in recommending Peruna as a reliable catarrh remedy."

There are several kinds of indigestion. The trouble may be due to sluggishness of the liver, derangements of the bowels, enlargement of the pancreas, or it may be due to the stomach itself.

In nearly all cases of stomach indigestion catarrh of the stomach is the cause. The only permanent relief is to remove the catarrh.

Peruna has become well-known the world over as a remedy in such cases.

YOUNG MEN WERE DISCHARGED

Warning to Those Who Hav Been Making Disturbances at the Corner of George and Antrim Sts.

Four young men appeared in police court this morning and were charged with being disorderly last Sunday evening. It appears that young boys have been in the habit of congregating at the corner of George and Antrim streets and making a disturbance, much to the annoyance of those who live in the vicinity. They have been repeatedly warned but have still persisted in hanging around the corner.

One of the accused was called to the witness box, but stated that the other boys and himself had been together on Sunday night but had not been causing any disturbance at the place mentioned. His evidence was satisfactory to the Magistrate and the case against all four was dismissed.

The graduating exercises of the Nicholls Hospital Nurses' Class of 1909, will be held in the Collegiate Institute Hall on Friday evening next, at 8 o'clock. Mr. Harry Mann Presented With a Gold Headed Umbrella

Mr. Harry Mann was given a surprise last night, when a number of the members of the George Street choir called at his house and on behalf of the choir presented him with a gold-headed umbrella, engraved with his monogram, and the following address:

Mr. H. Mann, City:

Dear Mr. Mann,—It is with much regret we have learned of your intended departure from the city, thus severing your connection with the choir.

While we, the members, regret, we are to lose your valued and faithful services, yet we assure you that our heartiest wishes for your success shall follow you to the far west.

As a slight token of the esteem and kindly feeling we bear you we ask you to accept this umbrella, which we trust will help to remind you often of your associates of "The George Street Choir."

Signed on behalf of the choir

E. BENNETT,
W. CUNNINGHAM

May 4th, 1909.

The address was read by Miss Olive Allison, and the presentation was made by Mr. McCann. Mr. Mann made a very neat reply, thanking the choir for their kindness.

Mr Mann left this morning for Grand Forks, B. C.

COUNTY CASE WAS ENLARGED

Defendent Given Time to Reach an Agreement, With Toronto Firm

The case against D. McNair, which was entered by Joseph W. Trenum on behalf of himself and the trustees of School Section 11, in the township of Smith, was enlarged until next Monday by Magistrate Edmison yesterday. Mr. G. N Gordon appeared in the interests of the defendant.

It appears that McNair was given a note for $40.00, by which he was to secure supplies for the school from a Toronto firm. They had an account against McNair for this amount and refused to deliver the supplies, keeping the note as payment for this account.

The defendant intimated that if given a few days he would endeavor to come to some agreement with the firm, whereby the school would receive their supplies. This was granted by the magistrate, and if a satisfactory arrangement is made whereby the school will receive the supplies the case will likely be dismissed when it is called next Monday.

DOURO ELECTION APPEAL DISMISSED

But Judge at Peterborough Must Take Evidence of Fitzgerald as to Bribery

The King ex rel Maloney v. Moher R— F. McWilliams, Peterborough, for the relator appealed from the order of the local judge at Peterborough. E. A. Peck, Peterborough, for respondent, contra. Appeal dismissed. No costs. Case remitted to the judge to take evidence of Fitzgerald as to bribery.—Toronto World.

THE COURT OF APPEAL GIVES A DECISION

Special to the Review.

Toronto, May 5.—The Court of Appeal to-day announced its decision in the famous London election cases, allowing the appeal of John O'Gorman, Daniel Wylie, G. M. Reid and W. J. Miller, and quashing their convictions for bribery. The court is unanimous, and quashes the conviction on the general ground that Judge Winchester had no jurisdiction to try the case. Judge Garrow, in his judgment, says the only natural and proper place for the trial was at London and not Toronto, and the opposition to the very reasonable proposal to change the venue savors of unfairness and even oppression.

BELMONT CLUB ELECT OFFICERS

THE BOARD FAVORS PENNY SAVING BANKS

early, but it had an altogether different effect as they learned to be generous to their fellows, and it also did untold good as the parents were also encouraged to practise the habit of thrift.

The speaker concluded by stating that he was not here for any personal gain, but only for the good of the children, and gave many instances of how the penny savings had worked great good among the individual boys and girls in the Toronto schools.

MR. MULHOLLAND.

Mr. Mulholland, of Port Hope, in the few remarks he made, expressed his appreciation of the entertainment both had received at the hands of the Board of Education, and also referred to the splendid school buildings. One great difference between Peterborough and Port Hope was that while this city had not a penny bank it was flourishing in Port Hope. It was the tendence of children to spend their money as quickly as it was received. The penny bank system taught them a lesson of thrift which would be of benefit to them in after years. It had also been of great benefit to wage-earners, as they did not have enough money to put in some banks, but could afford to make deposits in the penny bank, and this lead to greater things being done. It had been introduced in Port Hope two years ago, and the deposits amounted to $1,100. The number of pupils amounted to ,00, and instead of making them miserly they showed a generous disposition.

MR. D. W. DUMBLE.

Mr. Dumble stated that he had every sympathy with the subject of the meeting, which had been presented in such a clear and plain manner. The children should be raised so that their habits would be good self-indulgence among the young people lead to more extensive things, which resulted in harm being done to them. The different branches already taught in the schools were all right, but the teaching of economy should also be introduced. What was wanted was intelligent economy, and this could be brought about by introducing the penny bank system, and what good would be accomplished by the teachers if this system was brought into the schools. He was greatly in favor of the penny bank being adopted by the city schools.

REV. FATHER McCOLL

Rev. Father McColl said he had listened with a great deal of pleasure to the addresses. We are not a thrifty people in this city, and as a matter of fact are extravagant. Young men who are earning big wages are not practising economy as they should. We should get at the root of the trouble and remedy it as soon as possible, and the advantages of the habit of thrift should be taught the young people.

Chairman L. M. Hayes, K.C., on behalf of himself and the Board of Education thanked the teachers of the Collegiate and Public schools for attending the meeting.

Mr. A. Mowat favored the idea of introducing the system in the schools here, and stated that on behalf of the teachers that they would do their duty towards the success of the scheme.

Mr. R. Fair also spoke in favor of the penny bank, and moved that the speakers be thanked for their addresses, and that the matter be referred to the Supervision Committee, to act in conjunction with the Separate School Board and school inspector. The motion was seconded by Mr. W. H. Hill.

CHOIR MEMBER GIVES REPLY

Churchgoer Must Have a Man in a Glass House

Editor of the Review

Dear Sir,—In your issue of May 3rd there is an item headed, "Objections to choirs talking during prayer," signed "Churchgoer." In regard to this matter I would like to say it is not a very becoming habit for a choir but at the same time I would like to refer Mr Churchgoer to that little schoolroom story taught in the second book; Smith told on himself when he said he saw Jones not working.

Yours truly,
CHOIR MEMBER.

Blacklisted Men

Editor of the Review

Dear Sir,—What I think is a very unfair thing is to ask the hotelkeepers not to sell drink to a certain person without giving a description of that particular person to the different hotel men. How are these different hotel proprietors and bar-tenders to know every man that goes into their hotel and asks for a drink, and if they sell to a blacklisted man they are fined when these different hotel men may be quite innocent of any wrong doing. What I think would be right and fair is for all blacklisted men to wear a badge or else supply each hotel keeper with a photograph of the blacklisted men to hang up in their bars.

Hoping that this matter will be acted upon at once by the proper authorities and thanking you for the use of your valuable space, I remain,

Yours truly,
JUSTICE.

SPORTING NEWS

THE BUSINESS BOYS' RUN PROVED EXCITING EVENT

The one mile race of the Y.M.C.A. Business Boys last night provided an exciting spell for the enthusiasts at the tape. Seven starters got away and went right out to make things interesting from the first. The course, which was a shade over a mile, was from the Y.M.C.A. to Water, to Simcoe, to George to the "Y." and the splendid time of 6.30 was made by the winner.

W. Davidson passed the finishing others finished was A. McWilliams, second; B. Hunter, third; W. Irvine, C. Nicholls, P. Milford, W. Saxby.

Davidson, who ran a clever race, took the lead at the start and won handily. McWilliams was a strong second. The most exciting bit of the race was the struggle for third place between Hunter and Irvine. They ran neck on the stretch and Hunter won by inches. The rest of the field was strung out pretty well along the course.

INTERMEDIATE BALL LEAGUE HELD SPLENDID MEETING

Six Teams Were Represented Last Night—Will Accept Mr. A. H. Stratton's Offer of a Shield—Schedule Will Be Drawn Up.

Considerable business was transacted at the Intermediate baseball meeting held last night at the Y.M.C.A. Six teams were represented and the officers were all present. The president, Mr. J. T. C. Lang, occupied the chair. The advisability of allowing Midland League players to sign with the teams was discussed, but when put to the vote was defeated. A committee was appointed to draw up a schedule and the first game will likely be played on Saturday, May 29th. Some of the teams were not in favor of playing Saturday afternoon games, but a motion was made to this effect and in consequence there will not be the usual trouble which has arisen over the night games being played. The fact of the games being played on Saturday afternoons will no doubt make the league a bigger success than in the past. If the Riverside Park is available all the excitement will take place there this season, and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the use of the grounds.

Mr. A. H. Stratton's offer of a shield if the league adopt the Spalding ball, was accepted. Now that the fine weather has arrived it is up to the ball artists to get out and practice, so that when the first game is called they will have rounded into good shape.

BALL TOSSER'S CORNER

BLOCK BALL.

Rule 37, sec. 1.—A block is a balled or thrown ball that is touched, stopped or handled by a person not in the game.

Section 2.—Whenever a block occurs the umpire shall declare it and base runners may run the bases without liability to be put out until the ball has been returned to and held by the pitcher in his position.

Sec. 3.—If the person not engaged in the game should retain possession of a block ball or throw or kick it beyond the reach of the fielders, the umpire shall call "time," and require each base runner to stop at the base last reached until the ball be returned to the pitcher in his position, and the umpire shall have called "play."

The Senior Baseball League meeting, which was to have been held in the Y.M.C.A. last night, did not materialize. Still there is lots of chances yet that the league will be a reality, and probably within the next few days something definite may be done.

The Lakeviews have undergone a change in name and will henceforth be known as the Park Nines. Still that won't save them a drubbing at the hands of Jimmie McNirn's outfit.

The Intermediate League looks good so far, but good reliable and efficient umpires should be secured.

Winnipeg Maroons defeated the Red Wing team by 5—2, this being the first game the Winnipeg nine have figure in. The Winnipeg Free Press says: Edmonds caught the first three frames, Anderson finishing. Both worked in great shape. Jerry Edmonds, catcher; Beatty, on first; Kane, second; McMahon, short, and Becker, third, looks like permanent fixtures. The pitching staff looks strong, but Manager Lohr has not given out the list of regular fixtures.

All Eastern League games were won by the visiting teams.

In the ninth inning yesterday, with three men on bases and one out, Goode drove out a long single, allowing two of the runners to cross the plate, thus winning the game for Toronto by 5—4.

Toronto opens the Eastern League season at home to-morrow with Baltimore.

Rube Waddell beat the Detroit Tigers yesterday by 4—2.

Chicago did not get a hit off Cy Young until the sixty innings yesterday. Cleveland won, 10—2.

Mathewson received his bumps yesterday and was sent to the bench. Raymond succeeded him, but Philadelphia made it three straights from the Giants, who are now in the cellar position. The score yesterday was 5—2.

Chicago was again defeated by Pittsburg yesterday in a ten innings battle.

Stewart's, Otonabee, May 4— The grass in this vicinity is getting green.

As it is getting late for seeding, the farmers are getting anxious. Some of them are working between the showers.

The roads are in a very dirty condition. Our young men do not seem to mind them as they make their weekly calls just the same.

Mr. Frank Savigny was the guest of Mr S. Matchett last Sunday.

Mr R. A. Devell has purchased a fine horse from Mr Atchison.

Mr. Herb Cardwell is making preparations to build a fine barn on his farm at Wallace Point.

Miss Jessie Laing spent Sunday at her home.

Mr. Wasson Hanbidge has sold his fine driving horse.

Mr. Burton Deyell has purchased a fine team of driving horses.

Mr. Bruce Savigny's new house is well under way. It will be one of the finest in this vicinity when it is completed.

Mr. Wasson Hanbidge spent Sunday evening at Cedar Valley.

Mr. George Elliott is slightly indisposed.

Mr W. Tully is wearing the smile that won't come off. Its a boy.

Mr. Brown Stewart is caretaker of the school while the Normal students are there.

The Women's Missionary Society meet on Tuesday at the home of Mrs J Hanbidge.

Miss M. Hanbidge and Miss C Stewart are delegates to attend the Sunday School county convention in Peterborough this week.

RESCUED LAUNCH FROM THE LAKE

Mr. Thompson Found One Drifting With Hole Punched in it

Mr. Thompson, of Mt. Julian, reports that during the wind storm of Tuesday a gasoline launch was blown on the shore and a hole knocked in the boat. It is thought that the launch drifted out of a boat house, owing to the high water. The owner of the launch is not known.

PERSONAL

Mr J. T. C. Lang, of Lang & Maher, is in Toronto to-day on business.

Mrs. W. J. Green, 375 Brock street, will not receive again this season.

The many friends of Mr. Joshua Smithson, of Greystock, and Mrs. Smithson, will be glad to hear that both have recovered from their severe illness of the past winter.

Hard on Merchants

The weather man is causing a great deal of trouble these days. The merchants say that the weather has been so cold that there has been no demand for summer goods and thus the receipts are not coming up to the standard. But of course its an ill wind that blows no person good, and while the dry goods merchants and others are fighting the weather man the coal men are smiling for with such weather as is being served these days furnaces must be kept going.

An Actual Air Line.

Stuttgart, May 5.—At a meeting held here yesterday of the Wurtemburg Aerial Navy League a representative of Count Zeppelin declared that the company formed in connection with the Zeppelin Airship Construction Co. had undertaken to establish a regular line of airships from Lucerne or Friedrichshafen to North Germany, via Frankfort-on-the-Main. The actual route to be adopted will depend on the offers of landing-places made by cities on the line. It is hoped to open the line for traffic next year.

Double Execution In New Brunswick.

St. John, N.B., May 5.—At 6 o'clock yesterday morning Tony Arosha and Leon Sepeppil were led to the gallows to expiate their crime in murdering Edward Green on Dec. 20 last.

They walked bravely to their doom, although they were very pale. The black caps were placed. Arosha said "Good-bye boys," in English, to those around, and Sepeppil spoke in Italian. Radcliffe officiated.

Killed Two Cows.

Woodstock, May 5.—Acknowledging his guilt in connection with the death of two cows on the farm of Donald Murray of East Zorra, where he worked, Ernest Ault, a young Englishman, was sent back to jail on remand for a week. Ault shoved sharp sticks into the animals. Asked why, he said he didn't know. He is well connected in England, and has only been out here a short time.

LAKEFIELD

Lakefield, May 5.—Clementi Lodge, A. F. and A. M., met in its hall here on Tuesday evening, and work in first and second degrees was exemplified.

The Board of Managers of the Methodist Church is having the trees removed from in front of the parsonage and other improvements are being made.

Rev W. T. Leggott, formerly the pastor of the Lakefield Methodist Church, but now of Elmvale, will occupy the pulpit at the Methodist Church on Sunday, May 16th, when the annual church parade, under the auspices of the Lakefield Oddfellows will take place.

The condition of Dr. Burgess, who is ill with heart disease, has improved slightly.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Wm. Sage, who died in Nicholls Hospital, on Sunday, took place yesterday.

Several matters of importance will be considered at the meeting of the School Board on Monday night.

Mrs George Spence, Mrs. Seward and Miss Sherin were local delegates to the Sunday School convention in Peterborough on Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs R. C. Strickland is improving after a very severe illness.

An experiment in the way of a smoke stack is being made by the Cement Company. The company is constructing a large smokestack made of cement, as the gasses evolved from the process of burning cement corrodes the iron in the old stack. If the cement stack is serviceable chimneys of that kind will be used by the company in the future.

Mr. W. F. Turner, of Peterborough, was in Lakefield yesterday on a business and pleasure visit.

Mr. Wm. Graham, of Viamede, Stony Lake, was in the village yesterday, and reports that the fine new "Viamede" will be all completed for the opening of the summer tourist traffic.

The Lakefield Preparatory School is still enjoying a wide popularity throughout the province. The term since the Easter holidays started school with an exceptionally large number on the roll and many other pupils desiring to enter cannot do so on account of the capacity attendance.

Mr. Sam Nugent is in Toronto, undergoing an operation on his eye by Dr. Reeves.

Messrs. James Lynch and George Edwards were in Lakefield yesterday, in the interests of the Dr. Norvall Medicine Co.

Mrs Webster Bhewett is spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. Con Young, of Peterborough, is the guest of Dr. Gibson.

Mrs Quinn, of Grimsby, is visiting Mrs. F. J. Tate.

The football practice season has commenced. The grounds have been measured off and the players are in active preparation for the first Midland League match in Warsaw on May 24th.

Mrs F J Tate and Mrs. Quinn were at Stony Lake the other day, looking over their cottages preparatory to opening them for the coming season.

Dr. Baker and others of a local syndicate have a party of prospectors work in their interests on the syndicate claims in Gowganda.

Mr. A. O. Quigley, barrister, reports several real estate exchanges and purchases. People are beginning to realize that investments in Lakefield properties are sound and profitable.

The attendance at the Lakefield Public School has increased materially since Easter.

Presbyterian W.F.M.S. In Strand.

Ottawa, May 5.—The third annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, western division, opened auspiciously yesterday afternoon.

An address on mission work among the Jews are given by Miss Marion Smith of Toronto. There were over 15,000 in Toronto all living in one section and all adhering to their original social and spiritual customs. The presidential address was read by Mrs. Shortreed of Toronto.

Non-Suited.

Chatham, May 5.—At the spring Assizes, before Justice Teetzel, the case of Frank Leitch v. the Pere Marquette Railway, was non-suited. Leitch was an employe of the company, and last August he met with an accident at St. Thomas, whereby his feet were crushed.

Poison In Sandwiches.

Kingston, May 5.—Citizens are aroused over the action of an unknown who has distributed sandwiches with paris green around streets to kill cats and dogs.

There is enough paris green in a sandwich to kill three children.

Frank Ross, who has been assisting in getting undesirable Italians out of McKeesport, was mysteriously shot by the "Black Hand."

WILL CLOSE AT ELEVEN O'CLOCK

Barber Shops to Close at This Hour on Saturday Nights and Before Holidays

After the 13th of this month the barber shops of the city will close at eleven o'clock on Saturday nights and nights before public holidays. A by-law to this effect was passed at the meeting of the City Council last night, a petition making the request having been presented to the Council. It was signed by the proprietors of all the shops in the city except two.

When the by-law came up Ald. Hicks suggested that it be left over for a month, as he would like to secure some information about it. The other aldermen did not see why there should be a delay and the by-law passed.

"Y" HARRIERS TOOK 4 MILE JAUNT

Ernie Wilson Finished in the Lead—Good Time Made

The YMCA. Harriers had a splendid four mile run last night and negotiated the course from the YMCA. to the watering trough on the Nassau Road and return in good time. Ernie Wilson took the lead on the return trip and covered the ground at a fast clip finishing considerably ahead of the others.

The Harriers will have another run next Thursday evening. The start will be made from the YMCA. at 8 o'clock. All interested are invited to take part in the run.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION HEARS SPLENDID ADDRESSES

At Closing Session at St. Paul's Last Night—Rev. S. T. Bartlett and Mr. Matthew Parkinson Speak on Topics of Vital Importance to Sunday School—Workers—Stirring Appeals to Workers.

The closing session of the Sunday School Convention at St. Paul's last night was marked by two addresses of unusual force and interest. The attendance was a most gratifying one, and must certainly have been of untold value to the large number of Sunday school teachers who heard it. The addresses were given in the most interesting manner, but the principal feature of them was the wealth of practical suggestion that was offered in a thoroughly practical way.

The first speaker was Rev. S. T. Bartlett, of Toronto, superintendent of Methodist Sunday schools for the Dominion, and he dealt with the question of the worth of the Sunday school in his discussion of his timely and masterfully-handled topic, "Does the Sunday School Pay?" He was followed by Mr. Matthew Parkinson, of Toronto, in a pithy and decidedly interesting and useful discourse on "The Organized Adult Bible Class."

Rev. H. J. Keith, president of the City Sunday School Association, occupied the chair and presided in his usual efficient manner.

Mr. Bartlett was very glad indeed of the opportunity to address the convention on that important subject.

In a convention like the one of last night it was impossible to tell who was who, as far as denomination was concerned, and that was a splendid thing. The speaker believed that more and more of those of all denominations were catching the spirit of the Master.

The whole Christian world was alive to the value of the Sunday School, and yet there were many in the Christian world who did not know its value.

"Does the Sunday School pay?"

Before we could determine whether the Sunday School paid we had to ascertain as to its character, its cost, its recompense.

What was the character of the work? It was not simply to inform the boy or girl in the Sunday School of the truth, but an appetite for that truth must be awakened, and the way to employ the truth must be taught, that he or she may become an efficient worker in the Kingdom of God. The boy and girl must have the Bible, for without it they could not be a man or a woman.

There was too much superficial work done by Sunday School workers. It should be borne in mind that God worked from the centre to the circumference—from the heart out.

God grew everything in nature, and did it in character and life. The Sunday School teacher made a big mistake to think that the teacher's mission was simply to inform the class about the Bible. The Sunday School work of to-day should be more thorough, and would be if the teacher realized that the Word of God was vital.

The Sunday School idea paid because of the nature of the work—because of its brightness. It was pleasing to know that it was taking hold everywhere, and the mission of the Sunday School was broader than it ever was before.

The child was guided in the right path and developed into a Christian worker of the congregation. Did it pay?

It paid the community, it paid the nation and it paid the Kingdom of God.

The teacher was to be pitied who thought that Sunday School work could be taken easily. The work of the teacher was to translate the great living principles of the Bible. Could that be taken easily?

It was being realized that teaching in the Sunday School was as important as preaching in the church. The adult Bible classes were doing grand work, because of these lessons better equipment for the teaching of the boys and girls was being obtained.

What did it cost? It didn't cost the average teacher enough thought and enough prayer.

The more that was put into the work the greater would be the compensation. The class must be impressed that the teacher was a living embodiment of what he or she was teaching. To do this cost something, but how great was the compensation. If efficiency was to be obtained in anything the price had to be paid. The speaker conveyed the impression by his latter remarks that it would cost diligence, patience and prayerful thought on the part of the teacher to deliver the message to the class properly.

"Go into the homes that have been touched by the Sunday school agency, and brought more into a unit for the light of God, and would we not say it paid?"

Rev. Mr. Keith said he was sure all felt deeply gratified and greatly enlightened by the splendid address by Mr. Bartlett.

THE ORGANIZED ADULT BIBLE CLASS.

Mr. Parkinson said it was high time for the brawny men and high-minded women to wake out of their sleep for the day was at hand. Three great movements of the present time were the Students' Volunteer Movement, the Laymen's Missionary Movement, and the Organized Adults' Bible Class.

In the wake of the two first named came the Bible Class which sought to do so much in the cause of Christ by effort and organization.

Why was this movement necessary? Nothing was successful for which there was not a place, and the speaker gave convincing proof that there was a place for the Organized Adult Bible Class.

It was up to the church to reclaim the men and hold them, and the only way to bring them back was with that good old Anglo-Saxon Bible. With that Bible the Adult Bible Class defied the world.

Even if the Bible were only studied as a matter of literature or biography it was worth while. But it wasn't for that that the Bible should be studied. Its teachings gave comfort in the time of sorrow, and laid down a rule of life. The Adult Bible Class sought to group men and women around the study of this work.

The whole principle of the movement was an organized class. An organized class was a class at work, and an unorganized class was a teacher at work. The moment the teacher got the class at work it was bound to be a success.

"Will you have a little common sense about your Bible class?" asked the speaker. "That's about the only way I could say that, and I have come all the way from Toronto to say it."

The hearts of men and women must be interested in things that they were doing.

The speaker gave many forcible illustrations of things done that were "worth while," and showed beyond dispute that the Adult Bible Class was one of these. His word pictures were simple, touching and interesting, and his hearers listened with rapt attention.

It must be determined if results were to be accomplished, that the Adult Bible Class should be in the work for service, and that device must be of the highest.

On behalf of the audience at the request of the chairman, Messrs. Moore and Kidd spoke in warm terms of the great value of the address.

GUELPH MINISTERS OBJECT TO WEARING OF BIG HATS

At the last meeting of the Ministerial Association of the City of Guelph the following resolution was passed:

That, whereas, numerous complaints have been made by members of our congregation, regarding the extravagant size of the hats worn by women of today thus obscuring the view, distracting the attention and depriving the worshippers of the greatest good possible; and whereas we consider the custom of women appearing in church with heads covered as of heathen origin, and further whereas in certain public assemblies women appear without headgear, thus respecting the pleasure and profit of others; we the ministers of the Guelph Ministerial Association, respectfully and seriously request the women of our congregations, with the usual magnanimity which characterizes them, to either remove their hats while in church or to wear ones of modest dimensions.

THE OPENING OF THE NEW PARK ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Much interest is being taken in the opening services of the new Park Street Baptist Church, which takes place on Sunday. Rev. W. A. Cameron, pastor of Bloor Street Baptist Church, Toronto, will preach at both morning and evening services and will give an address at the dedication service at three o'clock in the afternoon. The dedicatory prayer will be offered up by Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church.

On Monday evening a social evening will be spent. The chair will be taken by Mr. T. F. Matthews, and there will be a good musical programme.

SAFE EYE-GLASS FITTING

Selling eye-glasses out of a stock like scissors or thimbles, is a dangerous practice that is altogether too prevalent.

There should not be the faintest doubt in the mind of any person who finds the need of wearing glasses, that they are identically, scientifically fitted to the eyes.

We offer you safe spectacle fitting. And that is the only kind you should be satisfied to accept. There is nothing on this earth dearer than a cheap pair of spectacles that you have chosen yourself simply because you can see with them.

CHRISTIANS AT HARNI ARE REPORTED TO BE STARVING AND DESTITUTE

Women Are Being Carried Away by Moslems—Troops at Hadjln in Asiatic Turkey Try to Burn Town—Situation is Desperate and Supplies are Needed.

Marash, May 6.—A letter received by messenger from Harni says that every man there has been killed; only women, girls and boys under ten have been left alive. The churches and houses were plundered and most of them were burned. The letter, which is from the widow of a clergyman, says:

"We have nothing to eat or wear. We are living on grass like animals. Worse than this, the Moslems are trying to force the women and girls to become Mohammedans. Already some of the women have been carried away."

Lucius O. Lee, a missionary here, says: "We are trying to send food to Harni, although it is dangerous, and to bring away the women as well."

Much excitement has been caused here by the attempts of the authorities to arrest some of those who have murdered Christians.

Famine at Hadjin.

Hadjin, Asiatic Turkey, May 6.—Hadjin is facing a famine, and there is neither money nor food in the city.

Notwithstanding the presence of the troops here, the situation is desperate, on account of the lack of food and medical supplies. The troops which relieved the city came up from Mersina under command of Loutfi Bey. They arrived just in time, as the besiegers had succeeded in setting fire to a house on the edge of the city. The fire spread, but as the breeze was blowing away from the town, only five buildings were destroyed. A heavy rifle fire was kept up against those who tried to extinguish the flames.

The Mohammedans outside the walls, who seemingly numbered many thousands, pushed their attacks energetically against the inhabitants, killing and wounding many. They were so eager to get inside the city and plunder the place that they did not observe the approach of Loutfi Bey and his men until they were close up on them, whereupon the Mohammedans fled precipitately, carrying off all the cattle outside the city.

LATEST NEWS AS TOLD IN DESPATCHES

Prince of Wales an Indian.

Brantford, May 6.—Three war whoops marked the conclusion of the reading of a letter from the Prince of Wales to the Six Nations Indians in council at Ohsweken. The prince thanked the chiefs for electing him to the Turtle Clan.

Jap Spies in Australia.

Melbourne, Australia, May 6.—Some excitement has been raised at Melbourne by an announcement by Senator Pearce, Minister of Defence, that Japanese spies traveling as itinerant showmen, were mapping out the northern territory of Australia. Senator Pearce said the Japanese made exhaustive enquiries regarding the horses and vehicles available, as to cattle and live stock, and other information likely to be useful to an army of invasion. The Japanese consul at Sydney promptly issued a denial.

Abdul's Big Bank Account.

Constantinople, May 6.—The commission which is taking an inventory of the property at the Imperial palace at Yildiz has discovered according to the local newspapers, bank notes to the value of $2,250,000, and a large quantity of jewelry, including a rosary alone valued at $375,000. Papers seized at the palace show that Abdul Hamid had something over $5,000,000 on deposit in a foreign bank.

Victim of Foul Play.

BIG FIRE AT HALIFAX

Halifax, N.S., May 5.—A fire that in less than an hour wiped out $100,000 worth of property started on the water front at midnight, and threatened to destroy the block between Pickford & Blacks, and John Tobin & Co.

The fire started in the rear of H. H. Fuller's hardware store, and spread up and down the wharf with great rapidity, leveling the long wooden building occupied by Fuller as a store house, the premises of Frank Fraser, fruit merchant, and the offices of Leslie Hart & Sons and J. A. Farquhar & Co. The flames ate their way up wooden buildings to Fuller's store and offices, and at 1 o'clock the interior of the building was a mass of seething flames. The flames spread towards G. C. Cook's building and Pickford & Black's wharf, but the firemen checked them before greater damage was done.

MINISTER MAKES PLAUSIBLE REPLY TO GRAFT CHARGES

T. R. Crothers Presents Crushing Array of Accusations Based on Report of N. B. Commission--Minister of Public Works Blames it All on a Partizan Tribunal---Talks Six and a Half Hours.

Ottawa, May 6.—Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, was equal to the occasion yesterday. Although T. W. Crothers presented a stern array of condemnatory findings from the report of the New Brunswick Royal Commission to show that Pugsley should resign for the honor of the Canadian Parliament, the Minister came back with more or less satisfactory-looking explanations of several items in the report, while he heartily held up the commission as a partisan body, intent only on getting his hide.

Hon. Mr. Foster, at 11.30 a.m., moved to lay before the house a copy of the Landry report. Sir Wilfrid ruled that the matter was absolutely out of order.

Resuming in the afternoon, Mr. Crothers read extracts from the report of the New Brunswick Commission as affecting Mr. Pugsley, and recited among others the following findings of the court so constituted on evidence adduced respecting the Minister of Public Works:

That while he was occupying the position of director ex-officio of the New Brunswick Coal & Railway Co., he was culpably negligent and open to the gravest censure.

That although he was the controlling influence in the N. B. C. & Ry. Co., it was in fact nothing but a disorganized department of the Government.

That in order to conceal the truth he adopted the system of bookkeeping for public information.

That as a member of the Legislative Assembly and Attorney-General of the province he made incorrect statements to the Legislature to conceal the true state of affairs.

Mr. Pugsley interjected that Mr. Crothers could not produce any statement from the report that he had made such incorrect statements. Mr. Crothers replied that he could not only do so from the report, but from the Hansard of the Provincial Legislature of New Brunswick. He then proceeded:

That in stating to the Legislature on more than one occasion that $180,000 had been paid for the Central Railway, he stated what he knew was in fact untrue, as he had conducted the negotiations which resulted in the abatement of $39,000 from that sum.

That he mixed up his private affairs with those of the company and of the public so that large amounts received by him are not satisfactorily accounted for.

That he was a party to the misappropriation of $134,035 and that the abatement of $39,000 aforesaid forms part thereof.

By report and these findings, continued Mr. Crothers, the dignity of this House is compromised. As a member of this House I could not respect myself if I had not the courage, in the face of this report, to do all in my power to remove the stigma it brings to this House and to the people of Canada.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley expressed regret that matters relating to the provincial sphere of politics should engage the attention of the Dominion House, but personally, he was glad the matter had been brought up, because he was confident he could show that the report of the commission was of a discreditable and partizan character, and wholly unreliable. In attempting to give a statement of the interests account of the New Brunswick Central Railway, for instance, these commissioners had included only two items and had left out every dollar of interest upon the total expenditure for a period of eighteen months, they had neglected to include the interest on $180,000 paid for the railway, on $77,000 paid for improvements, and had taken no account whatever for losses incurred in operation. This alone made the report utterly unworthy of the serious consideration of any man who desired to see justice done. The omitted interest charges alone would amount to $60,000.

Mr. Crothers should at least have taken the trouble to read the evidence and he might have been convinced that this so-called judicial tribunal had been influenced in preparing the report by a partizan counsel.

Previous to the general elections, the commission secured the services of an accountant, who on the authority of A. Powell, secretary of the commission, on Oct. 14, twelve days before the voting took place, published a statement as to the interest account for no other purpose than to influence the people of New Brunswick against himself. This was a strange thing for a judicial commission. The commissioners did not at any time act as though they desired to get at the facts. Mr. Pugsley proceeded to give a number of instances in which he said absolutely misleading assertions had been made in respect to matters of which it would have been easy to get a full explanation.

The commissioners commented that in 1896 he had received $2,000 in connection with a sale of bonds, but at that time he was not even a member of the Legislature. Then the commission reported they could not explain what had become of a note for $10,000 discounted at the People's Bank and marked F. P. T. Anyone in New Brunswick would identify the initials of Senator Thompson, and if the Senator had been called he could have explained that the proceeds were placed to the credit of James Barnes & Co.

"This," he said, "was the work of cowardly assassins who strike in the dark."

After speaking for nearly four hours and a half, Mr. Pugsley concluded by asking permission to retire and thus leave the House freer to discuss the case.

O. S. Crocket, who replied to the Minister, declared that the commission had found those connected with the company guilty of every conceivabel form of malfeasance. Every official of the company, every banker, connected with it had been examined, and it had been shown beyond a doubt that there had been a misappropriation to the extent of $134,000.

Last night Mr. Pugsley continued to deal with the charges for over two hours.

Turning to the personnel of the commission he described it as intensely partizan. The New Brunswick Government was careful to see that they were good solid Tories, and the counsel was one also.

ROGHMOND TO GO TO GALLOWS

Negro Murderer Gets Full Penalty for Fiendish Crime—Sentenced at Stratford

Stratford, May 6.—Frank Roghmond, negro, was yesterday found guilty of murdering Mrs. Mary Peake at her home in the Township of Downie on Sept. 30 last. Last night he was sentenced by Justice Riddell to be hanged on June 28 next.

Roghmond was found apparently asleep in the cellar of the Peake home beside the dead body of Mrs. Peake by one of the sons, who had come in from the fields for a drink. Circumstances indicated that an outrage had been committed and medical evidence went to show that death was the result of physical and mental shock and that the woman had been roughly used.

Justice Riddell in his charge to the jury commented strongly on the nature of the crime and the complete character of the evidence advanced.

Aloysius Guerin was found guilty of manslaughter shortly before midnight. The case was one in which Alexander Sutherland of West Zorra was found dead at the rear door of Guerin's house in February last. Justice Riddell will impose sentence today.

It is perhaps unprecedented that two such serious cases have been disposed of in one day in the same court. Justice Riddell has imposed the death sentence three times within about six months.

PUNISHMENT FOR GRAFTERS

Pittsburg, May 6.—Sentences were imposed in Criminal Court yesterday by Judge Fraser on seven persons convicted within the last few weeks in the municipal graft cases. The sentences follow: W. V. Ramsey, former National Bank president, convicted of bribery, one year and six months imprisonment and a fine of $1,000; Capt. John F. Klein, councilman, two years and a fine of $1,000 on the bribery conviction, and one year and six months on the conspiracy conviction; Joseph G. Wasson and W. Brand, former councilmen, each one year and six months and a fine of $500 for conspiracy; H. M. Bolger, hotelkeeper, two years and a fine of $500 for bribery; Charles Colbert and John Colbert, convicted of attempting to bribe jury in the Ramsey bribery case, two years and a fine of $500.

Tendered Three Times.

Montreal, May 6.—In the civic enquiry yesterday, most of the time was spent looking into the purchase and remodelling of No. 12 police station. For the remodelling Oscar Proulx, brother of Ald. Proulx, the successful tenderer, put in three tenders in different names. He said that this was his way of doing business.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Cincinnati business men are favorable to a "daylight saving bill" for that city.

The Australian Government has accepted the invitation to the defence conference in July.

A Chicago waiter struck and killed a youth who made a derogatory remark about a piece of pie.

A hurricane recently in the New Hebrides Islands resulted in a tidal wave, much destruction of property and the loss of many lives.

Striking union bakers in New York yesterday attacked several east side shops where non-union men were at work, resulting in rioting and several arrests.

Charles L. Macdonald, arrested in Toronto Saturday on false pretence charges, was yesterday allowed suspended sentence by the magistrate at London.

Destructive prairie fires raged throughout Regina district Tuesday. McNally Bros., ten miles southwest of the city, lost all their buildings, feed and seed.

Worn out by months of severe suffering from rheumatism and determined to end his pain, Joseph Allan, 56 year old, suicided yesterday at Windsor with chloroform.

WHERE IS THE CREW OF SHIPS?

Kingstown, St. Vincent, B.W.I., May 6.—It may be that Capt. Collin Stephenson and the crew of the American whaling ship Carrie D. Knowles, long since thought to have been lost at sea, are still alive in Venezuelan prison. An American seaman, who gives the name of Payne, an escaped prisoner from Venezuela, has made his way to Kingstown, where he laid before the authorities an astounding story of the seizure of the Carrie D. Knowles at a Venezuelan port, where she arrived five years ago in distress, and the incarceration by the Venezuelans of the captain and his men.

THROUGH WITH ORIENTAL LABOR

New Westminster, B.C., May 6.—A. D. McRae, president and general manager of the Fraser River Lumber Co., whose mill at New Westminster is one of the largest in the world, announces that he is through with oriental labor for good.

"I intend immediately to make arrangements for the importation of a French-Canadian colony to New Westminster," he said. "We will give the people land and build them churches and do everything we can to make them satisfied."

B. C. RANCHES BURNT OUT

Damage Amounting to Large Sums is Done by Heavy Bush Fires

Kamloops, B.C., May 6.—Hundreds of thousands of dollars in property have been destroyed and scores of ranchers forced to flee for their lives as the result of a disastrous bush fire that swept the country from Notch Hill as far east as Three Valley and south from Sicamous as far as Vernon. Among the losses are two large sawmills, the Carlin Mill, $75,000, and the Carrigan Mill, on Salmon river, $35,000. Several mill hands had to flee for their lives.

Three large bush fires have been burning for several days and a gale soon brought them into contact.

In Mara District the loss will be heaviest, for scores of ranch properties are completely devastated. On the main line of the C.P.R. fences and telegraph lines are destroyed for nearly twenty miles. West of Kamloops wires are down from high winds.

Reports show that destructive fires are still burning in Spillamachene Valley, near Enderby.

CEMETERY IN BAD CONDITION

Port Hope, May 6.—At a meeting of the High School Board Tuesday night Trustee Clark called attention to the condition of the deserted Methodist cemetery, adjoining the school grounds. As the deeds and papers have been lost for years, the place has fallen into bad condition. "The boys on Saturdays play ball on the high school grounds," said Mr. Clark, "and last week I saw a number of lads busy at a game, using the headstones from the graves as bases. One stone with the name of a reverend doctor of divinity on it was the home plate. It's a shame."

No action was taken, as several attempts to settle the question of the costs of repairs have been made.

SCIENTISTS TO MAKE EXPERIMENT

London, May 6.—Public meetings voicing widespread protests in the matter of the Government's apathy in the field of aeronautics have had their effect and Premier Asquith yesterday announced that the authorities were providing adequate funds to employ the highest scientific talent with the object of devising and constructing dirigible balloons and aeroplanes and to carry on a continuous series of experiments and investigations. The work has been divided between the navy and the army and a special committee under the presidency of Lord Rayleigh, Chancellor of Cambridge University, has been appointed to act as general advisers to the scientific problems involved.

LEAMINGTON'S POLICE CHIEF HAS BEEN FOUND GUILTY

Constable Who Shot and Killed J. Healy While Latter Was Escaping Over Fence is Convicted of Manslaughter After Two and a Half Hours of Deliberation—Too Many Armed Constables in Ontario.

Chatham, May 6.—Elliott J. Kimball, chief of police at Leamington, was last night convicted of manslaughter. The jury were out two and a half hours. He will be sentenced to-day.

It was admitted that Kimball had shot W. J. Healy in Tilbury while the latter was attempting to escape from custody. It was merely a question of whether it was an accident or whether the prisoner was guilty of negligence in the handling of firearms. The crown relied upon certain statements made by Kimball after the shooting, such as "He was getting away and no constable likes to go after a man and be fooled." The defence was pure accident.

In the examination of Smith, the chief at Tilbury, Justice Teetzel made some pointed remarks. Smith said he carried a club and a loaded revolver for his own protection.

His lordship: "Do you carry it to wing prisoners who are getting away?"

Witness: "No."

His lordship: "Well, you had better get that out of your head if you do. What right have you to carry a gun?"

Witness: "It is in the constable's guide book. The town clerk also said I had a right to carry one."

O. L. Lewis, K.C., Kimball's counsel, said that all constable in western Ontario carried weapons and the Justice said: "Well, they don't in many cities."

In his address to the jury, W. J. Hanna, K.C., for the crown said: "There are too many constables like this man going around the country with a gun in one pocket and a cudgel in the other. We don't wish to turn such men loose in the community. It will do constables good to punish this one and will show them that they have no right to pull their guns upon such a slight pretence."

His lordship pointed out that a policeman has no right to shoot an escaping prisoner. He had the right to carry weapons to defend himself, but he was not warranted in killing a man. He could use violence for defence or to subdue and prevent a man from breaking away, but had no right to shoot at a prisoner once he got away."

"No policeman is warranted in killing another man unless it is undoubtedly sure that it is necessary in saving his own life or the life of some one else whom it is his duty to protect," said his lordship.

WAS COMMITTED FOR TRIAL ON CHARGE OF PERJURY

Blacklist Man Charged With False Swearing at Trial When Accused of Being Drunk—A Witness Stated That He Had Seen Accused Come Out of a Liquor Store With Parcel—Bail Was Granted.

John Martin was arrested yesterday and appeared in Police Court this morning charged with having committed perjury in the evidence he had given in the trial last Friday whereby he was charged with being drunk. After considerable evidence was taken the Magistrate committed him for trial before his Honor Judge Weller, and allowed him out on bail of $500 in two securities.

Crown Attorney Wood conducted the prosecution.

Mr. G. N. Gordon conducted the case in the interests of the defendant and Chief Rossel was the complainant.

City Clerk Armstrong produced the evidence which had been taken at the trial on April 29th.

P. C. Mcbarry was called and repeated the evidence which he gave on Friday, April 29th.

Evidence was given by Chief Roszel as to his being present at the trial and had heard the evidence given and signed by the defendants.

P. C. Meagher said he had no doubt at all but that accused was drunk when brought into the Police Station by P. C. Mcbarry. His actions were all those of an intoxicated man.

To Mr. Gordon witness stated that Martin had complained of being sick and had asked for a doctor.

Alexander Nesbitt was at the court last Friday and when outside that made this remark; "I would not commit perjury for a good deal like that." This was in reference to Martin's evidence. He stated that he had seen accused come out of a liquor house with a parcel.

Part of the paper had come off and he noticed a bottle of what he thought was whiskey. But to repeated questions by the Crown Attorney he would not swear what day this occurred, although it was some time between Monday last and the day of the trial.

This was all the evidence taken and the Magistrate stated that there was enough evidence to commit the accused for trial and this was done.

Opening Chapters of New Serial in To-day's Review

To-day the Review publishes the opening chapters of a new serial, "Richard the Brazen," by Cyrus Townsend Brady, author of "For the Freedom of the Sea," "The Southerners," etc., and Edward Peple, author of "A Broken Rosary," "The Prince Chap" and other fascinating stories.

In "Richard the Brazen", is put before the reader a knight errant worthy of the best day of chivalry, though he is of the present and we find him in the garb of the cowboy. The superb courage with which he rescues from certain death, a young woman whom he had never seen before and the reckless daring with which he risks his reputation in an attempt to win this woman under an assumed name will appeal strongly to every lover of romance and admirer of courage. How Richard prospered in his enterprise under difficulties which would discourage any but the most stout-hearted, is left the reader to find out, and a most delightful pastime it will prove.

BLUFF AND MORE OF IT

The thing most needed in the United States to-day is a campaign of education on political economy. They have "government of the people, by the people, for the people," but the people who are supposed to be self-governing know almost nothing of the science of government, and are at the mercy of every political charlatan who makes appeal to their cupidity. Tinkering with their tariff will not do. They must know the essential tariff facts and the eternal laws behind the facts, and they must obey those laws. Only the truth can make them free.—The Globe.

"Only the truth can make them free!" by which oracle-like announcement of a worldworn fact, the Globe intends the people to understand that it believes in free trade, that we have free trade now, and that the U. S., to which it patronizingly refers, is on the rocks because of a protective tariff. Let us for a moment consider the facts. Let us read carefully again this piece of pure bluff and nothing else, printed by the Globe for the purpose of making it appear that it is true to its "principles," and has always been so. In the first place our tariff is not a revenue or free trade tariff by the amount of the surpluses over the expenditure. There can be no denial of that fact. We have a protective tariff that is neither "fish, flesh nor good red herring." It is a straddle-the-fence sort. Then, as to teaching the Americans how to develop their country! Could anything be more unseemingly and ridiculous! The contemplation of the facts shows to what lengths the Globe is ready to go in its policy of bluff. Then, as to the truth making it free! With the Marine and Fisheries report before it, where A LACK OF CONSCIENCE is charged. With the Judge Cassels' report of a like character before it; with the Pugsley scandal smelling to Heaven, etc., and the Globe defending it all, we are informed by that journal that it is only the truth that makes people free. If this is no Cant, will someone please tell us what is. "Only the truth can make you free!" Remember that, but remember that it was the Globe that told you so. This is the point the Globe wishes most to impress upon you, however. The Globe is not hypocritical—Oh, no. It has been made free by the truth (laughter and loud cheers). We may well ask, "since when?".

TURKISH FREEDOM

The desire for freedom in Turkey is pretty much like that everywhere. There is an inborn desire in everybody to do as he or she pleases. But that desire is met by the invincible opposition of natural laws on the one side and the plain fact of duty on the other. Within these limits everybody is or should be, doubtless, otherwise free in the fullest sense, since when one is unconscious of [illegible] the dictatorial rule of others is intolerable. Hitherto Turkey like other dominions so founded and ruled has been a kingdom where one was as bad as another where the usurpation of the ruler was matched by the desire to usurp his neighbor's rights on the part of nearly every individual in the state. It led to anarchy, to which corruption ultimately always leads since corruption is merely robbery; or the means adopted to accomplish it. The consciousness or desire or necessity for something better, something more like freedom led to the formation of societies or nuclei in Turkey, in which gathered the malcontents. They were true to each other—in a land of spies extraordinarily true to each other. In time the end drew near and at last it came. The old Sultan was deposed and the new one, a man of conscience and high moral character, was put in his stead. The lesson of this larger sphere confronts us in the smaller. Schools and colleges are disturbed, upset, and reformed or deformed in the same way. It is a case of the dog wagging the tail or vice versa—of the government of our institutions by men and women or by their children. A state ruled by children will doubtless yet furnish amusement to a future historian. When it comes there will of course be once more a "slaughter of the innocents" who will be deprived of what they should dearly prize but do not know enough to prize—their reasonable freedom. It is always in this way that the great tide of humanity ebbs and flows. Occasionally there is an extra high tide or an extra low one, but humanity appears to be working its way to light and order even if it must be through excess which brings reform as in the case of militarism. We must see to it in Canada that we are not behind Turkey. Are we of the world's hero-e mould or do we only think so? Therein lies the difference. Unhappily the weakness of those who know better is the cause of the greatest and saddest injuries to the cause of freedom and rectitude. Many men are excellent in their vocation and conduct day by day but lapse when it is to their especial advantage with an ease, facility and determination that have their roots nowhere but in the deep substratum of rottenness and corruption that underlies the character affected.

CANADA'S CREDIT

Mr. Fielding: I dispute that with my hon. friend. I say that Canada's credit has improved.

Mr. Ames: I am willing to admit that the Finance Minister cannot agree with me upon this important matter nor do I wish him. But to my mind there are indications which tend to prove that the credit of Canada, under his management, has suffered, and is suffering. Take, for example, the advanced price that we have to pay for money. As is well known our loans are of three kinds—temporary loans, short term loans, and long term loans. Take, for example, the temporary loans, and see what we have been paying for money during the last two years. During the calendar year 1907 we never paid less than 4 1-2 per cent. During the first six months of 1908 the usual rate was 4 1-2 per cent and never went below 4. In June, 1908, the minister managed to make two small loans, one for 20,000,000 francs at 3 1-4 per cent for one year, another for £1,000,000 at 3 1-2 per cent for one year, but the remainder of the huge temporary indebtedness was upon the books at from 4 to 4 1-2 per cent. Yet we find that the Bank of England rate during 1908 was down to 3 per cent and is now down to 2 1-2 below which it never goes. Examine too the loans for which we issued securities only two of which were for more than ten years. We have made seven loan floatations in the last two years, 1907-1908, and of these seven loan flotations two are for long terms or to 1930-1950, four are for short terms and one for an intermediate term of ten years. Short term loans were mostly renewals and they were extremely costly. The loan of 1874 which fell due in 1904 and which was extended to 1907 cost us 4 1-2 per cent. When that renewal expired in 1907 it was extended in part for ten years and cost us a shade under 4 1-2 per cent. That is the annual effective rate of interest per unit including all costs connected with and spread over the life of the loan. The loan of December, 11, 1907, for four years, cost us 4 4-5 per cent. The loan of June 24, 1908, a renewal for four years, cost 4 3-10 per cent and with regard to the loan of February last of £6,000,000, although the cost is to be distributed over the whole term of ten years you will find that the annual effective rate of interest per unit will be 4 1-8 per cent. These are pretty expensive prices to pay for money when we have to float securities in order to obtain it. It appears to me that this cannot be taken otherwise than as an evidence of distress, when we borrow for temporary relief in many cases, and the borrowing, as we find here, is extremely expensive.

Now, as to the long term loans a comparison of the rate paid on these borrowings when compared with former years indicates impaired credit, as is shown by the following statement.—Hansard.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Recent statistics dealing with convictions for drunkenness show that in the past nine years the increase has been 150 per cent. [illegible] marked increase is shown in every province save Prince Edward Island. The number of convictions per thousand inhabitants is as follows: Manitoba, 11.71; British Columbia, 8.83; Nova Scotia, 6.39; New Brunswick, 5.98; the Northwest Provinces, 5.40; Ontario, 4.02; Quebec, 3.10; Prince Edward Island, 1.43.

The Globe says that Mr. Lloyd-George's budget creates an epoch. The Mail and Empire says that the Lloyd-George budget exemplifies the difference between the Liberal and Conservative idea of taxation. The Liberal taxes the natives. The Conservative puts on a tariff and taxes the foreigner. The difference in the methods and results is well stated by the Mail and Empire, and it does not take long for Liberal theories to be found out.

Cables Steady—Hogs Lower at Buffalo and Chicago.

LONDON, May 5.—London cables for cattle are steady at 12c to 13½c per lb. for Canadian steers, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9¾c to 10c per pound.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, May 5.—(Special.)—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market this morning the offerings were 400 cattle, 150 sheep and lambs, 425 hogs and 200 calves. Prices were fully ¼c per lb. higher and more in some cases, when the quality of the stock is taken into consideration. The demand was good. There were really no choice beeves on the market, but nevertheless 6c was paid for steers and from that down to 4c, while canners sold at 3c per lb. The supply of sheep and lambs was a little larger than usual. Prices ruled firm with sales of old sheep at 5½c per lb., and spring lambs, at $5 each.

Calves were very plentiful, but prices were a fraction higher at from $2 to $5 each, as to size and quality. There was a good demand for hogs and prices ruled steady, with sales of selected lots at $8.25 per cwt., weighed off cars. At the Montreal stock yards, west end market, the offerings consisted of 300 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 300 hogs and 1400 calves. A feature of this market was the demand for export account and all the suitable cattle for this trade met with a ready sale, while there was also a good demand from butchers and wholesale dealers on account of small run on Monday and on the whole a fairly active trade was done at strong prices. The best steers sold at 6c, fairly good at 5¾c to 5½c, fair at 5c to 5¼c, medium at 4½c to 4¾c, common at 3¾c to 4¼c, and inferior at 3c to 3½c per lb. The trade in sheep and lambs was active with sales of old sheep at 5½c per lb., and spring lambs, at $3 to $6 each. Calves were in active demand at prices ranging from $2 to $5 each, as to size and quality. The demand for hogs was good and sales of selected lots were made at $8.25 per cwt, weighed off the cars, but the feeling is that prices will rule lower next week.

LIST OF CARNEGIE HEROES ANNOUNCED

Twenty-Three Medals, $14,000 in Cash and $125 a Month Annuities Given for Acts of Bravery

Pittsburg, Pa, May 5—The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission at its regular quarterly meeting yesterday made awards to twenty-three persons in different parts of the country for deeds of heroism considered since the last meeting. The awards consist of 16 bronze and seven silver medals, $14,000 in cash and annuities amount to $125 a month. The commission also appropriated $10,000 to the relief funds for relatives of the [illegible] victims of the two mine explosions at the Lick branch mine of the Pocahontas Consolidated Collieries Company at Switchback, W Va. on December 29, 1908, and January 12, 1909.

Among the awards made were:

John Carruthers, locomotive engineer of West Newton, Pa., awarded bronze medal and $1000 to be applied to the purchase of a home. Leaving the engine in charge of his fireman, Carruthers went through his cab window and to the pilot where he seized a boy from the track and prevented him being run over.

John C Soureman, of West Pittston, Pa, awarded a bronze medal and $2150 to liquidate his indebtedness. Rescued Karl A Kellar, eleven years old from a live wire. Soureman was permanently injured.

Charles F Meyer of New York City awarded bronze medal and $500 for disablement benefits. Rescued Misses Roslyn and Bessie Morris from the wreckage of an automobile just as its gasoline tank exploded.

Eugene F Heinze, of Cleveland, O, captain of the Salvation Army awarded a bronze medal. On August 5, 1908, he rescued a drowning woman.

Frederick W Miller, of Rush, NY, awarded a bronze medal and the sum of $600 to liquidate a mortgage on his property. Miller rescued Timothy Mahoney aged sixty years from drowning on April 24, 1908, after Mahoney had been swept over a dam in Honeoye Creek. The current was very strong owing to a freshet and Miller risked his life in making the rescue.

Frances E Hall, aged fourteen, a school girl of Canandaigua, NY, was given a bronze medal and the sum of $2000 for educational purposes. Miss Hall saved Miss Nellie Rathbun of Canandaigua from drowning on August 30th, 1908.

Pierce D Marsh, and engineer of Weston, W Va, was awarded a silver medal and $1000 to pay a mortgage, for preventing a possible wreck on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Harriet O'Connor, of Southampton, Mass, widow of Patrick O'Connor, was awarded a silver medal and death benefits at the rate of $25 a month. Patrick O'Connor lost his life in an attempt to save two drowning boys.

J F A Lautenschlager, of [illegible], Ohio, awarded bronze medal and death benefits in the sum of $250. Her brother was drowned in attempting a rescue.

Lulu J. Small, of New York City awarded silver medal. Rescued two drowning women.

Elizabeth E McGee, of Hoskinsville, Ohio, mother of Irvin R McGee, awarded silver medal, $300 to liquidate a mortgage and $25 a month during life or until she re-married. Irwin was suffocated in a well attempting the rescue of Willis E Leonard, who was overcome by gas.

Sallie R Dillinger, of [illegible], Pa, widow of Jonathan Dillinger, awarded silver medal and $50 a month during her life or till she re-marries. Jonathan Dillinger rushed in front of a moving train and shoved Mrs Mary E. Gruff, sixty-five years of age and slightly deaf, from the tracks. Her legs were cut off but her life was saved. Dillinger was killed.

TROUT FISHING IN MANVERS PONDS

James Appleby and Tom Sadler were the only two fishermen to run the weather gauntlet and enjoy a day in the Manvers trout ponds yesterday. They spent a successful day, too, and secured a goodly supply of trout.

This morning a party set out for a day's sport and expect to bring home numerous trophies of their skill as anglers. The party was composed of Herb Middleton, Joe Carroll, Judge McMillan, W H Sampson, T. Sadler and Joe McConnell—Lindsay Warder.

FINDS HIS WORK A PLEASURE NOW

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured the Postmaster's Kidney Disease.

Alberta Man Tells How His Troubles Vanished When He Used the Old Reliable Kidney Remedy.

Edson, Alta., May 5—Special—"I can now do all my work without pain and with pleasure." Those are the words of Postmaster Andrew B Nelson of this place. As all the postmaster's friends know he has been troubled with Kidney Disease for several years past and has been doing everything in his power to find a cure for it. He has found the cure. It is Dodd's Kidney Pills. "Yes, I tried all kinds of medicines for my kidney trouble," the postmaster joyfully states. "None of them seemed to do me any good till I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Two boxes of them cured me completely. I highly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from Kidney Disease. I would not be without them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all diseases of the kidneys, from backache to Bright's Disease. They also cure all diseases caused by disordered kidneys failing to strain the impurities out of the blood. That is why they cure dropsy, rheumatism, and heart disease. If you haven't tried them your self ask your neighbor about them.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

By Ross Cassington

By Ross Cassington.
On mountain throne in royal state
With sentinel of pine and fir
She guards her treasures—laughs at fate,
And coyly bids her suitors wait,
Whose hearts faint for the love of her.

Her lofty head is all aglow
At morn and eve with solar sheen;
The tireless years, they come and go,
But on her brow a wreath of snow—
Betokens her a virgin queen.

Her girdle flashes—richly laced
With many gems—its generous fire;
Her caverns gleam with silver chaste,
And rocky ledges—golden-laced,
Await the goal of her desire.

And at her feet the stretching vale,
Fruit-laden, scents the summer air;
While orchard blossom pink and pale,
Are woven as a bridal veil
For this sweet Western Queen, so fair!

And hurrying to the expansive sea
Her well-stocked rivers sweep along;
"Food for the nation yet to be—
And power for all posterity,"
They sing as swift they hasten on.

Deep freighted ships from overseas
There, at her tidal waters lay;
And borne on Oriental breeze—
From farthest East—rich argosies
Drop anchor in the sheltered bay.

Fanned by the vast Pacific sea,
She sings from her high rock and crag:
"Homes for the millions yet to be."
Queen of the unconquered West is she,
And loyal to the Empire's Flag!

A DEFICIT OF HALF A MILLION

Defunct Ontario Banks Assets Much Behind Liabilities

Toronto, May 5.—Hearing of the application of the Ontario Bank liquidator to settle a list of contributories was opened by the official referee, George Kappele, yesterday afternoon in Judge Morson's chambers in the City Hall.

Two witnesses were called, Mr. F. H. Pope, former acting Chief Accountant of the Ontario Bank, and Mr. A. D. Braithwaite, interim General Manager of the bank, and the burden of their evidence was that there would be a deficit of $576,000 when the assets of the Ontario Bank taken over by the Bank of Montreal are realized. This will be a loss of about 7.42 per cent. of the assets.

Mr. Braithwaite read a carefully prepared statement of the affairs of the defunct Bank up to April 26th, of this year, which showed that on that date the total liabilities were $2,344,000 and that the assets which they hoped to realize amounted to $576,000 less than this amount.

"Impulsive Insanity."

Flushing, N.Y., May 6.—Mr. McIntyre yesterday read the Hains' defence hypothetical question, consisting of nearly 12,000 words. It reviewed all the testimony so far given, and then asked Dr. Manson as to defendant's mental condition at the time of the shooting. "Impulsive insanity" was the reply.

It took one hour and 56 minutes to read the question.

A Second Hand Love Affair.

By MARTHA COBB SANFORD.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Dan Hewling, graduate of Harvard, famous athlete and popular society man, startled his aristocratic intimates by refusing to follow the smoothly beaten trail prepared by his progenitor and by starting in literally at the bottom of the mill.

The mill, a plant manufacturing cotton thread, was situated in a little faraway New England town that no one had ever heard of until Dan discovered it.

While his friends and family stood around amazed or weeping Dan laughingly gave his dress suit a farewell pat and instructed his man to fold his brand new overalls carefully. He wouldn't have them creased for anything. Fancy making one's first appearance in mussed up overalls! It would blight his whole career.

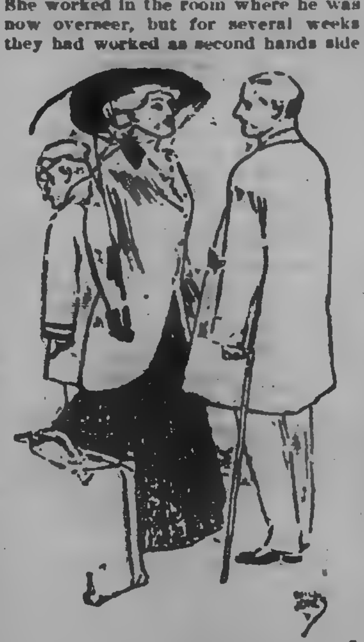
But the following Monday morning, when he groped his way down to the factory in the sunless dawn, the situation seemed less comic than he had pictured it. Dan was no quitter, however. He proved that as the long, arduous days went by.

The mystery to his friends was on seeing him over an occasional week end that he appeared not only plucky and determined to make a success of his work, but actually happy.

No amount of comradely interest in his fellow laborers, no mere appreciation of simple country life, they argued, could account for that.

And they were quite right.

The direct cause of Dan's enthusiasm over his work was Mary Brown. She worked in the room where he was now overseer, but for several weeks they had worked as second hands side by side and exchanged the scant courtesies of each working day as it passed. Gradually Dan fell into the habit of walking home with Mary at night, their boarding places being near together.



"IT WAS ONLY A SECOND HAND ONE," LAUGHED ELSIE.

Their conversation at first centered around their one mutual interest—their daily work. About herself Dan could not make Mary talk. She seemed shy and embarrassed, but she was evidently genuinely pleased with his rapid promotion.

In the wholesome presence of this pretty, bright, unsophistocated girl Dan came to feel himself better understood, more stimulated and more contented than with any one he had ever known. In fact, he woke suddenly to the fact that he loved her.

With this realization came the serious contemplation of his future. What would his family say if he should tell them that he contemplated marrying a "second hand" in the mill?

Why was he not free to act independent of all the rest of the world? Here was he, young and strong and bound to make his way. And here was Mary, young and strong, too, and beautiful and the one human being toward whom his soul yearned. Why should any one else matter?

"Mary," he began earnestly as they were tramping along a country road one mild winter Sunday—every one called her Mary—"are you happy here in this little town?"

She glanced up at him quickly, her cheeks all glowing from the brisk pace they had been going.

"Of course I am!" she laughed. "What a silly question!"

"How can you be?" he urged so vehemently that it startled her.

"Why," she answered slowly, evidently thinking out her reply as she spoke, "I'm interested in my work. That's the main reason, I suppose."

"What are the others?" Dan demanded.

"And I like the people I work with," she added frankly.

"All the people," he probed, "or some one in particular?"

"I did not mention any names," she evaded, laughing lightly.

"I noticed you didn't," Dan continued, entirely unabashed. "But in my opinion the main reason for being happy is liking some one in particular."

"And are you happy?" Mary asked naively.

"Very," Dan replied, so emphatically that Mary involuntarily glanced up at him and then immediately looked away again, her heart thumping hard.

"And I am going to mention names, Mary," he said, smiling at her tenderly. "I am going to do more than that. I'm going to ask you to change yours."

Mary gave a little start of surprise, and her cheeks flushed still more rosily.

"I have already changed it," she said in a voice so low that Dan just caught the words. "Please let us forget this—this little episode, Mr. Hewling. I know I haven't played fair. I ought to have told you before, but I didn't know it would make any difference."

"Any difference!" Dan echoed bitterly. And for a long time they walked on in silence.

"We are going to be good friends, aren't we, just the same?" Mary ventured at length, her lips trembling.

Dan steadied himself.

"Of course," he said. "It has been all my fault. You have played perfectly fair. There was no reason why you should have told me anything."

The following Saturday Hewling took the train for his native city. He felt that he needed a change of surroundings. He had just tossed his suit case up into the rack and was about to settle down when he saw Mary get into the car. But she did not see him.

So she was seeking a change too. He had a dozen minds as to whether he should join her or not, but finally decided not to.

He changed his seat, however, so that he could watch her more closely. Although she had a magazine, he noticed that she did not read it, but continued to stare out of the window, almost immovable.

He noticed, too, how exquisitely pretty she looked in spite of her plain, unfashionable costume. Something of the viking spirit took possession of him for a moment and made him feel like leaping on to the engine and carrying her off at terrific speed into some big, undiscovered kingdom.

Suddenly—or so it seemed to Hewling—the train came to a standstill and people began to leave the car. When the crowd had passed by him he looked again for Mary. She had gone too. Jerking down his suit case and snatching up his overcoat, Hewling made a mad dash off the train, landing almost in the midst of a group of laughing girls on the platform.

"Well, Dan Hewling!" exclaimed one of them, shaking hands with him cordially. "Where did you come from? Is that your usual way of alighting from trains? Oh, Elsie," she called after one of the girls—they had all very tactfully withdrawn—"come back here. You must let me introduce Dan Hewling. Dan, my college chum, Elsie Landers. I'm sure you two people ought to be"—

"Yes, interrupted Dan, his expression a comical mixture of amazement and happiness as he acknowledged the introduction. "I'm sure we ought to be."

"Ought to be what, for mercy sake?" gasped Mary Brown's chum.

"Engaged!" finished the irrepressible Dan. "And we would have been if Mary—I mean Elsie—had played fair."

At this Elsie Landers looked up at Dan appealingly, and her friend stared at the two in astonishment.

"You don't mean that you—oh, how romantic! I'll never say another word against that crazy socialistic scheme of yours, Elsie. She's writing a thesis, as I suppose you know, Dan, on—what is it on, Elsie? I never could remember."

"It doesn't matter," laughed Elsie. "I've almost forgotten myself."

"Then you aren't going back to that dingy little town any more?"

Elsie's eyes met Dan's in a flash of mutual comprehension.

"Oh, I can't promise that—because, you see, the overseer thinks a lot of me, and I think he's going to promote me."

"You bet he is!" came from Dan so explosively that the secret was out in a minute.

"Oh, Elsie, you fraud!" exclaimed her chum. "The idea of your having such a perfectly original romance and never"—

"It was only a second hand one," laughed Elsie.

But only she and Dan understood, squeezing hands on the sly as Elsie's chum went in to break the news to the others.

Italians working on the street railway tracks in Hamilton for 15 cents an hour went on strike for 20 cents.

Jewish Longevity.

Superficial scrutiny of the vital statistics yields the Jew a prominent position in the sanitary world, if longevity serves as any index of hygienic living. With the average length of life for all Christian people placed at thirty-six years eleven months (1900) the Jew may hope to reach forty-eight years nine months.

Neufville (1855), inquiring into the comparative duration of life and causes of deaths of Jews and Christians in Frankfort, learned that one-fourth of the Jewish population was living beyond seventy-one years, while only one-fourth of their neighbors was living beyond the age of fifty-nine years ten months. Abbott claims that "they (i. e. Jews) are much less frequently the subjects of tubercular and acute epidemic diseases than any other race of mankind."

Why should this seeming vital superiority exist? According to Richardson, "the causes are simply summed up in the term 'soberness of life.' The Jew drinks less than his 'even Christian;' he takes, as a rule, better food; he marries earlier; he rears the children he has brought into the world with greater personal care; he tends the aged more thoughtfully; he takes better care of his poor and he takes better care of himself." To this might have been added that through religious customs hygienic tendencies became an inheritance.—Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette.

Rev. J. Roy Van Wyck, of Westminster Presbyterian church, Hamilton, surprised his congregation by resigning.

PRODIGAL WITH MONEY.

An Author Who Was Constantly In Financial Difficulties.

Of Robert Buchanan, an author whose books seem nowadays in a fair way to be forgotten, there are some interesting glimpses in Chambers' Journal. A friend says of him that he was a man who was constantly in difficulties in regard to money matters. He would have a pocketful of money one day and none at all the next. He "gave money away right and left to those who appealed to his sympathy," and he was absurd in generosity as regarded his friends. This particular friend says of this trait:

"I found it extremely difficult to get him to accept any money due to him for transactions undertaken for me. If I asked him, 'How much do I owe you, Bard?' he invariably answered in the same strain, 'Eight thousand five hundred and nineteen pounds, four shillings and sevenpence,' or 'Give me half a million, and we will cry quits.' If we dined together casually, one, two, six of us, he invariably managed to get hold of the bill and pay it.

"This trick of his, of course, became familiar, and we seldom asked him to dinner unless we had arranged the matter beforehand with the powers that be. When he discovered that fact he would say: 'Oh, this is a duke's affair. All right, I expect to be treated as in a ducal mansion.' It was the same with cabs and trains. He was a large, stout man, but he had a curious faculty of reaching the cabman's hand or the ticket office before the slimmest of us.

"He was a confirmed turf speculator—a strange pursuit for a singer of songs and dreamer of dreams—and it need hardly be said he lost far more than he gained, but when he was successful—and occasionally his winnings were large—he always managed to find a means of sharing his good fortune with those less privileged than himself. One of his many methods of telling white lies was this: 'How are you, X.? I owe you £20.' 'This is the first I have heard of it,' would likely be the reply. 'Oh, I took the liberty of putting a sovereign on King Charles for you, and he started at 20 to 1,' and forthwith he handed over the money."

English In Java.

A book published in Java, called "The West Java Travelers' Guide," says of a certain sanitarium: "At the establishment is a physician. The sick may invoke the physician for daily treatment, with use of medicaments. Children below ten years pay for lodges half of the price."

Under "Addresses and Announcements" is politely recommended "the hotel prigin, with occasion for warm baths, where till now all reconvalescents, as well as Mrs. Physicians and particulars and officials, have found back their health. Cures malaria, complaigns in the chest and other fatnesses, green sickness, cutaneous diseases," etc., and we are assured that "this healthy abode for reconvalescents has also occasion to many delightful idylic excursions to which saddle horse and tandees are stationed when before timely ordered."

He Had No Objections.

He had held one of the fattest jobs in the gift of the local political boss, and when he died there was an unseemly scramble for his position. The first man to reach the boss had no particular claim upon him, but merely placed his faith in the adage of the early worm.

"Guv'ner," said he, "do you think you would have any objections to my getting into Jones' place?"

"Oh, I'm sure I have no objections," was the unfeelingly reply. "None in the world, if the undertakers and coroner are willing."

Not So Easy as He Looked.

The passenger train had halted in an isolated rural district on a summer afternoon. The "smart" young man aboard, who volunteered to furnish amusement for the passengers, discovered an awkward country lad sitting on a stump not far distant. Seizing the opportunity for some fun, he cried: "Hello, sonny! Do you live in these parts?"

"Yaas," drawled the youth.

"Say, do you have any fools around here?"

"Nary one," came the response. "We sent for a carload last week, but wasn't lookin' for them yet."

The Care of the Eyes.

When one is using the eyes for close work it is wise to change the focus at intervals and gaze off at a distance. If the distant view is of green mountains and fields it will be most restful. If the air in the room can be frequently changed that will rest the eyes also. One should never use the eyes for study or work before breakfast or after the strength has been reduced by disease or a nervous strain. A book should be held about eighteen inches from the eyes. The light for work should be steady and for an entire room diffused rather than spotty.

As She Used to Every Morning.

The bereaved Mrs. O'Leary, with a neighbor, stood sobbing over the coffin of her deceased husband.

"Oh, Mrs. Murphy!" she cried. "Oi can't belave Pat's lyin' there dead. He's only ashlape."

"Shure, he do look loike he wor only ashlape," returned her sympathizing friend. "Call to him, Mrs. O'Leary—call to Pat jist as ye used to wake him iv'ry marnin'."

Mrs. O'Leary dashed away her tears and called vehemently:

"Git up, ye lazy baste, an' go out an hunt fer a job!"

The Rat's Revenge.

While a rat-trap was being set in a Woodbridge, England, wheelwright's shop recently by the light of a paraffin lamp, a rat darted out of a hole and upset the lamp. The premises was set on fire, and damage to the extent of $1,000 was done.

Mrs Carolan, of Brantford, wants the graves of her son and daughter re-opened to satisfy herself that the bodies are there.

ONE ON THE DOCTORS.

Madame J. Rioux, St. Moise, Que., says:—"Fruit-a-tives cured me of severe Liver Disease. Neither doctors nor any other remedy did me any good, but Fruit-a-tives promptly cured."

"Fruit-a-tives" always cure Liver Trouble, Biliousness and Constipation because they act directly on the liver. They stimulate the secretion of Bile, which decreases the quantity of blood in the liver and thus relieves the Congestion or Biliousness. With plenty of Bile to move the Bowels, there is an end to the Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" are a positive cure for all troubles arising from a disordered liver.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes—prepared by a newly discovered process, and combined with valuable tonics and antiseptics. They are, without doubt, the most popular remedy in Canada to-day.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. If you can't get "Fruit-a-tives" in your neighborhood, these wonderful tablets will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by addressing Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

WAS GIVEN A TRIP TO STARLAND

Dispute on the Merits of Pugilists Led to One Man Being Sent the "Star" Route

Two Englishmen returning home from work last evening, were heard arguing on the respective merits of two well-known prize fighters, and by the time they had arrived a short distance north of McDonnel street on George, came to a disagreement. As is the result in many cases of the kind, one word led to another, and the outcome of it all was that they agreed to settle the point with the use of their "dooks."

Both were husky and looked fit to go any distance. They pulled off their coats and proceeded to look for opportunities whereby the affair would be settled in a short time. In an unlucky moment one of the scrappers landed a blow under the chin of his opponent, whereby that individual was lifted off his feet for a considerable distance and landed head downwards on the pavement. This had the effect of putting him to sleep for some length of time, but by the aid of the winner and a few spectators he was brought back from the starry regions, and both went on their way satisfied that the argument was settled for all time.

OBITUARY

MRS. HENRY STARR.

The death occurred this morning of Sophia Elizabeth Fisher, wife of Mr. Henry Starr, of Auburn. Deceased, who was 33 years of age, had been ailing for some time and death was not unexpected. She was a daughter of the late Frederick Fisher and had lived all her life in Auburn. Besides her husband and four children, Mrs. Joseph Guerin, of Toronto, and Mrs. John Bolton, of East City, who are sisters, are left to mourn her loss.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made but will be announced later.

HARRY ADAMS

THE INSPECTORS HERE TO INSPECT BUSINESS RISKS

Underwriters Association Has Sent Three Here for That Purpose—Reduction Will be Made Where Warranted by Facilities.

Three important visitors, in a business sense, are in the city today. They are Messrs Perkins, Noble and Boyd of the Ontario Fire Underwriters' Association and the object of their visit is to inspect the mercantile risks of the city with the object of reducing the key rate. The rates will be lessened where electric wiring improvement and fire wall warrant it with the view of encouraging the business men to use every foresight with regard to fire fighting precautions."

Some time ago the Fire, Water and Light committee waited upon Mr John Robinson, secretary of the Underwriters' Association and requested the reduction in the city on account of the improvement in fire fighting facilities

The secretary promised that the inspectors would pay a visit here early in June and their visit earlier than was anticipated should be all the more welcome to the business men concerned.

BRANTFORD AND ST. KITTS OFFICERS HERE TO-DAY

In Connection With Visit of Regiments Here on May 24th at Opening of Armouries—Programme Prepared at Meeting With Local Officers.

Officers of the Brantford and St. Catharines regiments are in the city to-day in connection with arrangements for the visit of the regiments here for the official opening of the Armouries on May 24th. The St. Catharine's officers arrived last night and were taken charge of by the officers of the 57th. They are Col. Campbell, mayor of St. Catharines; Major Burleigh and Major McCordick.

Col. Ashton, Major Robertson and Major Gennet reached the city from Brantford this morning.

The visiting officers were in consultation with the officers of the 57th and the programme for the 24th was prepared.

THE ANNUAL C.G.E. BENEFIT CONCERT ANOTHER SUCCESS

An unusually bright and varied bill was presented at the annual concert of the C. G. E. Benefit society, at the Grand Opera House last night. The forces of the Lorain Amusement Company were combined with the local artists and the programme was a lengthy and entertaining one. The audience was very large, and highly appreciative, showering bouquets of applause upon the performers and recalling some of them several times.

Advantage was taken of the occasion to throw out some jests and quips about the officials at the C.G.E. They were all in good taste and were received with much laughter.

Moving pictures opened the programme and were followed by a captivating number by Georgina and Prudence Long, who have established themselves as favorites with Peterborough audiences. They gave that tuneful song hit, which they sing in such a piquant way, "I Remember You," and their usual recall was, of course, given.

Mr. George Arthur, the Lorain Company's singer of illustrated ballads, next favored the audience, and he was followed by little Annie Christie, who recited, "The Goblins Will Get You if You Don't Look Out." Her recitation, which was splendidly given, was enthusiastically applauded, and her return for another number demanded.

Interesting motion pictures entertained the crowd for some time following the recitations.

Mr. H. Lee sang a tenor solo in a very pleasing voice, showing him to be a vocalist of considerable ability. He was cordially encored. Miss May Miller's singing of the pretty picture song, "Killarney," drew forth well merited recall.

The second part of the programme was opened with a comedy sketch by the juvenile team of the Lorain Company, Gordon Ball and Vera Simmons. The act was clever and showed the two youngsters to advantage. During the sketches "Bridget McCue" and "O'Brien Has No Place To Go," were sung, and the little girl gave a step dance with true professional style. Much comedy color was lent by her little Irish partner.

After the moving pictures Master Ball again put in a welcome appearance and delivered the ever popular and contagious "Harrigan," in a remarkably droll and effective manner.

Little Annie Christie made an impression with her Scotch dialect recitation and by way of an encore showed her versatility by giving an equally acceptable one in Irish.

Mr. H. Lee again sang a well rendered solo, and was forced to appear for a second number.

The programme was brought to a conclusion by a clever song and dance specialty by Ford and Miller. This was one of the features of the entertainment, Miller's clog, buck and wing dancing being decidedly clever and finished.

A PETERBOROUGH PIONEER HAS PASSED AWAY IN HAMILTON

Word was received by 'phone to-day by Mr. Robt. Beach, proprietor of Parker's Dye Works, of the death in Hamilton of his father, Mr. William Beach. The late Mr. Beach has been ill for some time, and his death was not unexpected. He was 75 years of age.

For nineteen years he was foreman at Stenson's shoe store, George St., and as it is twenty-five years since he left Peterborough, was one of its earliest pioneers.

Deceased was born in the county of Cavan, Ireland, and the first place he resided in Canada was in Brockville. He then moved to Peterborough and lived here until he moved to Hamilton, and at the time of his demise was residing with his son, Mr. Bert Beach, at 269 1-2 King street east. He was not associated with any lodges or societies. In religion he was an Anglican.

Surviving are four sons and two daughters. The sons are W. A., of Chicago; James T., of Los Angeles; Robert, of Peterborough and Bert, of Hamilton. The daughters are Mrs. Hammerstead, of Milwaukee, and Mrs. Durnbaugh, of Lima, Ohio.

The funeral will take place in Hamilton.

Plumbing Inspection

Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I wish to ask through the columns of your valuable paper if the people of town know that we have been without a legitimate plumbing inspector this week.

On Monday morning I had an employee of a firm come into my store and demand the address of a plumbing job I had ready for inspection. I asked him if there was a new plumbing inspector in town, and where did he come from and by whose authority was he sent to me. He informed me that the firm he worked for had power to send him around to inspect our work. I absolutely refused to permit this firm to act as plumbing inspectors over my work.

Why should any firm act as inspector over another firm in the business. I may add further this firm are their own inspectors this week.

Thanking you for space, I remain,

Yours truly,

T. D. MacGREGOR

With reference to the statement made above by Mr MacGregor, it may be said that the inspector of plumbing, Mr. Thompson, is in Toronto for a week, having an artificial leg fitted. He obtained permission from the committee to use a part of his holidays at this time and for this purpose. That his work might not be delayed he arranged with a competent man to assume the duties in his absence, and whom he will pay. It happens that the inspector pro tem. is employed by a local firm, hence Mr. MacGregor's remonstrance, and who also claims that there are several men in the city who are not working and whom he considers equally competent to discharge the duties. Mr. Thompson might have selected one of these as his substitute, and so avoided the contention made above as to present employment

PERSONAL

Dr. E. V. Frederick and Mr. Cecil Maynard suprised their parents by an unexpected call on Sunday morning. Dr. Frederick has been three months in England, and Mr. Maynard had been travelling in Europe in the interests of Ryrie Bros., Toronto, and they sailed for home together on the "Empress of Ireland. They report a rather rough passage. The Dr. is resuming his practise in Peterborough.—Campbellford Herald.

QUESTIONS TO BE ANSWERED THIS EVENING

At Meeting of Astronomical Society — Many Fine Views Will be Shown

The local centre of the Royal Astronomical Society will hold their postponed meeting in the chemical laboratory of the Collegiate Institute this evening. An enjoyable and profitable evening will be spent, as this will be question night. Many questions have already been received and they will all be explained by those who will have charge of the meetin. Dr. Marsh will be present and will be assisted by others, interested in the study of astronomy. Sixty limelight views have been secured, especially for this evening, and this should add much towards the explanation of the questions. Mr. H. B. Collier will have charge of the views. It is hoped that a large number will take advantage of the opportunity afforded them of spending a profitable evening.

REPEATED TO-NIGHT.

This beautiful operetta which was given last night so successfully will be repeated to-night at Conservatory hall. Everybody pleased and delighted. Prices 15c and 25c. Be sure and come.

MACHINE 'PHONES AT BRANTFORD

Good Progress is Being Made Installation of the Equipment

The Brantford Expositor says—Two gangs of men who have been at work installing the underground and overhead cable in connection with the Canadian Machine Telephone Co.'s Automatic plant in the city, have just about completed the work of stringing the cable and the splicing and making of the connections of the overhead or aerial cable is also under way, and good progress is being made.

The company is anxious to get in operation in Brantford with as little delay as possible, and have a third gang of men at work in the central office making the connections there. The plant promises to be in first-class running order in a very few weeks. The weather conditions were not any too favorable for the outside work during the past three weeks, but the company will be within two or three weeks of the time they expected to have their exchange running.

The employees at the Central Office report that they have already had a great many visitors and the highest opinions are being passed on the plant. While they have not invited visitors at the present time, the company has decided that when their plant is ready for operation and the public can see the machine switchboards making connections, that they will fix hours during which anyone and everyone may go in and inspect the plant.

STURGEON POINT COTTAGERS MEET

First Class Pavillion Will Likely be Built This Summer

Lindsay, May 5—A meeting of the executive of the Sturgeon Point Cottagers' Association was held in the office of Messrs Hopkins and Hopkins on Tuesday when matters relating to the plans for the coming season were considered.

Auditors were appointed to inspect the secretary's accounts and it is understood that everything is in excellent condition.

The question of the annual regatta was also discussed and the advisability of securing first class paddles as prizes in some of the events was suggested.

The need of a first class pavilion at the point was also touched upon. A general meeting of the association will be held on Wednesday, May 12.

St. John's Choir

St. John's choir will meet tonight to rehearse the music for the choral festival on May 19th.

WEDDING BELLS

TEDFORD—HAMBLIN

A very pleasant event took place yesterday at the home of Mr and Mrs Ruben Hamblin, Dummer township, when their daughter, Alice, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Tedford, of the Township of Douro. The groom was supported by his brother Richard and the bride by her sister, Annie. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. C. Radford, of the Park street Baptist church, Peterborough.

A goodly number sat down to a fine wedding breakfast in the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Tedford will reside in Douro. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tedford, Mr and Mrs Joseph Tedford, R. Tedford, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. McNeely, Miss Bella Tedford, Miss Mary Davis, Miss Bella Kidd and Mr. A. McLeod, student-pastor of Indian River field.

The numerous handsome presents showed the high esteem in which the contracting parties were held by their friends.

HAMILTON—FAIR

A quiet wedding took place at two o'clock this afternoon at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Thos. Fair, 432 Rogers street, when her daughter, Alice, was united in marriage to Mr. Victor Hamilton, son of Mr. Robt. Hamilton, 199 Hunter street east. The ceremony was held in the presence of only the immediate friends of the contracting parties, who were unattended. Rev. J. G. Potter officiated.

Many beautiful presents were received by the bride, who is highly esteemed among a large number of friends. A handsome chair was also received by the groom from a number of his former associates.

The happy couple left on the #38 train for a trip to western points, and on their return to the city will take up residence in Rogers street.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The house members enjoyed a very happy evening on Tuesday. Music and games were followed by ice cream and cake, after which Miss Williams on behalf of the house girls, presented Miss Haycock with a handsome ebony set. Miss Haycock leaves on Monday for Toronto with the best wishes of her many friends. Mrs W. J. Reed, the new superintendent has arrived and been cordially welcomed by the house members.

The weekly Bible circle will meet tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. We feel there is no more interesting class held here during the week and should be very glad to welcome new faces tomorrow evening as well as all who have at any time attended. We study that remarkable man "Nehemiah" rare for his courage, patriotism and leadership. Will you not join us in this study.—Com.

St. Andrew's Choir

The choir of St. Andrew's church will practice tonight at eight o'clock All the members are requested to be present as the music for Sunday will be rehearsed.

W. F. M. S. Convention at Ottawa Hears Very Satisfactory Report

Ottawa, May 5—At this morning's session of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church convention, Miss Isabella L. George, general treasurer, presented an excellent report of the finances of the society, which showed that $58,973 had been received from the auxiliaries of the western division, which extends from Quebec to Vancouver; the Mission Bands contributed a sum of $10,580; donations from other sources were $1401, with a balance from last year of $1,290, making the grand total for the year $72,245. The balance in the bank is $3,858.

MONEY SPENT IN TWENTY YEARS

Question of Interest Answered in House of Commons

The following is from Hansard of April 21st;

West Peterborough Public Works;

Mr. T. Chisholm asked;

How much public money has been expended during the past twenty years by the Dominion government on public works in the territory now constituting the constituency of West Peterborough?

Hon Wm Pugsley, Minister of Public Works —$245,537.59. Would my hon friend permit me to say that this is one of a series of questions he has asked with reference to various constituencies, extending back twenty years. It takes a great part of the time of the clerks to prepare the information. He will find all the information in the public accounts, if he will take the trouble to examine them. If he continues to put these questions, I suppose I shall have to answer them.

HAVELOCK DEFEATED NORWOOD IN FIRST FOOTBALL MATCH

Special to the Review.

Havelock, May 6.—The Midland Football League was opened here today, when Havelock and Norwood met for the first battle of the season, which resulted in a victory for Havelock by the score of 3—0.

The game was fast throughout, and showed that the brand of football in the Midland League this year is of high calibre. Both teams did some fine playing, but Havelock surpassed their opponents in both weight and speed.

The following was the line-up of the teams—

HAVELOCK.		NORWOOD.
	—Goal—
W. Rose		Ferguson
	—Backs—
K. McKay		R. Pearce.
W. Ashley		T. Graham
	—Halves—
H. Kindred		C. Edwards
W. McMullen		M. McLeod
W. Hitchins		T. Kempt
	—Centre—
W. Ryan		J. Doherty
	—Left—
T. P. Lancaster		J. Graham
H. Matthison		D. Mayher
	—Right—
McPherson		N. Rogers
Meads		O Johnston

Referee—Thos. Butler, Marmora.

Havelock plays their next game in Marmora on Monday night next at 6 o'clock.

ST. CATHARINES LACROSSE TEAM HERE ON MAY 24TH

The St. Catharines lacrosse team will play here on May 24th against the Peterborough twelve. Arrangements have been completed for the game and as the visitors will bring a very strong aggregation the match should be a fine exhibition.

There will no doubt be a record crowd at the game on account of the presence in the city of the St. Catharines and Brantford regiments.

BALL TOSSER'S CORNER

SACRIFICE HITS.

A sacrifice hit shall be credited to the batsman, who when no one is out or when but one man is out, advances a runner a base by a bunt hit, which results in the batsman being put out before reaching first or would so result if it were handled without error.

A sacrifice hit shall also be credited to a batsman who, when no one is out or when but one man is out, hits a fly ball that is caught but results in a run being scored, or would in the judgment of the scorer so result if caught.

Pittsburg now leads the National League, with Philadelphia a close second.

Brockett scored his second shut out for the season yesterday, when the New York Americans defeated Boston by 6—0.

Tom Longboat will pitch the first ball over the plate at the opening of the Eastern League season in Montreal to-day.

Rudolph will pitch the game for Toronto to-day and should pull out a win.

In three games against the Champion Cubs, Hans Wagner has made eight hits and stolen six bases.

St. Peter's School baseball team defeated the Central School nine, at the latter's field yesterday afternoon. The score was 12—9, and as it would indicate, there was lots of hitting. Both twirlers were batted freely and the fielders had plenty of work to keep them busy. Wade, for the Central School, was unsteady for the first few innings and this enabled the St. Peter's team to get a good lead, but in the last few innings settled down and did much better. A home run by Callaghan and a one-handed catch of a hard liner by Murphy were features of the battle. The return game will be played to-morrow evening. Mr. W. O'Brien umpired in a satisfactory manner. The batteries were Callaghan and O'Hearne, for St. Peter's, and Wade and Otron, for the Centrals.

SOMETHING ABOUT CUBAN RUNNER

Can Hear Him Coming as He is Adorned With Bells — Has Wonderful Endurance

Chaperoned by "Big Jim" Richards than whom there is no better trainer for athletes in the country, Felix Carvajal, the Cuban distance marvel will start in the Grand International Marathon —or words and music to that effect—at the Polo Grounds, New York next Saturday. Carvajal's entry lends another element of uncertainty to that race. He may not be as speedy as some of the Marathoners, but when it comes to endurance he shines.

Carvajal is one of the most interesting characters in the Marathon business. His has been a career of ups and downs, figuratively and literally for he ran an elevator in St. Louis after participating in the Olympic Marathon in 1904. The Cuban is about thirty-two years old and has been a runner for more than ten years.

When Carvajal first heard of the Marathon race which was to be a feature of the Olympic games at the St. Louis World's Fair, he adopted a unique plan to earn his passage money to the United States. At this time he was roving through Cuba and finally came to Santiago. He asked the ruler of the city for funds to take him to St. Louis and was turned down. Instead of disappearing Carvajal went out on the public plaza and circled it. Hour after hour he kept going in the hot sun and a great crowd gathered. A purse was raised and the little man came to the States.

TRAINING ON NOTHING

Nobody knows how the Cuban lived until the day of the Marathon race. He was far from strong when he started for he had trained only by going hungry—not from choice, but from necessity He was the nineteenth starter and finished fourth. When he had a good lead he stopped to eat some apples and was taken with cramps, in spite of which he made a good finish.

The cold weather is not to Carvajal's liking and he has been doing most of his training indoors to avoid stiffness. The hotter the weather, the better he runs.

HAS MANY FANCIES

The Cuban is an intelligent appearing little fellow with black snappy eyes and close cropped head and mustache. He has many hobbies and fancies. For ten years he has carried a little can or baton of ebony tipped with silver and about a foot long. This is a style affected by Cuban dandies, and for years Carvajal has never allowed the one he owns out of his sight.

When Richards called with Carvajal at one of the newspaper offices in New York the runner did not take so much interest in the discussion of himself as he did in the pictures on the wall. He studied photographs of sporting events for half an hour and did not want to leave when Richards was ready to go.

USES BELLS

"That is one of his hobbies" Richards chuckled "and another is the bells which he uses in training. He did not bring them here with him, but I am getting a new set. He straps them about his waste and times his pace by the jingle.

"Down in Cuba he made a living by running from town to town and posing as a celebrity. He had his bells and a big automobile horn. He would sprint into one of these little towns and squeeze the honk bank bulb until a crowd collected. Then he would go through a few stunts and pass the hat.

"He will show them something at the Polo grounds. If the distance was forty miles instead of twenty-six, I would back my shirt to bet on him. Last winter in Havana he ran an endurance race against nine soldiers. They were allowed to relieve each other at any time. Carvajal ran them all off their feet, the last man quitting in the forty-first mile."

MARSH TO RUN IN NEW YORK MARATHON

Twelve Runners Have Entered Which Includes Men From Nine Nations

New York, May 5.—An even dozen runners have entered for the $10.000 International Marathon race at the Polo grounds Saturday afternoon. The list follows: St. Yves, Orphee and Cibot, France; Simpson and Marsh, Canada; White, Ireland; Carvajal, Cuba; Appleby, England; Dorando, Italy; Maloney, Ireland; Svanberg, Sweden; and Crook, United States.

The entry of John D. Marsh, who now holds the world's track record for the Marathon distance, has stirred up fresh interest in sporting circles, and has sent the price up against St. Yves, who is the favorite. Marsh is a strapping big fellow, with a world of endurance, coupled with speed. His time of 2 39.47 is one minute, two and two-fifths seconds faster than the Frenchman made in the recent New York Marathon Derby. This time is all the more remarkable because of the fact that after the fifth mile a great part of the race was run through rain and snow.

TENNIS

FORMAL OPENING MAY 24th.

At the meeting of the Executive of the St. John's Tennis Club, held last evening, it was decided to formally open the tennis season with games and a tennis tea on the grounds of the club, at Nicholls Oval, on May 24th. A cordial invitation is extended to all members of the club to be present.

The club will begin preparations at an early date for a large lawn fete to be held on the grounds of the church, during the last week in June. This will be one of the events of the summer season in the line of outdoor functions. Details of plans will be published at a later date.

Miss Victoria Bell was appointed convener of the visiting committee in lieu of Miss Ida Wesley, resigned.

A FAST FIELD

For Walk Here in Week of 24th—Hoagland Here To-day.

It will cost the promoters $400 to put on the Milwaukee walk, which opens on May 10th, and that's certainly running preliminary expense account into grand opera figures. The event is looked upon as one of the season's best in the heel and toe line and twenty celebrated walkers will get away.

The twelve leading competitors, including the ever-walking Hoagland, will be here for the race, which takes place at the Brock street Rink during the week commencing May 24th.

Hoagland arrived in the city last night from Auburn and will remain here till to-morrow night to make some preliminary arrangements in connection with the Peterborough walk. He looks to be in his usual good condition, and has had a busy and remunerative winter. He stopped off in Toronto to look up Tom Flanagan, concerning a suggested handicap race between the champion ped and the Indian. Flanagan was out of town, however, and no arrangements have been made yet.

Hoagland says the walk to be held here will be a great deal superior to the popular fixture pulled off here last spring and which was the most generally interesting and successful sporting event held here.

This year the spectators will have a considerably more exciting bill provided for them than they had last year. The field will be a far more select one, in fact, the best heel and toe artists will start.

The hours will be conducive to much faster time and the entertainment will consequently be a better one for the audience. On the first five nights the time table will call for the men to race from 8 to 10.30, and on Saturday the hours will be from 2 to 5.30 for the matinee and from 7 to 11 for the concluding four hours of the walk in the evening. This will make the total time twenty hours, and in order to get within the money one hundred miles will have to be covered by the walkers. There will be six moneys divided into proportions in accord with the standing of the first six finishing within the distance limit.

Conspicuous among those who will start will be Brown, the boy walker; Webb, another Alfred Shrubb of the pedestrian game; Kinbertanz, who with his partner, took fourth money in the world's go as you please at Madison Square Gardens, New York; perhaps Tom Slater and other star performers, whose names will be announced in time to let the public know what an aristocratic bunch will line up for the opening.

Ray Fenton, the spasmodic traveller, who alternates with sprints and dead marches, may also possibly be seen on the track. Ray has improved in form since he was seen here and has made quite a bit of the necessary in walks during the past winter. Ray is a shoe-polisher by calling, but forsakes his profession for the lure of the game when the walking is good.

LONGBOAT IS HAVING A "TIME"

Indian Has Broken Out Again—Is This a Bluff?

Montreal, May 5—The great Tom Longboat, who is to run here Saturday against Shrubb, is likely to be badly beaten. He has lapsed into his old habits and is having the time of his life around the Windsor Hotel.

He has hardly done a particle of training since he came here, and the way he is "hitting it up" leaves little doubt as to the result of his fifteen-mile race with Shrubb on Saturday.

On the other hand, Shrubb is in the finest possible condition, and it is the general opinion of those who know how Longboat has spent his time here that he will be run off his legs in the early part of the race on Saturday, and be unable to finish.

ENDS STOOPING OVER DUSTPAN

Women are generally agreed that one of the most serious features of household work is the incessant stooping which seems to be necessary in the performance of the daily routine of the household work. Doctors claim that it is this alone which is in a large measure responsible for the many ills and ailments which women are afflicted with, and which the men are free from. So many of her daily tasks require that she should lean or stoop over that it is not long before this unnatural attitude is responsible for some serious and chronic illness, which often makes her an invalid for the rest of her life.

The stoopless dustpan which has been recently invented enables her to do the work of gathering up the accumulations on the floor without the least inclination of her body. The new implement has a long handle by which it is carried conveniently and at the same time the handle controls the operation of a lid, which opens for the reception of the dust when the pan is placed on the floor, and as it is raised after gathering up the accumulations, the lid closes, hiding the contents from view and preventing their being scattered by the wind or by accident.

Unwritable English.

"Did you know that there is at least one sentence in English that can be spoken, but that it is impossible to write?" asked a University of Pennsylvania senior. Yes, it's correct English, I suppose, and then again it isn't. Here is the sentence, although I swear I don't know how you are going to write it: 'There are three twos in the English language.' You see, if you spell it t-w-o the sentence is incorrect, as it is if you spell it either t-o-o or t-o. Catch the point? Really, it is incorrect to say it, although it certainly should be possible to express the thought. This thing has got me going, and it simply goes to show what a mess the English language is. There certainly is a word 'two' and a word 'too' and another 'to,' and they are all three pronounced alike—two, too or to—which make it correct to say there are 'three twos' or 'three toos' or 'three tos' in the English language. But what's the use?"

Where She Would Exit.

Miss Whackemall was lecturing her class upon the formation of the globe.

"Now, what country," she said, turning to the dunce of the class, "is opposite us on the globe?"

"Dunno," answered the pupil.

"Come, come!" said Miss Whackemall. "Suppose I were to bore a hole through the earth here and you were to go in at this end. Where do you think you would come out?"

"Outer the hole, miss!" shouted the dunce and went down one.

A Dubious Tribute.

The young theological student who had been supplying the Bushby pulpit for two Sundays looked wistfully at Mrs. Kingman, his hostess for the time being. "Did you like the sermon this morning, if I may ask?" he inquired.

"You done real well with the material you selected," said Mrs. Kingman, with much cordiality. "As I said to Zenas on the way home, 'I've heard a dozen or more sermons preached on that text, and this young man's the first one that ever made me realize how difficult 'twas to explain'."

Zam-Buk Saved His Hand!
WHEN TORN BY TROLLEY ROPE.

WORKING men and women throughout the Dominion find that Zam-Buk is the greatest boon they can have as a healer of accidental cuts, burns, and bruises, as well as skin diseases. Mr. H. G. Purchase, conductor on the Toronto Street Railway, tells how this great herbal balm benefited him when he met with his accident.

The trolley pole of his car slipped off the live wire, and the rope was caught in the standard. Purchase held on to the rope until his hand was pulled up to the top of the car. There it was held, and the rope, pulled through his fingers by the force of the moving car, tore and lacerated to a shocking extent three fingers, tearing several pieces of flesh completely away. Zam-Buk was applied, and eased the pain very quickly. Writing to this effect, Mr. Purchase says:—

"I had previously had experience of the healing power of Zam-Buk, and the way it soothes cuts and injuries. I, therefore, bound the fingers in Zam-Buk, and it was most gratifying the way in which this balm soothed the pain. Two days after the accident the wounds were closed, and new skin was beginning to form over the top. Each day I dressed the wounds with Zam-Buk, and I am now back again at work with the hand as sound as ever. To look at it you would never know it had been so terribly torn and lacerated.

"I do not think there is anything to equal Zam-Buk as a healer of skin injuries and diseases."

WHAT YOU SHOULD USE ZAM-BUK FOR.

Zam-Buk cures pimples, skin-eruptions, burns, cuts, piles, festering ulcers and sores, blood-poisoning, salt rheum, prairie itch, ringworm, bad leg, diseased ankles, old wounds, eczema, and all skin-disease. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. box, three for $1.25, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

DANGERS OF NEGLECTING A SORE.

NEVER neglect a cut or sore, however trivial it may appear. Mrs. B. E. Bedwell, of 337, Provencher Avenue, St. Boniface, Winnipeg, had a small sore on the second finger of her left hand. She thought it would get right unaided, but it didn't. Instead, blood-poisoning set in. She says:—"I then tried poultices and an ordinary salve. These, however, did not have the desired effect, and, as the finger began to fester, I had to call in a doctor, who lanced it. Despite his care, however, it again festered, and the ointments, liniments, and other preparations which the doctor gave me seemed absolutely unable to bring about any relief. We were told of a case similar to my own in which Zam Buk had effected a cure when everything else had failed, and we, therefore, decided to give Zam-Buk a trial. It only needed a few days to show the wisdom of this step. The blood-poisoning and inflammation were reduced, and the pain became less acute. In under three weeks from first commencing with Zam-Buk the finger was quite sound again."

CHAPTER I.

MR. JACOB RENWYCK, a multimillionaire New Yorker, had gone to Texas in order to straighten out several business complications. Besides his northern interests, he was connected with many new enterprises in the southwest,—mines in Arizona, cattle and cattle lands in the Lone Star State and projected railroads through the cotton belt. For a time his vast schemes had prospered until his ideas as to their conduct began to clash with those of old Bill Williams, the great Texan land speculator and cattle king, with whom Renwyck had for many years joined forces, the one controlling the east, the other the west. Correspondence had proved unsatisfactory; therefore the New Yorker determined to settle the business personally by a flying trip to San Antonio, Tex., where he intended to beard the lion in his den.

Miss Harriet Renwyck, the only daughter of the capitalist, had induced her father to take her with him on the trip. She was a beautiful and high spirited girl of twenty years, the idol of the old man's heart, and the one person on earth who could manage him even when his arrogant temper reached the outbreaking point. On their arrival at San Antonio they learned that Mr. Williams had departed the week before for his cattle ranch, which lay about 200 miles to the westward. He was not expected to return for some time, so Mr. Renwyck determined to follow him without delay.

The two travelers took a branch road which carried them to a point twenty miles distant from the ranch, and here they engaged horses, a camping outfit and a guide for the balance of the trip. Both were used to the saddle, and to Miss Renwyck this long free gallop across the plains was a new and exhilarating experience. It was springtime, when the prairies are at their best, rolling away like some vast green sea as far as the eye can reach. The sun, which in another month would parch the grass to a dry and crackly stubble, now sent out a lazy, comfortable warmth which was further tempered by an intermittent breeze.

They passed great herds of browsing cattle that munched the grass or lifted their heads in bovine languor as the riders cantered on. Once they threaded their way through the very center of a "bunch," and the girl, with a woman's inborn dread of cows, grew alarmed at the proximity of the surrounding longhorns, but the guide assured her that there was not the least danger "unless she projicked with the mavericks." This, being interpreted, was a warning against molesting the young calves, a sport which was not to Miss Renwyck's taste for various reasons, and she soon lost all fear of the sad eyed brutes before her.

Toward sunset they came in sight of Bill Williams' ranch, and, having skirted a wire fence for several miles, they entered at last and dismounted before the mud thatched palace of the Texan cattle king, where the jovial despot himself came out to welcome them.

The two financiers, each approaching Dr. Osler's line of uselessness, formed a complete antithesis. The New Yorker was a typical financial potentate, educated, cultivated, cold, deliberate in speech, calm in demeanor, composed in method, faultless in every detail of his dress. His features were prominent and severe, the ruddy hue of his face relieved by a gray mustache and side whiskers. In every step and movement he showed the unmistakable hallmarks of birth, breeding and prosperity. Yet there was not a bolder, more daring operator on the exchange than Renwyck. Old Bill Williams was a man of giant stature, indifferent as to dress, careless as to language. His education had been gained in the saddle and smacked of the leather. He read few books, but he knew cattle and men, and there was not a better judge of land values and the merits or demerits of a scheme in the west. His shrewd and kindly face was clean shaven, round and joyful, lit by a pair of steel gray eyes that twinkled continually in harmony with the genial smile which sometimes caused the careless to lose sight of the firmness of the clean cut lips and the square, resolute jaw—a man who was known and honored in seven states and loved by every ranchman within a radius of a thousand miles. Renwyck was ice, Williams fire, so that au fond there was not a great deal of difference between their methods, for heat and cold both burn.

Mr. Williams, who, like all Texans, was the soul of hospitality, offered his guests the best his ranch afforded, and neither Miss Renwyck nor her father found cause to murmur. When supper was over and Miss Harriet, who was sleepy from her long ride, was shown to a simply furnished but clean, fresh room, the two magnates sat down to discuss their business differences. At the outset they locked horns, and midnight found them as far as ever from an amicable settlement.

"Good Lord, Renwyck," the Texan laughed, "it's after 12 o'clock, and we're losin' a sight of beauty sleep. Let's stop buckin' an' take a drink. That's somethin' no honest man can squabble over unless the whisky's bad, which this ain't. Here's how! Turn in, but don't thrash around your bunk all night. We can do our wrastlin' in the daytime."

But Mr. Renwyck did "thrash around his bunk" all night, and not once did he close his eyes. On several crucial points he was in the wrong, and no one knew it better than himself, yet with bulldog tenacity he clung to his false position. With loss of sleep his irritation increased, and morning found him eager for the fray and more insistent than ever in his unjust claims.

Breakfast over, the two went at it hammer and tongs, but without adjustment of the difficulties. The New Yorker's craft and legal knowledge were wrecked on the rocks of the Texan's common sense and humor, and at last Mr. Renwyck's temper burst all bounds. In one short angry speech he severed every business interest with his host and former partner and turned that gentleman into a calm but remorseless enemy.

The horses were ordered without delay, and, greatly to Miss Harriet's regret, for there was much that she wanted to see on the ranch, they left the place at once, in order that the angry Mr. Renwyck might get to the distant railroad by 2 o'clock and hurry back north as fast as steam and his hope of vengeance could carry him. However, they were not to reach that point without experiencing another phase of Texas life, with its infinite possibilities of excitement and surprise.

Their wagon had broken down, and the outfit, with the guide and the others, had been left behind at the ranch, with instructions to follow after so soon as things were put in shape. A guide was hardly a necessity, for the route to the railroad station lay straight south over the prairie. There was a range of hills to the right, and with that and a pocket compass even such a tenderfoot as Jacob Renwyck could scarcely lose the way.

The two cantered along in the pleasant morning. The enjoyment of the ride greatly mollified Mr. Renwyck's exacerbated temper, although it in nowise altered his determination to make Williams suffer on account of the rupture. As for Miss Harriet, she thoroughly enjoyed it and only regretted that the experience would soon terminate in the luxurious monotony of her father's private car. From time to time her father left her and rode to the top of one of the hills to the right to survey the country and to make sure, in so far as he could, that they were going in the right direction.

About midday they overtook a great herd of cattle drifting along the prairie as they fed. Mr. Renwyck was on the hill at the time. So far as the girl could see, the rolling prairie was dotted with hundreds of steers. There were perhaps 2,000 in the bunch. They were grazing peaceably enough on the short grass. Here and there a steer had lain down for a midday rest and was quietly chewing the end of the morning meal. Remembering the assurance of the day before, she fearlessly cantered along, threading her way through the animals, supposing her father would join her in a few moments. She was thinking carelessly of the great difference between her situation then and her ordinary environment, which might be typified by upper Fifth avenue, New York.

Her reveries were broken by a sudden commotion. One of those mysterious impulses which are felt without being seen or heard suddenly awoke the great mass of steers to action. One lazy old fellow, lying down for a noonday siesta perhaps half a mile ahead unfortunately had his tail stepped on by a fellow brute heedless of where he was going. The force of the blow tore off the tuft on the end of the tail. The blood spurted from the wounded member. The maimed steer scrambled to his feet, bellowing. In his anguish he began lashing his sides with his tail. The steer that had caused the trouble, infuriated at the sight and smell of blood, immediately dashed at his wounded companion. The victim, instinctively realizing that he was become persona non grata to the whole herd, turned and fled for his life.

With the swiftness of a military maneuver the nearest cattle fell in line and joined the chase. Before Miss Renwyck realized what had happened the herd of cattle, "barking" madly, as the short, sharp bellow on such occasions is called, was racing directly at her forty abreast. In the twinkling of an eye every one of the brutes was in frantic motion. She was petrified with astonishment, although blissfully ignorant of the extent of her danger. She heard a shrill, frightened cry from her father and looked back. Other steers—for she had reached the middle of the herd—were racing past her in such a way as to sweep around and join the pursuers. Her pony, an ill trained broncho not used to the range, more frightened than she, began to cut up viciously. Blind with terror and utterly uncontrollable, at last he bolted directly toward the oncoming animals.

Then she knew her peril. Instinctively she screamed and waved her free hand. The leading rank of the stampeding herd was diverted from the direct course by her approach and her cries and turned aside. They swept around in a great circle, the other steers blindly following. Before the girl realized what had occurred she found herself caught, as it were, on the edge of a maelstrom of panic stricken animals and swept irresistibly along with them.

CHAPTER II.

AWAY on the other side of the herd two cowboys had been lazily lying on the grass in the shade cast by the motionless bodies of their ponies. They had been keeping such indifferent watch that neither of them had seen Miss Renwyck. It was the noon hour. The morning shift had gone back to camp, and the afternoon gang had not yet arrived, so there were only these men watching the herd. The quiet had made them relax their usual vigilance. The instant they heard the first "bark" from the steers they leaped to their feet and sprang to saddle.

"They're off!" cried the taller of the two as he drove his spurs into his pony and took a straight cut across the prairie so as to head them off.

"We'll get 'em millin' under the hills all right!" shouted his companion as they raced along.

A quarter of a mile, however, brought them in sight of the woman. The first man, who was a little ahead, pointed.

"Look yonder!" he shouted.

"My God!" said the other. "Right in their direction. She's a goner if"—

"Faster!" cried his companion.

He saw that unless the onrush of the cattle were diverted the girl would be overwhelmed and trampled to death in the stampede. Try as he might, he could not reach her in time, yet he had the fastest pony on the range and rode like a centaur. He fairly lifted the broncho through the air in his mad impetuosity. A woman was a quickening sight on the range, and all the chivalry in the souls of the men responded to the appeal of her peril; but, try as they might, they realized they could do nothing.

"We'll be too late!" cried the leading man.

"Yep," answered his companion laconically, driving his spurs home again.

"No," cried the first man as the cattle swerved; "she's kept her head. That woman knows her business. They'll be milling in a minute."

"She'd ought to be gittin' out'n it now, though."

"Yes. God, they've got her!" he cried as he saw the girl caught on the periphery of the whirling mass.

"We'll git her out!" cried the other.

"If she lives long enough to give us a chance."

When stampeded cattle get to milling they turn in upon themselves, either involuntarily or because of pressure put upon them by cowboys seeking to control them. They sweep around in concentric circles in a great spiral. The pressure on the outside tends to constrict the circles more and more until the cattle are jammed into a whirling vertiginous mass, of which nothing can be seen but uplifted heads and uptossed horns. This mass, frantic with fear and fury, sways and whirls over the ground like a tornado, with a motion of rotation and translation at the same time. Above the dust of its trampling comes the clicking of the dew claws and the cleft hoofs as the feet are lifted sharply from the ground. These, with the rattling of horns and the bellowing of those on the outer edge, make the animal whirlpool a perfect inferno of noise and clamor.

The mill sweeps around and around, and the only way to break it is to unwind it—that is, to cut into the bunch and start the outer edge off on a tangent, so that the whole unwinds itself mechanically by reversing the process which brought it together. This is an operation of much difficulty, attended with great danger. The man who breaks in must do it backward, as it were. He must follow the movement of the perimeter of the great circle, bending as the cattle do, and by skill and dexterity force out first one and then another until he gets the circumference broken. In the end the break is apt to come quickly, and the awful maelstrom of maddened animals dissolves into a peaceable herd almost as quickly as it wound itself into a frantic mob.

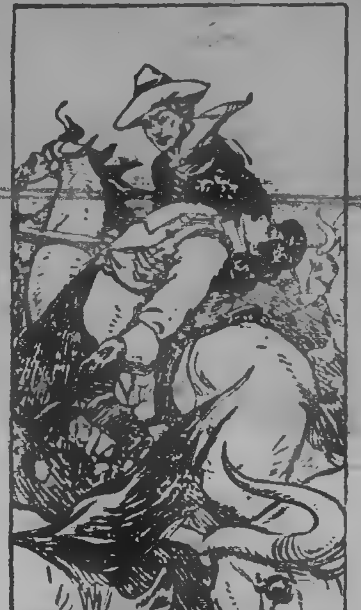
To be caught inside such a mill is death. Fortunately Harriet Renwyck was on the outskirts. The situation was sufficiently terrifying as it was, however. Above the dust she could see a tossing, quivering expanse of horned heads. She was riding a man's saddle and in man fashion. The pressure upon her horse was so tremendous that in order to keep from being crushed she shook her feet from the stirrups and drew her legs up about the saddlehorn. She had no control whatever of her pony. Although she was fortunately on the outer edge of the ring, there were still a half dozen of the cattle between her and the open prairie, all crowding into the center, and with every turn she was being carried toward the vortex with irresistible force.

She was utterly terrified, yet she realized that her only possible hope of salvation was to keep her senses and her seat. If she fainted and fell the result would be death. The love of life was strong in her, and she clung to her saddle and prayed as never before. Her eyes were blinded with dust and fear. She could see nothing but cattle and the terrible gyrating mass. How long she whirled about with them in giddy rotation she could not tell. It seemed hours, ages, before a voice pierced her ear. Where did it come from? She turned her eyes toward the sound and dimly made out the figure of a man on the edge of the circle above the cloud of dust. He seemed to her of gigantic stature. What was he saying? She strained every nerve to understand. Presently she made out:

"Keep up! Don't let go! We'll get you out!"

This was reassurance, but not much. The prospect seemed hopeless. The cattle were going slower now as she worked toward the center, which was yet a great way off. Her pony was wedged in so tightly that he could not fall. The voice kept up a continual cry of encouragement. It seemed to be drawing nearer, but the terrible strain under which she was laboring was telling upon her. Although she clutched the pommel of her saddle with the tenacity of despair, she found herself swaying dizzily. She clinched her teeth and summoned all her resolution for a last effort, but realized with a growing horror that her end was near. If help did not come quickly she would be prostrate on the mass of horns. Still the voice appealed to her, called to her, pleaded with her, implored her, stimulated her. She held on and on desperately as she swept around and around.

As they drew near the two cowboys recognized that this was one of the worst mills they had ever witnessed. There was a little dip to the ground where the cattle had swerved that had thrown them even more violently toward the center than would have occurred on level prairie. The first man thought he had never seen any steers tighten so quickly and whirl so fast. His impulse was to leap his horse across the intervening cattle straight at the figure of the girl, as a cavalryman rides down an obstacle, but he knew that such a step would be fatal. The mill must be broken. It must be unwound. The first man swung his pony in toward the outer edge and raced with it, seeking an opening near the woman, to whom he cried words of encouragement. With the savage quirt at his wrist he struck the cattle ahead of him again and again. The first blows had no effect, but the repetition at last met with response. They swerved slightly, and he forced his horse into the outer edge. Having effected this entrance, he knew that he had made a sufficient beginning to enable him in the end to loosen the tightened ring. He was just a little in front of the girl, and back of him the other man was nobly seconding his efforts. Would she be able to keep up long enough for them to accomplish her rescue?



He swept her to his breast at last and held her.

They worked desperately. Men always work desperately under such circumstances, but in this instance it was with added incentive. The first, the nearest man to her, divined rather than saw as he caught glimpses of her face, deathly pale through the dust, that she could not keep up much longer. His effort was twofold—to break the mill and save the girl. So with redoubled energy he bored his way in and in. The outer edge where he ran was well broken now, but two lines of steers intervened between him and the girl. Sweat poured from his face like water. His heart thumped as no stampeding cattle could have caused it to beat on any range. He was nearer now. The cattle were sufficiently broken for him to stake everything on a last effort. He pulled a heavy revolver from his holster and began shooting. One, two, three steers went crashing down. He urged his pony into the open caused by their fall and by main strength of horse and man bore the whirling line far outward. The mill was broken. The cowboy in the rear gave him brilliant assistance. In the twinkling of an eye that which had been wound began to unwind.

What of the woman? Was he too late? He saw her sway in the saddle. She would be thrown on the edge of the circle and trampled to death! Leaving the mill to unwind itself, he leaped his pony toward her just in time, for as he approached she pitched forward and fell. Providence threw her to the right rather than to the left. The man caught her in a ruthless grip. Fortunately she wore no trailing skirt and her feet were out of the stirrups. As it was, the divided garment she wore was torn into ribbons on the horns and one boot was dragged off. It was well that she had fallen to a stout arm. The effort entailed upon him to keep the saddle and drag the woman free was tremendous, but his strength was as the strength of ten that day and did not fail him. He swept her to his breast at last and held her senseless, but free. He had accomplished the impossible.

They were now in the angle formed by the tangent and the circle, and the way was clear before them. He spurred his tired horse, which had done such splendid work, out into the open and stopped. He did not dare put the girl down yet—not until the cattle had completely unwound themselves and the jam had been broken—for he did not know what might occur.

Fortune, however, had subjected Miss Renwyck to all the trials demanded of her that day, for the herd of panting cattle, blindly following new leaders, presently unwound itself and streamed across the prairie, going slower and slower, as the panic impulse subsided almost as quickly as it had arisen. The steer the accident to which had caused the trouble lay dead where the vortex had been. The man's companion had ridden up to him as soon as he could, but the man who held the girl directed him to ride on after the herd lest they get into trouble again.

"She's all right," he said, "only fainted. You ride after the bunch. Head 'em off before they leave the range. I'll look after the lady. I'll follow you presently."

With the other's assistance he lowered the girl to the grass and dismounted himself. Miss Harriet Renwyck was not exactly at her best at that moment. She was as white as a cotton boll where her pallor could be seen for the dust. Her glorious black hair was unbound and flowed in wild disorder about her. Her clothing was ripped and torn. She was the picture of death. Yet in the eyes of the cowboy who had saved her she was beautiful. He took his water bottle and sprinkled her face with its contents with little effect. Deftly then the man whipped out his knife, cut the tight stock she wore and ripped open her dress at the neck. Then he splashed more water in her face, and at last under its stimulus she opened her eyes and stared at a figure bending over her. She saw a stalwart blond young man who would have been handsome but for a ten days' growth of beard that covered his face, dusty and sweat streaked from his recent efforts.

"You're all right, miss," said the cowboy soothingly as she gazed at him with dawning comprehension. "Drink this," he added as he compelled her to take a pull at his flask, which fortunately happened to be not quite empty, although the day was no longer young. She obeyed him.

"Those terrible cattle!" she faltered as the fiery liquid renewed her strength.

"They're all gone. You're perfectly safe, miss."

"And you—drew me out!"

"It's nothing at all. Anybody would have done it."

"You saved my life. I shall never forget it. I should have fallen long before had your voice not kept me up."

She sat up, covered her face with her hands and shuddered violently.

"I shall never get that sight out of my mind!"

"It was only a little mill, miss," said the cowboy. "We broke it easily."

"Where is my father?" asked the girl hastily. "Where is my horse?"

"As for your father, I didn't see him. I guess your pony has gone with the herd. But you're welcome to mine. Hello, here are your friends, I reckon!" he exclaimed as he saw two or three horsemen galloping over the rise beyond.

Back of them came the spring wagon, drawn by mules on the dead run. Old Jacob Renwyck knew enough about cattle to realize his daughter's danger. He had also realized that he could do absolutely nothing to help her. But, as luck would have it, his outfit was near at hand. It was that he had signaled her from the top of the hill. He and his daughter had made a detour, and the wagon, traveling on the chord of the arc, was almost up with him when the stampede came. He raced down the hill toward it, shouting the terrible tidings. Cowboys and guides in his outfit galloped up to do exactly what had been done. In a moment they had gathered around the two.

"Oh, father!" said the girl as Renwyck swung himself from his saddle and dropped on his knees beside her.

"Are you safe, my dear?"

"Perfectly safe, thanks to this gentleman."

"Sir," began her father impressively, "I owe"—

"Oh, it's nothing," said the cowboy lightly, "nothing at all. It was just breaking a mill. Any of these boys will tell you how easily it can be done. Now, if you'll excuse me, I've got to go after my bunch. Goodby, miss; you'll be all right in no time."

He swung himself into his saddle.

"But, my dear sir," cried Mr. Renwyck, "your name?"

To be Continued.

Fresh tea is all important. Ten weeks after being picked in the tea gardens of the Island of Ceylon (the finest tea producing country in the world), "Salada" reaches you. The flavor of tea consists in an essential oil, which deteriorates rapidly with age. In order to preserve the delicious flavor of "Salada" Tea it is packed in sealed lead packets (never sold in bulk), guaranteeing you a superior tea in flavor, quality, purity and economy in use.

INDIAN RIVER NEWS

Indian River, May 4.—Recent frosts are hard on the fall wheat.

Mr. J. Burke, of Lakefield, has been spending a few days with Mr. Denis Sullivan.

Mr. Oscar Hogan purchased a lot of hogs in this neighborhood last week. Mr. Hogan is buying them to feed at the Shearer Cheese Factory.

Mr Joe O'Leary left on Wednesday. He is going back on the drive for George Jackson.

The Indian River Cheese Factory opened on Monday. Mr. Andrews has made many improvements in the factory since he purchased it. He has put in a new cement floor, besides new vats, which makes it an allround up-to-date cheese factory. We wish Mr. Andrews success.

Messrs. Kidd and Devlin have a very large number of hogs bought up for feeding at the I. T. O. F. this year. They have had the yard completely overhauled and fixed up in fine shape, with the latest improvements. They expect a prosperous year.

Mr. P. Fitzgerald has purchased Mr. Robert Tedford's farm in Douro. The farm consists of 150 acres, and it is understood the price paid for it was over $7,000.

SALE OF LANDS
IN GILLIES LIMIT

Under authority of an Order-in-Council dated 22nd April, 1909, the northerly portion of that tract of land generally known as the Gillies Limit, situated in the District of Nipissing, and Province of Ontario, containing about 800 acres, is offered for sale by tender in parcels containing 20 acres or thereabouts, such tenders to be addressed to the undersigned, at the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines, Toronto, marked on the envelope "Tender, Gillies Limit," and to be receivable at the said Department up to one o'clock p.m. on Tuesday, the 15th day of June, 1909.

Tenders are to be for each parcel separately, and to name a lump sum or bonus therefore. An accepted cheque for ten per cent. of this amount to accompany the tender, and the remainder to be paid in full within twenty days of acceptance of the same.

A royalty of ten per cent. on the gross proceeds (less freight and smelting charges) of all ore, minerals or concentrates taken from the land will be payable to the Crown, and purchasers will be required to enter into a satisfactory agreement with regard to the same.

Working conditions will be attached to the sale, and certain lands and rights will be reserved, full particulars of which, together with a map or plan showing the said tract, and the subdivisions thereof, may be obtained on application to the Department.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

F. COCHRANE,
Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines.

MAGNIFICENT SITE FOR NEW MURRAY ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Yelland Residence and Blacksmith Shop and 114 Feet Additional on Murray St. Have Been Purchased—Price Paid in Vicinity of $10,000.

The congregation of Murray Street Baptist Church have purchased the Yelland residence, the Yelland blacksmith shop and 114 feet west of the blacksmith shop, for a site for their new church. The property west of the blacksmith shop was purchased from Mr. N. T. LaPlante. The purchase of the above properties will give for the church site a frontage of 171 feet on Murray Street, with a depth of 192 feet.

There is only one building, the residence of Mr. Felix Brownscombe, between the site and the Y.M.C.A., and it is within a block of the several fine new buildings which grace Central Park, the Collegiate Institute, Armouries, George Street Church and the proposed new public library.

The Baptist property, facing the park as it does, insures forever a most delightful outlook, while it is within a few feet of the main street of the city.

It is understood that something in the neighborhood of ten thousand dollars was paid for the property.

Mr. T. F. Matthews has accepted the responsible position of Chairman of the Building Committee, which is composed of strong business men.

PRINCESS CHRYSANTHEMUM GIVEN AT CONSERVATORY MUSIC HALL LAST EVENING

Young People Received Much Applause for Their Work—Performance Will Be Repeated To-Night—The Cast of Characters.

Bright and clever in lines and lyrics and pleasing and tuneful in medley "The Princess Chrysanthemum" was given under the auspices of the Men's Association of All Saints' church by 100 young people at the Conservatory of Music Hall last evening to an appreciative audience. Each of these who filled the leading roles took their part in a very commendable manner and much praise is due them. The drills were all well executed and those taking part showed that they must have received careful training. The solos and choruses which were a feature of the performance, were all well sung and all were enthusiastically received by the audience. Particularly pleasing was the work of the fairies, who, besides taking part in choruses, executed a drill in faultless manner. The scenic dressing of the stage was attractive and the costumes very handsome.

The performance will be repeated this evening and a large number will no doubt be present.

A synopsis of the story of the play is as follows;

A great fete is being held in honor of the coming of age of the Emperor's daughter, Princess Chrysanthemum. She is loved by Prince So Tru and returns his affections; but he has a rival in the person of Prince So-sli, who seeks the aid of Saucer-Eyes, the Wizard Cat, who carries off the Princess to the cave of Inky Night, leaving the Emperor and Prince So-tru distracted at her strange appearance.

Princess Chrysanthemum imprisoned in the Cave of Inky Night with the aid of a magic ring summons the Fairy Moonbeam who is about to help her when she drops the ring and cannot find it. Fairy Moonbeam disappears at the loss of the ring, and the unhappy Princess is left to bewail her fate. Prince Sotru manages to obtain entrance to the cave and finds the ring, which at once causes Fairy Moonbeam to return and aid him. At this moment the Emperor arrives, with his attendants and takes Saucer-Eyes a prisoner bearing him in triumph to the palace.

Threatened with torture, Saucer-Eyes confesses the complicity of Prince So-sli, whom the Emperor orders to instant execution. This is, however, frustrated by the appearance of Princess Chrysanthemum, accompanied by Prince So-tru and Fairy Moonbeam with her band. The Emperor pardons Saucer-Eyes and Sosli at the Princess' request and gives her hand in marriage to Prince So Tru thus bringing everything to a happy conclusion.

CAST OF CHARACTERS.

SLEEPING SICKNESS RAGES UNCHECKED IN SOUTH AFRICA

Doctors Unable to Find Cure—200,000 Victims Reported—Different Stages of the Disease.

Mombasa, British East Africa, May 5.—The Sleeping Sickness Commission is hoping that Theodore Roosevelt will pay a visit to the expedition's camp at [illegible], Uganda, where Sir David and Lady Bruce are in charge of the segregation hospitals. The governments of Germany, France and Belgium, as well as the governments of the United Kingdom are loyally working together endeavoring to find a cure or preventative for the sleeping sickness. Altogether seven European doctors have succumbed to the fatal disease since the determined attempts to cope with the evil were commenced.

Governor Sir Hesketh Bell describes his latest visit to the camp in part as follows:—"The patients were lodged in large thatched bandas and were divided according to sex and the various stages of the disease. In one enclosure we saw a number of infants, in whom the first outward signs of the scourge were just appearing. Unaware of their impending doom the little black mites played and romped to their heart's content in the shade of the banana grove, and only the swelled glands at the base of their necks showed that their fate was sealed.

"In a row of sheds, surrounded by the banana groves which supply the food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering acutely. They seemed to shun the cool shade of the broad thatched roofs, and preferred to sit or lie in the full blaze of the noonday sun.

"The drawn features and haggard eyes testified to the gnawing pains that almost constantly afflict them, and the unhappy creatures appeared to have special dread of being touched.

"Further on, we came to those who were in the last stages of the disease. Lying about, on beds of withered leaves, they had reached a degree of emaciation that was horrible to see. The unhappy creatures looked like skeletons and only their doleful moaning indicated the presence of life in the wretched remains. A few in whom nature was struggling hard, had gone raving mad and the poor creatures had to be chained to heavy logs to prevent their doing harm.

"It is generally accepted that a variety of the tsetse fly, the glossina palpalis, is the principal, if not the only agent of the transmission of the disease. This fly exists in enormous numbers on the shores of the Victoria Nyanza, and also on the borders of some other lakes and rivers in Uganda. Its habitat, however, is restricted to a narrow belt of forest growth adjoining water, and a width of two miles is believed to be the limit of the infested zone. Out of some 300,000 souls inhabiting the shores of Victoria Nyanza, and the islands in the great lake, over 200,000 have already been swept out of existence and it remains to be seen whether the remainder can still be saved.

"The extermination of the tsetse appears to be a hopeless task, and it has, therefore, been decided to remove all the surviving population out of the reach of the fatal fly."

THE STORY OF PARSIFAL

The Wonderful Festival Play to be Given at the Grand Opera House Here on Saturday Next.

The legend of "Parsifal" crystal zes around two mystic objects, a spear and a cup of chalice, called in medieval speech "Grail." The old romances loved to weave song and story about these sacred objects. They used to tell how the Roman governor, Pontius Pilate, gave them to Joseph of Arimathea. That spear, they accounted to be the cruel shaft which pierced the heart of Jesus, as he hung dying on Calvary. That crystal cup they dreamed of as the chalice which he had used in the parting supper, and in which was caught the blood which streamed from his wounds, as loving hands removed his body from the cross. This blood-dipped spear and this hallowed Grail haunt the thought of the middle ages, as the emblems of that life-giving and redemptive energy bestowed upon the world through the death on the cross. From them streamed a talismatic virtue. The touch of the spear wrought health. Sight of the Grail gave life. They glowed with light celestial. The devotee who gazed upon them found the shadows lifted from his heart. They were charged with a heaven-born vigor which rejuvenated the wasting springs of mortal life. When they were unveiled a super-human vitality was imparted which could more than offset the drain of mortal years.

The king is smitten with a grievous hurt. Venturing within the recincts of the abode of evil he is entrapped; the sacred spear is snatched from his hand, its point is thrust into his breast, and he makes his way back to the sanctuary of the Grail to drag out a crippled existence of lingering torture, which all the resources of human skill and even the mystic, unearthly life-force of the Grail are powerless to relieve. A being of royal capacity and bearing all the tokens of kingliness in mind and heart, and yet how weak and ignoble; tortured with pain, lashed by conscience, wrung by mental anguish, in the throes of a perpetual struggle with itself, defeated, degraded, a king, but writhing with a wound which no art can medicine, no skill can staunch, and the ravages of which the holy symbols of the divine quickening sometimes seem to have lost their power to stay.

The second character is Kundry, a strange woman, gifted with the power that unnerves resistance and enchains the faculties as with magic—a tool of evil. Kundry has not always been the slave and instrument of evil; a mockery of the Redeemer brought her under a curse which compelled an age-long servitude as an unwilling temptress until her chain should be broken by one whose purity could withstand the terrific force of her fatal blandishment. While she plies every art to drag a fresh victim into the toils of her master, she prays that her lurements may be conquered and that the tempted one, clothed with the strength of victory, may rend the diabolic snare in which her own soul has been entangled. The seductive allurements of evil which the constraint of her sad fate compels her to exert, are made to serve as a background which is projected the magnificence of the complete triumph over evil; the chaste heart is shown to be clad in complete steel; vice is demonstrated to be weaker than virtue; sin is revealed as impotent to beat down the guard of holiness; though it call into the field all its subtlety and energy. The will to do do right is exhibited as a Gibraltar that cannot be carried by assault.

The central character in the story is a deliverer. A mere youth, utterly untutored in the actualities of life. Reared in forest depths, nestled in a mother's guardian love, ignorant of the touch of pain, of the cry of woe and of the sleep of death. The singular title given to his is that of a "Guileless Fool." This crisp and tantalizing epithet is modeled on the quaint conceits and the odd rebus-like names which the old-time characters delighted to christen themselves. The meaning is more than it seems and lies deeper than the surface. "Guileless," dictionaries tell us, means "free from deception," "honest," "sincere." The deliverer of man must be honest to the core, genuine to the centre, imbued with reality to the very soul. For is he not to deal with the world that is smitten with hypocrisy and falseness? He who would renew the world of shame, a world of veneer and tinsel, a world swaddled with conventionalities and enamored of quackeries, must be, after all, "Guileless."

Must he also be a "Fool?" Aye, surely, to such a world as that which he is to rejuvenate he must, in worldly ways, seem to be the very prince of fools.

The relation of these three characters is unfolded in a story which consists of four chapters. First, "The Sorrow"; second "The Deliverer Beholds the Sorrow"; third, "The Deliverer Tastes the Suffering"; fourth "The Deliverer Heals the Woe."

SAFE EYE-GLASS FITTING

Selling eye-glasses out of a stock like scissors or thimbles, is a dangerous practice that is altogether too prevalent.

There should not be the faintest doubt in the mind of any person who finds the need of wearing glasses, that they are identically, scientifically fitted to the eyes.

We offer you safe spectacle fitting. And that is the only kind you should be satisfied to accept. There is nothing on this earth dearer than a cheap pair of spectacles that you have chosen yourself simply because you can see with them.

HON. MR. PUGSLEY GETS SLIM SUPPORT IN HOUSE

With Smallest Plurality Since 1896 Government Backs Up Minister of Public Works in Dealings in New Brunswick—Messrs. Turgeon and Carvel Bungle Government's Defence Plans and Vote is Taken.

Ottawa, May 7.—A remarkable incident occurred in the Commons yesterday afternoon. The debate on the New Brunswick Royal Commission charges against Hon. Wm. Pugsley came to an abrupt termination; the motion was put by the chair and the Government sustained its Minister of Public Works by 27, the smallest majority since 1896.

After Crockett of Fredericton had spoken, Mr. Turgeon of Gloucester spread consternation in his party's ranks by eulogizing Judge Landry of the Commission. When he sat down Crockett was still unanswered by the Government. Mr. Carvell, who should have spoken when Turgeon did, tried to avoid rising to speak on the subject and wanted Mr. Foster to go on with his expected speech in reply to Mr. Turgeon. Mr. Foster did not, and in the embarrassing silence that followed some one shouted "Question." The speaker took the division without the Government having said a word for Pugsley.

Although the Government has endorsed Mr. Pugsley, in fact, of the conviction by the New Brunswick court, the Minister's troubles are not yet over. There is yet to be brought up the charge that he took the funds of the Province of New Brunswick for his own use. Mr. Pugsley was not in the House yesterday.

Four Ministers were absent: Hon. Sydney Fisher, Sir Frederick Borden, Hon. Charles Murphy and Hon. J. Bureau.

Mr. Emmerson and Mr. Todd, two New Brunswick members, were also out of their places.

"He made a statement that was false and knew at the time that it was false," was a comment made by Mr. Crockett in the afternoon in reference to Mr. Pugsley's statement to the New Brunswick Legislature that $180,000 had been paid for the Central Railway.

Referring to the evidence of Geo. McAvity, Mr. Crocket read the statement that there was not a meeting of directors since he became president, Mr. Pugsley had managed the whole business.

From Mr. Pugsley's evidence before the commission, Mr. Crocket quoted a remark regarding Hon. L. P. Tweedie, who had refused to pass a lump sum for salary. It was "He (Tweedie) was extremely careful; he was heartbreaking at times."

Most serious of all changes, said Crocket, was that $30,000 had been misappropriated out of the $180,000, which the province was to pay for the railway, a charge "to which there is absolutely no answer." This charge, said Crocket, if established, should be sufficient to put Mr. Pugsley out of the Government.

"I ask you if any more serious charge could be made against a public man? It charges misappropriation of money." Crocket went for his proofs to the record of Pugsley's evidence, saying, "If the commission erred at all, it was on the side of leniency."

Mr. Crocket concluded his speech at 4.30 o'clock.

Mr. Turgeon of Gloucester emphasized the respect in which he held Judge Landry, but felt compelled to dissent from the findings of the commission. He said there had been two attacks this session by the Opposition upon Mr. Pugsley, but it was impossible to damage the reputation of the Minister of Public Works, who was held in high esteem all over the country.

The vote was then taken.

The evening session was occupied by the estimates of the Department of Agriculture.

In the Upper House yesterday Senator Davis moved the second reading of his bill respecting the incorporation of railway companies. The bill proposed, he said, to do away with the incorporation of railways by Parliament, and giving the work to a state department on recommendations from the Railway Commission. He did not expect the bill would pass this session, and anticipated that it would be amended with improvement before it did pass.

His bill would discourage chartermongers and would save the time Parliament had been giving to gentlemen who were after charters, not to build but to sell. In the past nine years Parliament had granted 116 railway charters outside of those given to three big companies, the C.P.R., Grand Trunk and Canadian Northern, and there was authority to build 57,862 miles, and of that only 465 miles had been built, and that had been done by only fifteen companies.

REPORTED CURE FOR ALCOHOLISM

London, May 7.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Owen Seaman, editor of Punch, addressing a meeting at the Normyl Treatment Association explained that the formula which constituted the treatment was the outcome of the research of Huton Dixon, a Canadian chemist. It was impossible for the association to raise enough money for the purchase of the formula, and they had entered into an arrangement with the inventor. The Bishop of Chichester said they had found in the normyl treatment for alcoholism something for which they had been looking for a long time.

CONVICTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Edinburgh, May 7.—Oscar Slater, alias Otto Sands, charged with the murder in Glasgow of Miss Marion Gilchrist, a woman 83 years old, was yesterday convicted and sentenced to death. He collapsed in the dock.

Slater was extradited from New York last February to stand trial. The efforts of the defence were devoted largely to proving an alibi. Doctors testified that the hammer found in Slater's belongings in New York showed no traces of blood and could hardly have caused Miss Gilchrist's injuries, as claimed by the prosecution.

$25,000 FOR THE CAUSE OF PEACE

Chicago, May 7.—The first material fruit of the National Peace Conference which closed here Wednesday night is a fund of $25,000 donated to Northwestern University by John P. Lindgren, Swedish consul to Chicago and cashier of the State Bank of Chicago, to be utilized for founding a permanent series of lectures and to secure the annual payment of prizes for essays upon the questions of international peace and interdenominational religious harmony.

A second gift of $25,000 additional to the same institution to found a chair of Scandinavian literature also was announced by Mr. Lindgren.

ARE SENTENCED FOR SEDITION

Calcutta, May 7.—Sentences were handed down yesterday in the court of Alipur, a suburb of Calcutta, in the cases of the 32 natives who were arrested here last summer charged with complicity in the conspiracy of May, 1908.

Two of the men were condemned to death, ten to transportation for life, three to transportation for ten years, three to transportation for seven years, while seventeen were acquitted.

Ashutosh Biswas, a public prosecutor, who was engaged in the conduct of these cases, was shot dead in the Alipur court last February.

LATEST NEWS AS TOLD IN DESPATCHES

Will Give $50,000 to Picture Fund.

London, May 7.—Lewis Harcourt has promised the Government a contribution of $50,000 provided the public will subscribe the balance of the sum required for the purchase of the famous Holbein portrait of Christiana of Denmark. This portrait has been a loan from the Duke of Norfolk to the National Gallery for 36 years, but an option has been granted for its sale for $350,000.

Emperors to Meet.

St. Petersburg, May 7.—The Novoe Vremya yesterday declared that Emperor Ferdinand of Bulgaria is expected in St. Petersburg this month to take part in the dedication of a monument to Alexander III., and to thank Emperor Nicholas personally for being the first sovereign to recognise Bulgarian independence.

Babe's Body In River.

Berlin, Ont., May 7.—The body of a lifeless new-born child was found by two men along the Grand River bank at Bridgeport yesterday afternoon. By appearances the babe had been thrown in the river shortly after birth. An inquest was ordered by Coroner Honsberger.

Dock Hands Strike.

Owen Sound, May 7.—The truckers and laborers employed at the C.P.R. docks went out on strike yesterday afternoon. They are being paid 15 cents an hour, and are asking 17 1-2 and 20 cents an hour.

The Assiniboia is expected to arrive to-day from Fort William, when the strikers may make a demonstration if any attempt made to unload her by strikebreakers.

Still Cool In West.

Winnipeg, May 7.—The weather turned cool again, but conditions everywhere are perfectly suited for seeding and farmers have made more real progress during the present week in the spring wheat districts, than in all the previous weeks, of unsettled weather. Another week will see the bulk of the wheat in the ground.

Big Fire at Bracebridge.

Bracebridge, May 7.—Fire broke out in Ecclestone's hardware store at 6.30 o'clock yesterday morning, doing considerable damage to the stock, which was valued at $25,000; insurance of $14,000 was carried. Mr. Ecclestone left for California the night before.

REVIEW WILL ISSUE "EXTRA" CONTAINING COMPLETE REPORT OF TO-MORROW'S RACES

Two big Marathon races are on the bill of fare for tomorrow. In Montreal Alf Shrubb, the peerless middle distance man, will meet Tom Longboat, in a fifteen mile contest at the MAAA. grounds. In New York the big ten thousand dollar Marathon will be pulled off. The entries include Fred Simpson, of Peterborough and John D. Marsh of Winnipeg. The distance will be 26 miles 385 yards.

Peterborough people with athletic inclinations are deeply interested in the Shrubb-Longboat race and in the New York Derby. In order that they may know all about the two big events on Saturday evening the Review will issue and "extra" as soon as the races are over. Special arrangements have been made to secure complete stories of both contests and the "extra" will be placed on the street just as quickly as it is possible to get it out. The price will be two cents. No outside paper arriving in Peterborough on Saturday night will have a full report of the Derby in New York. Get a Review extra.

The Review will put out no bulletins of tomorrow's races and as the staff will be very busy in the afternoon information about the contests will not be given over the telephone.

IS RETURNING TO ENGLAND

Rector of St. James Cathedral, Toronto, Will Leave in the Near Future

Toronto, May 7.—Rev. Canon Welch has been offered by the Bishop of Wakefield the living of Wakefield parish church, which is also the cathedral of the diocese. Canon Welch has accepted the appointment and will shortly resign the rectorship of St. James' cathedral here.

He will be dean, canon and rector at Wakefield, and will have two associate canons.

The announcement that Rev. Canon Welch had accepted the appointment to Wakefield has aroused considerable curiosity as to the selection which the Bishop of Toronto will make as his successor. Two names mentioned yesterday were Rev. Patterson Smythe of St. George's church, Montreal and Bishop Reeves.

Canon Welch became rector of St. James' Cathedral Dec. 1, 1900, and resigns to return to England to be near his aged father in his declining years.

Canon Welch is rural dean of Toronto and sub-dean of St. Alban's Cathedral; chaplain of the Governor-General's Bodyguard, and past chaplain of St. George's Society. He is a son of Rev. Andrew Welch, and was educated at King's College, London, and Cambridge University. He graduated with honors in arts and theology. In 1884, when in his 24th year, he became curate of St. Paul's, Haggerston. In 1886 he became domestic chaplain to Bishop Lightfoot of Durham. On the latter's death he became vicar of Ven. Bede's Church, Gateshead.

In 1895 Canon Welch came to Canada and in November of that year was installed provost and vice-chancellor of Trinity College, receiving the degree of D.C.L.

LOST LIFE IN PRAIRIE FIRE

Moosejaw, Sask., May 7.—Theodore Bruning, aged 38, who came from Minto, N.D., less than a year ago, and who was farming south of here on a large scale, having two sections of land, proved a victim of prairie fire, which swept that district early this week, losing his life in a gallant effort to save his neighbor's stock and house. He lived about 85 miles southwest of Moosejaw in the district being rapidly settled with Americans, and when the fire started Bruning left his own place, which was well protected by fireguards, and went over to his neighbor's homestead.

Settlers throughout that district suffered heavily, losing stock, lumber and homesteads.

W.F.M.S. ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Ottawa, May 7.—The Presbyterian W.F.M.S. yesterday decided to meet next year in Chatham. Officers were re-elected: Pres., Mrs. Shortreed, Toronto; vice-pres., Mrs. McLaren, Mrs. Telfer, Mrs. A. Jaffray, Mrs. G. H. Robinson, Mrs. J. C. Robertson; recording secretary, Miss R. C. Clark; corresponding secretary, Miss Martin; treasurer, Miss George; editor Tidings, Mrs. McGillivray; mission band secretary, Miss B. McMurchy; home secretary, Miss M. Reed; foreign secretaries, Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Henderson; secretary publication, Miss Parsons; Northwest Indian work, Miss A. M. Craig; British Columbia, Mrs. C. Clark.

PRAIRIE FIRE IS DISASTROUS

Swift Current, May 7.—A disastrous prairie fire has raged about 40 miles north the last two days. A family named Klien were burned out and four of them are in a critical condition. A child perished in the flames. South about twenty-five miles, the entire township is burned over and only a few thousand acres of pasture left. The fire started from a German village. Johanas Hadick, 64, a Hollander, out fighting flames, can't be found. Mounted police are so busy prosecuting fire cases that they cannot attend to all complaints. Sergt. Bottley's men are played out. Hay is scarce and now settlers are deprived of pasture.

Carnegie's Gift.

Lexington, Ky., May 6.—President W. G. Frost of Berea College, announced yesterday that the great industrial school for negroes had been established near Shelbyville, Ky., and the erection of buildings would be begun in a short time. He gave the names of the largest individual contributors to the movement as Andrew Carnegie, $200,000; Mrs. Russell Sage, New York, $25,000; Mrs. Henry Pickering, Boston, $25,000.

CHIEF IS LET OFF

Judge Teetzel, in Discharging the Prisoner, Issued a Warning.

Chatham, May 7.—E. J Kimball, the Leamington ex-policeman, who on July 28 last shot and killed W. J. Healey while he was escaping arrest, was let off on suspended sentence.

In addressing the prisoner Judge Teetzel said there was certainly negligence in the handling of the gun, and while no one thought that he intended to kill the man, he did not use proper precaution in using his revolver.

It may have been discharged accidentally, but the jury had taken the ground that he was guilty of manslaughter.

The prisoner, however, had gone through the worry of two trials, and for the offence committed there was no doubt he had been sufficiently punished for his mistake.

The constables throughout the country, however, should take a lesson from this trial to be very careful in the use of firearms. There was altogether too much carelessness on the part of constables in using guns, and many of them are too eager to pull their guns, shoot, and otherwise show their authority.

The judge dwelt upon the excellent character of the prisoner. Even after the shooting in Tilbury a large representation of people were present from Leamington at the trial to testify as to his former good character, and this was a big point in his favor.

Kimball will not have to appear to have his suspended sentence removed unless he is called upon. The sentence is meant more as a warning.

ATTENTION BOYS!

The Review "extra" containing complete report of the New York Marathon Derby and the Shrubb - Longboat race at Montreal will be ready about seven o'clock. It will be a great seller. Come to the Review office and secure a supply. It will be a money-maker.

Independent Lines May be Installed in Railway Stations.

Ottawa, May 7.—The Railway Commission yesterday handed out a very important judgment defining a general rule under which independent or other telephone companies may be allowed to install their lines in railway stations without regard to the fact that such are already served by the lines of another company.

The question has long been agitated, the railways, most of them served by the Bell Co., opposing the independent lines being admitted. The judgment is a win for the independents.

The application came from the People's Telephone Co. of Sherbrooke, and Caledon, Ont., Telephone Co., for orders compelling the railways to permit them to place their telephones in the stations already served by the Bell Co.

In the judgment presented by Assistant Chief Commissioner Scott, reference is made to the power of the board to grant such an order without reference to any exclusive privilege given by the railway to another company.

The general principle is laid down that if a telephone company's instruments are in general use in the district surrounding the station, and if it would be of substantial convenience to the public having business with the railway, while not unduly oppressive to the latter, the applications should be granted subject to an agreement, the general form of which is prescribed.

Too Many Holidays.

St. Petersburg, May 7.—Contending that Russia suffers from too many holidays, the Council of Empire has entrusted to a special commission a bill which would eliminate 28 of the annual holidays.

There are at present 91 public holidays in Russia, including Sundays, the celebration of which is declared to involve an annual expense of a billion dollars. Many of the holidays fall upon the season of work in the fields and it is said that this is one reason why agriculturists are so backward in this country.

BOY KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Woodstock Lad is Victim of Electrical Storm—Other Damage Done

Woodstock, May 7.—In an electrical storm of no great magnitude, save for the one fatal bolt that passed over Woodstock shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, James Merrigold, aged fourteen, son of Mr. Robt. Merrigold, a hotelkeeper in Hamilton, and formerly of this city, was instantly killed and Edgar Knight of Burk's Falls was dangerous injured, but is expected to recover. Both were students at Woodstock College, and it was under a tree on the campus that they were struck.

Several boys were running to escape the storm and just as they neared the door of the college the unfortunate lads were stricken down.

Bridge Wrecked.

Fort William, May 7.—An electrical storm, accompanied by strong wind, struck the city early yesterday morning, increasing until about 10 o'clock, when it began to abate. At 9.30 the C.P.R. footbridge, connecting the depot with the dock and freight sheds, was carried away. The yards, which at this point are of considerable width, were filled with cars, on which the wrecked footbridge fell.

Public Library Struck.

Chatham, May 7.—A terrific electrical storm passed over Chatham and surrounding district on Wednesday night, doing much damage. The dome of Chatham's public library was splintered by lightning, tearing a chasm seven feet long and one foot wide.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

The waters of Lake Erie rose and fell in a bewildering manner yesterday.

Three alienists testified at Flushing yesterday that Capt. Hains was insane when he slew Annis.

The French Government has bid defiance to the labor unions that are trying to force its hand.

Governor Harmon of Sandwich jail has been sentenced to ten days in his own prison by Judge Smith for contempt.

Geo. Atkinson was acquitted on one charge of forgery at Levis, Que., and it is probable that the other charges will be dropped.

Lieut. Calderara, who was operating one of the Wright aeroplanes at Rome, fell with his machine yesterday and was injured.

James Boyle was yesterday found guilty of kidnapping Willie Whitla. His counsel entered a plea of nolo contendere, or a refusal to offer evidence. Mrs. Boyle was then brought to trial.

Among additions to the prizes of Bisley is the Standard of the Empire, confined to entrants from overseas. A shield and 21 pounds will be given the highest scorer in the Jubilee King's Prize.

M. Gilbert, a retired merchant of Paris, whose declining years have been made miserable by speeding automobiles, has bequeathed his entire fortune to churches in certain French cities for masses for the repose of the souls of the victims of the "diabolical machines which have pained my last days.

MET DEATH ON RAILWAY TRACK

Guelph, May 7.—Run down by a C.P.R. passenger train about a mile from the village of Belwood, Mrs. George Elliott, an aged widow, was instantly killed.

She was 75 years of age and lived alone about a mile from the village, into which she was walking along the track, when she was killed. She got clear of the track, according to the engineer, and then in her bewilderment, caused by fright, she jumped back on to the track again just as the engine reached her. She was thrown quite a distance.

David Keating was yesterday sentenced by Magistrate Saunders to two months for indecent assault on a young domestic in the home of Sheriff Allan.

Ottawa Masons Plan Temple.

Ottawa, May 7.—The Masonic order has purchased a site adjacent to the Y.M.C.A. building on Metcalfe street, and will erect thereon a big temple to cost in the neighborhood of $50,000.

The plans are already under way and the building will be one of the most handsome in the city. Owing to a number of unexpired leases on the buildings now on the site, work on the temple cannot start until next spring.

OMEMEE RECTOR APPOINTED TO ST. PHILIP'S, TORONTO

Rev. J. H. Teney to Succeed Bishop Sweeney as Rector of Large Congregation in Toronto

Toronto, May 7.—Rev. J. H. Teney, rector of the township of Emily, and the town of Omemee, Victoria county, has been appointed by Bishop Sweeny to the rectorship of St. Philip's Anglican church, left vacant by the elevation of the former rector to be the Bishop of Toronto. A recommendation was made by the vestry of the church last Monday night, mentioning the names of Rev. Canon Starr, of Kingston, and Rev. Mr. Teney in connection with the appointment.

The new rector of St. Philip's is forty-three years of age, and prior to entering the ministry of the Anglican Church was a school teacher. His ordination took place in Toronto fifteen years ago, and prior to taking his present charge was at Craighurst. With his present congregation and the clergy in general Rev. Mr. Teney is very popular. He is eminently fitted for the rectorship of the Toronto church to which he has just been appointed. He is an able preacher, and in his work for the church, in order to get in touch with his congregation never spares himself. Rev. Mr. Teney will come to Toronto about the middle of July.

INTERESTING PROGRAMME ARRANGED FOR MAY 24TH

In Connection With Opening of the Armouries—Regimental Street Parades and Review's—Sacred Concerts on Sunday.

The main features of the programme for May 24th in connection with the opening of the Armouries were decided upon at the meeting of the officers the 57th and the visiting officers from Brantford and St. Catharines yesterday afternoon. Other matters will be arranged at a meeting of the officers' committee to-morrow night.

The Armouries will be formerly opened by Hon. Mr. Pugsley and this of course, will be the feature of the greatest public interest. The regiments will parade on the streets and a review will be held in one of the parks.

Sacred Concerts will be given by the visiting bands Sunday afternoon and evening, May 23rd.

ANOTHER SENSATIONAL FEATURE IN KINRADE CASE

Special to the Review

Toronto, May 7—Based on the report of the Crown's alienist in the case, George L Blackstock, KC, has recommended to the Attorney-General an important step in connection with the Kinrade murder. Indeed it is so important that it is not probable it will be accepted by the Attorney-General without the consent of Premier Whitney. The report of Dr. Bruce Smith and Dr Clarke is understood to be of a very serious character and if adopted will have a sensational effect.

BALCONY RAIL GAVE WAY; 175 PERSONS WERE INJURED

Special to the Review

Seattle, Wash, May 7—Between 150 and 175 persons were injured, many fatally, shortly before midnight when an iron guard rail in the balcony of the National Guard Armory on Western Avenue gave way.

Fully 5000 spectators were assembled in the Armory on the occasion of the indoor track and field championships of the Pacific Northwest Association of the American Union when the accident occurred. The iron guard rail facing 300 feet along the east side of the structure gave way for its full length and from 200 to 250 people were plunged headlong a distance of sixteen feet to a hard floor.

Exonerated of Murder.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 7.—Two sensational killing episodes were ended here yesterday when the grand jury ordered the release of Miss Jessie Brown and R. A. Humphreys.

Miss Brown shot and killed Earp P. Adams, her sweetheart, following the announcement of Adams' engagement to another woman.

Humphreys shot and killed both his 16-year-old wife and Thos. McManus when he found the two together in his home. The mother of Mrs. Humphreys committed suicide because of grief over her daughter's death.

Found Glasses With Foam.

Brantford, May 7.—At the Police Court yesterday R. D. Campbell proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, was fined $75 and costs by Magistrate Livingstone for selling liquor last Sunday afternoon. The police made a visit to the hotel. In proceeding upstairs they met the bartender coming down. The latter on seeing them retraced his steps, closely followed by the constables, who found a number of empty bottles in an upper room. There were also two glasses still with foam on them.

Russia to Tax Non-Soldiers.

St. Petersburg, May 7.—The Douma, in a secret sitting that lasted until 8 o'clock yesterday morning, adopted the first and second readings of the military and naval contingent bill, with the amendments imposing a special tax on those who do not serve in the army, and extending this tax to Finland.

Red Cross Incorporated.

Ottawa, May 7.—The private bills committee of the House of Commons yesterday morning reported the bill incorporating the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Underwriters' Inspectors Hope to Have Inspection Completed in That Time

The Fire Underwriters' Inspectors are making good progress with their work of inspecting the mercantile risks of the city. It is expected that their work of inspection will be completed in about three weeks' time.

Some of the merchants apparently don't appreciate the saving advantages of a lower rate and are not cleaning up the boxes, rubbish, etc., around their premises, as it was expected they would.

RURAL MAIL DELIVERY

This is now the sixth week since the palpable neglect by the Ottawa government of our farming friends in the matter of rural mail delivery first impelled us to call loudly for somebody to get a "move" on. Rural life has suffered vastly in the past. It has been sacrificed always to the concentrated power and selfishness of the towns and cities. It continues so. The capitalist and financier, the men who make money out of money which is the great necessity of life, have sacrificed and continue to sacrifice the farmer to their interests. Money that should have gone for rural mail and parcel delivery in Peterborough county has gone to the G.T.P. The farm values of Ontario have gone down enormously also. It is time this policy was changed. Let us who do the paying at least have the satisfaction of spending some of our own money upon ourselves. Give the farmers rural mail and parcel delivery. Why this prolonged and ominous and total silence? We heard enough about it last October but nothing since.

ON TRADE

The U. S. have sold to Canada in the last ten years no less than $750,000,000.00 worth more than Canada has sold to the U. S., and yet the Globe continues its "long howl on Unalaska's shore" over the madness of American protection going so far as to say that if the U. S. were hopelessly insane on the subject as they seemed to be, they must simply be allowed to go to ruin that's all when "presumably" the 'Grafter's Paradise would go to the rescue. How long might we ask for the steenth time, will we last in the industrial life of the world if we pay out $75,000,000 a year more than we take in? Just so long as our natural resources pan out to pay that adverse balance and no longer. The Balance of Trade is the real Balance of Power, and our American friends waiting, wanting or wishing to gobble up our natural resources are pretending to apologize and ask for privileges, while they laugh at us and the Globe.

THE WORLD'S CARTOON

Mr. Sam Hunter, the cartoonist of the World is "a good one." When a subject has been built up by criticism and discussion until it is just about to become what the photographers call a "composite" he puts the whole affair in its right light before a delighted and applauding audience. People would not say that the cartoons are just right if they did not know if they were or not and it is this happy feature Mr. Hunter has of backing up or crystallizing proper public opinion that has made him a power in the land; and somehow people have got the idea that he is "straight," that he can't be bought to put things as they may seem but not as they really are, for anybody or any sum. The fact that this is considered a wonderful thing in itself ought to show even "the higher critics" what sort of times we are living in. The cartoon to which we especially refer however is that in which that sturdy gentleman known as The Country is mildly but sarcastically asking the Boss of the G.T.P. if it is not time for him to do less blowing and better financing or in other words to make good for his own side of the G.T.P. bargain and all his random promises before calling on the people to put up another ten million or else to stop posing as the supreme authority in such matters. The article from the Weekly Sun, which we published on the decline of farm values in Ontario may open people's eyes a bit to what they have half seen for some time.

THE MILITIA

The Canadian Militia Gazette, which may be taken as a representative Canadian authority on such matters finally declares for a shooting militia, not a drilling or parading militia. Experience has shown it says, that a man properly drilled, but unable to shoot, is worse than no man at all. No man at all would live to fight another day, not being on the spot at the undesired moment, but the redcoated inefficient would be just one less "on the force" after the other man had got through shooting. There is nothing so terrifying and demoralizing as an enemy that can shoot. Instead of parade-grounds and expensive drill-halls, what we want is targets. Instead of going to the "shed" men should and would go to the "butts" if they had them. Peterborough is in that predicament. It has a fine $240,000 drill hall, but unless it is intended as the target and it is perhaps large enough there is nothing for the boys in red to shoot at. The Gazette lays great and extended stress on the paramount necessity of shooting over all other things. In a country like Canada it is quite plain that a mounted force that could shoot and knew the country broken up into irritating fragments could positively defy a large attacking army, but how long would a compact mass of men on foot last or what would they avail? A walk to Lakefield would lay many of them up. From Napoleon down, the maxim of the real warriors has always been "Learn to shoot." It takes a comparatively short time to learn all the drill really necessary whereas to shoot well is an affair of long practice. It was the southern sharpshooters who prolonged the war of '61-4. It was they who nearly defeated, at one time, the top-heavy north. Fifty thousand Canadian sharpshooters would be of immense value anywhere but fifty thousand shootless recruits would beggar or stagger the imagination.

THE SENTINEL'S ATTACK

The Sentinel undertakes to "trim" both parties in its last issue. It says that "the desire of both parties is power, and their joint motto is "Discretion is the better part of valor." This suggestion is hardly fair. It might just as truly be said that the editor of the Sentinel's desire is power. The life of the country must go on. Parliaments and parties, like men, must come and must go, and the ambitions and activities of men must be fed or extinguished. Why? Because it is life. To criticize our representatives as if in their anxiety they simply grasped at and longed for power is to say that they all lack patriotism, and all that fine sense of love of country which, as a matter of fact, they have done so much to build up. Criticism is at all times reasonable when it is so, but to attack both parties simply because they do not do as the Sentinel thinks they should, is a matter for more or less invidious comment and justly so.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Guelph's tax-rate is 14 1-2 mills. Hooray for Guelph!

The Moslem who replied, when asked if Christianity was, in his opinion, inferior to Islamism, that he didn't know because it had never been tried, was "parlously" near the truth. Verb sap.

"The Moslems have not left a man or boy over ten years of age at Harni —The Globe.

There is great need of preaching a new crusade.

Every Protestant congregation in Saranac Lake, N.Y., offered the use of its place of worship to the congregation of St. Bernard's Catholic church until such time as a new church may be built to replace the edifice destroyed by fire last week. The Methodists were the first to make the offer, and were quickly followed by the Presbyterians and Episcopalians —Catholic Register.

A man who being drunk and therefore of course perfectly "capable" of knowing whether he was or not, as some people think, has been sent up for trial by a Magistrate for perjury in that he is accused as aforesaid; Let us say in this man's behalf that many a man accused of murder has escaped because he was drunk and presumably therefore did not know what he was doing. When is a man drunk anyhow? When he is foolish or only foolish enough to deny indignantly that he was drunk as many others who to our knowledge and belief were drunk, denied that they were boozy and in fact on thinking it over they couldn't even remember when they had had a drink. If this man was drunk then ipso facto he was incapable and therefore incapable of perjury. If he was not drunk then he is likewise incapable of perjury since he told the truth. Hereafter it will be better because less dangerous for a citizen no matter who he is, to admit that he was drunk than to deny it. These may be called veritable "horns of a dilemma."

"Again, we doubt whether there ever was a time when men were more sincerely patriotic, and more anxious to maintain the Empire "in health and wealth long to live." It is true, no doubt, that now, as when Wordsworth wrote his famous sonnet, there is much to deplore in the national character, and much that needs change. We are far too much given to luxury and softness. If our richer classes are less drunken, they are more gluttonous and more extravagant and effeminate in their personal habits. Our life is still too often the 'mean handiwork of craftsman, cook, or groom.' But though these are evils that cry aloud for remedy, and though we do not forget them, they are not the evils on which we want to dwell at the present moment. While we do not deny the continuous need for higher moral ideals, what we specially desire to emphasize is the need for a greater seriousness, or, if you will, hardness of outlook.—Spectator, London, England.

CANADIAN CLUB IN NEW YORK

Copy of Invitation to Annual Banquet Sent the Review by Mr. Louis Croly

Mr. Louis Croly, of New York, a former Peterborough man, has favored the Review with a copy of the invitation for the annual banquet of the New York Canadian Club, to be held at the Hotel Astor on Friday, May 14th

It is expected that this banquet will surpass any other heretofore given by the club. The following distinguished gentlemen have already honored the club by accepting its invitation to address the members and their guests on this occasion—

Hon. James S. Sherman, vice-president of the United States.

Hon Rodolphe Lemieux, Postmaster-General of Canada.

Hon Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior, Canada.

George E. Foster, M.P., Toronto, Canada.

W. O. Sealey, M.P., Hamilton, Canada.

Hugh Guthrie, M.P., Guelph, Canada.

Rev. Donald C. MacLeod, Washington, DC.

In addition to the foregoing, the club expects to receive positive acceptance during the next few days from the following—

Hon George W. Wickersham, Attorney-General of the United States.

His Excellency, James Bryce, British Ambassador to the United States.

His Excellency, Wu-Ting-Fang, Chinese Ambassador to the United States.

Hon. Jonathan Bourne, jr., United States Senator from Oregon.

Hon Francis W. Cushman, United States Congressman from Washington.

Mr. Croly states that any Peterborough people who may be in New York on the 14th inst. will be made welcome at the banquet.

DOCTOR'S WORK IS APPROVED

Belmont Board of Health Passes Resolution Regarding Small-pox Epidemic

At a recent meeting of the Belmont Board of Health, the following resolution was passed on motion of Jas Freeman and Mr. John Balfour—

"Resolved, that the Board of Health expresses approval of Dr. H. C. Kindred's work in connection with the smallpox epidemic which occurred in the municipality, and we recommend that his account be paid by the Council primarily, when presented in individual form and to the satisfaction of this board. We would recommend that the municipality bear the expense in connection with the examination of patients and houses and also the fumigation, and that the remainder be collected by the council from those able to pay for same. As to the accounts for provisions supplied, we recommend that the council pay for those only when the parties interested are unable to do so."

STRONG GAME

Cupid and Hymen were talking about cards.

"Ever play yourself?" asked Cupid.

"Sometimes," responded Hymen, cautiously.

"Indeed? and what is your strongest hand?"

"Oh, when kings find they are beaten by queens and turn into jacks. How about you?"

Cupid laughed a silver laugh.

"Oh, I have a hand that can't be beat."

"Really? And what is it?"

"Why, a pair in a parlor. That has been a winner since the world began."

London and Victoria are bidding for the 1910 meeting of the Methodist General Conference.

OF INTEREST

of interest great britain and

Lord Pirrie and Sir Hugh Bell, two great captains of industry have said some most interesting things to Mr. Harold Spender, who recalls them in a valuable article in the May Pall Mall Magazine which is an exceptionally good number.

Lord Pirrie is the head of Harland and Wolff, the great Belfast shipbuilders now busy in building the largest White Star liners — over 40,000 tons each.

"At a pinch could England build as many Dreadnoughts as Germany," asked Mr Spender of Lord Pirrie. "The country has also been alarmed at the revelations as to the number of big ships—of Dreadnoughts to use the current name —that have been laid down in Germany of recent years."

"I will take our firm as an instance. We could build two Dreadnoughts at once, and make machinery for four more. And if that is true of one firm alone what could not be done by all the great shipbuilding yards in England combined. Why, there are yards idle in England at the present moment that could turn out a greater number of Dreadnoughts than all the German yards put together."

"And turn them out more rapidly"

"Yes, and turn them out more rapidly —under the new system."

"Another thing that has frightened public opinion very much has been the alleged revelations as to the development of Krupp's yards and workshops. Do you regard that as very ominous?"

"Of course it is impossible for me to dogmatise but I can say this —that to my knowledge Krupp's development has been to a large extent for mercantile work as well as naval. Besides of course the German system of preparing gunfittings and guns simultaneously with the ships has meant a corresponding development Krupp's along with the laying down of the Dreadnought keels. That would happen in any case, even if there were no acceleration of building."

"Speaking generally and turning for a moment from naval to ordinary shipbuilding do you fear German competition more than any other."

"No. I do not fear Germany. I remember once saying to the German Emperor, "Sir, I do not fear your competition" to which he made a very sensible reply;

"There is no reason for you to fear us—we can advance together." The German shipbuilding yards are more idle than ours. When they are at work the German shipwrights are very able, steady draftsmen, possessed of many virtues, especially of endurance and industry, but we have perhaps as serious a competitor, if not more serious, in Japan. Besides, the Japanese have all the material resources of coal and iron ready to hand while the Germans have to bring their raw material either from far inland or from England.

JAPAN'S SEVERE COMPETITION

"The Japanese are doing wonders and I am surprised that England is not more conscious of the very severe competition—quite right and friendly competition, proper commercial competition, but still severe industrial competition—of Japan. The Japanese are now building for themselves and they are building very good ships. In the Far East their ships are taking the place of ours on the Japan-California route, and it is not impossible that the Japanese may finally possess themselves of the great shipping routes of that part of the world. There is no need to complain of that but it is rather surprising that here in England nobody ever speaks of the competition of Japan. It is always the competition of Germany that people prefer to discuss."

CURIOUS EFFECT OF WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

"'I attribute the success of my firm,' said Lord Pirrie, quite simply and frankly, 'largely to the policy of scrapping old machinery. It has always been my habit to adopt new machinery whenever and as soon as I can. And then,' he added, with a twinkle, 'I sell my old machinery to my rivals.'

"'Do you believe in this great competition for speed? One seems to notice that you do not join in it quite so hotly as other shipbuilders.'

"'Of recent years,' he replied, 'I have never much believed in this keen competition for speed. From the moment that wireless telegraphy was introduced, I always recognized that a new element had arrived, and that speed was not so necessary. In the old days it was otherwise. I can remember a merchant saying to me of a certain ship. "I found myself one day late in that ship—I lost £3,000 by that delay, and I shall never travel by that line again." But nowadays a business man can sit on a ship crossing the Atlantic, can wire orders to his brokers, watch the markets, know the news—while all the time he is at sea. It is even conceivable that he may save money by staying on a ship thanks to the absence of other diversions. In my opinion, therefore "wireless" changed the whole position. I have advised, indeed urged, my firm's clients to act on that theory and I think they have found it successful."

Lord Pirrie also declared that "if the United States adopted Free Trade tomorrow it would be the greatest peril that our shipbuilding industry could have to face. If America allowed material for ships to enter free of duty, I question if it would not necessitate our having to establish branch shipbuilding yards there. I always have had that possibility in view."

When Mr. Spender asked Sir Hugh Bell whether the productive power of England in these matters was now less than that of Germany, Sir Hugh Bell replied;

"Men are wealth and Germany has now a population of over 60,000,000 to our 43,000,000. That in itself is a tremendous fact. It represents great er power of exchange, and therefore greater wealth. England has not been idle. She is not to blame. But there are some forces that neither peoples nor Government can fight against.

"For instance, take my trade. England was once the first iron producing country in the world— Eclipse first and the rest nowhere. Now she is the third. It is not her fault. Nor is it so very much to the credit of Germany that she is second or of the United States that she is the first. It is the drift of circumstances. But it means necessarily and inevitably that both these countries have more resources."

Cables Steady—Hogs Steady at Buffalo and Chicago.

LONDON, May 6.—London cables for cattle are steady at 13c to 13½c per lb. for Canadian steers, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9½c to 10c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, May 6.—The railways reported receipts of 94 carloads of live stock at the City Market for Wednesday and Thursday, consisting of 1486 cattle, 2202 hogs, 56 sheep and 280 calves.

Exporters.

Export steers sold from $5.50 to $6.30, the latter price being paid for one load of the best cattle seen on the market, bought by George Rowntree for the Harris Abattory Co. The bulk of the export steers sold at $5.70 to $5.85. Export bulls sold at $4.50 to $5 per cwt.

Stockers and Feeders.

Harry Murby reports a fair demand for steers over 800 lbs. up to 1100 lbs., with not much enquiry for light stockers, which are slow sale. Mr. Murby bought 250 cattle at the following quotations: Feeders, 900 to 1100 lbs. each, at $4.75 to $5.50 per cwt.; feeders, 800 to 900 lbs. each, at $4.15 to $4.60, stockers, 500 to 700 lbs. each, at $3 to $3.75 per cwt.

Milkers and Springers.

There has been a strong market for milkers and springers all week, but the quality was not as good as was desired. Prices ranged from $30 to $65 with one of extra quality at $75, which was bought by Fred Rowntree, and sold by Dunn & Levack. McDonald & Halligan sold one lot of 16 cows at an average of $55 each.

Veal Calves.

Receipts were liberal. Prices ranged from $3 to $5.50 per cwt. for the bulk, but a few of the best reached $6 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Export ewes sold at $4.50 to $5.50 per cwt.; rams, $3.50 to $4.50 per cwt.; yearling lambs, grain fed, $7 to $7.75 per cwt; common yearlings, $5 to $6 per cwt.; spring lambs, $3.50 to $6 each.

Hogs.

Hog prices have been irregular during the week, but are quoted at $7.50 for selects, fed and watered, and $7.25, f.o.b., cars, at country points.

DONT PHYSIC YOURSELF

It is a Tonic you want! Physicing lowers the system and makes it more susceptible to disease. The winter months have been a great strain upon your vitality and unless you put the blood in good condition all manner of evils will overtake you. PSYCHINE is the Greatest of Tonics and should be taken by every one at this season of the year. PSYCHINE assists the gastric juices and ferments in their digestion of the food, cleanses the mucous membrane of the Stomach, and has an invigorating and beneficial effect on the muscles and nerves. For Catarrh of the Stomach, Ulceration or Weak Stomach, Dyspepsia, the use of PSYCHINE is strongly advisable. PSYCHINE acting on the Stomach restores it to a healthy condition, then acts through the stomach upon all the vital organs, creates an appetite, bringing renewed vitality and strength to the entire system and enables it to throw off disease of every kind. It is the greatest health-giver known to medical science.

Send to Dr. T. A. SLOCUM, Limited, Toronto, for a Free Sample to-day. All druggists and stores sell PSYCHINE at 50c and $1 per bottle.

IS PLAY CENSORSHIP A DESIRABLE INSTITUTION?

During the past season, the appearance of few plays of debasing influence has revived the old discussion over the need of a censor. New York, the fountain of our entertainment, has been the scene of disputations. Even the managers have expressed their disapproval of certain plays produced by rival managers. The sordid nature of one or two productions has caused letters of protest to the newspapers, and, although dramatic art has been in a heated, if not feverish state.

Of course, it is not possible to establish one Grand Inquisitor for the whole of America. Chicago is becoming a producing centre, and, in any case, Kentucky and Ontario would not care to have their morals protected if a New York Torquemada is to be adopted in America it must be local, that is to say every city would have its eagle-eyed adviser. The result might be unfortunate.

In Toronto it is not uncommon for posters to be mutilated in the interest of good morals, while The Blue Mouse and The Soul Kiss are permitted to come and go without a word of objection. Censorship is worse than useless if it is ignorantly done. And what man of artistic training and wide literary knowledge would be willing to constitute himself an arbiter of taste and morals for his city?

The graceiessness of Rigoletto, for example, would tax the brain of any censor. The opera lives because of its music, and in spite of its story. Yet it is not impossible to imagine an ignorant inquisitor sternly putting Rigoletto out of doors. There are insuperable obstacles in the way of an effective local censorship, so far as this continent is concerned, and a central authority, like the Lord Chamberlain in Britain, is impossible.

Even that official is threatened. There is a bill before the British House of Commons to abolish his jurisdiction over dramatic performances. The weakness of the measure is that the responsibility is transferred to the local authorities. The Standard very properly takes objection to this proposal, and draws a picture of town councillors sitting upon Maeterlinck, Sudermann, D'Annunzio and Bernard Shaw. "We might have a good play banned," says the Standard, "because it is too socialistic or not socialistic enough; because it infects the younger generation, with evil views of militarism; or because it makes free with the Nonconformist conscience."

After all, is not censorship a form of paternalism that the public can do without? The old idea that the stage and all connected with it, is necessarily evil, or of evil tendency, is dying out. It was always a stupid and libellous impression born of the Restoration period. The stage is always a fair representation to social life. When Society went bad the stage followed suit. As Society rose the stage rose.

The public is the censor. The proof lies in the fact that for the last 20 years no lasting theatrical "success" has been other than clean and wholesome. Occasional plays of low and debasing tendency will appear. Occasional novels of that type appear, but they do not live. People who revel in filth are not average persons, and it is to the average person that the stage must make its appeal.

BREEDING DRAFTERS.

How It Might Be Taken Up by Farmers Successfully.

In my mind, says a breeder, the best horse breeding proposition for the farmer is this: Let a dozen or a score of farmers organize and by a majority vote decide which one of the draft breeds they prefer, then each put in sufficient money to pay a thoroughly competent and reliable man to purchase a first class stallion (domestic, if posible) of this breed. Compel the member who takes care of him to take two shares, to insure the best of care.

If possible, get the local veterinarian financially interested and let all points be decided absolutely by him, the caretaker and president, as a committee. Then let every man sell what horses he possesses and, if needs be, borrow the money and purchase a team of pure bred mares of this breed. They will do all the farm work and yearly raise a pair of colts which at three years old can be put to work and earn their keep, and at four the best will bring top prices in our city markets or may be sold for breeding purposes, while all seconds will find a ready market nearer home.

Let terms of service be reasonable, but not too low, and charge members and nonmembers alike. Before many years such a community would find its market at home. Buyers would come to them, and then they could enjoy that privilege which rarely comes to the farmer—viz, putting their own price on their own goods.

Average Ration For Dairy Cows.

According to Professor Beach, the combined knowledge of feeding the dairy cow may be boiled down to a fixed set of rules, as follows:

The more food the cow can be induced to eat the more milk she will produce. Cows do not usually consume more food than they can properly digest. The ration, therefore, should be made as palatable as possible in order to induce the cow to eat larger quantities.

The larger the amount of protein in the ration the larger the milk flow. Protein in the ration is essential to the production of milk.

The less energy required to digest the ration the larger the milk flow.

The richer the ration the richer the manure. The dairy farmer must look here for a large portion of his profit.

No two cows can be fed alike. Each must be studied separately. Increase the protein in the ration and watch the milk flow.

Test Each Cow Separately.

There is no easier way to find out the accurate production of each cow than to weigh and test the milk of each separately. This method is found simple and practical by those who have tried it, and their common verdict is that they receive much better pay for this than any other labor done on the farm.

The measure of milk will indicate its weight fairly well, but to be of value the measure must be exact, and it is much easier to weigh the milk than to measure it. Some may think they can estimate what a cow gives by noting how high up the milk comes in the pail, but this is nothing more than guessing and is far more liable to be wrong than even approximately right. The froth usually prevents seeing where the milk comes on the side of the pail, and as the froth varies in thickness at different times and with different cows it is very apt to deceive the guesser.

WHAT IS MATTER WITH ONTARIO? WHICH FACES CRISIS IN FARM VALUES —WHAT GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC DOES

The Weekly Sun Compares Farm Values in the West and East—An Immense Loss to Farming Ontario — What a False Policy Has Done for Our Farmers.

Two articles of more than passing interest to Sun readers will be found on page five of this week's issue. One contains a partial list of prices at which improved farms are being offered for sale in Old Ontario through the Provincial Department of Colonization; the other is a statement by an East Kent farmer, of the actual conditions by which farmers in his part of the province find themselves faced.

The first point which strikes one on reading the article dealing with farms for sale is the ridiculously low prices asked for the properties advertised. A Simcoe County property may be taken as a fair sample of the places offered, and the prices asked, in what may be called the "general," as distinguished from the "specialized" agricultural districts of the province. This farm contains, according to the detailed descriptions in the official list of sales, one hundred acres all told, with ninety-five tillable clay loam; there are spring wells on the place, two acres of orchard, and the buildings include an eight-roomed brick house, barn 40x60, with stone stabling underneath, implement shed 25x30, and piggery 16 x35. This farm is six miles from Allandale, which now forms part of the county town of Barrie; it is only a quarter of a mile from school and two miles from churches. And still the price asked is a paltry $5,000—$50 an acre. If the buildings are anything like as good as the printed description indicates, they represent full value for four-fifths of the price asked. Assuming that the land is fairly well drained and fenced, prospective purchasers are practically being asked to pay only for improvements put upon the property, and are being offered the cleared land free. Nor is this an isolated case. It is a fair sample of the bargains being offered in the "general" farming districts of the province, through the Department of Colonization. Anyone familiar with agricultural conditions throughout Ontario knows, too, that similar bargains may be had, in a score of Ontario counties outside the list offered through this government bureau.

The immediate cause of these low prices is stated by our correspondent from East Kent. The young men are leaving these general farming districts in such numbers for the cities and for the west, that no one is left to buy farms which come upon the market; indeed the help is not left to properly till the land and the consequence is the putting of a lot of fine properties on the bargain counter with the period of actual abandonment in many cases, almost within sight.

The Director of Colonization for Ontario has, following an example set in the New York State a few years ago, prepared a printed list of farms which are offered for sale in this province through the officer named. The list covers over 80 pages and includes farms in practically every county and district of the province.

There is a great variation in the prices asked for the land offered, the values being highest in the Niagara fruit districts, with dairy districts like Oxford coming next, and very low prices ruling in what may be called the general farming districts. These are some of the specimen offers:

Kent County—50 acres; all tillable; fair buildings; $1,750.

Bruce County—96 acres; 60 cleared and 50 tillable; house and stone foundation from which barn was burned, $1,800.

Ontario County—100 acres; [illegible] tillable clay; 8 roomed house; barn 40x60 on stone; pig pen; hen house, etc.; $2,000.

Halton County—53 acres; 40 tillable; good buildings; 3 acres orchard; $2,500.

Durham County—100 acres; 75 tillable clay; good buildings; $2,500.

York County—50 acres; 48 tillable; fair house and barn; 3 1-2 miles from Schomberg; $2,800.

Elgin County—100 acres; 90 tillable; 11-roomed house; drive house; machine house; barn, etc; $3,000.

Lennox County—100 acres; tillable; 8-roomed brick house; good outbuildings; $3,500.

Simcoe County—50 acres; [illegible] miles from Stayner; brick ten-roomed house; good outbuildings; $3,500.

York County—55 acres; 45 tillable; 3 3-4 miles from Stouffville; good buildings; $3,500.

Middlesex County—100 acres; 75 cleared and tillable; good buildings; six miles from Parkhill; $4,000.

Won by a Turnout.

With a derisive honk the car shot past the pedestrians and vanished in a cloud of dust. Dorothy Stanford regarded it angrily and stamped her foot.

"That's the third time he's done that thing. I believe he's doing it on purpose. If he passes us again I'll"—

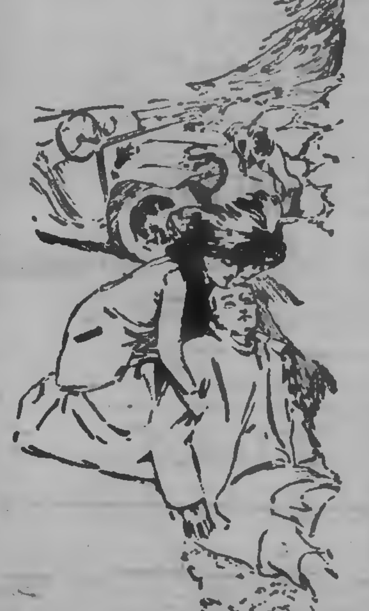
What she would do was not told, for at that instant there sounded another warning, and now a gray car shot past in pursuit of the red.

"They have a right to the road," defended Lawrence Mayling indulgently. He could afford to be generous to a defeated foe, since Dolly had eschewed automobiles and had taken to pedestrianism.

Mayling had no car, but he was a good walker and the holder of the distance championship which was contested every Saturday.

The Marathon races had roused the local love of athletics, wherefore the distance runner and the distance walker were the local heroes.

This had given Larry Mayling his chance with Dolly, for his long legs carried him over the ground at a splendid speed, and he left all others far behind.



"YOU RISKED YOUR LIFE FOR HIS," FINISHED DOLLY PROUDLY.

All summer, with Dudley Blount and Paul Frazer contending for Dolly's favor, he had seen little of her. She had loved the swift, easy motion of the high powered cars, and she had been unable to resist their charms. But since the athletic fad had struck Chesterton the owners of cars were decidedly out of it.

Not alone were they regarded as persons too lazy to use nature's own means of locomotion, but in addition they got themselves very much disliked by speeding past pedestrian parties and raising a dust that made walking unpleasant.

"They should be kept off the course at least," said Dolly severely. "The roads are for the people and not merely for a few selfish persons who have money enough to buy cars."

Mayling smiled, but said nothing. Not so long ago Dolly had protested against the deliberate fashion in which pedestrians occupied the road to the annoyance of autoists.

Now the shoe pinched the other foot, and she had changed her opinions. There might, after all, be a chance to win her hand before the walking fad died.

The situation was not due to the fact that Mayling cared for Dolly while she did not care for him, but Stephen Stanford, Dolly's father, had made a fortune in Chesterton, and Mayling argued that the easiest way to win a fortune was to marry one.

With the coming of the athletic craze he had seen his opportunity to win, and he had pressed his advantage hard. Now he was training Dolly for the ladies' race, which was to be a feature of the coming week's sports, and he was making the most of his opportunities.

Blount and Fraser, whom he chose to regard as his disappointed rivals, persisted in running their cars over the triangular course on which the races were to be tried, and Dolly waxed more and more angry each time the cars passed them with the "honk" that was capable of so many interpretations.

What made it worse was that she really cared for Dudley Blount, and she was both hurt and angry at the calm fashion in which he had abandoned all effort to win her favor when she had decided that walking was the thing.

Dolly had expected that he would make some fight against the new fad, but instead he had laughed when she urged him to take up the exercise.

"You would do well to leave the car in the garage for awhile," she counseled. "Walking is good for you."

"I get plenty of that when the car breaks down," he reminded her. "I guess I'll stick to wheels, Dolly, and let you do the walking."

Dolly had shrugged her shoulders to show her indifference, but she was none the less hurt and angry and proceeded to show marked interest in Mayling in order to teach Blount a lesson that he seemed too indifferent to learn.

As Frazer's red car passed them for about the tenth time in their circuit of the course Dolly had a sudden inspiration.

"Mr. Blount in his gray car cannot be far behind," she said. "Let us pretend that we do not hear and make him take the side of the road instead."

"Do you think that he will?" asked Mayling uneasily.

"Of course he will turn out," said Dolly confidently. "He won't try to run us down, and when he sees that we do not intend to move out he will have to turn."

She smiled radiantly at the idea, but found no answering smile on her escort's face. Mayling went white to the lips at the thought of what might happen were the plan to miscarry.

He did not think of the girl, only of himself, for Mayling despite his athletic prowess was no moral hero.

He was not afraid to fight. Indeed, he rather welcomed the opportunity, for he was reasonably certain to knock out his man, but to walk with one's back to an auto and to dare a rival to keep on were not at all to his liking.

When the faint humming of the motor told of the coming of the gray racer Dolly smiled delightedly. Noticing signs of a bolt on the part of her companion as the frantic sounding of the horn told that Blount was near, she caught at his coat.

In an ecstasy of fear Mayling threw off her hold and dashed for the side of the road just as Blount, to avoid an accident, took chances on the roadside.

Mayling ran directly into the path of the auto, and then, with another quick twist of the steering wheel, Blount threw the car at the stone fence.

The next instant there was the sound of exploding tires, and the driver was thrown heavily to the frozen ground.

He lay still and white, and with a little cry of terror Dolly ran to his side. Tenderly she raised his head into her lap and with her handkerchief stanched the flow of blood from the cut in his forehead, while Mayling stood wonderingly by.

"Can't you go for a doctor?" she asked when at last she looked up. "If you had done as I told you it would have been all right, but you had to run at the wrong moment for all the world like a scared chicken. I thought that athletics made men brave, but I was wrong. It seems to make them foolish. That action of Mr. Blount's was braver than anything you ever dared think of."

"I guess I won't need a doctor, Dolly," murmured the injured man. "That is all the tonic I need. It would have been all right if you had kept to the road, but when Mayling ran directly in my path I"—

"You risked your life for his," finished Dolly proudly. "Dudley, you were splendid."

"I guess I had better get a carriage anyhow," said Mayling sheepishly as he started for the town. The scene was not to his liking.

The two beside the road did not even seem to realize that he was gone, for in each other's eyes they read the old, old story and found it delightfully new. Blount had won by a turnout. His ruined car and aching head were forgotten.

Her One Desire.

The pensioned off "faithful nurse" in an aristocratic family took a mournful pleasure in keeping the "In Memoriam" cards which were from time to time sent her. On one occasion "the daughter of the house," visiting the old lady's cottage, noticed the collection so ostentatiously displayed. "Ah, yes, miss, I keeps 'em all!" said the aged nurse. "I've got your pore par's and your sainted mar's and your brother William's and your sister Carry's, and if I only had yours I think I could die 'appy!"—London Standard.

A Titled Fruit-Bottler.

One of the most interesting ventures made by business-minded titled ladies is that of Lady Algernon Gordon-Lennox, who is trying to popularize the bottle-fruit trade in England. In the village of Broughton she has established, on a modest scale, a fruit-bottling business. Superintending all details herself, she produced 120 dozen bottles of fruit, and sold them in three months. This year she cannot meet the demand, although her produce has amounted to 160 dozen bottles.

Preparing Wool For Market.

Many farmers, says a wool buyer, are losing up to 2 cents a pound in their wool by not paying attention in preparing it for market. There are cases where it might just as well be put into a hole with a pitchfork and trodden down. Practically everything goes in together—fleece, bellies, locks, tags, short and long staple, fine and course, Merino and crossbred. Now, what can a buyer make out of this? How can be tell the proportions of each in a bale? The consequence is that only a low value all around can be risked, and many buyers will not bid for it at all.

Horse Boot For Soft Land.

A popular style of horse boot used to cover the horse's hoofs while walking on lawns, bogs and other soft soil is shown in the illustration. It is made of leather and is slashed so as to be drawn tightly together about the hoof and buckled over the shoe. The sole is sometimes made of sole leather, but for field use where the land is very light and spongy this sole is also shod with wood to increase the size considerably and thus give the hoof a greater bearing surface, so the animal can walk without sinking into the land.

POWER COMMITTEE LOOKING INTO SEYMOUR CO.'S REQUEST

Considered at Meeting Last Night—Company Will Be Asked to Send Representative Here.

At a meeting last night the Power committee of the city council took up the communication from the Seymour Electric Power Company which was published a few days ago. The company is desirous of doing business in Peterborough.

The chairman of the committee, Ald McIntyre, opened the meeting by reading the letter from the Seymour Electric Power Company which asked for the privilege of doing business in this city. The company is now erecting a 4000 h.p. house and want to start the construction of their lines to the city.

Ald. Bradburn said that in his opinion the first thing to decide was whether it would be advisable to give this company a franchise to use the city streets. To have them build a conduit would cost too much money and they could not do it. He thought it would be better to have them sell their power to some other company in the city. If the city was to give them a franchise to use the streets upon what terms would it be granted.

Ald. Gillespie asked if anything had been done yet towards bringing in other powers by the city. As far as the pole line was concerned the city would have to have a pole line.

Ald. Hicks stated that as it appeared to him the best thing to do was for the chairman to see the company and arrange with them what price they would sell power at and how much power they could supply.

It was moved by Ald Hicks that the Water Commissioners be asked to meet this committee as to how much power can be developed at the waterworks dam and delivered to the city and at what price on the switchboard and to the consumer.

Moved by Ald. Bradburn that the chairman write the Seymour Electric Power Co. of Campbellford to send a representative here to discuss the question with the committee.

This was seconded by Ald Phelan and carried.

ACCOMMODATION IS LIMITED; ADDITION MAY BE BUILT

The accommodation at Mount St. Joseph is becoming too inadequate and a large addition to the building will probably be made. Definite arrangements to have the addition built have not been made yet but it is simply a matter of time when the increased accommodation will have to be provided.

It is expected that the operations in connection with the new wing will be commenced this summer

MUSICAL EVENT OF INTEREST; CHORAL FESTIVAL AT ST. JOHN'S

The second rehearsal for the choral festival to be held in St. John's church on May 19th, was held in the schoolroom last evening.

There was a good attendance of choristers despite the thunderstorm.

To sing the Hallelujah chorus is by no means an easy task, but at the rehearsal last night without orchestra, the singers put in splendid work.

The next rehearsal with orchestra will be held on Sunday night after evensong.

Mr. Edward Barton, basso, of Toronto, was in the city on Wednesday and he will sing the solo parts in Stainer's "Daughters of Jairus," also "Honor and Arms," with orchestra, from the Oratorio, "Samson."

The score of the music, also the standard orchestral accompaniments, are all on hand from Novell's & Co., of New York, and all will be ready for the 19th.

The conductor, Mr. R. J. Devey, heartily thanks the friends of the choristers, who have signified their approval of the arduous, but pleasing work they are engaged in producing. A complete programme will be issued shortly.

ASTRONOMICAL SOCIETY HAD INTERESTING MEETING

The meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society last evening proved extremely interesting and while the storm probably affected the attendance somewhat, quite a number turned out to enjoy the treat.

The answers to the questions which appeared some days ago in the press were extremely interesting and very instructive. These were given during the first part of the meeting. Then the 60 or more magnificent photographs of celestial bodies were thrown upon the curtain by electric lantern while Mr H B Collier, the vice president, of the society explained the nature and characteristics of the subjects. All present expressed themthemselves delighted with the evening's programme.

In answering the question "What benefit will accrue from having explorers reach the poles." Dr Marsh gave the following points:

1 The whole question of terrestial magnetism is involved. Magnetic charts are absolutely necessary for navigation, just as physical charts, and these cannot be completed properly until the polar conditions are known.

2 Atmospheric circulation. Certain theories which are existant today require the proof of polar observations.

3 The earth as it rotates has a motion similar to a spinning top, that is, it wabbles slightly. At the pole a few observations would be helpful,

4 The subjects of Anthropology, Biology, etc, would receive great help if the polar observations would determine the correctness of the general belief that these regions were the first habitation of man, with the necessary surroundings of plant and animal life. As the earth cooled undoubtedly the polar regions would be the first inhabitable portion. And as the remains of tropical plants and animals have already been discovered in such northerly regions as Spitzbergen, the theory needs but little additional proof for complete substantiation.

5 To complete the mathematical curves of the earth and determine by the "Seconds pendulum" how much flatter the earth really is at the poles.

6 Add to the geographical knowledge.

In the answer to the question as to a place changing its latitude the fact of the wabbling of the earth determined a slight change, a matter of nearly 50 feet.

The next total solar eclipse visible to residents of Ontario was stated to be January 24, 1925.

Most interesting information was given relative to the great Halley's comet which will appear this year. This wonderful comet appears every 75 years and has been traced back in history to the year 684 AD. It must have been a wonderful sight even then to receive such particular attention but it has changed considerably in appearance since, developing from a short fuzzy shape into a long graceful form. A telescope should locate the comet in August of this year while the naked eye will see it some months later.

Mr. D. E. Esson presented some very interesting facts in answering the questions relative to the force necessary to send an iron ball away from earth entirely, and also in regard to the condition of the interior of the earth, whether molten or not.

Mr. H. O. Fisk operated the electric lantern most effectively, presenting the many fine photographs on the screen with every detail clear and distinct. The pictures of the moon especially were most excellent. A number of these were copies of the famous photographs made at the Paris Observatory and selected from many hundred pictures made there. The great mountains, volcanoes, ocean beds, with the many peculiar tracks and crevices on the moon were placed before the eye in startling vividness. And Mr. Collier described many of these, giving their names and facts as to their great size and nature, the audience was able to realise the magnificence of the rugger scenery and the grandeur of the view.

Among the other constellations of stars, nebulae, planets, etc., a very fine meteorite was shown. The speaker related in connection with this of having seen in the New York Museum the three great meteorites secured by Commander Peary at Greenland on his last journey to the Polar regions.

These three representatives of other worlds weighed respectively 30 ton, 10 ton and 6 1-2 ton, and on analysis had been found to consist largely of iron, some 91 per cent.

During the evening it was announced that one or more outdoor meetings will be held during the summer, in which a number of telescopes and other instruments will be used, permitting the members and their friends viewing many of these interesting celestial objects directly. It is quite likely that the grounds adjoining the Collegiate will be selected for the purpose as being most central. And as Dr. Marsh has kindly consented to set up his large telescope for the occasion, the affair should prove of general interest.

TOOK PART IN THE OPERETTA

Miss Verna Devlin who took the part of "Tulip" in Princess Chrysanthemum was not mentioned in the review of the operetta on Wednesday evening owing to a misprint in the programme giving the wrong name. Miss Devlin acted in an admirable manner and captivatingly sang "Lullaby Land."

ENTERTAINED AT MR. HAWTHORN'S

Members of Carpet Weavers Association Had Most Enjoyable Time.

About thirty members of the Carpet Weavers' Association spent a most enjoyable time last evening at the home of Mr. Thomas Hawthorne, 102 Gladstone avenue. It was Mr. Hawthorne's 61st birthday and also the birthday of his daughter, Miss Lily. There was an abundance of good music, Mr. Hawthorn's family contributing generously in this respect, Mr. Monk also assisted greatly with musical numbers.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne and family proved ideal entertainers and the guests had a delightful time.

SAFE EYE-GLASS FITTING

Selling eye-glasses out of a stock like scissors or thimbles, is a dangerous practice that is altogether too prevalent.

There should not be the faintest doubt in the mind of any person who finds the need of wearing glasses, that they are identically, scientifically fitted to the eyes.

We offer you safe spectacle fitting. And that is the only kind you should be satisfied to accept. There is nothing on this earth dearer than a cheap pair of spectacles that you have chosen yourself simply because you can see with them.

Back up the Car

Rather a good joke is told on a new street car conductor who has only lately learned the business. Going along a down town street the trolley came off and the new hand could not see the wire to put it back on. He made many efforts to do so, but failed every time so finally called out to the motorman to back the car up to where there was an electric light so he could see the wire.—Kingston Whig.

An Extensive Sheep Farm

One of the most extensive sheep farms in Canada is situated in Hastings county, about five miles south of Bancroft. It is owned by Dr. A. S. Leavitt, and is 1,200 acres in extent. Being nearly square it entirely encloses three lakes which the doctor has taken pains to stock with trout and black bass, putting in eighty thousand trout fry about three years ago, soon after acquiring the property. The doctor expects to care for about 1,000 ewes on his farm this year.

TWO YOUTHS IN POLICE COURT

Were Charged With Breaking Down a Clothes Line and Mutilating a Number of Articles

Four young boys climbed the golden stairs this morning leading to the police court and two of the number were charged with having on Tuesday evening torn or cut a number of articles which were hanging on a clothes line in a yard nearby where they were playing.

Both pleaded not guilty, and stated that in company with other boys they were playing games and ran through the yard where the clothes were hanging. The clothes were in the way and they pulled them down, but had not used a knife. One of the boys said that his head had caught on one of the articles, and this led to it being torn.

The owner of the clothes, who was the complainant, was present and produced the mutilated articles and they showed every evidence of having been cut, but the defendants stuck to their story that they did not use a knife. One of the boys said that the clothes had been pulled down because he had got mad at them being in his way. The complainant wanted $5.00 to reimburse her for the articles being destroyed, but the Magistrate thought that $3.00 was sufficient and ordered that amount to be paid by the parents of the boys, and this was done, after which the youthful offenders were allowed to go with a warning.

WILL ALSO BORE FOR GAS IN VICTORIA CO.

Mr. R. H. Leary is Making Arrangements to Drill in Neighborhood of Lindsay

A Post representative had a conversation with Mr. R. H. Leary, who is interested with Mr. Bettman, of Waynesburg, Pennsylvania, in boring for gas and oil in Victoria and Peterborough county.

Mr. Leary stated that the reason the company had not started operations in Peterborough was because of the fact that they were waiting the arrival of an expert and a boring machine which was being used in the western oil fields.

He further stated that everything was in good shape and that the company meant business. Just as soon as they make a feat near Peterborough they would investigate conditions at Lindsay, and if the oil was secured at Peterborough and not at Lindsay, it would be piped there, or vice versa.

Mr. Leary further stated that they had no trouble in finally securing the block of land required at Peterborough, and even the farmers are now anxious to see the work commenced. He did not think they would have any difficulty in securing the land around Lindsay.—Lindsay Post.

PROPOSITION HAS FALLEN THROUGH

Lindsay Will Not Have Graphite Industry as Expected

It is understood that the proposition to start a graphite industry in Lindsay has fallen through. The promoters were anxious to secure four or five gentlemen who would subscribe several thousand dollars each but were unsuccessful. It would have been no trouble to secure local stockholders had a company been organized. The proposed capital of the company was to have been $100,000, and it was the desire of Messrs. Lattimer and Williamson that one-tenth of the amount be subscribed by provisional directors, thus five such directors were required.—Lindsay Post.

TROUBLE OVER "ZEPHRA" POST CARDS ARISES

It is understood that there is trouble brewing in connection with the picture postal cards got out of the Queen Zephra classes. A local photographer who took the pictures has sent a lawyer's letter to the firm issuing the cards warning them that would be sued for damages if the postals were sold, as the rights of the photos belonged to him. If this course is persisted in it is stated that the classes and the principals will forbid the photographer selling their photos, which he is now doing. It is to be hoped that the matter can be arranged amicably, as both the photos and the postals are excellent.—Brantford Courier.

"BLUE STREAK" IS WHITE STREAK

Speedy Craft Will be Faster Than Ever This Year

The Marine Construction Company has Blue Streak, the little flyer, afloat again, but instead of a blue streak she is a white streak this year. During the winter she was overhauled and enameled white. In order not to belie her name, Jack Robinson, who handles her, is having a blue streak painted down her sides.

The saucy little craft is going faster than ever this season. Her engines and tanks have been carried farther aft, and the result is the craft lifts easier forward and tears off her 22 miles an hour without any fuss. With Blue Streak hustling to and fro and the anchorages filling up, things begin to be lively indeed along the waterfront.—Toronto Star.

GOT TO CLOSE TO THE DAM

Young Men in a Canoe Had an Exciting Experience

Two young men had a narrow escape from going over the dam at the locks below the city yesterday afternoon. They were in a canoe and ventured too close to the cataract. By hard work they managed to get to the shore and then carried the canoe to a point farther up stream where there was no danger.

NATURE FAKING

That three inches of slush snow on May 3rd was a fright. The robins got into the cedar bushes and humping themselves into balls, spasmodically blamed each other for leading the way north. The swallows peeped out from the end of the eave, and as they could not feed their stomachs, fed their imaginations with thoughts of the fine fat flies and bugs of insects down in old Virginia. The blackbirds put an extra rasp in their throats and grouched with their mates about never being contented, or knowing when they were well off. The great sailing fish hawk, however, was all right. He aeroplaned around over the rapids below the dam, and picking out a nice plump sucker, threw up his rudder and piked down like a bolt from the sky. A splash, a shower of spray, and the great bird rises with a meal of fish in his talons and makes his way to the woods.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

SHRUBB-LONGBOAT RACE AT MONTREAL TO-MORROW

Both Men Had Try Out Wednesday and Claim to be in Good Shape for the Fifteen Mile Contest

The Montreal Star says:

Shrubb and Longboat both had a try-out on the M.A.A.A. track yesterday afternoon each doing a 7 mile run.

There was quite a little coterie of people interested and special favorites, who were permitted to watch them, amongst these being: Abbie Wood, Messrs Sayer, Tim O'Rourke, Leo Porteous, Buss Baillie, Pratt, the M.A.A.A. runner; R. C. Binning, Chaucer Elliott, and several juvenile members of the Association and a few Indians.

Paul Lefebvre was looking after Shrubb and Malcolm McLeod, who has lately gone in for athletic training after Longboat.

Shrubb was the first man out and looked very fit.

Shrubb wore a thin red sweater and had pieces of paper gripped in his hand.

He first did a trial mile in a sort of as you please manner and followed this up with seven miles steady run.

He ran easily but made spurts as he turned the corner at the beginning of the home stretch, and a double spurt at the end of his last mile.

When he had gone about four miles Longboat came on.

When Shrubb's seven miles were finished, he took a little walk, and then disported himself on the grass, like a young colt jumping and cavorting around.

When Longboat came on, the trial almost looked like a race of course neither of the two men showed what they could really do, but after they had been on the track together for about a mile Shrubb began to draw away from Longboat till he had gained about ten yards in the next mile. Then Longboat began to draw up again and when Shrubb finished the men were about as far apart as they were at the end of the first lap that the two ran simultaneously.

Some of those present took time, but it was not very reliable and would give little opportunity to get a line on the men.

Longboat wore a heavy black sweater with a broad red stripe around the centre and he seemed to perspire more than Shrubb.

BALL TOSSER'S CORNER

A FAIR HIT.

Rule 44.—A fair hit is a legally batted ball that settles on fair ground between home and first base, for that is on fair ground when bounding to the outfield past first or third base, or that first falls on fair territory beyond first or third base or that when on or over fair ground touches the person of the umpire, or a player while on fair ground.

A FOUL HIT.

Rule 45.—A foul hit is a legally batted ball that settles on foul territory between home and first base and third base, or that bounds past first or third base, on foul territory, beyond first or third base, or, while on or over fair ground touches the person of the empire or a player while on fair ground.

Grimshaw, of the Torontos, will play first base for the New York Americans until Hal Chase gets into condition.

According to John McGraw, manager of the Giants, it is unlikely that either Mathewson or Wiltse, the two star twirlers of the New York club, will pitch for two weeks. The Giants' manager figures that these two pitchers will be his mainstay when the race gets in full away, and he will take no chance on injuring them now.

Toronto has not been hitting as they should day in and day out. Their paper dope shows better than what they have been doing with the stick, and there is every reason to suppose that they will show far more advanced work as the season grows in this department. They can field and play inside ball, and now, if they can jog up in their hitting and get a pitcher or two, of first calibre, there ought to be a first division team at the island this year.

The Montreal ball team on its first trip through the circuit made the best record in ten years.

George Moriarity, of the Detroit Tigers has a younger brother playing with the Cincinnati Reds.

"Farmer" Burns, for many years champion wrestler of the world of the middle weight class lately made these comments before a crowd of men: "I am 48 years old. I have been wrestling 40 years. You wonder how I can do it. Four simple rules; First no whiskey. I never drank a glass of whiskey as a beverage in my life. Second, no cigars or cigarettes. I never smoked in my life. Third, no gambling. He said "If you want to gamble go out in the back alley. Do not do it where respectable people are. Gambling has spoiled the professional athletics of the country. Fourth, no profanity. I never took the name of God in vain. Any man that cusses and swears will go with a cussing and swearing crowd and the cussing and swearing crowd will do him up after a while."

According to the figures in the Eastern League standing Baltimore, last year's champions, are at the bottom of the heap, and Rochester, the tail-enders last season, are perched on the top.

There was an attendance of 33,461 at the Eastern League games yesterday. Rochester had 12,240, Buffalo 9,221, Montreal 5,000, Toronto 7,000.

McGinnity got it put to him yesterday when Montreal, with Winters pitching, won by 9—1.

"Kid" Mahling made all three of Toronto's runs yesterday, and figured in two double plays.

"Bugs" Raymond won a twelve-innings game for New York Nationals yesterday.

Covelskie was knocked out of the box yesterday in the game with Brooklyn, who won by the score of 7—1.

Eustace J. Newton, pitcher of the New York American League Club, was born at Mt. Carmel, Ind., on October 26th, 1877, and learned to play ball while a student at Morris Hall College. He made his debut as a professional with the Norfolk Club, of the Atlantic League, in 1897, and remained with that team the following season. In 1899 he made so good a record with the Indianapolis Club that he was transferred to the Cincinnati Club. He was awarded to the Brooklyn Club when the major league war ended, although he had signed with the New York American League Club, and on the refusal of President Ebbetts to meet the pitcher's salary demands he jumped to the Los Angeles Club, with which he remained until 1906, when he was purchased by the New York Club. He was of little use to that club, however, during the entire season owing to continued ill health. In 1907 he was transferred to the Montreal Club, for which he did such good work that he was recalled for 1908 by the New York Club, of whose team he has since been a member.

ANOTHER INDIAN WHO CAN RUN

Made Seven Miles in 38 Minutes —Is 21 Years of Age

Deseronto, May 5.—The Marathon craze which has been manifested among the sporting class of people in Deseronto and surrounding country was aroused the other night when Ira Clause, an Indian from the Mohawk Reservation, made a trial run from Deseronto to Napanee, a distance of seven miles, in the excellent time of 38 minutes. When Clause entered the outskirts of Napanee he made a sprint that set the sports of Napanee wild. Clause finished fresh as a daisy, and expressed his ability of going the same road back, but was prevented from doing so by James Jordan, his manager and trainer, who has taken the Indian in hand, and expects great things of him in the near future. Jordan says Clause could have made much better time had the roads been in better shape. Clause is a young man 21 years of age, strong, and willing to work. He is very anxious to become a runner, and go up against some of the good ones. He hopes to be in shape for the Derby which will in all probability be pulled off in Belleville on Dominion Day.

GUN CLUB HELD SUCCESSFUL SHOOT

The regular shoot of the Peterborough Gun Club was held at the Driving Park yesterday. The scores at 25 birds per man were:

WHAT THE SPEC. SAYS ABOUT SHERRING TURNING PRO.

"Well, I've made the fatal 'dive,'" said Billy Sherring to the Hamilton Spectator at noon to-day, "and I have decided to jump into the professional game. My first start will likely be in the big pro. Marathon to be held at Montreal on May 24th. I have given my promise to start, but as yet have signed no papers, although I will likely do so in a day or so."

This was Sherring's statement when asked if the rumor that he was to turn pro. was correct. The famous little runner who gained fame as the winner of the Athens Marathon race at the Olympic games of 1906, has been the subject of a great deal of publicity and notoriety recently, owing to his efforts to secure an amateur card from the C.A.A.U. His failure in this effort last week left him but one course to pursue if he desired to continue in the running game, but he stated at the time that he would have nothing to do with the pro. game. Since then his promoters have been busy on his trail, and last evening Charley Aldridge, a former resident of Hamilton, but now of Montreal, came to town for the purpose of securing Sherring, if it was possible, to run in the Marathon at Montreal on May 24th. Aldridge spent considerable time over the little runner, and finally at noon to-day succeeded in securing Billy's consent to start in the big race on the 24th. Papers were drawn up and given to Sherring to look over before he signed up, but there is no doubt but that the signature Wm. J. Sherring, will soon rest at the bottom of the official document, a two-page typewritten affair, which is in Sherring's pocket.

The contract which Sherring has been asked to sign, calls for his appearance in the race on May 24th, for which he is to receive $1,500, win or lose, in return for which the promoters of the race are to have the option of pulling off another race within thirty days and matching Sherring against any person whom they may choose. The local man is guaranteed another $1,500 for this race, so that he is practically sure of $3,000 for his first two races, pretty easy money.

The advent of Sherring into the pro. ranks will give the game a great boost in Canada, as the hero of Athens and holder of the world's Olympic record for the Marathon distance is one one of the most popular runners the country has ever had, and his following will always be strong, especially as he is game and plucky and a good liver, his knowledge of the long-distance game being almost perfect. It has been felt in local quarters that Sherring should have taken the plunge long ago, and now that he has decided to go after the money and the big men in the puddle at the present time, he is sure of the greatest support this town ever accorded to any athlete.

The announcement of the decision made to-day by the famous runner came as a complete surprise on top of his statement last week that he would not turn professional; but the little chap really desires to test his ability over the long route with the times made by some of the crack runners who have made the long-distance game so popular recently, and when the amateur game was barred from him, he was induced to turn pro. Sherring is in splendid shape at present, and has been training hard for a couple of months, so that he will be fit by the time May 24th rolls round. He may not win his first race, but there is no doubt but that he will soon round into old-time form and prove the winner that he was in 1906, when he was regarded as the pick of the world at 26 miles 176 yards.

HARRISON AND HOAGLAND OFF FOR MILWAUKEE WALK

Jim Harrison went to Milwaukee this afternoon on the 4.38 C.P.R. to start in the big walk there, commencing May 10th. The Peterborough ped is in good condition and his prospects for cleaning up some of the money are promising. Hoagland expressed the opinion that the local man, whom he regards as a strong and even walker, should be able to captre a good place.

Hoagland left this afternoon for Detroit, where he will stop over for a short time and from there will go to Milwaukee. By arrangement with the champion, the Review will receive daily despatches of the walk. These should be of considerable local interest as the choice of the Milwaukee field will start here.

HAS HELD BACK FOR SOME TIME BUT WILL BE IN WALK

Mr John Blachford, who has never accomplished anything noteworthy or even commonplace in the walking game, intends to start in the six-day heel and toe festival at the Brock street rink during the week of May 24th.

Although he has never taken part in a pedestrian contest, Mr. Blachford has a haunting idea that he can follow close in the wake of the good ones, and as the water appears fine, he has decided to wade in and try to pick up a piece of the prize money.

Mr Blachford, who is 58 years of age, intends to commence training at once regardless of mud, snow or thunderstorms.

FAST BOUT AT RINK

Kelly and Daly Will Meet at Brock St. on Wednesday Evening.

There should be something lively in the fight line on Wednesday night at the Brock street rink when Jimmy Kelly, of Buffalo, the fast boy who recently boxed ten rounds with Corney Burns, will meet Tommy Daly, of Brantford, in a ten round bout.

Daly is a scrapper of class and can be looked upon to make Kelly work to the limit. Both boxers have performed before local audiences and their style of fighting and cleverness showed them to be fighters of real ability.

A good list of preliminaries will be provided. The winner will get sixty per cent. and the loser forty per cent.

RUNNING

Say, what's the matter with John D. Marsh?

Did he, or did he not, put it all over them?

He was a back number in New York, was he?

Now watch those sharps that wanted him to run away and play himself in another company tumble all over themselves to give him the glad hand.

He was a farmer from Rubeville—that's Winnipeg, do you recognize it so they said.

But he went out and cut off a piece from that Marathon record just like he does off the butt end of his Burk-Eye when he wants a smoke.

There are lots of good things in Winnipeg besides runners, and the Canadian Derby is not the only Marathon that's being talked about.

LACROSSE

All those who wish to catch a place on the lacrosse team are asked to turn out to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock at Riverside Park for practice. The north end of the Park is in good condition, and as there will be a game here on May 24th with one of the best intermediate teams in Ontario, all who can are asked to turn out.

WALKING

Any walkers who wish to use the roller rink for training purposes may have it any evening, Sunday excepted of course, from 6 to 7.30. Prof. Genno has kindly placed it at the disposal of local peds for the hours mentioned.

THE STORY OF BOTH RACES

Will be Published in To-morrow's Review Sporting Extra

The Review sporting extra, containing detailed accounts of the Marathon Derby in New York, and the fifteen-mile race at Montreal.

Despatches of the New York race will be received for every three miles, and a full account of the fifteen-mile race will also be wired this office. All the interesting features will be given in the special edition.

SPORTING TALK

Will Tom Longboat beat Shrubb to-morrow? The race has aroused great interest in Peterborough.

Fred Simpson expects to make a good showing in the American Derby to-morrow. He is in good shape. Marsh will stand a lot of watching.

Must Give Equal Rates.

Ottawa, May 7.—The Railway Commission yesterday granted an application by The Times Publishing Co. of London, Eng., with Canadian head office at the City of Ottawa, for an order directing the C.P.R. Co.'s telegraph, the Great Northwestern Telegraph Co. of Canada and the Western Union Telegraph Co. to transmit press messages to the Marconi wireless station at Glace Bay, at the same rate as is charged to other points along the Atlantic coast of Canada.

This One Five Years.

Stratford, May 7.—Aloysius Guerin was sentenced to five years in Kingston Penitentiary yesterday by Justice Riddell, following upon the conviction of the prisoner by the jury on the charge of manslaughter of Alex. Sutherland of East Zorra. The judge intimated that he did not believe Guerin intended that the man should die through his neglect and this, coupled with the fact that Guerin was under the influence of liquor, led him to lighten the sentence.

A Dubious Tribute.

The young theological student who had been supplying the Bushby pulpit for two Sundays looked wistfully at Mrs. Kingman, his hostess for the time being. "Did you like the sermon this morning, if I may ask?" he inquired.

"You done real well with the material you selected," said Mrs. Kingman, with much cordiality. "As I said to Zenas on the way home, 'I've heard a dozen or more sermons preached on that text, and this young man's the first one that ever made me realise how difficult 'twas to explain'."

The Farmer of the Future.

The future farmer will subirrigate his land and defy drought as well as floods. He will become a scientific forester, and every farm will produce wood and lumber as well as wheat and apples. A single acre will produce what ten acres yield now. Women will work outdoors as heartily as men—in fact, they will be the horticulturists and the truck gardeners. There will be closer relation between the producer and the consumer, ignoring a horde of middlemen who frequently waste more than is destroyed by ignorant help and insect foes combined. Under the alliance with the school the farm will be valued not only for its gross weight of products, but for its poems and its education. As our schools become places for applying as well as acquiring knowledge, our farm homes will become integral parts of the garden school and the school farm. The alliance between the home and the school will become very close. A valley full of farms is already the nearest to paradise that we have, but the future will tenfold its wealth and hundredfold its delights.—Independent.

Bees Can Hear.

Bees can hear. In sparsely settled countries, where farmers have very few hives of bees and are not in it for the money, they have very primitive methods of catching bees when they swarm, or, in other words, when the young bees start to find a home of their own. Sometimes these bees get away and go for miles and are not caught. But neighbors are on the watch during this season and most are caught.

How? By throwing leaves, small sticks, etc., to arrest their flight, because they will immediately fly around anything in their way and these bring them to the ground. Now, sometimes these swarms are so high in the air that they cannot be reached by throwing, so farmers get old pans, kettles, etc., and make as large a racket as possible, and the bees are attracted by the sounds and immediately light near them. Now, what better proof is needed that bees can hear?—Letter in Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Couldn't Stand Strain.

"Does she worry much about her expense account?"

"Oh, no; not that."

"What troubles her, then?"

"Just her husband's bank account."

Unwritable English.

"Did you know that there is at least one sentence in English that can be spoken, but that it is impossible to write?" asked a University of Pennsylvania senior. Yes, it's correct English, I suppose, and then again it isn't. Here is the sentence, although I swear I don't know how you are going to write it: 'There are three twos in the English language.' You see, if you spell it t-w-o the sentence is incorrect, as it is if you spell it either t-o-o or t-o. Catch the point? Really, it is incorrect to say it, although it certainly should be possible to express the thought. This thing has got me going, and it simply goes to show what a mess the English language is. There certainly is a word 'two' and a word 'too' and another 'to,' and they are all three pronounced alike—two, too or to—which make it correct to say there are 'three twos' or 'three toos' or 'three tos' in the English language. But what's the use?"

Where She Would Exit.

Miss Whackemall was lecturing her class upon the formation of the globe.

"Now, what country," she said, turning to the dunce of the class, "is opposite us on the globe?"

"Dunno," answered the pupil.

"Come, come!" said Miss Whackemall. "Suppose I were to bore a hole through the earth here and you were to go in at this end. Where do you think you would come out?"

"Outer the hole, miss!" shouted the dunce and went down one.

This Threat a Boy's Joke.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 7.—The police yesterday discovered that the writer of the letters to Max Apt threatening to kidnap his eight-year-old son Albert and blow up his house unless the father paid a ransom of $10,000 was a 14-year-old boy, a schoolmate of little Albert's 13-year-old cousin. The boy said it was a joke.

$350,000 Fire.

Vancouver, May 7.—Three hundred and fifty thousand dollars' damage was done by a fire early yesterday, wich wiped out the main buildings and sawmill of the Northern Pacific Lumber Co. at Barnett, 12 miles up Burrard Inlet from Vancouver.

The mill was owned by McLaren, the Ottawa millionaire lumber man.

Libel Suit Drops.

Stratford, May 7.—The libel suit of A. F. McLaren, ex-M.P. for North Perth, against The Stratford Beacon was amicably settled yesterday by the defendant agreeing to publish an unqualified article of retraction. The case arose out of the belated North Perth protest.

The cowboy was already on the gallop. He turned and shouted something that no one could understand and then was gone. The girl stared after him in great disappointment. He had saved her life, rescued her like a hero—but to leave her that way, and for a lot of wretched cattle—it was too provoking!

"Do any of you know that man?" asked Mr. Renwyck.

"Ain't never seed him afore," replied their guide.

"From wot he says, though, he sure knows his biz," said another. "The chances of gittin' out'n that mill"—he looked at the ground torn by the trampling herd—"was sure less'n nothin', all right."

"Father," said the girl weakly, the reaction setting in, "let's go home. I've had enough of this terrible country—these awful cows."

"It breeds men, though, miss," said the guide, "as well as cattle."

"Yes," said the girl, "it certainly bred one. I wish I knew his name."

"I'll try to find it fer ye, miss," said the guide, "although 'tain't jest the thing to ax a gent's name out here. The boys gener'ly don't use their own names on a range. They've frequently got reasons for not mentionin' of 'em. But, wotever his name is, he's a man, all right."

"He is, indeed," said Miss Renwyck, and then she promptly collapsed a second time.

CHAPTER III.

RICHARD WILLIAMS, a young man of twenty-four, a graduate of the University of Texas, had spent the two years since he had won his sheepskin on a range of his own, which had come to him through his mother. Foolish differences had arisen between him and his father, in which the young man was generally in the wrong. A reconciliation had been effected, however, a short time before the arrival of Mr. Renwyck, and Richard had combined his cattle with some of his father's. It was this joint herd which had nearly ended the life of Miss Renwyck.

The day after the departure of Jacob Renwyck and the young lady Richard Williams had saved in so daring and romantic a manner the young man was summoned to the ranch by a message from his father. Recognizing that it was war to the knife between him and his former partner, the Texan laid his plans to bring to his feet the schemers of New York. It was the west against the east, and no mercy was to be shown on either side.

Richard's experience had been on the practical side of the business. He was his father's son, however, and Bill Williams had every confidence that he could be safely intrusted to look after his father's interests in New York. He explained the details of his operations carefully to the boy, provided him with the necessary credentials and told him to hustle east and get in communication with a firm of brokers with whom his father already had dealt, who were to advise with Richard with regard to whatever action was required.

Of course the young man learned the details of the quarrel between the two partners, and a few questions put him in possession of the name and address of the girl who had made so deep an impression upon him. With unusual discretion, he said nothing whatever to his father about the adventure. Such things do happen outside of books, and Richard was thoroughly in love with the girl whom for one brief moment he had held in his arms. He was more than willing, therefore, to carry out his father's wishes. In the pursuit of the old man's business he was determined that he would find time in some way, in spite of the rupture, to further his own affairs. The mere fact that enmity had given a place to friendship and that there was open warfare between the two houses added zest to his love affair. He had cut her out from a herd of steers, and he had faith that he could win her from the Wall street "bunch," as he phrased it, or from any other group of men who, if they had his appreciation of a good thing, would surely be stampeding in her direction whenever she appeared.

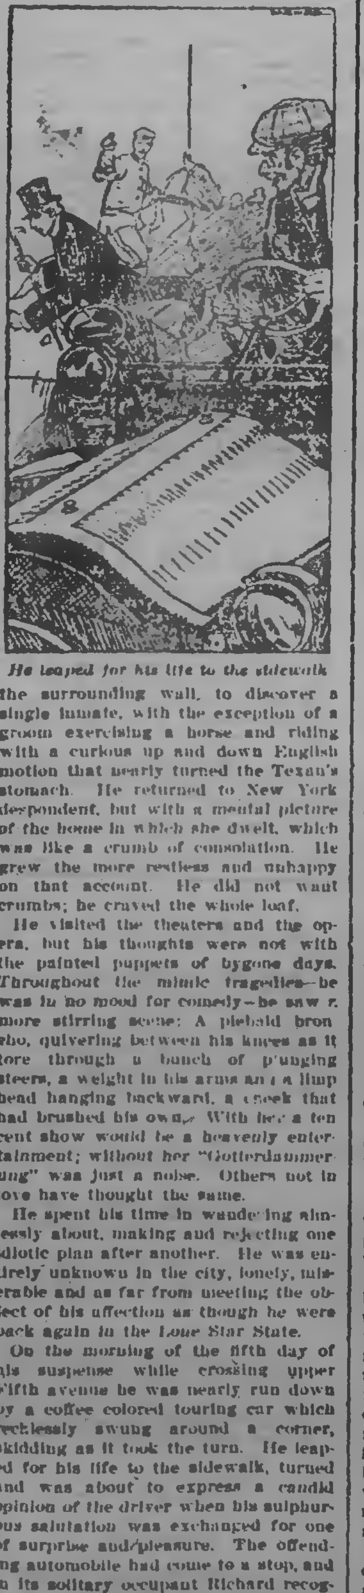
In due season, therefore, Richard Williams arrived in New York, where he settled himself comfortably at the St. Regis. Preliminary to entrance on his financial campaign, and especially in the hope of making himself outwardly more fit for his role of a passionate pilgrim, he discarded his San Antonio clothing, including his soft felt hat of sombrero-like dimensions, for an outfit so completely up to date that his best friends on the range would not have recognised him and then plunged into the business which had brought him north. He presented himself at the offices of Messrs. Benton & Cartwell, in Wall street, where the preparatory details looking toward the final adjustment of his father's complicated interests with Mr. Renwyck were put in train for settlement with amazing celerity. Where in Texas deals were consummated over a pipe and several long drinks—sometimes behind the barrel of a gun, too—in New York the cores of the same deals were bored into by snappy little gentlemen with the feverish energy of a belated commuter in the elusive hope of catching the next train.

"Mr. Benton," said Richard as he shook hands with the senior partner, "seems to me we've branded this maverick in record time."

Mr. Benton gave him a hurried smile and a hurried hand. "The—er—calf will grow into beef, I trust. Honored to have met you, sir. Good morning."

The young man entered the elevator, was dropped down twenty-one stories, more or less, and found himself again in the busy, roaring streets. With the exception of the sale of one large batch of railroad bonds, which could not be negotiated for at least a month on account of some restriction clauses, his father's business would require no further attention from him for the next two weeks. His time was now his own, and every energy was bent upon one subject—picking up the trail, so to speak, of Miss Harriet Renwyck. It was an easy task, for the "sign" was good and plenty, as a cowboy would have phrased it. He easily located the offices of old Jacob Renwyck on Broad street and learned without difficulty that the family were at present occupying their country place near Irvington-on-the-Hudson. But this knowledge, after all, was of little value. He could not present himself as the son of William Williams for obvious reasons. He smiled as he pictured his father's apoplectic rage at such a proceeding and ceased to smile at the fancy of his visiting card in the hands of the tartar, Jacob Renwyck.

He made a flying trip to Irvington and walked around the extensive grounds several times in the hope of catching a glimpse of his divinity, but failed, even from the vantage point of the surrounding wall, to discover a single inmate, with the exception of a groom exercising a horse and riding with a curious up and down English motion that nearly turned the Texan's stomach. He returned to New York despondent, but with a mental picture of the home in which she dwelt, which was like a crumb of consolation. He grew the more restless and unhappy on that account. He did not want crumbs; he craved the whole loaf.



He leaped for his life to the sidewalk

He visited the theaters and the opera, but his thoughts were not with the painted puppets of bygone days. Throughout the mimic tragedies—he was in no mood for comedy—he saw a more stirring scene: A piebald broncho, quivering between his knees as it tore through a bunch of plunging steers, a weight in his arms and a limp head hanging backward, a cheek that had brushed his own. With her a ten cent show would be a heavenly entertainment; without her "Gotterdammerung" was just a noise. Others not in love have thought the same.

He spent his time in wandering aimlessly about, making and rejecting one idiotic plan after another. He was entirely unknown in the city, lonely, miserable and as far from meeting the object of his affection as though he were back again in the Lone Star State.

On the morning of the fifth day of his suspense while crossing upper Fifth avenue he was nearly run down by a coffee colored touring car which recklessly swung around a corner, skidding as it took the turn. He leaped for his life to the sidewalk, turned and was about to express a candid opinion of the driver when his sulphurous salutation was exchanged for one of surprise and pleasure. The offending automobile had come to a stop, and in its solitary occupant Richard recognized a friend of former days, one George Henry Fitz-Clarence de Courcy Howard, earl of Croyland.

This gentleman had spent several months with Richard on the ranch in Texas, and, while the two men had few tastes in common, still a friendship knit upon the boundless plains is usually more lasting than one contracted in the whirl and rush of city life. In general appearance the two were not unlike, both blonds, rather tall and marked with the branding iron of vigorous manhood, although Richard was the younger, the fresher and the more virile. The earl had been in America for perhaps a year, seeking by various schemes to rehabilitate an impoverished estate and in all his undertakings meeting with indifferent success. He had become the sole owner of a "salted" mine in Colorado; he had recouped in Birmingham real estate, only to "drop his pile" again in Texas cattle. At present his bow was strung with two widely differing cords—one a secret mission, with a lucrative promise, for an oriental government regarding the surreptitious purchase of submarines and other war material in violation of the neutrality laws; the other a somewhat hackneyed scheme of exchanging an earl's coronet for a seven figured bank account, the figure of the necessarily accompanying lady being a matter of little moment.

The meeting between the two was cordial, not to say affectionate. A friendly face in New York to Richard was like a water hole in the desert. To the earl he was as welcome as a "fi' pun note when I'm strapped, by gad!" Lord Croyland suggested a spin in his motor, and Richard, who had nothing but leisure on his hands and was glad of any break in the dull monotony, accepted with alacrity. The motor was a four cylinder Layton, with a vicious back fire and a hoarse, wet cough, which would have warned an expert to look after his igniter and relieve the oil vent. The auto car was rented, and, besides, machinery was a detail to be looked after in the garage; therefore the driver hiccoughed up Riverside drive with a charming disregard for signs and omens.

The Englishman talked, and the Texan listened, though he adroitly kept the conversation in a social vein on the chance of finding some opening for an attack on Irvington. In this he was not disappointed. The earl had secured letters of introduction to Jacob Renwyck, but on calling at the Broad street offices had found the gentleman absent. He left his letters, together with a note of regret, and had promptly received a cordial invitation to join a small house party in the home of the Renwycks on the Hudson. He had accepted and intended to go there on the following day, where his valet would join him, bringing his luggage from Washington.

Richard's heart rose and rejoiced. Here was a possible chance to meet Miss Renwyck, yet he must proceed with caution.

"Renwyck," he said thoughtfully. "Seems to me I've heard that name. Well off?"

The earl became so eloquent on that subject that his companion's suspicions were at once aroused, and more so as the Englishman's attention was riveted upon an income rather than his steering gear.

"Any daughters in the family?" asked the Texan carelessly.

"One. Aw—quite passable, I understand."

Richard agreed with him, but did not think it necessary to mention the fact.

"Did you ever meet the lady?"

"No, old chap."

"Nor any of the family?"

"Never. I am—ah—not so keen, however, on Miss Renwyck's—er—relatives, don't you know," drawled his lordship in his most blase and superior manner.

The Texan's white teeth closed with an angry snap. He could not bear his friend in that pose, but he put a curb on his tongue.

"Look here, Croyland," he asked as indifferently as he could, "do you mean to tell me that you are going to Irvington tomorrow with the avowed intention of making love to a lady you have never seen?"

"Call it prospecting," laughed the Englishman. "It's a fair game, isn't it?"

"No, it isn't," snapped the Texan, falling into the vernacular of the plains. "It's a dingy deal with a cold deck. Where does the girl come in?"

"Coronet," drawled the noble earl, "and not such a bad sort under it. If she is satisfied, I am, I'm sure."

"Birthright, mess of pottage and a pig in a poke," suggested Richard rather warmly. "But what of you? Why, great Scott, man, you've never seen her! She may be humpbacked—hideous!"

"My dear old chap," said the earl, with a dry, indulgent smile, "you will learn some day that a Bradstreet report covers a multitude of freckles. By Jove, I've even known it to condone a hump!"

Here the conversation stopped suddenly. The machine had done the same. They were far out on the Westchester road in the vicinity of New Rochelle, with nothing in sight but a farmer's truck wagon approaching from an opposite direction, with a big yellow dog trotting beside the wheel.

The earl drawled something about it being "most extrawd'n'ry" and began to manipulate the various levers, but without results. Clearly he was unfamiliar with the vagaries of this particular brand of motor. He descended from the car and turned his engine over, being rewarded by a clattering roar which caused him to leap back into his seat again. He released his brake and inadvertently threw his weight upon the speed controller. The machine arose and rejoiced as a strong man going to battle.

As Mr. Richard Williams afterward described it, "the thing first bucked and then bolted for nowhere in particular. It attended to the yellow dog first, then ate up the farmer's wagon, turned over on its back and kicked up its heels, hollering like a calf under the branding iron."

The graphic historian found himself sailing gracefully over a barbed wire fence until he alighted in a soft field, where he plowed up considerable earth, but sustained no serious injury. The Earl of Croyland had fared worse. In his headlong plunge he had struck a fence post, wrenching one leg badly and fracturing his right collar bone. The irate farmer arose from the dust with a bleeding nose and immediately put in a claim for damages, not only for his wagon and his valuable dog, but for loss of time and the greater portion of his costume. Nothing seemed to have happened to his vocabulary, it was noticed.

Richard crawled under the barbed wire fence back to the road and turned his attention to his injured friend. In the meantime a correctly attired young woman driving a Panhard stopped to view the general wreck, while a road patrolman galloped up and took bustling charge of every one.

"What's the gentleman's name and address?" he demanded of Richard, who was in the act of raising the Englishman's head.

The Texan was about to answer truthfully when the earl opened his eyes and drawled out languidly, but in a sufficiently clear voice: "My name is Richard Williams of San Antonio, Texas—Hotel St. Regis—I'll pay all damages. This gentleman has one of my cards in his pocket."

The earl then closed his eyes deliberately, as though the matter were entirely disposed of—really to shut out Richard's surprised and reproachful glance.

The real Richard Williams of San Antonio, Tex., was thunderstruck at this limitless display of nerve, but his vigorous protest was checked by an elaborate wink from the sufferer. Accordingly he handed the officer one of his own cards and stood forth ready and eager to answer all questions.

"What is your name?" asked the patrolman, notebook in hand.

"Er—Peter Wilson."

"Friend of this gentleman?"

"Chauffeur," interrupted Croyland quickly.

"Ah!" said the patrolman. "Were you driving?"

"No," answered Richard truthfully. "I gave the wheel to that idiot, and only through a special dispensation of Providence am I now able to answer your questions. Anything more?"

In a measure he had evened up with the earl, but not quite.

"How did your machine happen to run into this man's cart?" continued the officer.

"Don't know. Shied at something, I reckon," replied the involuntary chauffeur sarcastically.

This was not technical, but it amused the officer, whereupon, at Croyland's adroit suggestion, Richard presented him with a twenty dollar bill—his own, by the way—and asked him to have the machine towed to the nearest garage, hinting that if Mr. Williams were approached properly it might not be to the patrolman's disadvantage.

The officer made short work of the indignant farmer, ordering him to present his claim to the Layton Motor company, but, first of all, to stop talking. He suggested sending a carriage and a doctor from New Rochelle, but here the lady motorist, who had been an interested spectator, descended from her car and graciously offered to convey the two gentlemen back to New York.

This offer was gratefully accepted, Richard and the patrolman helping the Englishman into the tonneau. The farmer wished to accompany them, but was promptly suppressed by divers threats of the law for blocking public highways.

"Mr. Wilson," briskly remarked the young lady, who had given her name as Miss Sempton, "I think your employer would be more comfortable if you propped his injured limb on the seat. You would better ride with me."

Richard flushed, but obeyed. To be thought a chauffeur by the patrolman was one thing, but the occupation was not so attractive in the eyes of a dashing young aristocrat in a leather cloak and cap.—

"What address, Mr. Williams?" she asked.

"The nearest hospital, if you please," answered the earl, wincing as the machine started.

To Richard the ride was not very pleasant. Miss Sempton talked to him politely, it is true, but much in the same manner as she might have consulted her groom with regard to the condition of her horses. With the earl she was on different terms, being charmingly solicitous for his comfort and expressing deep regret at his misfortune.

"How are you getting on, Mr. Williams?" she asked, turning her head with a sympathetic smile.

"Jolly," said the earl, though beads of perspiration were glistening on his brow. He nursed his drooping shoulder and drew what comfort he could from his glimpses of a wind flushed cheek and a pair of sparkling eyes that were turned upon him ever and anon.

They stopped at the entrance of St. Luke's hospital, on Cathedral heights, where the bogus Williams, with profuse thanks to his good Samaritan, was borne away by two attendants.

The real Richard Williams raised his hat and thanked her also. He was about to follow his friend when Miss Sempton detained him.

"One moment, Mr. Wilson. That Layton motor you are driving—is it a pretty fair machine?"

"Delightful," said Richard, who for the first time in his life had received his baptism of fire and gasoline. "Cheerful as a child, gentle as a woman and guaranteed for speed and"—

"Is it a water cooler?"

"Water cooler?" exclaimed the young man in undisguised astonishment. "Well, no; I never heard it called that, or a temper cooler either. No ice about that machine."

Miss Simpton regarded him critically through her drooping eyelashes.

"Where is the ignition coil located?"

"Why—why—under the tank," said Richard as a wild guess. The young woman flung back her head and laughed.

"Did you learn to drive a motor in a hansom cab, sir?"

"On a broncho, ma'am," returned Richard, cheerfully seeing the game was up.

"There," she said as she held out her hand to him, "I knew you were not a chauffeur! One thing more. Your friend Mr. Williams is an Englishman, isn't he?"

"No," answered the young man solemnly; "he's a Turk."

CHAPTER IV.

RICHARD, greatly annoyed by the turn of affairs and smarting because of his easy fall into Miss Sempton's clever trap, was forced to cool his heels in the waiting room while the seriously damaged Englishman was being patched up temporarily by the doctors and put to bed in a private room. After a long time the uniformed nurse entered briskly and accosted the impatient Texan.

"Are you the chauffeur?"

"The chauf—no—er—yes, of course," stammered Richard in wrathful confusion.

"Very well, then. Mr. Williams wants to see you at once. This way, please."

She spoke curtly, as if she had little use for chauffeurs in general and none at all for this particular specimen. Richard, however, rose obediently—he could do nothing else—but his cheeks were flaming hotly at his false and humiliating position. Croyland was carrying his joke a little too far.

"Thank you," he answered grimly, to the great surprise of the nurse. "I'm particularly anxious to see the gentleman myself."

To be Continued.

OPERATION HER ONLY CHANCE

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lindsay, Ont.—"I think it is no more than right for me to thank Mrs. Pinkham for what her kind advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. When I wrote to her some time ago I was a very sick woman, suffering from female troubles. I had inflammation of the female organs, and could not stand or walk any distance. At last I was confined to my bed, and the doctor said I would have to go through an operation, but this I refused to do. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now, after using three bottles of it, I feel like a new woman. I most heartily recommend this medicine to all women who suffer with female troubles. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills and think they are fine."—Mrs. FRANK EMSLEY, Lindsay, Ontario.

We cannot understand why women will take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, without first trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

THE CAST WAS ENTERTAINED

Those Who Presented "The Scheming Lieutenant" Guests at a Banquet

Mr. Petit of the Collegiate Institute staff, entertained the members of the cast of "The Scheming Lieutenant," to a banquet at Hooper's last evening. It was a most enjoyable assembly, several bright speeches adding to the entertainment of those present. Mr Kenner, Miss Weir and Mr Adams of the teaching staff were among those present and the Philomathean Society and the Girls' Guild were also represented. Speeches were made by Messrs Kenner, Petit, Adams, Anderson, Brightman, Primeau and Dobbin and Misses Weir and Leary.

The gathering broke up about eleven o'clock.

SONG SERVICE WAS POSTPONED

On Account of Last Nights Storm—Will be Given Monday Evening

The song service entitled "Rescued in London," which was to have been given in the Salvation Army Barracks last evening, has been postponed until Monday evening. On account of last night's storm there was not a sufficient number present to warrant the service being given, and as those taking part have been practicing faithfully for a considerable length of time it was decided not to give the performance until Monday night, when it is hoped that the weather conditions will not interfere with the large number who wish to hear this beautiful service.

FUNERAL HELD THIS MORNING

Former Peterborough Lady Passed Away in Cleveland

The funeral of Miss Eliza Brennan was held this morning to St. Peter's cemetery, after services were held at the Cathedral. The deceased was born in the County of Wicklow, Ireland, 58 years ago. She was educated at a school conducted by a Miss Young in Peterborough quite a number of years ago. Her death occurred in Cleveland, the body being brought to Peterborough last night.

Lakefield News: Mr C Young, of Peterborough spent Tuesday in the village—Mr Claude Sherwood of Peterborough was in the village on Thursday in the interests of "My Valet."

Ladies' Hats

Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—After much cogitation I have devised a scheme to prevent the men grumbling about what the ladies have on their heads in church, namely waste paper baskets, trimmed with vegetables. Here's the plan. Let the ladies all sit on one side of the church and all the men on the other. The men will not be troubled by the millinery display, and if the ladies are not satisfied with the view of the preacher, they can fight it out among themselves.

Commending this to the consideration of those interested in the problem, I am,

Respectfully yours,
ONE WHO SLEEPS IN CHURCH.

Feeding the Dairy Calf.

Never let the dairy calf stop growing a day. Keep it well fed with growing feeds. Fresh, warm skimmilk with ground corn and oats is a fine ration. Do not keep feed before it always. Let it get hungry between meals and then fill it and watch its digestion. Develop its paunch by filling it. The cow that stores much can milk much.

Dress the Overgrown Hoofs.

Overgrown hoofs are a great eyesore and sooner or later are likely to throw the animals off their hocks and hind legs. They should be frequently dressed, kept clean and in good condition. A heavy wooden mallet, an inch and a half chisel, a blacksmith's paring knife, a rasp and a file are the necessary tools.

IN SYDENHAM'S TIME.

Governor-General Was 56 Hours Going From Montreal to Kingston.

The day of railways was just dawning in Canada when Lord Sydenham, Governor-General of Canada, left his description of a trip of 56 hours from Montreal to Kingston. In 1836, three years before his arrival, the road from Laprairie to St. Johns, Que., about seventeen miles in length, and the first in this country, had been opened, and in 1839 a little line at the Albion Coal Mines in Pictou County, Nova Scotia, was put in operation. It was not until 1850 that the first sod was turned on the first railway in Upper Canada—the old Northern, which, in June, 1853, was opened for traffic between Toronto and Bradford. Freight, in Sydenham's time, was transported in summer by water and in winter by means of sleighs. Steamboats were plying on the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes, and in every harbor of the Maritime Provinces coasting schooners were to be seen discharging and taking on cargoes. In winter, when the snow roads were good, and large loads could be hauled by a team of horses, great quantities of produce were taken into the cities. Although the population was much smaller than it is to-day, there was, perhaps, more "teaming" then on the main highways than there is at present, because one railway train to-day moves more freight than all the teams of an entire community could then move in the course of a winter. The freight carriers of seventy years ago usually journeyed in companies, their long strings of sleighs winding over the hills and across the ice-bridges of the rivers towards the city market. Along the southern border of Quebec large quantities of produce came across from Vermont, for the customs duties amounted to very little, and the Montreal market was nearer than any equally large market in their own country.

It was a common sight in those winters to see a string of a dozen or fifteen long sleighs driven by correspondingly tough Vermonters and loaded with the frozen carcasses of sheep, wending their way through the southeastern counties towards Montreal. The country taverns then did a thriving trade putting up these freighters and their teams.

For return loads these teamsters had the supplies for the country stores. Not much flour was hauled for at that time every farmer in Eastern Canada—and in fact there was no Western Canada then—grew wheat which was ground at the local mill and formed the breadstuff of the whole community; but the teamsters' sleighs carried away fro mthe city puncheons of molasses, barrels of brown sugar, boxes of tea, webs of cotton, hardware and crockery. There was no ready-made clothing, and comparatively little woollen cloth sold from the cities, for about every large farmhouse had its spinning-wheel and loom. Flannel, dress goods and suitings were made from the wool grown on the farm. The women made their own dresses, and the traveling tailor made the men's clothes on the spot. The village shoemaker, hatter and wheelwright made the people's head and footwear and their carts and wagons.

Such were some of the conditions of the "good old times" of Lord Sydenham's day, when he found it so difficult to reach Kingston from Montreal—but good only in the sense that it is human to look backward with "melancholy pleasure," and fondly regret the thing that has been and the flight of time.

An Interesting Wedding.

A marriage of more than the usual social interest to people in Ontario will take place shortly in New York. This will be the wedding of Mr. Matthew Astor Wilks, of Galt, and Miss Sylvia Green, only daughter of Mrs. Hetty Green, the famous woman financier of New York.

Both the contracting parties in this prospective event have rather remarkably family connections. Oddly enough very few people in Ontario know much about the Wilks family of Galt. Their home, Cruickston Park, is an imposing one. Its mistress is Miss Katherine Langdon Wilks who, any well-informed horseman will tell you, is one of the best judges and largest owners of thoroughbreds, not only in Canada, but in America. Mr. M. A. Wilks, who is to wed Miss Green, was reared at the Galt home, but for some years he has lived in New York, where he is a well-known horseman and a member of a number of big clubs, such as the Knickerbocker and the Union.

Nearly a Tragedy.

There was much excitement and some well grounded alarm at a fashionable Toronto pension one day recently. A box of quinine tablets had been left within reach of the two-year-old child of the house, and when its abstraction was discovered, the contents, about a dozen pills, had disappeared. The worst was feared, and a telephone message from the doctor assured the anxious parents that if baby had swallowed the pellets he was poisoned. A time-honored, home-brewed medicine was promptly administered, and the boy was stood on his head and urged to be ill.

Like Rudyard Kipling's navvy, who was not poisoned, but merely intoxicated, the little lad wondered what it was all about, but before the stage of violent protest was reached, the whole twelve quinine pills had been located in various corners of the hall, and all the remedial activity subsided.

The Canadian Transcontinentals.

It is authoritatively stated that the two new transcontinental railway systems of Canada—the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern—which utilize the Yellowhead Pass through the Rockies, have asked the British Columbia Government for financial assistance. The Premier, Hon. R. McBride, is, it is reported, contemplating the building of a Government line from the provincial boundary in the pass to Vancouver, and is thinking of giving running rights over it to all the railways. This would obviate the construction of two or three parallel railways from Edmonton to the coast, and would save millions of dollars.

The British Government is providing funds for experimenting with airships.

PRISONER AT WINDSOR FIRES UPON CAPTORS WITH REVOLVER

Man Giving Name as Herman Martin, Supposedly From Berlin, Draws Revolver While Being Searched at Lock-Up and Wounds Constable Lister, George Qnambly and Sergt. Reid.

Windsor, Ont., May 8.—Two police officers, Sergt. Reid and Constable Lister, and George Quamby, janitor of the City Hall, were wounded seriously in a sensational shooting affray last night in police headquarters, located in the basement of the municipal building.

Word had come to the police station that a stranger was attempting to sell a bicycle to a secondhand dealer, whose suspicions were aroused that the wheel was stolen. Sergt. Reid went down and invited the supposed owner of the bicycle to accompany him to headquarters.

The prisoner was being registered and searched when he whipped out and fired a 38-calibre revolver. The first shot passed through Lister's right arm, the second through Quamby's left arm, and the third slipped off a portion of Reid's index finger on his left hand.

The would-be murderer then turned and fled, with Reid in pursuit.

In the corridor another shot was fired at Reid, but it passed under his arm, just grazing him. A final shot was fired through the window in the door at the entrance to the court-room.

Reid kept after his man and chased him on block, when he saw Officer Cade, and the two officers succeeded in locating their quarry in a lumber yard, cowering behind a pile of wooden posts.

He was taken back to headquarters and lodged in a cell. He gave his name at Herman Martin, aged 23, but told various stories of his address, including Colorado, Milwaukee and Berlin, Ont. Chief Wills is inclined to think the latter is correct, as the prisoner mentioned the Wellington Rifles, and said he had been a musician in that regiment.

Quamby is the most seriously injured. The bullet shattered his arm and lodged in the shoulder. He is suffering severely from shock. He is 51 years of age, but has a rugged constitution. Lister is a veteran member of the force, having served over 30 years. His wound is not serious, but he is weak from loss of blood, and suffers also from shock.

OPENING TO-MORROW OF THE NEW PARK STREET CHURCH

Handsome Edifice in the South End of the City—Rev. W A. Cameron Will Preach at the Services—Dedication in the Afternoon.

The new Park St. Baptist church will be opened to-morrow. This will be the most important event in the history of the congregation, and arrangements are being made to take care of large audiences at all the services to-morrow.

Mr. Rev. W. A. Cameron, pastor of Bloor street Baptist church, Toronto, will preach at both morning and evening services, and will give an address at the dedication service at three o'clock in the afternoon. The dedicatory prayer will be offered by Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of Murray street Baptist church.

On Monday evening a social evening will be spent. The chair will be taken by Mr. T. F. Matthews and there will be a good musical programme.

Below will be found some interesting information regarding the Park street congregation and about the new church—

The corner stone of the new church was laid October 17th by Hon. J. R. Stratton.

The stone-work was done by contractor Sherwood and Burns, and the brick-work by Contractor Geo. Haywood, both of which reflect great credit upon them.

The plumbing and steam-fitting were done by Contractors Sullivan and Hutchinson, and is done in the best possible way.

The handsome windows were secured from the Hobbs Window Company, of Toronto.

The carpenter work was under the supervision of Mr. T. G. Gillespie, to whose untiring zeal in behalf of the building is due in a large measure the success of the beautiful interior.

The lighting system, which is by electricity, was done by Mr. Lorne Hicks, of this city, and it is certainly a credit to that young man's ingenuity as a practical electrician.

The main auditorium is seated with circular pews, made by the Globe Seating Company, of Walkerville, and are as comfortable as a rocking chair to sit in. It seats about 600. Below in the basement may be found an up-to-date kitchen for the use of the ladies, a room for the infant class, a library second to none in the city, and several nice class rooms. The basement will accommodate about 400. Furnaces furnished by the Best Stove Company of this city.

The artistic graining of the church, which is grained from top to bottom, was the work of Contractors Johnston and Edwards, of this city.

The plastering was done by Contractor Joseph Johnston, and is certainly a piece of art along those lines. In fact we might incidentally say that all the work on the Park street Baptist church, with the exception of of the pews, was done by workmen of our own city, a most considerable feature indeed. Nothing like encouraging home industries.

Besides the beautiful auditorium there is a spacious gallery that will seat about a hundred, and four nice rooms, including the pastor's and choir rooms.

The architect was Mr. Wm. Blackwell, of Peterborough, and to him is largely due the exterior beauty of the building, which is of gothic design, supported by a French tower, of William the Conqueror's time, and the quaint a la Francaise mode of building adds a more artistic touch to the already architectural beauty of our city.

Taking the building as a whole, the pastor and Building Committee of Park street Baptist church deserve great praise for the able way in which they have worked for the accomplishment of this worthy enterprise.

To the Ladies' Aid of the church is due the credit for the beautiful red velvet carpet, which covers the choir and pulpit platforms, and also the matting. We are sure that the good folks of Peterborough wish the worthy pastor and his devoted flock every success in their new church home.

The property is valued at about $12,000.

OVER NINETY THOUSAND DOLLARS IN BUILDING PERMITS UP TO MAY 1ST

The building permits issued in the city of Peterborough since January 1st total $90,881. The figures for the different months are as follows:

January—$2,300.
February—$1,165.
March—$5,695.
April—$81,721

The increase for April 1909 over the same month last year is in the neighborhood of 282 per cent. Apparently the present year will be a record one in the history of Peterborough as far as building is concerned.

MET HIS DEATH WHILE CANOEING

Galt, May 8.—Carl Stahlschmidt, son of William Stahlschmidt, of the Canadian Office & School Desk Furniture Co., Preston, and Clarence Goodfellow, Galt, were out canoeing on the river. When opposite the northern point of the island above the bridge, the boys attempted to set sail and the canoe upset. Stahlschmidt could not swim but his companion, an expert swimmer, tried hard to save him and went down twice in his efforts. Stahlschmidt sank in ten feet of water, fifteen feet from shore and young Goodfellow was so weak he had to be pulled ashore.

Both the boys attended the collegiate institute. The body probably will be swept down stream by the current.

NEW TRANSPORTATION BUILDING OF CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION

THE NEW TRANSPORTATION BUILDING

The new Transportation building, the latest addition to the Canadian National's exhibition city is to be substantial, ornate and modern, to be in keeping with the two million dollars worth of other buildings which give the Canadian National exhibition the most extensive and best equipped exhibition grounds on the continent.

This newest structure is of red pressed brick and buff stone trimmings with concrete foundation and roof supports of trusses of steel. It is 337 feet long by 153 feet wide, and provides 43,000 feet of exhibit floor space. There will be four entrances with ornamental pediments over each entrance and also over the corner pavilions and a balustrade surrounding the whole building. Toilet accommodation for men and women is provided for at the north and south entrances with drinking fountains at all of them.

With the steady increase in the use of the automobile which, however, does not seem to offset the trade in carriages, buggies, wagons, etc. Transportation is becoming more and more a feature of exhibitions and the Canadian National, with the splendid facilities provided by the new Transportation building will be in a position to make the most of the feature.

The work of building is already well under way and August 28th, when the exhibition opens, will see it complete in every detail.

But this is simply one evidence that the Canadian National is determined to keep not merely abreast, but some distance in advance of the procession. In all other lines the big fair is forging ahead. In exhibits of all kinds, band music, and special attractions nothing has been overlooked that will help make August 28th to September 13th, red letter days in the Exhibition history of Canada, and keep the Canadian National in its place as one of the greatest annual exhibitions on this or any other continent.

HENRY ST. YVES

ASKS THAT THERE BE ACCOUNTING

St. John, N.B., May 8.—W. B. Wallace, K. C., has been instructed by Hon. William Pugsley to begin proceedings in equity for an account of expenditures and appropriation of all moneys received by the present and past directors of the New Brunswick Coal & Railway Co. from the Dominion and local Governments.

Mr. Wallace has had the summons issued against all the directors now living and all the persons concerned.

When the summonses have been returned with the necessary affidavits of service, Dr. Pugsley will then file a bill in the court, and in reply defendants will be forced to file an account showing what disposal was made of the moneys received. The matter will come before Chief Justice Barker, probably in St. John.

THIRD TIME ON TRACK TOGETHER

Longboat Defeated Shrubb at Marathon Distance in New York -- Englishman Did Better in New York Derby.

When Shrubb and Longboat hooked up at Montreal this afternoon it was the third time that the Englishman and the Canadian Indian had gone on the racing track together. In the first meeting in New York at the Marathon distance the Indian was the victor, Shrubb dropping out in the twenty-fifth mile, after leading all the way from the start. Before this race took place an agreement was made between the runners for three races, the Marathon distance, fifteen miles and twenty miles. The shortest distance was to have been run in Toronto a few weeks after the New York race, but Longboat broke his contract, claiming that he had a sore heel. It looked as if the race was altogether off, but two weeks ago the Montreal Star succeeded in getting the Englishman and redskin to run fifteen miles at the M.A.A.A. grounds on May 8th.

The second time Shrubb and Longboat appeared in the same race was in the New York Derby a few weeks ago. In that event Longboat dropped out in the sixteenth mile and Shribb in the twenty-fifth. The race, which was won by St. Yves, was the Marathon distance.

TOM LONGBOAT.

WIDELY KNOWN BOY IS DEAD

Chicago, May 8.—Four-year-old Paul Maurice Montfort, who was killed on Thursday by falling through a window of a south side elevated train to the sidewalk, was known among his friends as "The most photographed boy in America." His father, A.W. Montfort, is a photographer who does a large amount of commercial work, and whenever a firm wishes a baby boy's picture to advertise its goods, Mr. Montfort used his little son as a model. In one of his most widely-known poses the boy is smiling as a brand of talcum powder is being shaken over him. In another noted pose he is playing with a safety razor and laughing.

SHRUBB AND LONGBOAT AT MONTREAL

Track is Three Laps to Mile--Distance Fifteen Miles --Monster Crowd in Attendance

SHRUBB THE WINNER

Special to the Review.

M. A. A. A. Grounds, Saturday, May 8.—There is an immense crowd here this afternoon to see Tom Longboat, the Canadian Indian, and Alf. Shrubb, the peerless middle-distance English runner, whose home is now in Toronto, settle the question as to who is the better man at fifteen miles. The weather is ideal and the prospects are that the records for the distance will go to the wall. The track is three laps to the mile and is very fast, being a cinder path.

Shrubb expresses himself as confident of victory. The betting favors the Englishman. Longboat, despite reports that he has broken training, looks fit and has many backers.

At 2.45 the runners sprang away to the crack of the starter's pistol, both setting a lively clip. The runners went evenly for the first mile. Shrubb pulling away from the Indian gradually, and at the end of the first mile he has a lead of 40 yards.

SECOND MILE—9.55.

Shrubb has increased his lead and is now 120 yards ahead. He is travelling at a cyclonic pace, and is evidently going after the Indian's scalp from the outset. The crowd is applauding Shrubb for his excellent running, and he is covering the ground in that same machine-like way that he always performs. The Onandaga also has many supporters in the crowd and they are handing him liberal encouragement. If the distance between the two does not become too great the race will be the prettiest running duel ever seen here.

THIRD MILE—15.14.

Shrubb is increasing his lead on the Indian, and was 150 yards ahead of his rival when the third mile was completed.

The time was 15.14.

FOURTH MILE—20.30.

Shrubb still leads by 150 yards, and Longboat is holding his ground well. On account of the remarkably even running of the men in this mile it has been an uneventful period for the crowd, which has settled back after the first wave of excitement produced by the opening couple of miles. Longboat ran past the starting point with that ever present and confident grin of his. Someone in the crowd started "See Him Smiling," and it is being taken up by several other vocalists in the big audience.

FIFTH MILE—25.56.

Shrubb is half a lap in the lead, and seems to be slowly but surely pulling away from the Indian. On account of reports to the effect that Longboat has been neglecting his training some who would otherwise favor him are inclined to doubt his ability to even give the Englishman a hard race at the distance. However, the race is still young and the bronze wonder is liable to do anything in the way of furnishing a surprise.

SIXTH MILE—31.24.

Shrubb has gained a quarter of a lap, and now leads by three-quarters of a lap. The time is 31.24.

SEVENTH MILE—36.45.

The Englishman is gaining a lead on the Indian, and is now three-quarters of a lap to the good. The time is 36.45, which is very fast for the distance.

EIGHTH MILE—42.15.

Shrubb is outrunning his man, and has tacked another quarter of a lap to his lead, giving him an advantage of a lap. Time, 42.15.

NINTH MILE—48.01.

Shrubb maintains his lead of one lap, and both runners appear fresh. The time is 48.01.

TENTH MILE—54.

Shrubb still maintains the same lead, and the announcement of his splendid performance for this distance was the signal for loud outbursts of applause from the spectators. Longboat is running strong, and seems to be trying to gain ground on Shrubb. Time 54 min.

ELEVENTH MILE—59.45.

Shrubb still leads by a lap. Time 59.45.

TWELFTH MILE—1.05.34.

The time at the end of the 12th was one hour, five minutes, 34 seconds. The men are running together with Shrubb still a lap ahead. The crowd is endeavoring to get Longboat to go out to reduce his lead, but apparently the pace is so hot that it will keep him busy to hold his present position of a lap in the rear.

THIRTEENTH MILE—1.11.38.

Shrubb is one lap ahead. The runners are travelling at a fast clip, and are abreast.

FOURTEENTH MILE—1.17.55

Longboat has gained a few yards, but is still nearly a lap behind. The time is 1.17.55.

FIFTEENTH MILE—1.23.57

Shrubb wins by a lap all but three yards.

The time for the fifteen miles is 1 hour, 23 minutes, 57 seconds.

Longboat's time was 1.25.46.

TEN THOUSAND DOLLAR PURSE AT NEW YORK

Fred Simpson and John D. Marsh in Big Derby--Entries Number Twelve--Race at Polo Grounds---Thousands of Spectators--St. Yves the Favorite.

Special to the Review.

Polo Grounds, New York City, May 8.—About thirty thousand are in attendance at to-day's Marathon race here. The track is six laps to the mile, and it is in good condition. The greatest excitement prevails among the spectators, and a large amount of betting is being done.

THOSE ENTERED.

The entries are as follows:

Henri St. Yves, France.
Orphee, France.
Cibot, France.
Fred Simpson, Canada.
John D. Marsh, Canada.
Pat White, Ireland.
Carvajal, Cuba.
Appleby, England.
Dorando, Italy.
Maloney, Ireland.
Svanberg, Sweden.
Ted Crook, United States.

FOR TEN THOUSAND.

The race is for a purse of ten thousand dollars, divided into seven prizes, as follows:

1st prize	$5,000
2nd prize	2,000
3rd prize	1,000
4th prize	800
5th prize	500
6th prize	300
7th prize	200

3.45 p.m.—The runners are beginning to appear on the track. Henri St. Yves was given a big reception. Dorando's countrymen also greeted his appearance with a big demonstration.

THEY ARE OFF.

4.00 p.m.—They are off on the 26 mile, 385 yard journey.

St. Yves has taken the lead, and John D. Marsh, of Winnipeg, is at his heels. Dorando is third, only a few yards behind Marsh, and he is running with a short, even stride. Fred Simpson is fourth and right up with the leaders. He appears to be enjoying the going and will be a contender all the way, experts think.

END OF THIRD MILE.

When the third mile was completed St. Yves was in the lead, Marsh second, one yard behind; Dorando third, Simpson fourth and Appleby fifth. The other runners were strung out behind. St. Yves' time for the three miles was 16.07.

The time for three miles in the first New York Derby was 16.25, and for the same distance in the Canadian Derby 16.33.

SIXTH MILE—33.06.

St. Yves leads Marsh by seventy-five yards, and Appleby is third with Dorando fourth. The Frenchman is running a brilliant race. Marsh is following him to good advantage, but the battle between the two for the leading position is necessarily not as keen as when the pair were stepping along on practically even terms. The field is staying pretty well together, and the race is an interesting one for the spectators.

The time for six miles in the previous New York Derby was 33.51 1-5, and for the same distance in the Canadian Derby 33.38.

9TH MILE—50.14.

St. Yves has increased his lead to half a lap and Marsh still is in second place. Dorando, who has been running in improved form, has jumped up to third place, stealing that position from Apppleby, who is now in fourth place. Svanberg is fifth. St. Yves is gaining in favor with the crowd in every lap and many Americans disinterested in the betting are joining in with the French descent faction and are yelling for the little fellow to repeat his feat of winning the other Derby. Marsh is making quite an impression and is looked upon as dangerous. He is travelling fast and seems to be fresh and strong. The showing of Simpson, the Peterborough Indian, so far is very disappointing. He seems to be running a lifeless race. Appleby is regarded as the neatest runner on the track and the crowd admires his style very much. Time, 50.14.

12TH MILE—1.07 49.

The same killing pace was maintained throughout the 10th, 11th and 12th miles and the runners finished the 12th in the order given: St. Yves, Marsh, Dorando, Appleby, Svanberg, Simpson, Crook, Cibot, Moloney, Orphee, White, Morrissey, Carvajal. Time 1.07.49.

14TH MILE—1.20.07.

St. Yves leads by a lap and a half. Marsh is second. Dorando third. Time 1.20.07. St. Yves up to this distance has the field outclassed, and is looked upon a sure winner. He has been running in great fashion and has held the pace from the start. It's a wonder to the crowd where the Cuban wonder got his wonderful reputation, as he is still going along in lazy fashion and has not showed the class that was expected of him. Time 1.20.07.

15TH MILE—1.26.25.

St. Yves is a lap and a half ahead of Marsh, who is second.

The time of the first New York Derby for fifteen miles was 1.26.16 4-5, and for the Canadian Derby 1.26.36.

18TH MILE—1.45.21.

St. Yves still holds the first position with a big lead and Svanberg, the Swede, is second. He has been showing unexpected speed and his fine work in getting his advancement to second place has not failed to win the general approbation of the crowd. Marsh is third and is not running as fast as he has been though he may only be recuperating.

In the fourth lap of his 19th mile Appleby reeled suddenly and fell over in a faint. In less than a minute, however, regained his feet and was once more in the race. Dorando after leaving the grounds, was prevailed upon to re-enter and did so amid the loud cheering of his fellow-countrymen. He is still running unevenly, however. Morrissey was forced to take a rest for several minites in his camp, but resumed after being rubbed down. Svanberg still holds on two laps behind St. Yves. Simpson is sixth at the 20th mile.

21ST MILE—2.05.20.

St. Yves leads, Svanberg, second, Dorando third. Time 2.05.20.

In his 5th lap of the 22nd mile Svanberg fell over in a dead faint. He was revived by ice-water and re-entered amid the biggest demonstration of the day.

22ND MILE—2.11.08.

St. Yves with race apparently well in hand, finished the 22nd mile in 2.11.08. The race started at 4.06 and not at 4 o'clock, as was previously announced.

At the end of the 24th mile the runners stood as follows;—St. Yves, Svanberg, Crook, Simpson, Marsh, Appleby, Moloney, Cibot, Dorando, White, Orphee, Carvajal.

FLASH.

St. Yves Wins—Time 2.44.06.

HOW THEY FINISHED.

The men finished as follows;

ST. YVES.
SVANBERG.
CROOK.
SIMPSON.
MARSH.
APPLEBY.
MALONEY.
CIBOT.
DORANDO.
WHITE.
ORPHEE.
CARVAJAL.

Bullet From Bushes.

Fort William, May 8.—An attempt was made to wreck a street car at the diamond crossing where the street car tracks are crossed by the C.N.R., situated about midway between the two cities. The motorman saw an obstruction on the track, a plank and some rocks. He stopped the car to clear the track and a bullet was fired from amongst bushes at the side, going through both sides of the car, just missing a passenger.

Shock Killed Him.

Fredericton, N.B., May 8.—Victor, the four-year-old son of Mr. Samuel Cameron of St. Mary's, met a tragic death Thursday at his home. He and another boy with whom he was playing started to climb through a hole in the woodshed. His companion got through safely, but little Victor slipped and fell, catching by the chin on a board at the bottom of the hole.

SATURDAY, MAY 8, 1909.

THE CENSORSHIP

The idea that play censorship is not desirable is founded on the idea that there should be free-trade in morals. It is founded on the idea possibly also that there are no bad or immoral playwrights and that therefore "there is not either good or bad, but thinking makes it so." Unquestionably the great evil of it all lies in what is universally known as "suggestiveness." It is the desire that a "wrong meaning" should be taken out of the book, play, etc., that makes it immoral. A book on anatomy is not immoral, because it is wholly for a scientific purpose. The instant that suggestiveness or that itching of desire known as pruriency arises, the danger-point is reached. All thinking people agree so far. Therefore suggestiveness is what must be watched for and avoided. But what is suggestive to one community may not pass for such in another, no matter what the underlying intention of the playwright really was.

But the censor represents the community and as a working representative may as a rule, be trusted to perform those duties fairly well. To contend that censorship is like a protective tariff, an interference with freedom and may occasionally work an artistic wrong is also to say that representative government may do the same. Should it be abolished for that reason also? The margin of errancy or weakness in human affairs is too great to prevent the doing of an injustice or a wrong or the perpetrating of an error, but it may prevent the doing of a much greater wrong and the committing of a much greater error and more numerous errors at the other extreme of allowing every form of rottenness to pass muster in order that one possibly good or highly artistic play book or picture should not suffer. It is placing that one book, etc., against the safe-guarding of humanity and since the admission or passing of that one book, etc., is for the educational good of humanity, also the balance should be struck and it will be found to lie altogether with the censorship and in its favour. The censorship therefore, should be maintained.

THE MURRAY ST. CHURCH

The new Murray street Baptist church and grounds are to be of a large and prominent character. The development of the Baptist form of the Christian faith has been very marked under Rev J R Webb, MA, who has the gift of enthusing his congregation and of helping them to do big things. From the Aylmer street church, now a Christian Science reading room to the new edifice is a far cry. It is gratifying also to find that the character of the new building will be in keeping with the surroundings. The huge new drill hall and armories is just across the street. Next to it is the new $75,000 Collegiate Institute. Fronting both is Central square opposite to which is to be the new Carnegie library. Immediately on the right of the new church stands the YMCA building, one of the finest we have. A little further up is the George street church. St Paul's Presbyterian is also close at hand. A frontage of [illegible] feet and a depth of [illegible] feet is a pretty fair-sized building lot and the new church will have ample room to display its fine proportions. Peterborough will soon be known as the city of churches there being no fewer than sixteen or seventeen places of worship here. The Baptist communion has increased considerably in Canada of late years and has become a "power in the land."

EDITORIAL NOTES

What's the news from Africa? Teddy Roosevelt has shot two gnus.

The Hamilton Jury and the rest of the paraphernalia of the law there are apparently well satisfied with the paraphernalia of the law there trial. Nobody else is.

Less interest is taken in the Purity Ware By-law than there would otherwise be since by-laws are not always the creatures of public opinion having been not less than once defeated at the polls and then taken to the Legislature and carried over the heads of the people. There can be no question that the voters resent this. It is heard on all sides. It will doubtless be necessary for the council to assure the people that what the people say shall "go."

In the British House of Commons Sir Gilbert Parker asked Sir Edward Grey if section four of the Payne tariff would subject Canadian goods to the maximum tariff unless Canada granted the United States the intermediate rates and special concessions of the Franco-Canadian treaty; also what steps the Government proposed to take. Sir Edward answered the first part in the affirmative. The matter was not one, he said, on which representations could properly be addressed to the United States. Section four had been withdrawn from the bill presented to the Senate. —Canadian Textile Magazine.

We wish we might agree with the Toronto Mail that if England put a tariff on goods entering that country it would tax the foreign rather than the home consumer. Unfortunately, we do not hold to that view of a tariff tax, which ultimately is borne by the consumer, disguise it as we may. The heavier the tax the more the consumer must pay for his goods. Kingston Standard.

The editor of the Standard had better take a course in economics in France, Germany or the United States and then he will understand what he says he cannot comprehend now. Surely he does not suppose these nations are in a state of primeval simplicity.

The following method does away with fishy dishes, disagreeable odors, etc.—Clean and wash the fish thoroughly, salt, pepper and flour it inside and out (sparingly) then roll in manila paper at least three times. Pinch the ends of the paper together, then fold back, and pin securely, to prevent the escape of the juices. Bake in a moderate oven, and allow fifteen minutes more than if baking the same fish in a pan. When ready to serve remove the paper, to which the skin will adhere, and place the delicious, juicy meat upon the platter. Garnish as desired.—Woman's Home Companion for May. For further directions write to the Review.

To some who have not studied the question it may seem strange that there is no worsted industry in Canada, but a little examination will clear up this mystery. Under our present tariff "tops" and noils" which are the first product of the worsted industry, are admitted free, while even yarns are admitted under duty of 12 1-2 per cent. There is a common impression that all woolen manufactures have a protection of 30 per cent in this country, but the fact that the three items of manufacture just named are either on the free list or subject to only a nominal rate of duty, brings the average protection on wool products to 10 or 15 per cent, and will explain why we have cloth industry is suffering [illegible] the no Canadian worsted industry.—Canadian Textile Journal.

While the Canadian worsted industry lies still-born and the woolen knit goods industry has developed. Certain people, who worship the deity of things as they are without making any serious attempt to trace effects back to their causes, quote the progress of the knit good industry in order to disparage the efforts of those in the other branches of the woolen trade who fail to make headway under the present tariff. This cheap disparagement may be forgiven those who do not know the processes by which textile fabrics are produced from the raw wool or cotton, but still, disparagement coming from those who know where the effective protection really begins and ends in the Canadian woolen tariff, is simply a false light held out to mislead the men in the street who are honestly seeking to learn the truth. —Canadian Textile Journal.

Coming to the United States, we come to a country similar in almost all respects to our own. The history of the United States should be our history practically, as regards the woollen industry. I know that there are some divergencies, but they are of such a minor character that what the United States has done in the century that was here, Canada in this century, which the Prime Minister says is our century, ought to do in the woollen industry for the people of Canada. The conditions in our maritime provinces and in our western provinces of British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan are just as favorable to the production of wool as are those in the United States. In fact, a large and important element in the manufacture of woollens in the United States is derived from Canada. Among the best worsteds produced in the United States are those manufactured from Canadian wool. In fact the conditions in the United States are identical with those in Canada plus the protection they give their farmers on their native wool. That is about the difference reduced to actual analysis. A really successful national woollen industry in Canada involves a profitable production of wool as well as profitable manufacture of woollens, and it should be the aim of the government to harmonize, unite and merge these two great interests.—Haughton Lennox.

PARKS WILL SOON BE OPENED

Caretakers are Working Hard to Get Everything in Shape

Those in charge of the parks of the city are hard at it endeavoring to make a good showing and before long all these beautiful resorts will be open for the public who are no doubt waiting anxiously for the time to arrive. The parks to the north end of the city should this year be very popular. The seats have all been repainted and everywhere may be found signs that somebody is busy. There has always been much annoyance caused by a certain element who hang around these places with the idea that they own the property and can do just about as they please. But this season the caretakers will have something to say and will have the authority to arrest those who they think are not behaving themselves. By the time the 24th of May arrives all the parks will have been opened to the public who should appreciate the fact that these places are for their own benefit.

HAD HER GRAVE CLOTHES READY

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure Mary Malcolm's Bright's Disease.

One More Indisputable Proof That the Old Reliable Kidney Remedy Will Cure the Most Deadly Form of Kidney Disease.

Toronto, May 7.—(Special)—Mrs. M. Malcolm, who lives at 153 Clinton st., this city, states that it has been proved beyond a doubt in her own family that Dodd's Kidney Pills not only check Bright's Disease, but cure it completely and clean it right out of the system.

Mrs. Malcolm's daughter, Mary, was taken ill with this terrible kidney ailment. A doctor attended her continually for nearly a year when he had to admit he could do nothing more for her. She was so far gone that the last rites of the church were administered and the dying girl's grave clothes were prepared.

As a last resort, Dodd's Kidney Pills were tried, and to the surprise and delight of the family the girl improved almost from the first dose. In a week's time they were able to take her out for a little while, and she kept on improving until she was completely cured.

That was seven years ago. To-day Miss Malcolm is a good-looking young lady, strong and healthy in every way. Speaking of her cure, she says: "I am sure I owe my recovery entirely to Dodd's Kidney Pills, and if I am ever ill again I am sure I shall take no other medicine."

Patrick Canty, a CPR brakeman of Ottawa who lost both legs in an accident on Monday, died on Tuesday.

The body of Victor St Helaire, who disappeared last September at Vegreville, Alta, was found in the river Tuesday and foul play is alleged.

OF INTEREST

Italy Ashamed

The disrepute that a few of the Italians in this country have brought upon all the rest is stirring up no little concern and chagrin in their native land. The press of Italy is awakening to the suspicion that Calabrian and Sicilian braves are taken in this country for the only successors of the rulers and educators of the world and the murder of Petrosino has aroused the attention of the Tribuna, of Rome, to the fact that the good, the learned, the desirable Italian element in this country, are suffering for the faults of the criminal, and that the very name of Italy is becoming dishonored by the flagrant acts of Italians in the United States. It is in consideration of these facts that a writer in the Tribuna mourns over the pitiable figure at present cut by Italians in the United States. "The poor name of Italy" is referred to sadly and almost compassionately. "Poor Italy," exclaims this editor. The fate of Petrosino has disgraced this great, historic peninsula, and the successors of the Romans blush to own the assassins as "our fellow countrymen." To quote:

"We hesitate to call them 'ours,' this is a brutal avowal, but it is the naked truth. They are Italians, born and brought up in our beautiful land. But in the midst of America's industrious and laborious multitudes they have planted their parasite roots with the object of carrying out their vendettas, extorting blackmail and spreading terror and panic around them. Every day we read of threatening letters dispatched by them, letters of blackmail, demanding money, always money, under penalty of a bloody reprisal. Such reprisals are frequently sought. Attacks are made on the lives of individuals, bombs are exploded, stores are set on fire, children are kidnapped."

The writer has no excuse to make for this condition of things, excepting the fact that Italians in America are not yet ripe for liberty.

As he observes:

"And these, alas, are our fellow countrymen. Yet they do but represent the fruit of centuries of despotism and the liberty they now enjoy has not yet been able to redeem them. Moreover, the conflicting political parties of their new country have been too much preoccupied to find time or means to bring about a better understanding."

Until now Americans have gone on the idea that these acts of violence would be confined by Italians to the circle of their compatriots. The assassination of Petrosino, a lieutenant in the New York police force, has put a different face on the matter. To quote further from the Tribuna editorial:

"The criminals whom we are ashamed to call our fellow countrymen had at first the cunning to confine their malefactions to their own people, and this proved a sort of sop to general public indignation. It was said, 'Let these good Italians fight it out among themselves.' But it was quite impossible that a civilized state should continue to tolerate the existence of such a disgraceful condition of things, or that the programme of the criminals who under the name of the 'Black Hand' conspired against the public safety, should always confine their operations to the sphere of their own compatriots."

The people and press of America have at length awakened to this fact we are told. While wide sympathy has been expressed for the fate of Petrosino, especially in the press, some papers have taken occasion to express their profound antipathy toward Italians, and we must needs say it—the general mass of the people know very little and that little only evil of us and our country." Extreme measures are threatened and we are reminded:

"The assassination of Petrosino has given rise to the opinion that a complicated web of criminal intrigues and plots has been established between Italy and the United States, and this opinion has now been accepted as a certainty. It is impossible to measure the grave consequences that may result. Already people are talking of new restrictions on immigration; some people go so far as to say that a plan is on foot to forbid all Italian immigration whatsoever. In short a new 'yellow peril' has appeared and has to be averted."

The article concluded as follows:

"The position of Italians in America is therefore by no means a happy one, especially at this present moment. All the Draconian impulses, all the restrictive measures which are calculated to check the crimes of the evil-doer will doubtless prove injurious to the good and the innocent also. . . . When this is realized, and when we reflect upon the invincible antipathy that many Americans now entertain towards the Italians in the United States, we are compelled to feel sorry for those Italians who have made so many sacrifices to become and to show themselves true American citizens."

A Woman's Work

In an amusing speech to the pupils of the Bromley High School for Girls, Mrs. Runciman spoke of the importance of domestic life, and of how women's work in that capacity is undervalued. She told a story of a youth of the labouring classes who described the day of his father and himself, and incidentally mentioned that the wife and mother was up first in the morning to get breakfast, and was busy all day, and finally when the last hours of the day came, the speaker and his father "smoked their pipes and got off to bed," but this was the period in which the hard-worked woman "got time to do a bit of needlework." He stated that his father got 25s. a week and he himself 10s.; but when he was asked, "And what does your mother earn?" he answered with great surprise, "Why, mother don't earn anything; she didn't do any work!" At this point there was laughter; but it is a token of some "arrest of thought" that there should be considered anything amusing in the story. For does not every working-man believe that he "keeps" his wife without her own exertions? And even the census returns audaciously summarise the wives and mothers of the country as belonging to "the unoccupied class."

So exacting and constant is the labour required to keep a household going and to attend to all the requirements of a family in cooking, cleaning, sewing, nursing and general organization that an "Eight Hours Bill" for domestic workers is impossible, applied to either the paid domestic worker or the unpaid wife, the wife and mother. In America there is a unique sort of Industrial School, or rather, a Reformatory Village, known as the "George Junior Republic." It was founded by Mr William R. George to receive some rough and uncared-for lads and girls to train them, if possible, into useful, hard-working and law-abiding citizens. Some are sent by their parents; some are committed by magistrates; the young "citizens" are none of them free to leave the village till formally discharged; but they are extraordinarily free within its limits, for it is conducted precisely as a "Junior Republic". The girls all vote as well as the boys, and they elect their own President, Secretary of the Treasury, Police Commissioner, and Board of Health; they make their own laws and administer them; they have jails, a public library, a State bank, and a law court with an elected judge, from whose decisions, however, there is an appeal to a Supreme Court of the Board of Trustees. All sorts of industries are carried on, and wages are earned and used as desired by the wage-earners. The laws are made in general assemblies. Well, some seasons ago, the citizens of the "Junior Republic" learned that New Zealand had an eight-hour law, and this seemed to them good. So they copied the idea; no citizen of the Republic was free to work at his or her trade for over eight hours out of the twenty-four. They forgot that all domestic work in the Republic was duly paid labour! The girls engaged in this business, therefore, rose as usual at half-past five, prepared the breakfasts for half-past six, proceeded with their other work, got dinner ready for one o'clock, and brought their eight-hour day to a close in the early part of the afternoon. The labour reformers had to go supperless to bed! A special town meeting was immediately summoned, and the eight-hour law was promptly repealed. It was the most absolutely unsuccessful law ever made.—Saturday Night.

THE LOCAL OPTION MOVEMENT IN THE CITY

The Matter Appearing in This Department is Furnished by the Peterboroug Temperance and Moral Reform League Which Has Arranged for its Publication.

A GLIMPSE OF A FAMILY TROUBLE

We like to keep our troubles to ourselves. That is why, although there are hundreds of families in Peterborough in which the liquor traffic is causing untold misery, we seldom hear of it. A glimpse of the trouble of one family in Peterborough was furnished last Sunday on one of the residential streets, near the outskirts of the city.

About five o'clock in the afternoon a young man, apparently about nineteen years of age, was noticed leaning against a tree, helplessly drunk. Presently his mother, without hat or coat, was noticed running up the street to him. She was followed by her daughter, a young woman about twenty-five years of age. Mother and daughter tried to induce the boy to go home. He refused. They tried to take his arm, but he shook them off. They plead with him but in vain. Presently a boy appearing to be a younger brother joined the group, carrying an overcoat. It seemed as if the young man must have sent his younger brother home to get his overcoat and that the boy must have told the mother and sister of his condition.

Presently the young man managed to put on his overcoat and in spite of the remonstrances of his mother and sister, he started staggering up the street back towards the city. He had gone about half a block when a young woman about his own age and apparently a neighbor and friend was seen running after him. At her touch he turned around. Finally, she persuaded him to walk back with her. For a while she held his arm to steady him. Presently, however, he shook off her hand only to fall off the sidewalk and hit his head against a post.

The close of this little tragedy was not observed. Apparently however, the heroine for she was one to act as she did, succeeded in taking the young man home.

It may seem cruel to refer like this to a case of this kind. On the other hand it is altogether likely that the mother and daughter will be only too glad to have this published if it will help to obtain local option in Peterborough next January. It is such scenes and tragedies as this that have created the demand for local option. In the meantime, it would be interesting if we could find where this young man secured enough liquor on Sunday afternoon to be in the helpless condition in which he was.

WHAT SALOON KEEPERS MAKE

The foregoing incident adds weight to the following incident related in the last issue of The Pioneer:

"A prosperous liquor dealer was boasting to a group of men standing near his saloon of the amount of money he had made. "I have made $1000 in the last three months," he said. "You have made more than that," quietly remarked a listener. "What is that," was the quick response. "You have made my two sons drunkards. You have made their mother a broken-hearted woman. You have made much more than that, I reckon, but you'll get the full account some day.'

THE YOUNG MEN AND LOCAL OPTION

Two weeks ago young men representing the young people's societies of several of Peterborough's leading churches had charge of the temperance meeting in the Crystal. They made it plainly understood that they and those whom they represented were on the local option side, and that they intend to vote and work for local option. As Mr. R. J. Cox, of the Charlotte street Methodist church said, "Those of us who have votes are going to vote for local option, and those of us who have not are going to get others who have to vote for local option."

This is one of the splendid features of the campaign for temperance. The young men are for temperance. They have the enthusiasm that accomplishes things. The opponents of local option, on the other hand, for the most part, have to pay people to work for them and pay high. Even then they are not sure of receiving good service.

History shows that when soldiers are paid to fight they never fight as well as those soldiers who fight because they have a great cause. That is the case with the temperance campaign. Those who sell liquor are fighting for dollars and cents, and the privilege of selling men and women that which drags them down body and soul. The advocates of temperance are fighting to save those whom the other side would ruin, or assist to ruin, if they could. Which is the greater, more noble, more inspiring cause? Do you wonder that the temperance workers in Peterborough and elsewhere are so enthusiastic in the fight for local option? The temperance cause has plenty of work ahead for the young men of Peterborough. They should be organizing and preparing themselves for the fray. The editor of this department would like the assistance each week of a couple of young men about 21 years of age. Will someone volunteer?

PROHIBITION HERE TO STAY

Opponents of local option try to tell us sometimes that the wave of prohibition that is sweeping over this continent is one of sentiment, and that it will not last. They predict that before long it will spend its force, and that those sections which have local option will go back to license.

They are wrong. They fail to realise that the years of noble work of education that have been put forth by members of the W.C.T.U., Total Abstinence Societies, Good Templar organizations, and other are at last bearing glorious fruit. The time has come when the scales have fallen from the eyes of people, and they now see the effects of the liquor traffic in all its hideous deformity.

The hundreds of thousands of young people who have had temperance taught to them for years in the Sunday and Public schools, have grown to manhood, and are now lined up on the temperance side. They can no longer be fooled by the arguments that misled many of their fathers before them. Their ranks are increasing in numbers every day. They see that it is enforced when once secured. That is one reason why sections that have had local option for years have not gone back to license. "Right is might and will prevail."

CAMPAIGN NOTES

Reference was made in the columns of the local press the other day to the case of a young man who in self-protection asked to have his name placed on the black list. He had no difficulty in having his request granted but why should the community tolerate an evil against which the individual is compelled to seek the protection of the law. Local option will do away with the necessity for any such action as this young man was forced to take.

May 1st saw the introduction of local option into a large number of places in Ontario. In addition 40 licenses were cut off in the city of Toronto and several in other places. On the whole there will be in the province about 100 fewer places for the sale of liquor. In Toronto the holders of the licenses that have not been renewed, have been given three months to dispose of their stock on hand. For this they are compelled to pay the proportion of the fee for the time they keep open. Several decided not to take advantage of this privilege and went out of business at once. In this way the cause is gradually making headway. The indications at the present time are that at this time next year there will be even a larger number than now to disappear. Peterborough alone will furnish a fifth of that number.

A special dispatch to The Globe, dated Norwood, May 1st says: Today is the first anniversary of Local Option in this town, and the record of the year is such that some avowed opponents of the measure have been made its friends and advocates. The day is being marked by an amusing affair. Last Hallowe'en the toughs of the town gathered up all the old liquor bottles they could find and at midnight deposited them on the lawn surrounding the residence of Rev. W. H. Adams, who had been an active worker in the local option movement. Although much indignation was expressed at the time that gentleman took the matter good humoredly and the bottles, turned into tasteful mantle ornaments are being sold by him this afternoon through Duffield's jewellery store at thirty-five cents each. The demand for these interesting souvenirs exceeds the supply and some persons have to content themselves with a grouped photograph of the bottles. The clergyman gets his fun and a nice round sum into the bargain from the Hallowe'en donation.

BAULKED AT ALTAR AND NOW IS SUED

Charles F. Griffith's Love Grew Cold When Bride Demanded Allowance

New York, May 7.—Only a few weeks ago the gong of every passing trolley car reminded Charles F. Griffith, of No. 205 Jamaica avenue, East New York, of the wedding bells, about to ring out so merrily, merrily. Now he fears every ring at his doorbell lest it mean another process server. He has just been served in a breach of promise suit for $50,000 damages, brought by Elizabeth Behner, of No. 26 New Jersey avenue.

Miss Behner is young and pretty, buy in spite of the fact that Mr. Griffith is a bachelor of seventy-five and has asthma and heart trouble, as well as $100,000, she says she is still ready to marry him. The ceremony was about to be performed, in fact, by Magistrate Furlong, when the aged suitor balked at a proposal to deed absolutely to his prospective bride the house in which her foster parents live and to pay her an allowance of $20 a week.

Miss Behner employed Eugene V. Brewster, of No. 26 Court street, Brooklyn, while Mr. Griffith has retained George O. Buechner, of No. 350 Fulton street. Mr. Griffith admits all the allegations regarding his wooing, even to the soft impeachment that he lost his heart to Miss Behner when she, calling at his house to pay the rent of the house where her foster parents lived, nursed him through a sudden seizure of heart trouble.

But there is a decided difference of opinion as to who is responsible for the breaking off of the match. Mr. Griffith is certain it was Miss Behner who said "no" at the last minute. But he will not go so far as to say that he, like she, is still ready to have the knot tied. He declares he will spend his last cent in fighting the suit before he will see any of his money in her hands.

Miss Behner is relying as evidence upon the marriage license, a wedding ring and a gold watch and chain, Griffith's wedding gift. Meanwhile she has gone to the Catskill Mountains to await the result of her suit, while Mr. Griffith whiles away the time reading several hundred letters from other women in all parts of the country, who express a willingness to be his darling.

A Centenarian Tells of Pioneer Methods and Difficulties—Mr. Joseph Mantell Will Be One Hundred Years Old on Monday—When Canada Was Young.

One hundred years old on Monday, May 10th. That's what Mr. Robert Mantell of this city will be, and in spite of the fact that it is a century ago since he was born, he retains every faculty with the exception of perfect hearing. Mr. Mantell's native land was England, and he first saw the light of day on May 10th, 1809. He is residing with his grand son-in-law, Mr. J. C. Edwards, 492 Charlotte street, and has lived here for the past two years, coming from Tillsonburg, Ont., where he was a citizen for twenty years.

REMARKABLY WELL PRESERVED

The centenarian sailed from England in August, 1837, and arrived at Quebec on June 14th, being six weeks making the ocean voyage. He has been in Canada since and worked at his trade of shoemaker, varied by experiences as a farmer and butcher.

A Review representative was given an audience by Mr. Mantell last evening, and was quite surprised to find him keenly alert and lucid in his conversation. When it is considered that he has passed the allotted age of three score and ten his intelligent grasp of affairs is remarkable. His vitality and physical powers are well retained, too, and he still takes an interest and active part in his favorite occupation of gardening. Altogether Mr. Mantell is a man of exceptional qualities for one who has reached the one-hundred-year mark.

ARRIVED AT REBELLION PERIOD

In 1837, when Mr. Mantell came to Canada and settled in Toronto, he certainly arrived at a time when he would not have the most favorable opinion of this fair Dominion. At the time Mr. Mantell reached this country it was seething with excitement over the Mackenzie Rebellion. The new colonist did not take any part in the fighting, such as it was, but, like everybody else, was considerably stirred up over the exciting happenings of the rebellion period. Three of Mackenzie's principal followers in Toronto were Capt. Gibson, Dr. Horne, and an hotelkeeper by the name of Montgomery. Mr. Mantell was commissioned by the government to take an inventory of Capt. Montgomery's property after that officer was a fugitive, and outside of an eager sentimental participation that was the only part he took in connection with the uprising.

The Toronto Mr. Mantell saw was not the attractive and busy city of to-day, but a comparatively quiet place of 10,000. Toronto was just incorporated into a city in 1835, so it was only an infant of two years at the time of the rebellion.

STRENUOUS ELECTION AFFAIRS

In speaking of the rebellions and military the reporter asked if the centenarian had ever been connected with any regiment or done any fighting, and was told that he had not. In fact, Mr. Mantell has never taken a very deep interest in matters military, and only used to turn out at the compulsory militia drill, which was yearly before Confederation on June 4th. In the days when that regulation was the ruling of the Government vocal voting openly was also in effect and the voters used to take the precaution to go to the polls armed with an axe handle to protect themselves in case their choice of candidate didn't meet with the approval of some belligerent individual and in order to protect against any of the turbulent outbreaks so common to those strenuous election days. Many and interesting were the reminiscences told the newspaper man by the old gentleman, and what commenced as an interview became an unconventional and entertaining chat. No systematic plan of questioning was adopted, but the story was told simply as a story would be told, and the different instances in connection with it are just given in the order they were related.

PRIMITIVE METHODS.

"My first work," said Mr. Mantell, "was when I was ten or eleven years old. It was keeping birds off grain in the parish of Endlin, in the County of Middlesex. I worked sixteen hours a day and was paid fourpence for the day's work, which remuneration would not be considered princely in these days of high prices, labor unions and long winters. However, it was a boy who was receiving a pittance, and it looked as big to the juvenile earner as the Standard Oil dividends do to John D."

Among the various primitive methods that Mr. Mantell called to mind was the one in England of sawing lumber in a saw pit. A log was placed over the pit, in which a man stood, and with the assistance of a fellow above and a crosscut saw, the log was sawed into lumber. The man in the pit wore a crepe mask over his eyes to prevent the sawdust from getting into his eyes.

HARD TO GET EDUCATION.

The early educational difficulties that Charles Dickens has written about were experienced by the school children of Mr. Mantell's boyhood. When he went to school in the old country there was only one free school in each district, and the pupils had to walk as far as five miles to attend. The teachers who were appointed by the authorities and over whom the ratepayers had no jurisdiction, direct or indirect, were quite often tyrannical in their methods of corporal punishment, and earned their money in remarkably easy fashion, imparting little knowledge to them and taking little interest in the educational welfare of the young ones under their charge. The New Testament and Cobb's spelling book were all the printed sources of information that the little earners had at their disposal. This with the slate and slate pencil was the formidable equipment of the parish school student.

LOUD CELEBRATION OF WATERLOO.

One of the most memorable incidents in the life of the subject of this article was the great victory of Waterloo in 1812. England was in an uproar of jubilation from one end of the country to the other, and the patriotic proclaimers of victory took unlimited advantage of the opportunity to show their joy by further stimulating their patriotism by liberal potations of beer. Beer in those days was considered an absolute necessity, and even the most temperately inclined used it as a beverage.

A STAUNCH MASON.

Mr. Mantell is a staunch member of the Masonic Order and was a Mason before coming to this country. The first lodge he was associated with was St. Paul's, 209, which was located about six miles from London. He is probably one of the oldest Masons in Canada, and is a member of King Hiram Lodge, Tillsonburg. Last St. John's night spoke at Corinthian and Peterborough Lodges, and the Masonic Sun published a reference of some length on this interesting occasion.

LOOK AT THESE PRICES.

Reminiscences of the most entertaining nature can be recalled by the old gentleman regarding the difficulties of Canada, and he could interest any listener with a wide variety of accounts of the struggles and hardships of the early founders of Canada. The trips to the market were long and over unbeaten roads and live stock and farm produce sold at what now seems a ridiculously low prize. Wheat brought only 20 cents a bushel; beef was sold at 1 1-2 cents per pound; sheep sometimes sold as low wholesale as 25c a head, and other things in these lines were correspondingly cheap.

In spite of the deprivations and hardships of those times the people were as a rule generally happier, healthier and more contented than than they are in these days when modern conveniences and better facilities in every line makes man's work a thousandfold less trying, and has reduced money-making to a practical science.

"Why I Recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills"

The Particulars of a Remarkable Cure Told by a Presbyterian Clergyman—The Sufferer Brought Back from Death's Door.

St. Andrew's Manse,
Cardigan, P.E.I., Jan, 1908.

Though I have never been sick myself and have not had occasion to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I thought you ought to know of the remarkable cure they have wrought in Mr. Olding's case.

During a visit to my home in Merigomish, N.S., some years ago, I was grieved to find our next door neighbor and friend, Michael Olding, very low. "He is not expected to live," my mother informed me, "And you must go over and see him as he is liable to pass away at any moment." "Not expected to live," that was the opinion not only of the doctor who attended him, but of his wife and family as well. Upon visiting him myself I found abundant evidence to confirm their opinion.

Mr. Olding had for years been afflicted with asthma and bronchitis, but now a complication of diseases was ravishing his system. He had been confined to his bed for months and was reduced to a skeleton. Though evidently glad to see me, he conversed with the greatest difficulty and seemed to realise that it was the beginning of the end. He was daily growing weaker; his feet were swollen to twice their natural size, and the cold hand of death was upon his brow. "Its no use," he said feebly, "the doctor's medicine is not helping me and I am going down rapidly." I prayed with him as a man soon to pass into eternity, and when I took his hand in parting it was the last time I expected to see him in the flesh.

Three years later while on another visit to my mother's Michael Olding was seemingly in better health than I had ever seen him, for, as I said, he had always been ailing. In sheer desperation he had asked his wife to get him Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They soon began to help him. His appetite and strength began to improve, and to the astonishment of his family and friends he rapidly regained his health. Now, though the burden of well nigh fourscore years is upon him, he is able to do a fair day's work, and he is in the enjoyment of good health, even though the asthma has ceased to trouble him as in former years.

Mr. Olding himself, as well as his neighbors and the writer of this letter, confidently believe that his rescue from the very jaws of death—seemingly so miraculous—is due under the blessing of God to the timely and continuous use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

REV. EDWIN SMITH, M.A.

Mr. Olding himself writes:—"I am glad Rev. Mr. Smith has written you about my wonderful cure, for I confidently believe that if it had not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I would have been dead long ago. It would be impossible to exaggerate the desperate condition I was in when I began to use the Pills. No one thought I could get better. I scarcely dared hope myself that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills would bring me through, but they did, and I have ever since enjoyed good health. Though I am seventy-nine years old people are always remarking on how young I look—and I feel young. I can do a fair day's work, and I am better in every way than I had been for years. I cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I take every opportunity I can to recommend them to friends who are ailing."

FROM ST. CATHARINES TO LINDSAY IN AUTOMOBILE

Lindsay, May 7.—Messrs. Melville Robinson and Reub Sadler arrived in town last evening at 9.30 o'clock from St. Catharines with Mr. William Sadler's new Reo automobile. Owing to the inclement weather the trip was not as enjoyable as it might have been, the roads in many places being in bad condition.

They left St. Catharines at 4.30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon and went as far as Hamilton, arriving there at 7 o'clock and remaining over night. While in Hamilton they visited Herkimer street, on which is situated the much-talked-of Kinrade home.

They left Hamilton yesterday morning at 9 o'clock and arrived in Toronto at noon, where they remained for a few hours. They left Toronto at 3 o'clock and arrived in Lindsay at 9.30 o'clock last evening, travelling through the electrical storm and rain.

The two gentlemen came from Toronto by way of Whitby. This was the auto's first trip and it ran perfectly through the entire long trip. It is a runabout with a ten horse power engine.

SEVEN YEARS AN INVALID

Then She Took "Fruit-a-tives" And Is Now Well.

Arnprior, Ont., Nov. 27, 1908.

I was an invalid for seven years from fearful Womb Trouble. I had falling womb, with constant pain in the back and front of my body and all down my legs. There was a heavy discharge and this made me weak, sleepless, restless and miserable. Often I was obliged to be in bed for a month at a time. I was treated by several doctors, but their treatment did me no permanent good.

A few months ago, I was persuaded to try "Fruit-a-tives." I took several boxes, and from the outset of this treatment I was better, the Constipation was cured, and the discharge lessened. I took, for the paleness, several bottles of the Iron Mixture as recommended in the "Fruit-a-tives" book, but I feel that it was "Fruit-a-tives" alone that cured me.

(Mrs.) Eliza Levesque.

Take Mrs. Levesque's advice. Take "Fruit-a-tives" and cure yourself. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50; trial box 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

SMALL MARKET THIS MORNING

Prices Remained Stationary With Potatoes Offered in Considerable Quantities

There was only a small market this morning and prices remained stationary. Considerable quantities of potatoes were offered at prices from $1.00 to $1.25 a bag. One lady asked a farmer this morning the price of his potatoes on his arrival on the market, and he asked 90 cents a per bag. She immediately offered to take six bags at the price, but the farmer refused to sell, and on being told the other prices he slid his supply up another fifteen cents a bag. The fine weather is bringing out the medicine spielers, and they will from now on proceed to explain the merits of their goods to the large number who take advantage of the varigated programme, which generally precedes the spiel.

St. John's Mission Band

St. John's Mission Band will hold their annual entertainment on Friday, May 14th. in the school room of the church. The children are preparing an interesting programme which will include a pretty cantata, "Flora's Birthday." The admission fee will be 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children.

Handed a Lemon

The Belleville Ontario was handed a large sized lemon. It was a genuine curiosity and it was a real lemon grown in that city by Mr John Hicks, Moira street. The lemon measured 11 1-2 inches by 12 1-2 and was the largest specimen ever seen in Belleville. It with four others grew on a three year old tree and at present there are also blossoms, green and ripe fruit on the tree which has been inside the house all winter. They resemble grape fruit but they are genuine lemons and as Mr Hicks says, "They make delicious pies."

LA FREMERSBERG A REALISTIC TONE PICTURE WHICH WILL BE PLAYED BY 57TH BAND

One of the most magnificent tone pictures that has been placed in the Library of the 57th Regimental Band is "La Fremersberg," a grand German hunting and pastoral fantasia by Koennemann. La Fremersberg is the name of a large estate in Germany, and the Margrave is the lord of the estate. This explanation is made in order that the synopsis of the piece given below may be more easily comprehended by the reader.

For a considerable length of time the band has been practicing the number, which is one that requires particularly intelligent expression, and it will undoubtedly make an impression with the audiences at the park concerts this summer. It is a composition that will be thoroughly enjoyed by the critical and at the same time will appeal to the popular taste, owing to its beautiful color and descriptive effects.

The Margrave's horn, echoed by the mountains, is heard summoning the huntsmen, and the fanfare, heard first in the distance, then drawing nearer indicates their approach. This is followed by the signal for the hunt to commence. During the rustic scene which follows the horns are heard both near and in the distance. Then comes the song of the country—solo with refrain and dance. During the dance a storm approaches, the wind rises, and the peasants' dance becomes more animated. A peal of thunder stops the dance—the peasants rush shrieking away to seek shelter. The lightning flashes; the storm grows in intensity; at last it bursts forth in full fury; rain falls in torrents; the thunder crashes.

The Margrave, who has been overtaken by the storm, is heard crying for help—in vain—the noise of the storm drowns his appeal. Overcome by weariness the Margrave falls to the ground. Suddenly he hears the monastery bell and the chant of the monks. Following the sound he finds the Fremersberg. The storm ceases, and the retainers who have been seeking the Margrave, find him in the Monastery. All join joyfully in the Te Deum.

CITY ASKED TO CONSIDER BURLEIGH FALLS POWER

Mr. J. A. Culverwell, of the Central Ontario Power Company, and Mr. R. J. McLaughlin, K.C., of Lindsay, a prominent shareholder of the company, addressed an emergency meeting of the City Council in committee of the whole last night and outlined their scheme for the development of electric power at Burleigh Falls.

They want the city to purchase Burleigh Falls power and develop it themselves or to purchase it developed from the company. They said they are having a report by a prominent engineer prepared now and that it would be ready about the end of next week. As soon as it was they would give it to the Council as the company is very anxious to do business with the city.

It is a well known fact that the city would like to purchase the Burleigh Falls power and have been for several years. From the discussion which took place last night, however, it is probable that something definite will result very shortly.

After hearing the representatives of the company and after discussing the matter the company passed the following resolution;

Moved by Ald. Bradburn, and seconded by Ald. Buller, that the Central Ontario Power Company be asked if they wish to sell Burleigh Falls to the city, and if so will they give the city an option, and the offer will be given serious and prompt consideration by the Council, as the Council is desirous of having this power property purchased by the city.

GRADUATING EXERCISES OF NICHOLLS HOSPITAL

Before a large gathering at the Collegiate Institute assembly hall four young ladies last night, were presented with diplomas and medals certifying that they had graduated as trained nurses. It was the annual graduating exercises of the Nicholls hospital and the event was of a most interesting nature. As already stated a large number were in attendance and the presentation of the diplomas and medals was the occasion for great applause. The graduating nurses were Miss Laura G. Elliott, Miss Clara E. Elliott, Miss Reta M. Dela Matter and Miss Isabel J. Smith.

Besides the four young ladies in the graduating class, the full nursing staff of the hospital was present, including the superintendent and her assistants and they occupied the front row of seats. On the platform were the board of directors of the hospital, and Mr. Richard Hall, the chairman of the board, and of the Nicholls estate, along with Dr. Scott and Dr. Cameron, who took part in the programme.

The programme was of an exceptionally interesting nature. The addresses were good, and the musical numbers were greatly appreciated. The graduates after they had received their diplomas and medals were literally buried in flowers. Large numbers of friends sent beautiful bouquets of roses, carnations, lily of the valley and other fragrant blossoms so that the girls were obliged to pile them on chairs after their arms were filled. The floral contributions were an eloquent tribute to the young ladies whose attentive services in the hospital have won for them a warm spot in the hearts of many.

Chairman Richard Hall in opening the exercises stated that he thoroughly appreciated the large attendance. It showed the growing interest in the hospital work. Since the training school for nurses was opened 70 young ladies have graduated and today many of those are holding prominent positions in Canada and the United States. The staff this year consists of seventeen nurses, while the medical staff is excellent.

Five hundred and ninety patients were treated in 1908 when the number of deaths was only twenty. The Nicholls compared favorably with any institution of its kind on the continent and was a credit to Peterborough.

REV. DR. LANGFELDT

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt stated that everyone was no doubt delighted to be present to pay their respects to those young ladies, who have, by their studious labors succeeded in reaching the goal of their ambitions. These young ladies will now start out in the world to follow their chosen profession, which is assisting their fellow beings. The speaker paid a tribute to the staff and the hospital and referred in very warm terms to the late Mrs. Nicholls who endowed the institution and who has provided in a large measure for its maintenance. He appealed to the citizens of Peterborough to accept their share in forwarding the interests of Nicholls hospital so that in future it will be even better than at the present time although Nicholls hospital will now compare very favorably with any other. At the present time an enlargement of the hospital is needed and is very necessary. It will, in fact, have to be constructed very shortly. The speaker then paid a high tribute to the nursing profession which he styled as the greatest profession for alleviating the sufferings of humanity. He gave to the graduating class a motto, "For as much as ye have done it unto one of Mine, etc." and in conclusion he pointed out to the graduates the danger of allowing the profession to degenerate into a mercenary consideration a state of affairs, which would be much regretted. He paid a high tribute to the doctors on the hospital staff and he said he would like to see a house surgeon engaged in the hospital. He complimented the nurses and the graduates of the Nicholls hospital and appealed to those who were graduating this year to always be loyal to their alma mater.

DR. CAMERON

Dr. Cameron, as representative of the staff, expressed his great pleasure as being allowed the privilege of thus addressing the graduates on this occasion. He said that in future he would like to see more money available for the carrying on of the hospital work, for enlarging the hospital and the engaging of a house surgeon. He expressed his appreciation of the nursing staff who had always been of great assistance to the doctors and who had been of even more assistance to the patients.

In reference to nursing as a profession he said that it was the greatest of all labors in which a woman can indulge. He suggested to the nurses to set up for themselves a high ideal and to labor to realize that ideal. He told about Florence Nightingale, one of the ablest women in history. The hospital is the outgrowth of the introduction of christianity, and the nurses are the women of the church, and it has been continuously growing side by side with Christianity. He said to the graduating nurses that they might take Florence Nightingale as a model to go by and to always remember that a nurse must be thorough. One who is not is worthless. She should also always be ready for service, no matter what the conditions are, whether a poor home or a rich one.

The presentation of diplomas and medals was one of the most interesting features of the evening. The graduating nurses, Miss Laura G. Elliott, Miss Clara E. Elliott, Miss Reta M. Dela Matter and Miss Isabel J. Smith, advanced to the platform, where Dr. W. D. Scott gave them the solemn declaration. Following this Mr. Richard Hall presented the young ladies with their diplomas, and Mr. John McClelland presented the medals which were pinned on by Miss F. E. Dela Matter, the superintendent of the hospital.

Dr. Scott then presented Miss Smith with the prize for the bandaging contest, and congratulated her upon her success which, he said, was an additional distinction as all the class had done exceptionally well.

THE VALEDICTORY.

Miss Laura G. Elliott, the young lady who headed the class at the examinations, read the valedictory address, an honor which is the highest in the gift of the board. Miss Elliott's address was cleverly prepared, and well read. In it she displayed considerable literary talent, and proved herself worthy of the honor conferred upon her.

Those who assisted in the musical part of the programme, and who added greatly to the pleasure of the audience and the success of the evening were: Mr. Frank Bemrose, tenor, of Toronto; Miss Helen Davies, soprano; Miss Carrie Hessor, soprano; Mr. John Crane, tenor, and Miss Meldrum, pianist.

It might be mentioned that Mr. John McClelland, who presented the medals, is next to Mr. Hall, the senior member of Nicholls Hospital Board. He is the representative of St. Andrew's church, and has been a member of the board since it was organized.

CRESSMAN'S DEPARTMENT STORES

"Two-piece Suits are in very active demand"—Dry Goods Economist.

Popular Styles FOR Women

Elegant Princess Gowns

"Dame Fashion's" Favourites

SCORES of styles in Women's Suits and Dresses are shown in our Ready-to wear Department, and not two are alike. We have only one of a kind and do not repeat orders, thus insuring our patrons against the possibility of having a suit duplicated in the city.

Our styles are the most exclusive, select fashions seen anywhere and discriminate dressers appreciate this fact more every day. When you buy a good suit from us, you take no chance of your next door neighbor appearing with the self same style.

Glance at our stock to-night; Yes, give it a critical examination and you will realize the reasons for our pride in this beautiful display of Women's Costumes.

Among the most pronounced styles is the embroidery or lace coat with the linen Indian Head skirt, used as a two-piece suit or as seperate skirt and coat,

A large variety of Princess Lingerie Dresses in white and dainty color effects.

Learn Dress Cutting and Making

Class to Commence at Y.W.C.A. May 31

Wanted, ladies to learn dress cutting, dress making and coat making. No accomplishment you can acquire will prove to you of such everyday lifelong value as a practical knowledge of dress-making. We teach you everything from the plainest shirt waist to the most elaborate toilet and guarantee perfect satisfaction. We stand prepared to forfeit $25 to any lady who after taking our course can show us an article in dressmaking she cannot cut, fit and put together. Not only the lining, but all the outer goods in Coats, Skirts, Waists, Sleeves, Wrappers, Girdles, Children's Clothes, etc.

Charge for full course is now only $10, to be paid when through, if satisfied. This includes one of the most perfect systems in use.

Hours for day classes, 9 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. An evening class will also be taught for the benefit of those who cannot come during the day, from 7 to 9 p.m.

All wishing to learn or for full particulars be sure to meet me on Saturday, May 29th, at Y.W.C.A., Peterboro'

RATHER KIND TO THE OPPOSITION

How Madoc Review Refers to the Starting of New Paper in That Town

This is how the editor of the Madoc Review refers to the establishment of an opposition paper in that town;—

The new paper started by B. G. McKerracher in opposition to the Review made its appearance last week. For some reason we have not been favoured with a copy, and were obliged to depend on the kind assistance of a friend in order to ever get a peep at the new publication. It is called the Mercury—a continuation, it appears, of the old Mercury published in Madoc about forty years ago by the late A. Smallfield (rather an ancient ideal to set up, we venture to suggest). Like its old namesake, it is small, 8 pages, 10 by 12, but the editor modestly (?) remarks that he will furnish brains instead of pulp. The price corresponds with the whole outfit—only 50 cents a year. Although we naturally think the field limited, we wish the publisher every success, even if he won't send us a copy.

Dr. Browett imported two large crates of Gold Fish Globes and aquaria to day.

THE POWER QUESTION

The council looks to have a reasonable prospect of acquiring power for municipal purposes at a reasonable rate if their calculations are borne out. There was a time when a power trust or a monopoly of water powers was a thing to be dreaded but that time, our city fathers say, is past. It is always plain that the value of water powers lies in their use, not in their idleness and unless Burleigh power is made use of, it is never likely to become a "paying proposition." That it will be sold to Peterborough to their mutual advantage is a likely prospect. There is no longer any opportunity or time for jollying and it is probable that when the council is ready to get down to "business" the business will be there for them to do. That they are conducting the "power business" with due foresight and skill seems now to be made plain.

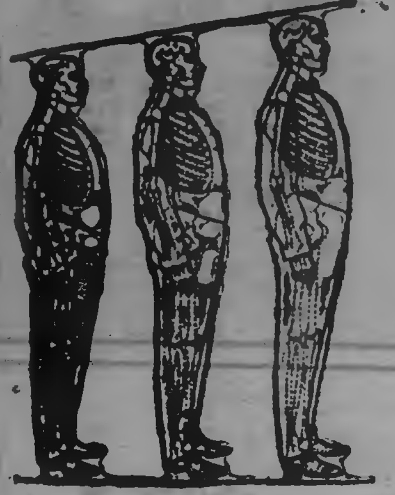
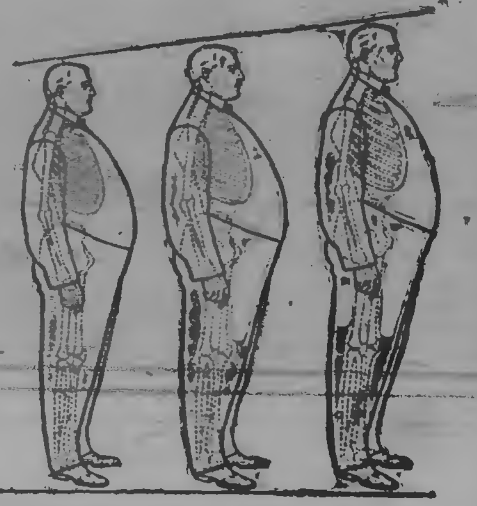
How Tall are you and How Big around?





You can increase or decrease the appearance of length or the lack of it.

A Coat that looks well on a man six feet tall will surely look ill on the man of five feet.

A pattern or a style that is becoming to a slender man will be unseemly on a stout man.

One great advantage of getting Clothes tailored the Semi-ready way is the fact that our tailor can study his client and show him patterns that suit his personality, and styles that blend with his individuality. He has a Semi-ready stock suit ready to finish in two hours. He has the physique type chart, and he has besides 250 cloth patterns of made-in-four-day suits, if one or another of the many suits shown do not exactly meet approval.

It makes no difference to the Semi-ready dealer what you want, a check or a plain cloth. He can add to your inches by an arrangement of stripe pattern or decrease a generous girth by using judgment in the selection of a design which "pulls in" an abundant waist.

Look for this — On Every Coat

Semi-ready Clothes not only fit the figure, but fit each man's personality.

With from $5 to $15 saved on a suit you cannot afford to overlook the full possibilities of the Semi-ready Tailor-made

SPORTING NEWS

TWO GOOD MIDLAND LEAGUE DISTRICTS COULD BE FORMED

The question of Organizing the League Attracting Attention in This District—Six Teams Could be Entered—Meeting Should be Called.

The live topic in local and district baseball circles at the present time is the question of organizing a Midland Baseball League. The proposal seems a good one, and its up to the teams interested to get busy at once and bring matters to a working point.

Port Hope, Lindsay, Peterborough, Bowmanville, Cobourg, Oshawa — those are the different teams that could be represented in the League, three teams in each district, with the teams in the two divisions in the order named above.

With a three team district each team would have a bye every third Saturday, but this would give an opportunity of the team with the bye getting an exhibition game with a fast outside nine, and this would lend more variety and interest to the season.

One thing that all teams, including Peterborough, of course, will want, judging from the tenor of their suggestions, is that the league be run on a purely amateur basis, with no out-of-town players eligible to play. The league is apparently not a large enough one to support pro. ball, and the public in the past has always given strict amateur ball good support.

The Midland League trophy rests in Peterborough, and it would be an excellent idea to hold a meeting in this city at an early date, and thoroughly discuss the situation with a view to league organization.

T.A.S. BALL PLAYERS WERE BUSY THIS AFTERNOON

A large number of T.A.S. ball players held a practice this afternoon in Boswell's field. The team promises to be a strong one and will probably have all of last year's nine available with the exception of one player. The total abstinence aggregation will make a strong bid for the pennant and from now on will take advantage of every occasion to practice.

Among those who were out this afternoon were:—Cahill, Hayes, Corkery, M. O'Brien, W. O'Brien, O. Giroux, L. Giroux, Gerald McFadden, Leo Derocher, Harry Quinlan, Ab. Quinlan and Jimmy Callaghan.

The ball club is asked to bear in mind the "At Home," which will be held at the T.A.S. rooms on Wednesday night, under the auspices of the athletic club. A large attendance is looked for at the "At Home."

T.A.S. ATHLETIC CLUB "AT HOME"

Will be Held in the Society's Rooms on Wednesday Evening

An "at home" under the auspices of the T.A.S. Athletic Club, will be held in the T.A.S. rooms on Wednesday evening. The committee in charge is making arrangements in connection with the event, which promises to be one of the most successful functions under the T.A.S. auspices this season.

Demands are being made for the cleaning of Hamilton's filtering basin.

ST. ANDREW'S WILL HAVE TEAM

Will be Represented in Junior Church League—Would Like Age Limit Raised

At the regular meeting of the Boys' Guild of St. Andrew's church last evening, it was decided to organize a baseball team for the season, and to place a team in the junior Church League. The Guild has a number of good players, and another meeting will be held in the near future to elect officers and make arrangements for the season. St. Andrew's are in favor of having the age limit of the league raised one year.

BALL TOSSER'S CORNER

Rule 55.—The baserunner shall return to his base without liability to be put out when:

Sec. 1—If the umpire declares any foul not legally caught.

Sec. 2—If the umpire declares a foul strike.

Sec. 3—If the umpire declares a dead ball, unless it be also the fourth unfair ball, and he be therefore forced to take next base.

Sec. 4—If the person or the clothing of the umpire interfere with the catcher in an attempt to throw, or the umpire be struck with a ball thrown by the catcher or other fielder to intercept a baserunner.

Sec. 5—If a pitched ball at which the batsman strikes, but misses, touches any part of the batsman's person.

Sec. 6—In any and all of these cases the baserunner is not required to touch the intervening bases in returning to the base he is legally entitled to.

You may be good at stooping,
You may be good at scooping,
You may be good at spearing them
when they are going out.
And without the slightest trouble
You mix it in a double,
But it gets you very little if you're not there with the clout.
We can overlook an error
In the man who is a terror
To the opposing pitcher when it comes to tie the score.
No matter what you hand 'em,
Come they single or in tandem,
As long as you can equal them and get one more.

You may reach out and take 'em
With the gloved hand or the naked,
You may nail 'em on the sign board
when a run is coming through.
You may nail the man who laces
The swat to fill the bases,
But it isn't what you do to them,
but what they do to you.
You may shine on the defensive,
But the "shine" on the offensive
Is the bloke that sets the figures in the place they don't belong.
You may be full of pepper,
You may be a high stepper,
But you have to smite that pellet if you'd please the throng.

There is every indication that keen rivalry will exist among the teams who will battle for the Review cup in the Intermediate League. Judging from different conversations that have taken place during the last few days, the Strathconas, last year's champions, are doomed to lose the silverware. But there is many a slip etc., and you can't always, sometimes generally, tell, as Bill Metheral says. Very little is known as to who the men will be to represent the Straths. Many of last season's players are not available, and their places will have to be filled with new men, but a few surprise packages will likely be given to the other teams when the red and white aggregation are seen in action.

Many games were played this afternoon on the vacant lots of the city. The school boys are mostly the contestants, who are, no doubt, glad the warm weather prevails on their weekly holiday.

Toronto lost yesterday to Baltimore by 6—2. Moffitt and Hickey pitched for the Leafs, but the Clamdiggers got away with the hits when they were needed. Toronto could not produce the necessary clouts with men on bases, although they batted in fine style.

Jersey City shut out Buffalo yesterday by 2—0. The Bisons' twirlers struck out eleven of their opponents, but were wild.

New York Americans won from Boston in an exciting game. Several scraps occurred, and Tim Hurst, who umpired, was away off color in his decisions, and figured in a mix-up of the New York players.

QUOITS

Mr. Charles Brandon, of Douro, the well-known bard, to-day launched a challenge open to the world for a game of quoits. Mr. Brandon was playing quoits in the yard of the Peterborough House this afternoon, and announced to the Review that he had all his competitors badly discounted. Mr. Brandon is a strict amateur, both as a poet and a quoit tosser.

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

Richard the Brazen

...By...
CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY,
Author of "For the Freedom of the Sea," "The Southerners," Etc.,
AND
EDWARD PEPLE,
Author of "A Broken Rosary," "The Prince Chap," Etc.

Copyright, 1906, by Moffat, Yard & Company.

He was led to the door of a bare but sunny room, spotlessly clean, where the woman left him. He entered and closed the door sharply behind him and then turned to face the bandaged earl reposing peacefully in bed.

"Look here, Croyland! What do you mean by giving my name in place of your own?"

The earl smiled up at him and winked craftily.

"Now, don't be a silly ass, old chap. Sit down. You can't smoke here, but I dare say you won't mind."

Richard seated himself somewhat irritably and awaited the answer to his question. For a moment the Englishman lay with closed eyes, then opened them and drawled out irrelevantly:

"Ripping girl, that Miss Sempton, eh? Don't let me forget her address—832 Madison avenue. I shall send flowers—er"—

"To thunder with your flowers!" snapped Richard, a red spot appearing on either cheek. "Why did you give my name?"

"Now, don't be in a hurry, Dickie; I'm coming to that," returned the Englishman, with maddening complacency. "You see, dear boy, it is this way: I'm here in New York on a most delicate affair in the interests of a foreign government, and I can't afford to be written up in the newspapers as having been knocked out in an accident. Really, you know, it might lead to international complications and all that sort of thing. By Jove, you can't imagine!"

"But"— began his friend, when the Englishman checked him with his unwounded hand.

"It is simply out of the question, old chap. I'd have a lot of fellows after me, and all that. Your newspaper chaps are such silly asses they'd get my business out of me and ruin everything. And, then, another thing—there'll be trouble about that motor and possibly a lawsuit by that idiot of a farmer. I couldn't have that, you know. It would be most annoying—beastly!"

"Oh, I see," said Richard, with infinite scorn in his tone; "it will be far easier for you to lie snug here and be petted and coddled by good looking nurses, while I'm saddled with tribulation and a live wire."

"Infinitely," agreed the Earl of Croyland, with beaming good nature. "You can see that yourself."

"No, I can't," said Richard, "and, what's more, I won't!"

"You are a private citizen and can do what you please, you know. I'm a public person and cawn't."

"I won't do it, I say!" persisted the other stubbornly.

"Oh, yes, you will, old chap," the Englishman asserted with infectious assurance. "I'd do the same for you, and it won't be long either. By the way, I won't be able to go to the Renwycks at Irvington tomorrow."

Richard brightened visibly. The proposition afforded some points of advantage after all.

"You see," the earl went on, "I'll be laid up here for perhaps two weeks, and I don't want our ambassador to know it. My right arm is out of commission, and I cawn't write my excuses to Mr. Renwyck. I want you to see him personally and explain the matter to him quietly. Ask him if he'll be good enough to hold my luggage until I can get out of this place and send for it. My man will arrive there with my boxes tomorrow from Washington. Now, won't you do this for me, old fellow?"

"Well, yes, I suppose so, so long as I am in for it," said Richard, striving to conceal his joy. "Anything else?"

The earl nodded.

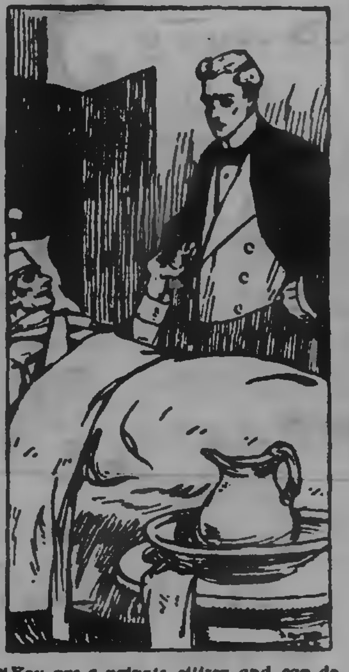
"I'd be glad if you would dismiss my man as soon as he arrives. Bills is his name, Woolsey Bills."

"Yes, I remember him now. Lord, what a name!" said Richard, who had seen the man at San Antonio with Croyland for a day or so before his lordship started for the ranch, sending his man back to New York.

"Yes, isn't it? So suggestive, you know, to have him always around—specially on the first of the month, you know."

"Is that why you are going to fire him?"

"No; he's a lazy beggar," returned the earl, languidly suppressing a yawn, "and a thief, too, by Jove! The last time it was four pound six and my jeweled cigar cutter. Mention it to him—he'll understand. You might say also that I have a letter from his friend Mr. Drake of Scotland Yard."



"You are a private citizen and can do what you please."

For half an hour longer Richard remained with the earl discussing the details of the explanation to Mr. Renwyck and some other matters which he could attend to for Lord Croyland. Then he arose to take his leave, promising to run up to Irvington the next morning.

"Oh, I say, Wilson," the earl called after him as he reached the door, the nurse having just entered with a warning that Mr. Williams must be left alone forthwith, "you won't forget about that beastly machine, will you?"

"Certainly not," returned the buoyant Richard and immediately became oblivious to "beastly machines" and everything else on earth except the memory of a warm, limp form that had nestled in his arms and a head of wind blown hair that cuddled against his shoulder while he rode amid that mass of cattle on that faroff Texan prairie.

On the following morning Mr. Richard Williams, dressed in his best and with a soul full of hope and foreboding, took the 10:30 local train at the Grand Central station. He chanced to be the only male passenger to alight at Irvington, and with a beating heart he walked down the platform to the exit gate, when suddenly he heard a voice say:

"Pardon me, but are you not Lord Croyland?"

Richard turned to see outside the fence a restive mare hitched to a perfectly appointed trap, in which sat an elderly man of distinguished appearance. He recognized him at once, of course. Now, the Texan had not counted upon meeting Mr. Jacob Renwyck at the station, and his plans were disarranged materially by the unfortunate contretemps. He had hoped to enter the house before his name became known, and also he had prayed that the master thereof might not be at home at the moment of his arrival. However, he must put on a bold front and trust to luck. He pushed his way through the gate and approached the vehicle.

"I recognized you instantly from your picture," said Mr. Renwyck, thrusting out a cordial hand. "Glad to see you. Jump in."

"Pardon me, Mr. Renwyck," Richard began nervously, but the other interrupted:

"No time now. The mare has the devil in her this morning. Jump in. Steady, Molly! Steady!"

Richard's mind was in a whirl. If he wished to see the daughter, he must pass the fractious father first of all, so without more ado he sprang into the trap, intending to explain as they went along. The mare reared, wheeled and started off at a lively pace. Mr. Renwyck held the lines with an expert hand and plunged into a rapid fire of small talk.

"First trip up the Hudson, I take it. Magnificent river, but of course nothing like the Rhine. That's old Walker's place over on your right. Steep hill, this, but good for Molly. Will take some of the spunk out of her, confound her! Steady, girl! Steady!"

"Pardon me, Mr. Renwyck," Richard began again, "my name"—

"Yes, yes; I know," said the old gentleman, taking a corner sharply; "name's all right. I have your letter from Carthwaite. Fine old fellow, isn't he? Had hoped to have him during your visit, but he's gone to Chicago. Hello, postman! Whoa, Molly! Anything for me?"

A letter carrier stepped from the sidewalk and handed a packet of mail. "Party by the name of Lord Croyland stopping at your place, sir?" he asked.

"Yes," replied Mr. Renwyck; "this is the gentleman. Here you are, Lord Croyland. Thanks, postman. Go along, girl!"

The bewildered Richard found several official looking envelopes handed to him and, scarcely knowing what to do with them at present, thrust them into his pocket. They had reached the crest of the hill now and swung away to the left on a level road. Richard essayed once more to straighten out his friend's affair, when his host again cut in:

"You've been in this country for some time, haven't you?"

"Yes, for some time," answered Richard, sparring for an opening.

"What part of it?"

"Oh, around in spots—Texas mostly—dabbling in cattle, you know."

The old gentleman drew his mare up sharply, then let her go again.

"Texas, eh? So have I. Ever met an old skinflint, cattle king, and so on, named Bill Williams?"

The tone of Mr. Renwyck's voice indicated perfectly in what low estimation he held the aforesaid Williams.

"I—I know his son," said Richard nonchalantly.

"Umph! Any improvement on the father?"

"In a way, yes," the young man replied, with a ghost of a smile.

Really, the conversation was growing interesting! For the moment Richard forgot he was Lord Croyland, although a resentment which he could not exhibit considerably modified his amusement.

"Don't believe it!" the old gentleman asserted flatly. "No, sir," he exclaimed, with a snap of his jaw under his white mustache; no, sir! No member of that generation of vipers could ever be anything else than a—than a"—

American Bible Society.

New York, May 8.—The election of Theophilus Anthony Brouwer of this city as president of the American Bible Society as successor to the late Daniel C. Gilman, was announced yesterday. Mr. Brouwer has been connected with the American Bible Society for 42 years, and vice-president of the society for 23 years.

Has Lost Thirty Millions.

New York, May 8.—Charles W Morse, the former banker, who is now in the Tombs prison under sentence for violation of the National Banking Law, has not a share of stock, a bond or a piece of real estate left of his former estate of an estimated value of $30,000,000.

GRATEFUL FOR ECZEMA CURE

Any Sufferer Can Write to Mrs. D. McGillivary, of Nanton, Alta., for Full Information

There are undoubtedly many frauds in the testimonials of medical firms—letters written by friends or even employees of the advertiser. But, on the other hand, in some cases the testimonials are thoroughly genuine, gladly offered by prominent citizens, who are grateful for the cure.

Such a case is that of Mrs. D. (McGillivary, of Nanton, Alberta, who cured her two children with D.D.D., and is glad to tell others about it. She wrote on September 3rd, last:

"Your letter to hand of recent date. I must thank you for so kindly enquiring about my order and also the child. I am glad to say I received the three one dollar bottles of D.D.D. and two cakes of Soap safely, and am delighted with the result of both prescription and Soap. The Soap is all that is required to complete the treatment. The little boy of two years and a half is to all appearance cured of the dreadful Eczema.

"My baby girl at two months broke out with the same rash and I treated her with D.D.D. and am perfectly satisfied she is cured to our great joy. I feel sure it is a splendid remedy for all skin diseases and can highly recommend it. I will be glad to recommend it to any one suffering with skin trouble."

If any reader of this paper should write Mrs. McGillivray, we request that a self-addressed stamped envelope be enclosed.

For free sample bottle of D. D. D. Prescription write to the D.D.D. Laboratory Department, PR., 23 Jordan st., Toronto.

A COLLECTOR OF BAD DEBTS

Has Been Appointed by the Retail Merchants of Brantford

The Brantford Expositor says:

Mr. Norman Willits, late of Pettit and Willits, bakers, was appointed official bad debt collector at a meeting of the retail merchants held in Moffat's block last evening, when the Merchants' Protective Association was formally organized with over 110 members. Despite the very disagreeable weather there was a large attendance of representative merchants showing the deep interest that they are taking in the new scheme for the protection of themselves against dead beats.

THE ILLS OF CHILDHOOD HOW TO CURE THEM

In thousands of homes throughout Canada Baby's Own Tablets is the only medicine used when the children are ailing, and the mother who keeps this medicine on hand may feel as safe as though there was a doctor constantly in the home. Baby's Own Tablets cure all stomach and bowel troubles, break up colds, destroy worms, and make teething easy. Guaranteed free from opiates and poisonous drugs. Mrs. Geo. Wilson, Wilson's, N.B., says—"I began using Baby's Own Tablets about five years ago and since then have used no other medicine for my children. They never fail to bring relief, and I would advise all mothers to try them." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

An Auto for the Pope.

Turin, May 8.—A manufacturer here has built for several Americans an automobile which will be presented by them to Pope Pius. It will be a handsome machine of from 20 to 30 horse-power and especially adapted for use within the Vatican grounds. It will be elegantly equipped, being lined with white leather and having on the left side a gold medal of St. Joseph, the Pope's patron saint, and on the right a pocket which will contain a richly bound breviary. The pontificial arms will adorn the doors. The interior of the car will be lighted by electricity.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. E CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

PURITY FLOUR
And Its Keeping Qualities

SOME people find it necessary to buy a considerable quantity of flour at one time—sufficient to last for a long period. Naturally they are anxious to procure a flour of the kind best adapted to lengthy storage.

There are two important reasons why PURITY FLOUR possesses these qualities. One is that it is made entirely from Manitoba Hard Wheat. The other lies in the fact that the careful milling necessary to produce "Purity" absolutely excludes all low-grade particles of the wheat berry. It's the high grade Manitoba Hard Wheat Flour that keeps—stands longest storage. That's "Purity."

"Purity" flour may cost a little more, but is more than worth the difference. Try it. Watch results both for quality and yield.

WITHOUT THE CHILDREN

Say wouldn't it be a weary world
Without the wee child faces.
Without the laughter from little lips,
To ring through the lonesome places!
Without the glance from the trusting eyes,
Without the fond caresses
When the sunset's glow in the evening skies,
Is golden on shining tresses.

Say, wouldn't it be a weary world,
With ne'er a sleep song crooning,
And drinking off to the jeweled skies
In mellowed accents tuning.
Without the pressure of tiny hands,
Or the clasp of the rosy fingers
To lead us off to the mystic lands
Where dreaming fancy lingers.

Without the wee ones near us:
Without the smiles and the prattle gay,
From the baby lips to cheer us.
Ah, wouldn't it be a gloomy place
Around and all above us,
Without the sight of a dimpled face,
To warm our hearts and love us?

PETERBORO' CANOE COMPANY MAY ENLARGE THEIR FACTORY

The Manufacturers' Committee of the City Council will consider a proposition from the Peterborough Canoe Company, who are desirous of enlarging their factory. They have applied to the City Council for that piece of property lying between their factory and the C.P.R. They also ask for a fixed assessment of $6,000. It is the intention of the company to have a spur line run into their factory.

Mr. E. A. Peck and Mr. E. Rogers waited on the council last night and outlined their plans. The company find it necessary to increase their capacity. At present they employ sixty-five hands, and this number will be increased as soon as the factory is enlarged.

The matter was referred to the Manufacturers' Committee.

HOBO LOCKED IN A BOX CAR

Made a Prisoner by Trainman and Was Very Hungry When Released

Kingston, May 7—Those who were at the outer station today at noon were startled by a series of unearthly noises emanating from a box car standing not far from the platform. After some difficulty the car was opened by a number of dappers and into their midst jumped a man, grimy with dirt, with what clothes he wore covered with mud, an old fedora hat jammed down over his ears, and a two week's growth of red beard. He was a typical "hobo" though not more than 25 years of age.

Without even stopping to thank his liberators the "poor unfortunate," made for the platform and asked a young man, who happened to be a Standard reporter for a cigarette. After this want was filled the reporter prepared for a "story." But no, he must needs first "go down into his dip" again and fish up his last quarter. And then came the tale of woe.

Yesterday afternoon a box car was standing invitingly open in Gananoque. The wayfarer passing that way and being a man of the world he bethought himself of Toronto and took possession of the box car. Being weary he soon fell asleep, a trainman closed the door and the wanderer was made prisoner.

When the demands of nature for repose were satisfied he awoke, awoke to the joys of living, to another demand of nature, hunger and awoke to his position. But luck favored him and the car was sidetracked in the bustling station of Kingston.

Hence the unearthly noises. Hence it is that one person is without funds or tobacco and hence this story.

BRIDGE NOT INSPECTED PROPERLY

Belleville, May 7—The coroner's inquest at the village of Queensboro to investigate the circumstances of the collapsing of a bridge over Black Creek and thereby causing the death of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clarke, was concluded last evening before Coroner Dr. Harper.

In substance the verdict was that Jerry Clarke came to his death through the bridge collapsing over Black Creek and that in the opinion of the jurors a more thorough inspection of the structure might have been made by the county officials. It also recommended that in future the bridges of the country be better inspected. Mr. Anderson, County Attorney, represented the Crown and Mr. Masson, County Solicitor, represented the county.

Although a diligent search has been instituted up to the present, no trace of Mrs. Clarke's body has been found.

Shoots Wife and Self.

New York, May 7.—Following a quarrel in their flat in East 96th street, S. Spelaner, a brewery worker, yesterday shot and killed his wife and then put a bullet in his own brain—dying instantly. Two young children of the couple were in the house. Neighbors heard the quarreling and saw Mrs. Spelaner come to the window. After a few seconds she was violently pulled away and then two shots were heard. The two bodies were found in the kitchen and on the table was a sealed letter, which was taken by the police.

British Soldier's Suicide.

New York, May 7.—Enquiries concerning the identity of Geo. P. Armstrong, who was found dead in his cottage in East Rutherford, N.J., a suicide from gas, indicate that he was formerly a captain in the British Royal Artillery, and had won a medal for gallantry for service under Gordon in the Soudan, and has carried himself off with credit in India. His suicide followed the departure of his bride for New York Friday evening.

The body found on the railway track near Mallorytown is believed to be that of John Kelly of Brewers' Mills.

BILL FOR $1.20 FURNISHES CASE AT POLICE COURT

Youth Was Sent to Store to Change a $5.00 Bill --- Proprietor Deducted $1.20 for Account Owing to Him.

At the police court this morning a local storekeeper was charged with stealing the sum of $1.20 from one of his customers. Mr G N Gordon appeared for him and pleaded not guilty.

The case was enlarged for one week.

The circumstances of the case as told in court this morning are that the son of the complainant was given a $5 bill by his sister to go to the store in order that the bill might be changed. The money had come direct from the sister and the only interest the mother had in it was to the extent of three dollars which the daughter owed her for one week's board. When the son arrived at the store he told the proprietor that the money belonged to his mother but afterwards said it was his sister's. The storekeeper had a bill for $1.20 against the mother and kept that amount returning to the boy the change. This lead to the complaint being made The defendant told the Magistrate that he had been trying to collect the debt for some time but had been unable to do so. On account of the boy saying that the $5 belonged to his mother he thought he was justified in keeping the amount of the bill.

The complainant on the other hand stated that she had not received any bill nor did she owe any money. If the proprietor of the store had sent her notice and satisfactorily explained that she really owed the money, the amount would have been paid. But this had not been done although she had been in the store many times.

As the storekeeper did not have his books with him and as he stated that he would be willing to return the $1.20 to the young lady if her mother paid the amount owed him provided he could prove that she really owed him that amount, the Magistrate enlarged the case, for one week in order to allow all parties to come to an agreement.

An Unknown's Death.

St. Thomas, May 8.—The body of a man, who has not yet been identified, was found last evening under the Michigan Central bridge by Kettle Creek. He had apparently been dead for two days or more. Whether he fell from the bridge, jumped or was murdered is for a coroner's jury to say. The man had no coat and but three cents and no means of identification. He was about 50 years of age, with sandy hair and moustache. He had patent leather shoes and was well dressed.

FRANCE AFRAID OF UPHEAVAL AS RESULT OF THE STRIKES

Solid Investors in Republic Are Sending Their Money Out of the Country—Clemenceau Knows Parliament Must Defeat Strikers or Go Down—Majority of Public is With the Government in the Trouble.

Paris, May 10.—The Government is resolved to stake its existence on its fight against the insurgent postal and telegraph employes and railway servants. Premier Clemenceau and his energetic Minister of Public Works, Louis Barthou, are now fully aware that the immense majority of the nation is supporting them in their struggle with the revolutionary employes. Even extreme radicals like Mascuraud deny that state servants have the right to strike. The Clemenceau Cabinet has taken measures, and is fully prepared to crush the threatened revolutionary strikes.

The French Republic has never before been confronted with a more serious situation. Its own servants in the postal and railway departments have been organizing themselves into groups and syndicates, fraternising with the workingmen of the General Federation of Labor and with the proletariat under the dictatorship of "King" Pataud and his communard leaders, who shake their first at President Fallieres and at all the representatives of civil and military authority. They preach anti-militarism and anarchy.

Capital is alarmed, and during the last six weeks over a hundred million dollars of French funds has been invested abroad. The agitation of the rebellious civil servants has already done incalculable injury to the industrial and commercial prosperity of the country. M. Clemenceau knows perfectly well that unless this revolt of Government employes is nipped in the bud the Parliamentary regime in France must disappear and be replaced by the Commune of 1871. No foreigners would feel secure in a country without law or order, and France, while retaining her intellectual and artistic supremacy, would sink, politically and militarily, to the rank of a second-class nation.

All intelligent Frenchmen are fully alive to the national peril and stand firmly behind M. Clemenceau in the present life and death struggle against the anarchy, and the proclamation of the Commune of 1871, which is personified by "King" Pataud and the insurgent state employes.

Belgium Will Aid.

Brussels, May 10.—An arrangement has been concluded by the various Ministeries whereby in case of necessity the state employes, including soldiers, could be detailed to other services for the purpose of meeting such contingencies as might arise.

BOLD ROBBER IS CAPTURED

Daring Highwayman is Caught at Beamsville

St. Catharines, May 10.—Jesse S. Strickler, a stranger, who has so far refused to tell his place of residence, is in jail on a charge of highway robbery. Early yesterday morning as W. B. Calder, a former warden of Lincoln County, was on his way to this city from his home in Beamsville he met the prisoner on the highway. Strickler drew a revolver, and, levelling it at Mr. Calder, demanded his money. Mr. Calder handed over $2. Going a little distance down the road, Strickler met a lad named Kelter driving a delivery wagon. At the point of the revolver he forced the boy to drive him to the Beamsville station on the Grand Trunk Railway. Mr. Calder in the meantime met a friend, and, securing a horse, went in pursuit of the highwayman. Seeing that he was likely to be overtaken, Strickler fired two shots at the pursuing horse, but both went wild. Near the station Strickler jumped from the wagon and hid among a number of piles of lumber, where he was later captured by County Constable Tufferd and brought to this city.

MAY HAVE SUICIDED

North Hastings Man Left Home and Has Not Returned—Clothing Found.

Bancroft, May 8.—A week ago last Monday, Samuel Moran left his home here and started for Monteagle, telling his wife that he was going to work for a man named Casselman, who runs a saw mill near the "finger board," and promising to be back about the middle of the week to attend to some business matters. He did not return, and upon inquiry being made, it was found that he had not been near the mill in question. Someone reported having seen a coat and hat lying on the bank of the Dutch creek, which crosses the Hastings road about two miles north of Bancroft. A party who was sent to investigate found that the coat had disappeared, but the cap belonged to the missing man. He was seen by Mr. Wm. Garbek standing at this point the morning he left home, and asked to have a ride, but refused.

A search is being made for the body, but as the creek empties into the river just at this spot, the task is by no means an easy one, the current being very swift, and it is possible that he jumped into the river.

"BE BRITONS" SAYS BERESFORD

Liveropool, May 10.—Lord Charles Beresford, upon whom the Liverpool University yesterday conferred the degree of doctor of laws, took occasion to lecture his compatriots on the "Deplorable physical defects that recently have developed in the race."

Lord Charles referred especially to the naval scare that has dominated England of late, and declared that the nation had lost the old British method of looking at things with calmness and dignity.

If the Cabinet committee now considering the question of the lack of naval readiness raised by himself found things, as he had no doubt they would, there would be no necessity and panic and recrimination, but the nation would have to reassert the old British spirit, see where things were wrong, and calmly put them right.

BODIES ROBBED AT BRANTFORD

Brantford, May 10.—Another phase of the case in which Mrs. Carolan charged Patrick Jones and Wm. E. Dunne with removing the remains of her son and daughter from the Roman Catholic cemetery was presented at the Police Court Saturday. The bodies, replaced in the grave, had been exhumed and only a part of the remains were found, while two gold rings and a large pearl rosary by which Mrs. Carolan hoped to identify the daughter were missing.

Grave Digger Jones denied seeing any jewelry and stated that when he first made the removal, the remains were unceremoniously placed in a hole he dug. Dunne, the other defendant, denied any knowledge of the affair, while Jones claimed he acted on Dunne's order. Magistrate Livingstone adjourned the proceedings.

Twenty-Four Hours for Manslaughter.

Vancouver, B.C., May 10.—Wm. Ellis, the British Columbia Electric Railway signalman who last December gave careless orders to two interurban cars, which resulted in a collision and the death of two motormen, was found guilty on two charges of manslaughter. He has been in jail since the accident, and as he is suffering from illness, which will probably result fatally, he was sentenced to only 24 hours in the penitentiary.

Paris Style In Moustache.

Paris, May 10.—A new fashion moustaches which has been introduced into Paris from Germany is now making its appearance on the boulevards.

Men are to be seen walking about with closely-cropped moustaches, which resemble the stub end of a toothbrush. The moustache is cropped close, and is then brushed up and, with the aid of a hot iron, is made to stand out like bristles.

Two Montreal Failures.

Montreal, May 10.—Israel Crossman of the Canadian Shirt & Overall Co. has gone under with liabilities at $85,000, while the alleged assets only reach $10,000, plus the secured creditors.

Shaer & Eliasoph, after 12 months business as makers of ladies' wear, also assigned Saturday. Their accumulated liabilities reach $34,000, with assets amounting to $7,000.

Mercer, Pa., May 10.—Unless present plans are changed Jas. H. Boyle and his wife, Helen Anna Boyle, will be sentenced to-day for the abduction of Willie Whitla.

Every effort will be made by the authorities to prevent such a happening, but it is certain that if permitted, Boyle will again attempt to tell a sensational story, implicating a third party in the kidnapping.

Mrs. Boyle says: "Jimmy has something to say and ought not to be gagged. I will not say anything, but Jimmy will, and I will aid him to have his say if I can.

"Seriously, I want to tell you there is going to be a double suicide. I will not spend much time in the penitentiary. I have made all arrangements and have the means now to depart quietly and quickly. Jimmy will do the same.

"When my sentence would expire I would be an old woman. I would have no friends and no money. Who wants anything to do with an old woman? I would rather die young.

"This is my 23rd birthday and I'm in a very poor position to celebrate the event. I am innocent of crime, however, and maybe God in His goodness will yet allow me to spend many happy anniversaries."

RETURNS COMING IN VERY SLOWLY

In Newfoundland Election — Sir Edward Morris Wins One Seat

St. John's, Nfld., May 10.—Only two constituencies have yet returned the results of the polling in Saturday's general election in Newfoundland.

One of these, Carbonear, elected Goddison, a supporter of Sir Edward Morris, the acting Premier, by 44 votes to the seat which he lost by 23 votes at the last election in November.

In Brigus, Warren, a Morrisite, retains his seat by a majority reduced from 174 to 24.

The uncertainty as to the general result of the election is greatly increased by the curiously divergent results to the two constituencies which announced returns, Carbonear and Brigus.

The adherents of Sir Edward Morris, the acting Premier, are jubilant over their capture of the Carbonear seat, which has been a Liberal stronghold continuously for 20 years, but this surprising return was offset in a measure by the fact that they narrowly escaped losing Brigus. The Brigus constituency has returned a Conservative for 16 years, but Saturday the majority was reduced to a narrow margin.

ENTHUSIASM NOT PREVALENT

Vancouver is Indifferent to Reception to Jap Warships

Vancouver, B.C., May 10.—The celebration of the visit of the Japanese cruisers Aso and Sayo on May 17 is likely to be a badly mixed affair, as is shown by the marked opposition to the celebration arrangement in civic quarters. The civic finance committee by very decided majority have turned down a recommendation of Mayor Douglas for $1,000 donation to the militia officers in aid of parade and entertainment expense.

Ald. McMillan declared, when the military deputation presented its request for the appropriation, that Vancouver ought rather to show the Japs "how well prepared we are to shoot them." Four aldermen out of five voted with McMillan, despite the protests of the military men that their action was against Imperial ethics, and that Vancouver should cultivate trade relations with Japan.

The Trades and Labor Council have also officially decided that no labor organization should take any part whatever in the celebration.

This is all in the face of a published appeal of the mayor to the citizens to make the celebration a success.

THE KINRADES HAVE MOVED TO TORONTO

Toronto, May 10.—The Kinrade family, whose movements have been so prominently before the public for weeks, arrived in the city last night about 9 p.m. and were driven by cab to their apartments at 23 Homewood avenue.

It is believed that they will take up residence in Toronto for the summer at least, as Mr. Kinrade does not intend to resume his duties as principal of the Canon street school until September.

Geo. T. Blackstock, K.C., and the provincial officers and medical specialists have made their reports to the Attorney-General, and what further action, if any, is to be taken rests with the Department.

Patten's Operations.

Kansas City, May 10.—James A. Patten, recent bull leader in wheat, passed through here Saturday on his way to Chicago. Mr. Patten said: "At no time have I held more than ten million bushels. It just happened that for once in my life I was able to predict accurately."

— About Debentures

Some Interesting Information about one Feature in connection with the carrying on of civic business. The part the "Review" has played.

Publicity is a mighty good thing—so long as it is had in the right direction. When it isn't right and judicious it is seldom helpful. And, rightly speaking publicity should help. So local papers are avenues of publicity and helpful in many ways, though this helpfulness is only sparingly acknowledged. The Review has been making public things about projects and farms and individual enterprises for many years, writing up this and that to help to be helpful, but it has never written itself up. So late in the day—for the Review has been where it is, as an essential part of the municipality, for over fifty years—this reticence may have been a mistake. If it is a good thing to blow about other people and other people's enterprises and work and aims and ambitions, possibly it would be not wrong for the Review to blow about itself. So believing in publicity, the Review will, in a series of write-ups, tell something about itself and what it is doing, quietly and successfully from day to day, and as there are some unusual things in unusual printing, it would seem that the getting out of debentures would be one.

Debentures are a visible means of support. That is they are the only things in sight when the municipality goes out to borrow money, to cover the cost of local improvements, for instance. They are backed, as a matter of course, by the credit of the city. Now a debenture is a bond by which the city promises to pay a stated sum at a stated time and to pay, in the interval a stated interest. All of these facts are stated on the face of the debenture. Each is signed by the Mayor, the Treasurer and by the Secretary for the City Commissioners. Generally the bond is for twenty or thirty years. In the latter case posterity is given a chance to pay some money which posterity should.

Each debenture has attached to it from forty to fifty coupons. These are all made up in sheets, each coupon being about two and one-half by three inches in size. On the coupon is printed the number of the debenture and the sum of money for which it is issued, the amount of interest for six months, and the day, month and year in which the coupon is to be cashed. The coupons are signed with a pen by the Mayor and City Treasurer. A wrapper, bearing an endorsation, specifying the facts in relation to the debenture, is attached, along with the bond to the coupons, and the whole folded up to convenient shape.

The debentures when sold, pass into the hands of local investors, to some extent but are largely taken by outside parties. Before the debentures are accepted they have to be absolutely flawless, both as to intent and meaning as to guarantee and terms and absolutely free from mistakes or errors in printing.

To the credit of our civic officials, and city solicitor it may be said, that so careful and experienced are they in the preparation of the copy and its terms and specifications both with regard to the object for which it is issued the law bearing on case and the facts to be entered in the bond, that their work runs the gauntlet of the scrutiny of the most expert brokers in Toronto, and is rarely, not once in ten years, found fault with, for its alteration requested.

The printing of the city debentures has been done for twenty-five years by the Review Job Department, which has this line of work thoroughly in hand. The bonds and coupons have to be absolutely without errors in printing, in dates, years, interest, amount and in numbers. In the coupon sheets for a thirty year debenture (the principal of which is payable after thirty years have elapsed) are sixty coupons, for half year's interest, due on 30th June and 31st December in each year. These first two sheets require 300 distinct changes to be made, and succeeding pairs of sheets require 190 changes. Two sheets of 10 coupons accompany each debenture. A coupon is really a cheque, marked good on behalf of the city in favor of the holder. Practically with each debenture the purchaser receives a book of cheques, marked good, one of which he is invited to present every six months, and receive the interest. He just cashes a cheque for the amount, and when the final payment of interest is made he receives also a sum of money, agreeing with the amount specified on the face of the bond. Debentures are an absolutely safe, secure and satisfactory investment, even if the rate of interest be below that gained in commercial transactions. All this comes of the security gained by the credit of the city being behind the promise to pay.

Debentures are always issued in specified number, to cover the sum of money to be raised to meet the expenditure incurred for a certain object and in accordance with the by-law under which the loan is authorised to be raised. Should, for instance, the city decide by a favorable vote of the property owners, to aid the Purity Ware Company, it would be necessary to raise the sum of $50,000 in accordance with the provisions of the by-law. With attendant expenses the sum would probably be $50,225.00. This would be divided (if the usual routine were followed) into forty-nine debentures of $1000.00 each, and one of $1225.00. Fifty in all. Should the debentures run for 30 years each debenture would carry 60 coupons and the whole issue, 3000 coupons. In printing these over 15,000 distinct changes would be made in getting out the coupons. At the time of the issue of the waterworks debentures, over 70,000 changes were made in the types, in preparing the coupon sheets. It is the most responsible, careful kind of work, far exceeding the responsibility of getting out the average of work in a printing-office. It is to the credit of the Review Job Department that in no case, after subject to the scrutiny of the purchaser or his attorney or broker, have debentures been returned on account of errors detected in the printing. Before being signed by the civic authorities, the debentures and coupon sheets are thoroughly gone over and searched by the City Treasurer, after being reviewed by the City Solicitor.

The occupant of the civic chair, the Mayor, has no slight job on his hands when debentures are to be issued. A few years ago when the town took over the waterworks, debentures were issued to the number of 230, each for $1,000.00. Mayor Denne, at that time in office, had the pleasure of writing his name nearly 15,000 times. It was a wearisome job, and he threatened all sorts of things if it ever happened again.

The form in which the city debentures are printed was suggested, years ago, by the Review Job Department. It is admitted to be the neatest, most convenient and compact yet devised. It has been copied and adopted by many neighboring municipalities and by several at a distance which have had orders executed at the Review, and is very favorably commented on by brokers, financiers and handlers of marketable securities.

In addition to preparing all debentures required by the city the Review Job Department executes many orders for clients who are interested in commercial lines, including the Peterborough Light & Power Company, Peterborough Hydraulic Company, Auburn Woollen Co., and many others.

The printing of debentures, while a specialty in itself, is only an incident among the large patronage accorded the Review Job Department, but indicates that where there is the ability and plant to perform the work so satisfactorily, there are the facilities and skill to do all other classes of work in an equally satisfactory manner. And the public, to whom thanks are extended, are not backward in saying so in a practical way that is much appreciated.

BOY AND GIRL ARE DROWNED

Rufus Snell Gives His Life to Save Another—Sad Ending of School Picnic

Chatham, May 10.—At Dresden on Friday afternoon Vivian Talbot, the eight-year-old daughter of Mrs. W. J. Talbot, and Rufus Snell, the 12-year-old son of Mr. Joseph Snell, North Dresden, were drowned in the swollen water of Lang's Creek. It being the afternoon of Arbor Day, the public school children held a picnic in Jeff's woods. The creek was swollen by heavy rains, but a fallen tree made a partial crossing, which the children completed by means of a plank. The Talbot girl was crossing when the plank gave way, precipitating her into the stream. Young Snell plunged in to the rescue, but was carried under by the current. About twenty rods down the stream the girl's body was brought ashore by her brother, Archie Talbot, and Harry Robinson, but attempts at resuscitation proved useless. Snell's body has not been recovered. Coroner [illegible] inquest necessary.

CONMEE POWER BILL IS PASSED IN THE COMMONS

Mr. Borden Enters Strong Opposition on Ground of Government's Right to Expropriate Provincial Lands—Canada Life Assurance Bill Comes in for Severe Criticism by J. G. Turriff.

Ottawa, May 10.—The Ontario & Michigan Power Co., promoted by James Conmee, was given its third reading Saturday morning by a straight Government majority of 27. The fight had all along been over the expropriation clause, against which the Ontario Government and the Opposition members have fought determinedly, involving, as it did, the question of provincial rights. Laurier voted for the bill.

R. L. Borden strongly resisted the argument that the Federal Government had the right to expropriate provincial lands.

"If this Parliament, acting within its jurisdiction, can expropriate or authorize the expropriation of lands belonging to the Provincial Government, then the Legislature of the province, acting within its jurisdiction, can authorize the expropriation of lands belonging to the Government of Canada. There is no escape from that.

"If my right hon. friend's view is correct the western provinces could get their lands back from Canada by expropriating them, without much compensation, because the ordinary principle of compensation, as anyone who bestows the slightest attention upon the subject knows, is the value of the land, but the person who expropriates, but to the person from whom it was expropriated.

"As a matter of fact, no such power exists."

Mr. Borden concluded by saying that the power of expropriation was the only point in the bill from which he dissented.

In discussing the Canada Life bill, J. G. Turriff (Lib., Assiniboia) said it was corporation legislation against the people of the worst type. It would take away the rights of some 30,000 or 40,000 Canadian policyholders, but, more serious than that was the fact that they could not take away the rights of the British and American policyholders. Since the rate paid to the policyholders had gone down, the rates to the stockholders had gone up. So had the salaries which were now 50 per cent. of the original capital of the company and six per cent. on the present paid-up capital.

Mr. Roy (Lib., Montmagny) thought it would be a good thing if the legislation was delayed for six months, so that shareholders and policyholders might reach an agreement.

In 1873, the people who wanted the legislation could have got what they asked for, said Mr. Lancaster, who said it was an unfair statement that A. H. Clarke had made that Senator Cox was the target of the Opposition. The bill should be left over until the insurance law had been amended.

Mr. Lennox asked Sir Wilfrid Laurier if the Government had received any opinion on the measure from the Minister of Justice, and was told that no further opinion had been given by Mr. Aylesworth that had been stated in the House. The bill was then passed through the various stages and carried on division.

The sub-committee of the banking and commerce committee, which has been considering in camera details of the insurance bill will, to-morrow, make a report to the full committee, which it is expected will send the bill on the same day to the House of Commons.

It is expected that if any amendments are proposed, it will be agreed to take them into consideration in the committee of the whole House.

Unless unexpected difficulties arise it is believed the bill will be given its third reading this week by the Commons, but will still have to be passed by the Senate.

Liberal members of Parliament have signed a resolution addressed to Hon. Wm. Pugsley, expressing their "unbounded confidence" in his honesty and integrity and their "belief in the absolute unfairness and partisanship" of the Landry commission report; also complaining that the Conservative party did not carry out arrangements as to the duration of the debate "because they believed they could prevent the Government from receiving as large a majority as they would have had had the vote been taken when agreed upon."

WILL CONFISCATE ABDUL'S MILLIONS

Constantinople, May 10.—Up to the present time the sum of $7,500,000 has been found in the treasury boxes of the Imperial palace at Yildiz, occupied before his deposition by Abdul Hamid. Two and a half million dollars of this is in cash, while $5,000,000 is in marketable securities equivalent to cash. Furthermore papers were found indicating that Abdul Hamid has on deposit in Germany, England, France and the United States upwards of $15,000,000. It is understood that the Cabinet takes the attitude that all these foreign deposits, as well as the treasure at Yildis are the property of the state.

CONSIDERING BLYTHE'S CASE

Ottawa, May 10.—The Cabinet on Saturday had under consideration the capital case of Walter Blythe, the Agincourt railway man, under sentence to be hanged on Friday next for the murder of his wife. It is understood that there is considerable difference of opinion as to whether the crime should be commuted to life imprisonment for manslaughter, and no recommendation for commutation has as yet been made to His Excellency. Blythe in a fit of rage beat his wife with a poker and she died from the effects of the blows.

LATEST NEWS AS TOLD IN DESPATCHES

29,000,000 Wage Earners.

Washington, D.C., May 10.—In the tariff debate Saturday, Senator Lodge, calculating that the number of people engaged in trades and occupations in the United States at 29,000,000, declared that, including those who were dependant upon their wages for support, they made up "practically the whole population of the nation." Asserting that the protective system had been in force in some form since 1816, he insisted that to change it now would be to bring disaster upon the nation.

Royal Prince for India.

London, May -0.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from Calcutta asserts that the British Government is seriously considering the question of placing the vice-royalship of India in the hands of a prince of the royal blood, and the suggestion is made that one of the younger sons of the Prince of Wales be trained for the post. Lord Minto is the present viceroy.

Juror Went Insane.

Concord, Mass., May 10.—Willis A. White, a member of the jury which on Tuesday convicted Chester S. Jordan of murder, was sent to the Worcester Insane Hospital yesterday by Judge Prescott Keyes of the District Court, who decided that the man was insane. It is believed that White broke down under the strain of the trial.

Diplomats Smugglers?

Yokohama, May 10.—The Japanese press makes serious charges of smuggling for foreigners at Yokohama and Kobe, alleging that the evasion of the duty on tobacco has reached the extreme limit. The charges declare that great suspicion of fraud rests with certain members of the diplomatic corps.

Struck With Pickaxe.

Sarnia, May 10.—An Indian, David Jacobs a railway navvy, suddenly stooped to pick up some spikes beside the track, was accidentally struck on the head with a pick-axe wielded by an elder brother, who was loosening the ties. He will probably die.

Sentenced to the Chair.

Norwich, N.Y., May 10.—Earl B. Hill, aged 19, who was convicted of murder in the first degree in the Supreme Court here on Thursday, was yesterday sentenced to be electrocuted at Auburn Prison during the week beginning June 20.

Smallpox In Teddy's Camp.

Nairobi, British East Africa, May 10.—The Roosevelt expedition is still in camp on the ranch of Sir Alfred Pease. It is reported that two more cases of smallpox have been discovered among the porters of the expedition.

To Probe Massacres.

Constantinople, May 10.—The Government is pressing relief work in Adana Province with considerable vigor. It was announced yesterday that $150,000 had been sent there.

The Grand Vizier and Ferid Pasha, the Minister of the Interior, Saturday received a deputation of Armenian clergy and laity, headed by Arscharani, the provisionel representative of the patriarchate, who was assured that the Government would enquire thoroughly into the Adana massacres and severely punish the instigators.

Father's Insane Rage.

Brantford, May 10.—The drug store of Cameron & Higginbotham was robbed Friday night, and the detention of a 14-year-old boy employe followed. His father, a respectable resident, was summoned to the police station and became so enraged that he lost his mental balance and it required the efforts of three policemen to remove him from the police cells, where he wanted to kill his son.

Italians Shoot Cattle.

Brantford, May 10.—Reports of serious vandalism among the Italian colony of cement workers at Blue Lake have been received by the city authorities. Horses, cattle and sheep have been ruthlessly shot in the field by the gang, members of which go about the community heavily armed with revolvers. When constables appeared a shot was fired, but the ringleaders were arrested.

THE PUGSLEYS

Evidence is not wanting that Canada is in the hands of the Bluffers. It is a very easy thing for a man to commit a high crime against his country and then pretend that it was all done from patriotic motives. We must be the judges of that and when we find that men make money while in certain positions without explaining how that money is made it is natural to regard the performance as crooked. It is the same everywhere. Men who make their money directly or indirectly on the stock or produce exchange do so at the expense of the toiling millions. It is a nefarious thing that a whole district or a whole province should be subjected to a loss in their season's crops simply because "the bears" conspire together to drive or bear down the price of wheat etc., in order that they might make money out of it. It rarely happens that the artificial price of wheat rises for the benefit of the farmer. When it rises the farmer seldom gets any advantage of it. The poor have to pay but the blood money goes to the king of the wheat pit and not to the farmer. It is the same thing with respect to our western lands which are now at a fictitious or speculative price in many cases These instances are cited to show how usual and easy it is for the vampires of commerce or politics to gain an unfair advantage. They are all without conscience, these people. They may give away a little as a bait. It is throwing out a sprat to catch a whale. The low majority for Pugsley shows that the Liberals are in rebellion. After all or at length the country must win. The people will and must defend themselves. It is the robber against the robbed. It is law and order against anarchy. It is religion and conscience and the salvation of our girls and boys against the brutality, impurity and cunning of men who would not hesitate in many cases even to engage in a white-slave traffic if they saw money in it.

THE LIBERAL PARTY

It is not a case of mere party politics or party spite, when journals stop to remark that the Liberal party seems to have lost its bearings. Its ideals have become low. Bills go through the House of Commons by virtue of a mere majority, such as the Canada Life Bill, the G.T.P. loan, the Conmee Bill, &c., which should never have been brought up. A long series of adverse reports from Royal Commissions has deadened the sensibilities of the Liberal leaders to the necessity of real reform. The applause of those who make money out of money and out of the wasteful or extravagant expenditure of the nation's money has deadened them to nobler sounds. The Liberal Party is one of the two great parties in political life, but in its case, as in that of the Conservative party, there is an increasing disposition to independence, to an attitude of mind more favourable to the country without regard to the exigencies of party. There has got to be an increasing spirit of patriotism and self-sacrifice if Canada is to realize her destiny. We must also be larger minded as well as higher-spirited. We are in grave danger of a national slump in more ways than one.

ARE WE TO GET IT?

Is Peterborough county really to get Rural Mail Delivery? In its Saturday issue the Examiner makes a savage reference to the doubting Thomases. If it is to be taken as referring to the Review, we acknowledge the corn. We have called loudly and long in the name of the people of this county for some show of redeeming promises made to them at the election away back in last October, respecting rural mail delivery. Time and again have we been thanked for our efforts to get an appropriation put in the estimates or in some way announced as looking to a performance of the promise but the silence was ominous and except for the Examiner's belated assurance on Saturday evening it is ominous still. When it does come, if it does come, it will be the beginning of a move in favor of better conditions for the farmers. Money has gone like water for everything from the G.T.P. to gas buoys, millions and millions, graft ——— but never a word or a dollar for the "poor farmers." When it does come it should come with a profound apology for being so late. But a mere letter delivery will not do There must be a PARCEL delivery as well. The farmers' wives and daughters demand it and should have it.

THE EXPORT GRAIN TRADE

The Pacific coast people believe that the export grain trade of the whole continent will be outward from Vancouver, Prince Rupert and San Francisco. Great elevators are already being built at Burrard Inlet. The people of Oregon are keenly alive to the immediate prospects and beyond all question the completion of the Panama Canal will mean no longer the rush of grain trains across the continent. Moreover, the vessels that take out grain will bring back at cheap rates the product of the loom the steel mill, etc.

FARM VALUES

Mr. James Pringle, of Stratford, in his long and comprehensive letter to the Globe, deplores the anxiety of the people to develop the west since it cannot but result in miscalculation and disaster. The opening up of new districts necessarily means the decline in value of the old. As a consequence, farm-values in Ontario have decreased 30 per cent. already, and this fact alone will mean a further and even more disastrous decline, since farmers will want to unload and get away before greater disaster reaches them. The west has coal, iron and water-powers. The idea that Ontario will keep her paramount position as a manufacturer for the west is out of the question. The freight alone is prohibitory. As for transportation, it is cheaper to send by the Pacific sea-route and tranship at Panama, than to ship across country to the east and vice-versa. Great railways, therefore, are not needed, at any rate as emergency measures without which the west would go to the wall as pretended. Then the depletion of the soil will mean a more expensive system of farming, which at once puts us at a disadvantage compared with Argentina, Northern Russia, New Egypt, etc. The wild rush to "develop" the west at our expense is a fatal blunder, and when we find how poor we have become we will realize the fatuity of it all. The efforts of the Ontario Government to bring in a desirable and moneyed class may help us out, but it shows at any rate, what should have been done in lieu of the other "great scheme." A half million people of fair means and good report, brought into Ontario would mean a rise instead of decline in farm-values, and when farm-values go down the value of the community and of the province, as a whole, goes down.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Globe says that the Ontario Government has been offered twenty millions of dollars for the Gillies limit. That may be, or not, but as the Globe very properly puts it, this amount is a great thing for the province.

The Hains case has every appearance of going the way the Thaw case did, in accordance with "the unwritten law." It is a strange vagary of modern times, although it cannot be called civilization, that people should impatiently take into their own hands the doing of natural justice rather than legal right. It points very strongly to a breakdown in civilization, and an attempt to revert to the anarchy of uncivilized times.

The man who makes his money on stock exchanges or grain and produce exchanges by the arts and tricks of that trade does so by actually robbing those who must ultimately suffer, viz., those who must consume yet have least means of defending themselves, and they are first of all the poor, who have hard work buying bread etc., even when it is cheap. Next come the unskilled workman, and then the skilled artizan, the professional man and so on. It should be prohibited by law, just as much as any other unholy form of forcing combinations up or down to suit the pocket of the gambler. Nothing in the world produces so much misery.

In the opinion of Mr B H Drewry, a member of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers who controlled about eighty men on a survey trip, the country around Hudson's Bay would be improved by the provision of transportation facilities and he believes that the sooner a railway is put down in the great lone land the better it will be. In an interview at the Windsor he said that when the railway was built the country traversed would turn out to be a very productive one, and he added that the district was about 400 miles from Le Pas, the present terminus of the Mackenzie and Mann system. Mr. Drury thought that the Government road would start, perhaps, at a point farther west, and he named Saskatoon as a central point, which would mean that all competitive lines would have an even chance in freight matters. He maintained that there were no engineering difficulties in the way, few bridges being required and as the maximum snowfall was only three feet, the cost of maintenance in winter would not be serious. The grades were easy and more than that, he was sure that the building of a railway to either York or Churchill would bring about a development of the country quite unthought of at the present time—The Witness.

This is another scheme for the people of the east to pay. How would it do if we spent some money on making Ontario a desirable place for people to come to? Of course that plan would not please the great railway contractors.

Blinded by Explosion.

Ottawa, May 10.—One eye entirely burned out and the other so badly injured that it is doubtful whether the boy will be able to distinguish light from darkness, is the plight of ten-year-old Sparling Beach, 275 McLeod street, Ottawa, as the result of an explosion of lime. His four-year-old sister, Annie Beach, had her eyes burned, but will likely recover her sight.

Castro Still Roving.

Santander, Spain, May 10.—Senora Castro, wife of the deposed President of Venezuela, arrived here yesterday on the steamer Guadeloupe from the West Indies. She was met by her husband, who came down from Paris. Senor Castro and his wife left Bordeaux March 26, ostensibly for Port of Spain, Trinidad.

TO HELP OUR SHIPPING

PROHIBITION OF FOREIGNERS WILL BUILD UP NAVY.

Nearly a Million Tons and Many Thousands of Seamen Must Seek New Waters by Recent Order of Governor-General-In-Council—Canada Has Dropped From Fourth Place to Tenth In Ten Years.

A large and immediate impetus to the shipbuilding and home shipping trade of Canada is expected to develop during the coming year as the result of the order of the Governor-General-in-Council which has just now gone into force, ordering all foreign shipping engaged in the coasting trade of the Dominion to quit Canadian waters. Thousands of citizens of the Maritime Provinces whose business has been held up or ruined during recent years again look hopefully to the future, for the enaction of the order-in-council means that almost a million tons of shipping and many thousands of foreign sailors who have been usurping their business must depart.

Up to the present time, Norwegian vessels have moved freely in Canadian waters, their number increasing by leaps and bounds, and their sailors ousting from the trade the thousands of Canadians employed in the profitable business of coasting. There was no restriction on their field of operations; they needed no permits to trade; they paid no duties except the simple port dues; their sailors, all of Norwegian birth and Norwegian citizenship, were subject to no taxes. Cutting in on the Canadian trade with a superior type of vessel, the advantage of these exemptions were such as to check the natural growth of the home shipping; and the effect on the development of the three Maritime Provinces of the east, and especially of Nova Scotia, was little short of disastrous.

Only a decade ago, Canada stood fourth among the maritime nations of the world; to-day she has fallen to tenth place. In 1907 the Canadian vessel tonnage was 6,541,791; Norway, her greatest competitor in the coasting trade of the Dominion, held fourth place in the rank of the nations. In 1881, Nova Scotia had 3,025 craft with a total tonnage of 558,911; in 1908, she had about 2,100 with an aggregate tonnage of but 185,000 tons of shipping.

While the home shipping was falling off, that of Norway in Canada's waters was growing. In nine years, more than one million tons of shipping, representing an invested capital of perhaps forty million dollars, had come into our waters, chiefly on the Atlantic coast, to trade from port to port. This shipping was almost entirely Norwegian, carrying the crew with which they had sailed from Norway, men who had absolutely no interest in Canada, though of a class much to be desired, if they came as settlers and citizens. In reply to the protestations of the Nova Scotians, it was claimed that by virtue of a treaty between Great Britain and Norway, the ships of the latter were admitted to our coasting privileges. This was shown to be a mistaken view, and, exactly a year ago, on the continued representations of commercial and shipping men of the Maritime Provinces, the Governor-General-in-Council ordered all foreign bottoms to leave Canadian coasting waters within the year. Counter protests were entered by the coal companies and other large shippers, who feared that the home shipping was inadequate for their needs and the order-in-council was set aside. It has now been renewed with somewhat different provisions.

The special provision to allow trade between Quebec and Nova Scotian ports, is designed to meet the convenience of these coal companies shipping to Montreal. The Dominion Coal Co., with a fleet of twenty-three large steam vessels chartered during the summer months, was the heaviest carrier; and, of this number, twenty were Norwegian bottoms. The company claimed that these vessels, being of a peculiar type and of a tonnage running up to 7,000 each, represented a carrying capacity which could not be otherwise secured; and especially, that if these vessels were suddenly shut out of the Canadian trade, it would not be possible in a short time to find either British or Canadian vessels to do the work; in addition, the cancellation of the charters at short notice would be a serious loss to them. In deference to these arguments, the privilege has been extended to them for a limited period and with regard to a limited class of tonnage.

The agitation among the coasting captains of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island during recent years had been exceedingly keen. They claimed not only that they were laboring under a disability in their competition with the Norwegians, but that they were discriminated against by the coal companies, their most important clients. One captain recently stated in a signed letter, his declaration being attested to by many of his fellows, "that Canadian vessels were not allowed coal as a rule, while a Norwegian steamer is at the same pier; and, in many cases, coal is kept from a Canadian vessel until the Norwegian vessel has made two voyages to Montreal."

Resolutions on the matter were passed by practically all the large trade organizations in the Maritime Provinces, especially after the rescinding of the order-in-council of January, 1908. The Maritime Board of Trade prepared a memorial, one clause being a resolution "that foreign shipping and sailors be excluded from trading in our coastwise waters, and placed on the same footing as United States bottoms that are not allowed to carry a passenger or a pound of freight in Canadian coastwise waters."

Paving bosts are headed for Vancouver city since the council decided to pave the streets.

POLLS OPEN UNTIL SIX O'CLOCK THERE

For the first time in Ottawa's history, when the voters in St. George's ward go to the polls on Tuesday to select an alderman's candidate to succeed ex-Alderman Walter Cunningham, who has resigned, they will be able to vote until six o'clock instead of until five. This change is due to special legislation the city secured, and the hour longer for voting is to accommodate the electors. There are ten polling places in St. Georges ward.—Ottawa Journal.

COLLECTION OF GARBAGE IN OTHER CITIES

The Guelph Herald says, Brantford has long discarded Guelph's system of garbage collection. After finding it wanting the method was adopted of paying the cost of garbage collection out of the general rate. That is the method now being pursued, and it costs the city $9500 annually. There is a weekly collection of garbage over the entire city, five teams with two men each being constantly employed the whole year round. Each team and its compliment of men costs $5.50 a day and there is a man at the dumping place at $1.50 a day to see to the proper spreading, etc. The garbage is used for filling in low pieces of ground and more or less reclamation has been done with its aid.

Find Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winchester, Ind.—"Four doctors told me that they could never make me regular, and that I would eventually have dropsy. I would bloat, and suffer from bearing-down pains, cramps and chills, and I could not sleep nights. My mother wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice, and I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking one and one-half bottles of the Compound, I am all right again, and I recommend it to every suffering woman."—MRS. MAY DEAL, Winchester, Ind.

Hundreds of such letters from girls and mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them have been received by The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by its use.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Pacific Versus Atlantic.

By diverting a percentage of the grain traffic from Alberta via Vancouver instead of via Fort William, the Canadian Pacific has introduced a new factor into the railroad problems of Western Canada. This traffic was becoming so heavy that it had become doubtful whether railroad construction to the head of the Great Lakes could keep the pace, and new outlets were sought in Hudson Bay. Mr. William Whyte, the C.P.R. second vice-president, however, has found an easier solution, and has proved that during the winter months at any rate grain can be carried to Europe via the Pacific 8s. a ton cheaper than if it had been shipped in the old way through an Atlantic port from Calgary. This is good news for Calgary, for irrigation is making Southern Alberta the richest wheat-growing district in the Dominion. Whereas the average crop of wheat throughout Canada is only 19 bushels to the acre, farmers on the irrigated blocks have raised in 1908 as much as 63 bushels to the acre, and the land under wheat is accordingly increasing by leaps and bounds.

Expects Good Year.

The president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, in his annual statement, has much to say that is pleasing in regard to the situation in the three Prairie Provinces. The conditions during the autumn and winter have been most favorable to the threshing and moving of the splendid crops, and also for the preparation of land for next season. As a consequence, Mr. Walker estimates that the acreage for 1909 will exceed that of 1908 by 15 or 20 per cent., making a total of 11 1-2 million acres, of which seven and a half millions will be in wheat.

Increase In Elevators.

The grain storage capacity of the elevators in the three prairie provinces has trebled in ten years, and stands to-day at 91 million bushels.

The Scottish Agricultural Commission will start a 70,000 acre farm and set a number of Scotch ploughmen to work at.

An Operator's Account of a Message That Was Not Sent.

"Girls are strange creatures," said a telegraph clerk.

"One afternoon not very long ago a very handsome young woman came to my office and asked for a telegraph form. She wore a brown veil, but I could see, all the same, that her eyes were red, as if she had been crying. I handed her the form, with a sympathetic look, and she wrote this message:

"'Never let me hear from you again.'

"She paid for the message, and then she asked in a tremulous voice how soon it would go.

"'In half an hour, ma'am,' I replied.

"She went away, but in ten minutes she was back again.

"'Have you sent that message of mine?' she said.

"'No, ma'am, not yet.'

"'Very well. Give it back to me. I want to change it a little,' said the young woman.

"I returned it, though that was against the rule, and she altered it so that it read:

"'No one expects you to come back.'

"Then she went away again, but this time she was hardly gone five minutes.

"'That message of mine—it hasn't been sent yet, has it?' she asked.

"'No, not yet.'

"'Oh, good! Just let me have it again, will you?'

"I handed her the message, and the strange creature tore it up and wrote this in its place:

"'Dearest, come home. All is forgiven.'"

PASSION FOR HATS.

Nicobar Ladies Have Queer Fancy For Old Headgear.

The group of islands known as the Nicobars, about 150 miles south of the Andamans, has been but little explored, though the manners and customs of the inhabitants offer very interesting peculiarities to the ethnologist.

One of the most noticeable of these and one which seriously affects the trade of the islands is the passion for old hats which, without exception, pervades the whole framework of society. No one is exempt from it. Young and old, chief and subject alike, endeavor to outvie each other in the singularity of shape no less than in the number of old hats they can acquire during their lifetime.

On a fine morning at the Nicobars it is no unusual thing to see the surface of the ocean in the vicinity of the islands dotted over with canoes, in each of which the noble savage, with nothing on but the conventional slip of cloth and a tall white hat with a black band, may be watched catching fish for his daily meal. Secondhand hats are in most request, new ones being looked upon with suspicion and disfavor.

This curious passion is so well known that traders from Calcutta make annual excursions to the Nicobars with cargoes of old hats, which they barter for cocoanuts, the only product of these islands. In oddity of hat shapes the American women of this season can certainly go the ladies of Nicobar one better.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

A simple remedy for neuralgia is to apply grated horseradish, prepared the same as for table use, to the temple when the head or face is affected and to the wrist when the pain is in the arm or shoulder.

Avoid leaning on the elbows or they will become rough and ugly and spoil the contour of the arm. Bathe them as carefully as the hands.

Long, straggling hairs which give an appearance of roughness to the eyebrows may be temporarily removed with tweezers or permanently by electrolysis.

There is a beauty specialist who assures her patients that there is nothing to compare with the pillow nap, as she calls it, for producing beauty. The sleeping out of doors fad in "down to zero" days and other "dares" to colds which call forth remonstrances from old fashioned persons will be thrown into the shade, the specialist says, by this new beauty sleep. She places three little rose leaf pillows, which she calls ear pillows, under a patient's head. Heaped on the couch "in such a way as to rest the nerves" are other pillows filled with various compounds. There are three large square pillows filled with pine needles loosely packed and several of clover top and lavender.

Women who are compelled to do much housework and whose fingers are constantly in water should try the plan of washing their hands in the ordinary way with soap and water and while wet of rubbing dry salt well over the cuticle. This will remove all grime and stains and will keep the hands smooth and white. A slice of lemon is invaluable for preserving the fine texture of the skin and should be rubbed over the hands while washing.

One woman whose skin is the admiration of all washes her face with lukewarm water, the best toilet soap and a piece of soft old flannel each night upon retiring and rubs it very gently upward with an old linen towel. Then she sips a cupful of hot water. In the morning she dashes cold water over her face and neck and pats it dry with a Turkish towel and sips a cupful of hot water again. She has never used a cosmetic and attributes the beauty of her skin to the generous use of water, both internally and externally.

TELLING FORTUNES.

An Interesting Game to Play With Paper and Pencils.

When your friends come in to see you some time and you can't think of anything else to do, suppose you try fortune telling. Give each a paper and pencil and tell them to write down the following things:

1. Some time in the future, like next Tuesday or the 25th of January.
2. A place, like the name of a city or an attic or a trolley car or anywhere else.
3. The name of a person.
4. An object.
5. A remark—that is, anything that any one might say.
6. A feeling, like glad, sad, cross, kind, etc.
7. A verb, like run, sing, dance, etc.
8. A color.
9. Another color.
10. A place.

Then when your friends have filled in the answers you read them the questions, and their fortunes will read, perhaps, something like this:

(1) Next Tuesday (2) on a trolley car you will meet (3) Billy Brown carrying (4) a refrigerator, which he will present to you, saying (5), "Where are you going, my pretty maid?" This will make you feel (6) angry, and you will start to (7) dance, but he will remark that your eyes are (8) purple and your hair is (9) green and will soon persuade you to go with him to (10) the north pole.

Of course if you like you can invent different questions, but be sure your friends do not know what they are when you play the game.

THE VALUE OF GEMS.

Sapphire and Ruby Worth More Than the Diamond.

There is a popular belief that the diamond is the most valuable of precious stones, but the belief is a mistaken one under ordinary circumstances. The relative commercial value of the finer stones is about as follows: Rating an emerald of a certain size as worth $100, a diamond of the same size would be worth $150, a sapphire $300 and a ruby $450. You see, therefore, that the sapphire and the ruby are both more valuable than the diamond.

Perhaps it might interest the young people to know of what the principal precious stones are composed. The diamond, as they already know, is pure carbon crystallized. Sapphires, which term includes the true sapphire and the oriental ruby, emerald, topaz and amethyst, are pure alumina colored by the rust of different metals. The opal, the red amethysts and the agates are silica. Among the agates are included carnelian, the chalcedony, the onyx, the sardonyx and the bloodstone. The true emerald and the true topaz, which are different from the oriental emerald and the oriental topaz, are formed partly of alumina and partly of silica. The term "oriental" as applied to precious stones does not refer to the east, but is only a technical word meaning "very fine."—Chicago News.

Riddles.

What is the most awkward time for a train to start? Twelve-fifty, as it's 10 to 1 if you catch it.

Why is a camel a very pugnacious animal? Because he always has his back up.

Why is a ship like a woman? Because she is often tender to a man-of-war, often running after a smack, often attached to a buoy (boy) and frequently making up to a pier (peer).

Why do some women make good postoffice clerks? Because they know how to manage the males.

If a pair of andirons cost $7.75, what would a ton of coal come to? Ashes.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Magic Figure.

You can make a magic figure out of cork. Glue to the base of the cork a half of a leaden bullet with the semicircular side underneath. You can shape the top of the cork like a head and dress the whole figure, covering the lead in a quaint costume. This toy can be knocked about as much as possible, but it will always land on its base.

MONEY IN THE WEST.

Winnipeg Telegram Combats the Prevailing Idea of High Prices.

In the east one frequently hears it said that a dollar in Ontario is worth two dollars in the West. The Winnipeg Telegram refutes this idea, and in discussing the subject says:

Intelligent newcomers or travelers interested in the economic conditions of Western Canada are confronted with the assertion frequently met with in Eastern Canada that Winnipeg is an expensive city to live in.

The reasonable and correct reply to that assertion is that Winnipeg is as expensive as the resident wishes to make it and that if the impression has grown that it is more costly to live in Winnipeg than in other Canadian cities which are capable of reasonable comparison the responsibility largely lies to some extent with the individual citizen of Winnipeg himself.

The Winnipegger is not prone to little economies just as the Western farmer of a few years ago considered himself a wheat-grower and looked upon mixed farming, the cultivation of vegetables, the laying out of a flower garden and the planting of trees as mere trifling side lines in agricultural development.

The Western Canadian farmer is changing and it may be that the citizens of Winnipeg will realize that what has given reason to the charge that life in Winnipeg is necessarily costly is due to thoughtless extravagance in small things and indifference to take advantage of many reasonable means of economy and opportunities of supplementing the usual wage or income.

Winnipeg is or should be the market place of an area of country that produces the best food stuffs, vegetables, cattle, etc., in the world and it would be astonishing if these cannot be produced on as advantageous terms as in other centres less fortunately situated to the source of supply.

The citizen of Winnipeg walks less and utilizes the street car more than do people of other cities.

If a Winnipegger finds this city more expensive to live in than other Canadian centres it will often be found that his own little extravagances and indifference at least are factors that contribute to the increased cost.

Liquor Barred From Mines.

Probably no law passed by the Provincial Government in relation to the mining fields of Ontario has met with more general approval among employers of labor than the law with relation to the sale of liquor in the camps.

Men who have been connected with the mining fields of the western States, British Columbia, Alaska and the Yukon claim that a great deal of the trouble between employer and employe had its origin in the liquor which was brought into the camps and sold freely among the mining men.

As in the western mining camps, a number of men have appeared on the scene at Gowganda who find that they can make money easily by bringing liquor into the camp. Anyone who has been in Gowganda City for more than a day, and has had his eyes open must have been aware that a certain amount of liquor is being quietly sold to people who desire to purchase it. It is said that the liquor is brought in in sealed bottles which cost wholesale about 68 cents each and which are retailed at $3 a bottle. As nothing else than bottled goods is said to be sold, this at least eliminates the injury which would be accomplished through selling adulterated whisky by the glass.

Kept His Eye on the Collection Plate.

The alertness of many a modern minister to watch the coin coming in from his congregation was well illustrated at a Toronto Methodist Church one Sunday night not long ago. Revival services had been in progress for a couple of weeks, and a preacher at present without a charge had assisted the pastor. The latter announced to his flock that Mr. W—— had been promised nothing, had asked for nothing. He had offered his services, though they might have been paid for elsewhere. The congregation could show its appreciation of his help by giving him a liberal envelope collection.

During all this eulogy the preacher in question kept his eyes carefully closed, as if in deprecation of his brother-clergyman's remarks of praise.

But when the ushers got their collection plates his eyes opened, and he followed with some interest the progress of this important part of the service.

Many in the congregation noticed it and smiled.

A Youthful Observer.

Who will declare that children are not acute observers of existing social conditions, after reading the following anecdote. A little Toronto tot of five years was taken to church for the first time, and for a week afterwards was full of the experience, especially since she had been extremely good and was proud of the fact. She was relating the episode to a grown-up admirer.

"Who went to church with you?" she asked.

"Mamma and auntie and my big sister," she replied.

"And was papa there?" proceeded the inquisitive one.

"Oh! no; mens don't go to church," was the prompt response.

Enormous Bank Clearings.

Winnipeg surpassed every one of the thirteen principal trade centres of Canada in having bank clearings for 1908 that were materially greater than for 1907, the increase being more than $14,000,000. The total clearings in 1908 of all the centres in question were $4,162,000,000, as against $4,325,000,000 in 1907.

CANADA AND OLD AGE.

Interesting Figures of Longevity Are Compiled by a Physician.

A physician of high repute recently made a tour of the great Dominion, and, when asked to say what struck him as the most remarkable feature of the country and its people, replied, without hesitation, according to "Canada": "The large proportion of healthy, hearty old men and women." Hitherto Canada has been chiefly praised as the land of youth and youthful optimism, where lack of years—a fault, if fault it be, that is speedily cured—is no barrier to the highest preferment in business and the professions. But it is just as true to praise Canada as the land of hale old age, where men live far beyond the span fixed by the Psalmist, and yet bear the burden of their many years as easily as the young man on the boyish side of 30 shoulders the thousand responsibilities of some great commercial undertaking. The "old-young man" — an ever-present feature in the street scenery of the huge American cities — is seldom if ever conspicuous in the life of the Canadian towns and countryside. In his place, Canada has the young-old man, of whom Frechette's pioneer who had given 50 years of his labor to the soil and 50 pairs of arms to the nation, that grand old statesman, Sir Charles Tupper, and the helpmate who is his peer in years and yet keeps the fire and charm of youthful womanhood, are three among countless types, actual or imagined.

Moreover, as the Census Commissioner of the Dominion lately informed us, the Canadian's expectation of life is gradually being prolonged—so that more and more people have the chance of passing into the decades beyond the sixties. Taking the several decennial enumerations since 1871, Mr. Archibald Blue obtains the following results: The average age of those who died in 1871 was 23.5 years; in 1881 it had increased to 24.62 years; in 1901 it had become 25.78 years. No other country can show so rapid an increase in the mean average duration of life, though the advance of sanitation, the fact that certain endemic diseases are becoming milder in type, and a variety of other changes, are bringing about a gradual prolongation of man's average period of existence in nearly all parts of the civilized world. Not only is Canada growing wealthier year by year, but Canadians are enjoying better health, and so getting more enjoyment out of their enhanced prosperity as time goes on.

But why is it that, in Canada, the advance is so much more rapid than, for example, in the sister independencies of the Empire? It is a question worth asking; not so easily answered. In many matters — the sanitary arrangements in her cities, for instance —Canada is not ahead of Old World countries. Nor is a nation's health always improved "pari passu" with the enhancement of national prosperity, though money in the purse adds to a person's contentment, and so, indirectly, strengthens the will-to-live. The Eastern States provide a pertinent case, where luxury-breeding wealth does not make for greater longevity. On the whole, we cannot find any adequate explanation of Canada's good fortune in this respect. None the less, we are justified in congratulating ourselves that even death, the arch enemy of mankind, is losing ground a year's space every ten years, before the onward and upward rush of our progressive people. In the end, it is true, death always stops the individual's effort; his organized "interference," to use a football metaphor, breaks even the organized onslaught of the sturdiest vanguard. But more and more Canadians get the chance of a good, long, spectacular run.

Crossed Atlantic 177 Times.

Three hundred Barnardo children, 250 boys and 50 girls, embarked on the Dominion at Liverpool recently for Canada, in charge of Alfred Owen, who, when the trip is finished, will have crossed the Atlantic for the 177th time.

He has brought 20,640 children over, apart from this party, and only two fatalities have taken place. One died of dysentery in 1855 and one fell down a hatchway in 1904.

All the boys and girls in the party he is now bringing over can find several homes, as the demand for children to adopt far exceeds the supply.

There are a number of the new arrivals, who are under 12 years of age, and who are classed as boarders, who are yet to be arranged for. The Home pays $5 a month for the care of boarders in the homes in which they are placed. There are at present 1,100 such charges in the country.

WORK THAT WEAKENS

Booth's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Peterborough

Many Peterborough people work every day in some strained unnatural position, bending constantly over a desk, riding on jolting wagons or cars, bending over heavy house work, lifting, reaching, pulling, all these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Booth's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs. Peterborough cures prove it.

Mrs. W. Huycke of 31 Louis street, Peterborough, Ont., says:—"Mr. Huycke had frequently suffered with backache. At times the pains in the small of the back would become so severe that he would be unable to straighten himself up without much suffering. He could not stoop or lift anything of consequence and his general health had been run down for some long time. He had tried a number of different remedies but didn't find relief until on advice of a friend he procured Booth's Kidney Pills at McDermid & Jury's Pharmacy and commenced treatment. He soon found relief. The pains left his back and he strengthened. He had no return of the trouble since and speaks very highly of Booth's Kidney Pills."

Icelandic Rhodes' Scholar.

An interesting instance of the capacity of the West in the matter of assimilation is seen in the development in the educational institutions of Winnipeg of a Rhodes' scholar who is an Icelander by birth. This young man, Skuli Johnson, was, when one year old, brought to Canada by his parents, who settled in Saskatchewan. Later the family moved to Winnipeg, where the lad attended the public schools and then went to Wesley College. Now, after a brilliant course in classics, he has won the provincial Rhodes' scholarship. The young man intends, after his term at Oxford, to return to Canada with the hope of securing a professorship in one of the higher institutions of learning.

C.P.R. as Game Carriers.

Included in the cargo of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co.'s steamer Empress of Ireland, which left Liverpool for Canada recently, was a consignment of partridges, which were being sent out to the game warden of British Columbia for stocking purposes by the Dominion Express Co. Already three previous shipments of live partridges and pheasants have been sent to British Columbia, all arriving at their destination—a distance of 6,000 miles—in excellent condition. The partridges sent forward by the Empress of Ireland were supplied by Messrs. Spratt's Patent, Ltd. By the same steamer there was also a consignment of pedigree fowls and ducks, which were being sent to the Far West for stocking purposes.

SALE OF LANDS IN GILLIES LIMIT

Under authority of an Order-in-Council dated 22nd April, 1909, the northerly portion of that tract of land generally known as the Gillies Limit, situated in the District of Nipissing, and Province of Ontario, containing about 800 acres, is offered for sale by tender in parcels containing 20 acres or thereabouts, such tenders to be addressed to the undersigned, at the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines, Toronto, marked on the envelope "Tender, Gillies Limit," and to be receivable at the said Department up to one o'clock p.m. on Tuesday, the 15th day of June, 1909.

Tenders are to be for each parcel separately, and to name a lump sum or bonus therefore. An accepted cheque for ten per cent. of this amount to accompany the tender, and the remainder to be paid in full within twenty days of acceptance of the same.

A royalty of ten per cent. on the gross proceeds (less freight and smelting charges) of all ores, minerals or concentrates taken from the land will be payable to the Crown, and purchasers will be required to enter into a satisfactory agreement with regard to the same.

Working conditions will be attached to the sale, and certain lands and rights will be reserved, full particulars of which, together with a map or plan showing the said tract, and the subdivisions thereof, may be obtained on application to the Department.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

WHARVES DAMAGED BY THE ICE SHOVES AT STONEY LAKE

Boat Houses Also Broken Open—Water is Very High—Good Progress on New Viamede—Other News From the Lake.

Much damage has been done at Stony Lake by the ice and the high water. A Peterborough man who has just returned from the lake, says that the water is unusually high. The wharves at Mount Julian and McCracken's Landing are under water, and the wharf at Burleigh Falls is partially submerged. The new wharf at Juniper Island is covered by fully two feet of water. Nearby all the cottage wharves are under water, and several of them have been damaged and partially broken from their morrings by the ice. Among the wharves damaged were those of Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P., and Mr. Guillet, of Cobourg, who has opened his cottage at the lake, says that the water is higher than it has been for twenty years. Several boathouses were broken open by the ice-shoves, and a punt, which was found floating on the lake, was picked up by Mr. Thompson.

Good progress is being made on the new "Viamede." The carpenters will finish their part of the work in about two weeks. A septic tank is being put in at "Viamede" and at several of the cottages.

Mr. T. H. G. Denne is building a new cottage. Mr Jack Lumsden is in charge of the work and good progress is being made. It will be a very handsome cottage.

Among the cottages already opened are those of Mr. Hopkins, of Boston; Mr. Acton, of Toronto; Mr. Guillet, of Cobourg, and Mr. Levi Payne.

THE FIRST UPSET OF THE SEASON IN THE OTONABEE

The first upset of the season on the Otonabee was reported to the Review this morning. Yesterday afternoon a couple of young men were unfortunate enough to be overturned into the water near Hall's barn, a point about seven miles down the river.

The early season paddlers went down the river in the morning and were preparing to paddle back in the afternoon about two o'clock. The current in the river is very strong at present and the young men who are it is stated, not expert manipulators of the canoe, got the worst of an awkward struggle with an eddy and in their vigorous efforts to make the passage through it, unbalanced the craft to such an extent that it flipped over. They were close to shore, however, and managed to reach it in safety. Two cushions were lost and one of the paddles split in the mixup.

Both canoeists are employed at the Canadian General Electric.

HAS RETURNED FROM THREE MONTHS' TRIP ABROAD

Mr. Charles Ackerman Home From Visit to France, England and Scotland—Visited for Month at Home Town of Messrs. Houdrey Brothers of This City.

Mr. Charlie Ackerman, of this city, returned home after a visit of three months abroad. The first place he visited after sailing from Canada was Iel de Bretagne, the home of the parents of Messrs. Hourdrey Brothers of Peterborough. He remained there about a month and then went to Paris, where he stayed for three weeks.

From Paris Mr. Ackerman left for London, where he remained a week. He then visited Birmingham, Glasgow and Edinburgh and sailed for home on the 29th of April on the "Laurentic," the new White Star liner. He arrived at Montreal on Friday evening and came direct to Peterborough.

Mr. Ackerman reports having had a thoroughly enjoyable and interesting trip.

TWENTY YEARS IN THE PRESBYTERIAN MINISTRY

Yesterday was the twentieth anniversary of the ordination of Rev. J. G. Potter to the Presbyterian ministry, and the event was observed by special services at St. Andrew's church. Rev. Alex. McGillivray, of Bonar Presbyterian church, Toronto, who ordained Mr. Potter, was the preacher at both services and large congregations were present. At the evening service Mr. McGillivray outlined the duties of the Christian church in an able sermon that was followed with deep interest.

Mr. McGillivray's sermon at the morning service was principally to parents and Sunday school workers.

The musical numbers at both services were of a high standard. The anthem at the morning service was "Gentle Jesus Lead Us," and at the evening service, "Abide With Me," the solo part being taken by Rev. Mr. Potter.

In the morning Miss Mabel McGaw sang very sweetly, "I think when I read that sweet story of old," and at the evening service she sang "Abide With Me." Mr. Mortimer Johnston sang a solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," in fine voice at the morning service, and Randpal Dowsie was heard to fine advantage at the evening service in a solo, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

At the evening service Rev. Mr. Potter referred in feeling language to the death of Mrs. Wm. Bennet, wife of Rev. Wm. Bennet, who passed away on Sunday morning.

A congregational reunion will be held this evening. There is no admission fee and one of the features will be an address by Rev. Mr. McGillivray on "A Trip to the Holy Land," illustrated by limelight views.

TO MANAGE THE GALT BRANCH

Mr. Harold Tanney Will be in Charge of Neill Store There

Mr. Harold Tanney left to-day for Galt, where he will assume the position of managership of Mr. R. Neill's branch store there. Mr. Tanney has many friends in Peterborough, who will wish him success in his new duties.

OBITUARY

MRS. W. BENNET.

The death occurred yesterday morning of Mrs. Bennet, wife of Rev. William Bennet, at the advanced age of 80 years.

On the 21st of April, Mrs. Bennet was taken ill with la grippe which developed into pneumonia.

Besides her aged husband she leaves two sons, Mr. J. W. Bennet, of Peterborough, and Rev. Orr Bennet, of Almonte, and a daughter, Miss Amy K. Bennett, also of Peterborough. Mr. and Mrs. Bennet passed the 60th anniversary of their wedding day on the 19th of April, when Mrs. Bennet was enjoying her usual good health. The funeral will leave the family residence, 558 Gilmour street, Peterborough, on Tuesday, the 11th of May, 1909, at 2.30 p.m. The family of the deceased request that no flowers be sent.

LIFT LOCK IS READY BUT THE BOATS ARE NOT

Current in the Canal is too Swift for Boats to Make the Trip—Water is Very High

The lift lock, with the exception of a little paint being applied, which is not permitted through the inclemency of the weather, is ready for the season, but apparently the vessels which use the locks are not. The lock at Kirkfield has been open for the past three weeks and is doing a brisk business, but navigation has not opened in this locality enough to warrant the Peterborough lift lock being used. Then again, the current in the canal is so swift that boats would have a hard time to navigate, but still any boat which wants to try to make the trip can do so at anytime.

RECEIVED TWO HANDSOME GIFTS

Mr. Harold Tanney Remembered by Belmont Club and Charlotte St. Choir

Mr. Harold Tanney, who left to-day for Galt, was presented with a beautiful silver napkin ring by the Belmont Club on Saturday night. Mr. Tanney was a charter member of the club and his departure is greatly regretted. The presentation was made by Mr. "Nat" Greenhalgh and an address was read by Mr. O. Milburn. Several of the members made speeches wishing Mr. Tanney success at Galt.

Mr. Tanney was also presented with a gold-mounted fountain pen by the Charlotte st. choir for which he was a valued member. He was a member of the male quartette and his services will be greatly missed.

BURNED TO DEATH

Horrible Fate of Woman in Prince Edward County—Lamp Exploded.

Belleville, May 8—A shocking and awful affair happened this morning in Demorestville, Prince Edward County by which Mrs. George Farrell, a married lady of about fifty, met a horrible death.

It appears that Mrs. Farrell was sitting up with a sick brother in law, Mr. Thomas Farrell, when in some unexplained way, a lamp exploded, drenching the unfortunate lady with oil, which in the twinkling of an eye, burst into flames. The sick man's bed was also set on fire and he was painfully burned before he managed to smother the flames with the bed clothes.

Mrs. Farrell's screams aroused other members of the household, but when assistance reached her she was so dreadfully burned as to be beyond human aid. The skin and flesh actually fell from her bones when sympathizing friends tried to aid her.

Medical aid was summoned by some members of the family, while others put out the fire, which was threatening to destroy the house.

The doctor arrived and did all he could to alleviate the poor lady's sufferings but after suffering awful agonies, she died about 7 a.m.

The deceased lady leaves a husband and one son, and the sad affair has cast a dark shadow over the whole locality.

PARKER VS. PARKER

In case the public should misunderstand the nature of the above action of which an abstract of the pleadings filed in the local Registrar's office was given in a local paper on Saturday, the parties and their solicitors publish the following statement;—

The action is entirely a friendly one and is brought by the direction of the Official Guardian of the Infants, Mr. Harcourt, to settle a question of title of certain lands in Hamilton. The late Alfred Parker had made an agreement with his son as to these lands, but died suddently before the legal formalities had been completed. His widow, Mrs. Minnie E. Parker, wishes the arrangement completed as her late husband had intended, but Mr. Parker's infant heirs have no power so to do, and the Official Guardian on their behalf desires the order of the court before he feels at liberty to execute the necessary documents. The formal allegations made in the pleadings are simply to bring before the court the necessary facts upon which to base an order.

A BIG ORANGE CELEBRATION

The Loyal Orange Association is working diligently in preparation for the big celebration which will be held here on July 12th. It is expected that fully 8000 visitors will be in town on that day and the turn of Orangemen will surpass any celebration ever held in Port Hope.

About $500 will be spent in decorating. J. J. Turner and Sons of Peterborough having the contract.—Port Hope Guide.

WILSON WAS THE ONLY LUCKY DOG

Disgusted with the business the attraction was doing. Knox Wilson, the star, Sim Rork the owner and Jas. Glickauf, the manager, of The Land of Nod, which was at the Grand lately, are reported to have taken $10 each out of the gross one night at Pittsburg and visited a gambling house. The wily gamblers were too much for Rork and Glickauf, but Knox Wilson made a winning to the extent of $400. Rork tried to cajole the actor to divide or lend him a part of the winnings, but Wilson stubbornly refused. Rork jestingly remarked that the company could not be moved. Wilson replied that he meant to keep all of the money if The Land of Nod went to its final sleep.

Babe Ginned With Cotton.

Galveston, Texas, May 10.—The disappearance of little Alfred Hartman, the two-year-old son of George and Angelina Hartman of Gillespie County, five months ago, has been solved by the finding of the flattened body of the infant in a bale of cotton opened at a gin in Liverpool, England.

The child crept into the press while it was open, and falling asleep was ginned in the bale.

A Chinese School.

Washington, May 10.—Wu Ching Fany, Chinese Minister to the United States, has accepted the presidency of the Chinese school of Chicago, according to an announcement made yesterday. The school, which was formally opened on Thursday, was started under the auspices of the Chinese Government. There are thirty-two students already enrolled in the school.

Doherty for Old Land.

Montreal, May 10.—There is a report here in Conservative circles that ex-Judge Doherty, M.P. for St. Ann's, will only sit for the present Parliament, and then take up his residence in London, practicing his profession in the British metropolis and eventually seeking an Irish constituency for the Imperial House of Commons.

Troubles of Their Own.

Buffalo, May 10.—After a big meeting of members of the Longshoremen's Association, held here yesterday afternoon, President T. V. O'Connor said: "We did not discuss a sympathetic strike. Our men are not at present involved in the lake trouble."

PETERBOROUGH BOAT AT OTTAWA

Racing Canoe Built for Capital Paddlers Attracting Much Attention

Ottawa, May 8—The racing single built by the Peterborough Canoe Co, to compete against a similar craft built by Dey Bros. is on exhibition in Hurd and McBride's and has been inspected by several paddlers, including Horace Merrill, for whom she was specially designed.

The Peterborough people offered the canoe as a present to Merrill if he occupied it in championship races. The New Edinburgh Club agreed to accept it if it proved a faster craft than the one Dey Bros. are also building for Merrill, which is being presented to the club by Mr. L. N. Bate.

The superiority of one canoe over the other will be settled shortly when Merrill and Morley Neate will race the two together.

CADET CORPS GET NEW REGULATIONS

Provision for Instructors — Late Militia Orders From Ottawa

Ottawa, May 8—Militia general orders authorize the formation of a corps of school cadet instructors — militia—to be composed of qualified male teachers of the public schools of Canada. For the current year this is to consist of fifty lieutenants.

New regulations appear with regard to cadet corps. Each corps in possession of an Eadale target will get a free annual issue of a roll of target papers so far as stores permit, each cadet corps shall get one machine sub-target gun, and two thousand paper targets. A bond for $250 must be given, and arrangements must be made for the safe keeping of the machine.

New regulations regarding the medical services also appear in the orders. It is provided that all future appointments to the medical service of the active militia shall be made to the Canadian Army Medical Corps.

Officers of the Canadian Army Medical corps will be detailed for duty with regiments and other units having a medical officer on the establishment. Officers so detailed will revert to the regimental list after five years, for other duty in connection with the medical service. When however, it is considered desirable, an officer may be detailed for another term of five years to a regiment.

No officer above the rank of major of the Canadian Army Medical Corps shall be detailed to regimental medical charge.

Officers of the present regimental medical service will remain with their regiments under the present existing conditions in that service.

New regulations appear for the training of city corps. It is provided that it must be "distinctly understood that at least eight of the twelve days are given to drill or manoeuvre."

It further is provided that credit must not be taken on the drill books so far as pay is concerned for classes of instruction for officers, non-commissioned officers and men.

New and elaborate rules for the granting of efficiency pay also appear.

An "At Home" will be held a, the T.A.S. rooms under the auspices of the T.A.S. Athletic Club on Wednesday evening May 12th.

TO PUBLISH THE ASSESSMENT ROLL

This Has Been Decided on by Town Council at Cobourg

At the last meeting of the Cobourg Town Council an important matter was taken up and passed unanimously This was to publish the assessment roll in book form. We have urged this for years, believing it to be the most feasible way to get an equalized roll. By having the names, addresses and amounts assessed in a book, the ratepayers can readily see if they are fairly assessed in proportion to their neighbors. This will assist the Court of Revision; it will also give the assessors to understand that the work is not to be skimmed over, or that they can make values high or low, according to their likes or dislikes. It will give the ratepayers a check upon the assessors, and upon each other. If the assessment could be once properly and honestly equalized it would be an easy matter to keep it right. The Council deserves credit for facing the question and carrying it through. They have shown backbone, and we believe in giving credit to whom credit is due.—Cobourg Sentinel-Star.

TWO EXCELLENT PERFORMANCES

Of Parsifal at the Grand on Saturday—Matinee and Night Presentations

The elaborate dramatic version of Richard Wagner's "Parsifal" was given an exceedingly fine presentation at the Grand on Saturday afternoon and evening. The interesting and beautifully told story of Parsifal's change from a shepherd boy to the strong and noble soldier of the cross and his temptation by the beautiful Kundry supplies a plot of unusual depth. Wagner's music is strikingly descriptive or appealingly sympathetic as the situations require.

The audiences at both matinee and night performances were very appreciative and several curtain calls were given. The presenting company was an excellent one and the scenic effects were unusually rich and ample.

SONG SERVICE AT SALVATION ARMY CITADEL

"Rescued in London" Will be Given To-night by the Local Singing Brigade

This evening at eight o'clock in the Salvation Army citadel a song service entitled "Rescued in London," will be rendered by the local singing brigade. This beautiful service was written by the Rev. H. Shaw, and wherever given has met with very great success as it portrays so vividly scenes in every day life. All those interested in the cause of Godliness, morality and temperance should hear this beautiful service as the moral throughout the service gives each an object lesson that should prove beneficial in the journey through life. There is a variety of full choruses, quartettes, solos and a very enjoyable evening is expected. The chair will be taken at eight o'clock by Staff-Capt. Walton, late of Toronto, and the local silver band will render selections during the evening.

TELEPHONE LINE FROM APSLEY TO LASSWADE

First General Annual Meeting of Apsley Telephone Company

The first general annual meeting of the Apsley Telephone Company was held this week in the village town hall, when there were thirty-five of the shareholders present.

Mr. Duncan Brown occupied the chair, and the by-laws for the regulation of the affairs of the company were passed and confirmed. The company has now sixteen miles of line with four public stations. Apsley is connected with Mount Julian, and during the coming summer the line will be extended to Lasswade. There have been twelve applications made from private individuals to have the telephones placed in their homes.

A resolution was passed by the shareholders of Apsley Telephone Co., Limited, expressing their deep appreciation and gratitude for the valuable assistance rendered by Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P., both financially and otherwise in the promotion and organization of this company, giving to residents of Burleigh and Anstruther and Chandos telephone communication with the rest of the province.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The directors of the company are Messrs. B. Coons, Geo. A. Bullied, Alex. McColl, John Hales, Z. Tucker, D. Brown and W. S. Davidson.

Mr. Brown was elected president, Mr. W. S. Davidson secretary-treasurer, and Mr. T. G. Eastland auditor.

McPHEE'S BIG CO.

Presenting "For Her Brother's Sake," which will be presented at the Grand Opera House May 14th, is one of the few dramatic successes of the season. Its story is consistent and interesting, interwoven with bright dialogue and clever comedy, and contains a dainty love story. Several high-class specialties, an elaborate scenic investure, well dressed and beautifully gowned players, effects are a few of the many features that go to make up one of the exceptional attractions of the season. The McPhee Company will hold the boards for two nights, and Saturday matinee, commencing Friday evening, May 14th, presenting an entire change of programme at every performance. This big company travels in their own private Pullman cars, and carry scenery and stage effects for each production, producing a complete scenic production. A first-class band and orchestra is also carried. The McPhee Co. will present the beautiful comedy drama, "The Great Diamond Mystery," a play that pleases both old and young. Saturday evening Howard Russell's beautiful comedy-drama, "The Girl I Love," will be presented. Six high-class vaudeville acts will be introduced between the acts at evrey performance. Matinee prices, children 10 cents; adults 20 cents. Night prices only 10, 20 and 30 cents. Band concert daily at noon.

SPORTING NEWS

NO CUP YET FORTHCOMING FOR SCHOOL BALL LEAGUE

In spite of the fact that there are four schools that would, it is practically certain, be represented in the school league if it was formed, no attempt to organize the league has been made. This is probably due to the fact that no one has offered a trophy to be played for by the youngsters and it is certain if one were donated the league would be formed.

There is no doubt the boys are anxious to get into the game and should be given every encouragement. There is an opportune occasion for the presentation of a school league cup by someone sufficiently concerned in the interests of the juvenile baseball players.

BALL TOSSER'S CORNER

Over 8,000 fans were present at the Island Saturday and watched the Toronto bunch put it over Baltimore by 6—4. Kal Mahling had three errors, but as the Leafs won everything was lovely, of course.

Carl Lindgren will report to Toronto this week. He is a right hander and the year before last got away with 18 victories and only 7 defeats when with the Chicago Cubs. With this addition to the pitching staff Joe Kelley's team looks much better.

"Foxy Grandpa" Bannon has passed up the game for good; Jacko Halligan has booked on with Scranton; Al Pardee has been tincanned by Newark; Joe Bean, of the Skeeters, and Jimmy Murray, the old Bison outfielder, are with St. Paul; "Sandy" Bannister, the Broncho flinger, is with the Waterbury club; Chester Chadbourne and Ralph Blaze are with the Indianapolis club, and George Pfanmiller, the Skeeter twirler, who like Joe Bean, Jake Gettman, Willy Woods, Bert Conn, and Pete Cassidy, was on the Powers circuit in 1901, has a good job as County Clerk in Jersey City and has quit the game.

There will be a meeting of the Junior Church Baseball League tomorrow evening in the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Jack Pilling, who was elected president, will be unable to take the position and the teams will have to get someone else. There will be other important business to transact and all teams interested are asked to send a representative to the meeting.

Brantford, May 9.—At the meeting of the local baseball executive here last night, Manager Vince Treacy, of the Goold, Shapley & Muir team, assured the representatives present Dubb Shea, Simpson and Dinny Burke, the mainstays of his team, had been fully appeased, and had called off their proposed trip to Brandon, Man. The players were offered $125 per month, but it looked like chance work, and Manager Treacy was successful in inducing the men to remain here.

Rule 14, sec. 5—In every game the balls played with shall be furnished by the home club, and the last in play shall be the property of the winning club. Each ball shall be enclosed in a paper box, which must be sealed with the seal of the secretary of the league, and bear his certificate that he has examined, measured and weighed the ball contained therein, and that it is of the required standard in all respects. The seal shall not be broken by the umpire, except in the presence of the captains of the contesting teams after play has been called.

THE BAT.

Rule 15.—The bat must be round, not over two and three-fourth inches in diameter at the thickest part, nor more than 42 inches in length, and entirely of hardwood, except that for a distance of 18 inches from the end. Twine may be wound around or a granulated substance applied to the handle.

FIRST GLOVE USED.

"Nig" Cuppy was the first pitcher to wear a glove while in the box, and the innovation was one of the sensations of baseball fifteen or sixteen years ago.

"Cy" Young recalls the advent of the hand padding well. Young called on a friend one day and was informed that he would see a strange sight that afternoon. "Keep your eyes open when you see Cuppy this afternoon," the friend said. "Why he wears a glove when pitching." That was an unheard of thing at that time. Sure enough, when "Cy" went to the ball park that afternoon there was Cuppy wearing hand covering. It wasn't the big, capacious things of the present day, but it was large enough to take the sting off the ball.

The precedent established by Cuppy was the talk of the circuit for weeks. Many baseball critics of the old school rushed into print declaring that the pitcher could not grasp the ball properly because the glove would interfere. Some even thought the use of hand covering was too ladylike for real live athletes.

But the glove for pitchers and fielders was retained, and has saved many a damaged finger and many a bruised hand. Without the glove a lot of plays and curves common nowadays would be impossible.

PARK NINES WON FROM THE ROVERS

Two Intermediate League Team Had Workout at Exhibition Grounds Saturday

The Park Nines and Rovers played their third game at the Exhibition Grounds Saturday afternoon, and the Park Nines managed to win this time by 12—7. This is the third time the two teams have come together, but the best that they could do in the previous games was to play to a tie. The contest Saturday was a fairly good one, there being lots of pretty plays and hard batting. There were also many errors, but a big improvement was noticeable in the work of the players, who are rounding into shape in good style. The batteries Gorman and Patterson for the Park Nines, and Neary and Wood for the Rovers. Umpire—Overend.

EX-CHAMPION IS ARRESTED

Houston, Texas, May 10.—Jim Hall is in the county jail here, charged with an attempt to kill his friend, Jack Charkins, on Monday night. Hall claims in the dispute he struck Clarkins with a shovel when he thought Clarkson intended to stab him. Frank Kronwinkler, a pugilist, identified Hall as the once famous pugilist, who fought Bob Fitzsimmons. Hall admitted his identity, and gave facts about his fight with Fits. Sporting men are working for Hall's release.

PICK HARRISON FOR A PLACE

Milwaukee Eagle Thinks He Should Come in for One of the Best Monies

The Milwaukee Eagle says;

Among the starters in the race commencing Monday the 10th is the long distance champion of Canada, Jim Harrison, of Peterborough, Ont. He is spoken of by Hoagland as a strong and consistent walker and the "old man" picks him to get one of the best prize divisions. Harrison comes from the same town as David Hartley, who established a Canadian distance mark and was a starter in the International go as you please at New York.

DUBBY SHEA IS NOT GOING WEST

Not Going to Brandon as Was Reported in Brantford

From the present outlook local baseball fans will have the opportunity of enthusing over some very classy ball playing at Mohawk Park in the Inter-City League games this year. At the meeting of the Brantford executive at the Metropole last night, both Manager Tracy of the Goold, Shapley & Muir team, and Manager Harry Bond, of Verity's, were chock-full of confidence that their teams would be 1-2 for the championship. William Simpson, Dubby Shea and Dennis Burke, the three star mainstays of the Woodmillers, are not being allowed to depart for Brandon after all. Burke stated on Thursday that he had closed all arrangements for the trio to make the trip, and that they were merely awaiting transportation passes. In other quarters the story was verified, but apparently Manager Treacy has succeeded in corraling his men for keeps. The announcement that Burke, Shea and Simpson were to leave created a stir among the fans, many of whom believed that it was another of the famous Dinny's pipe dreams, that when he left Brantford he was going to carry the town away with him. Perhaps it was!—Brantford Expositor.

"EXTRAS" WERE IN DEMAND

Great interest was taken in Peterborough on Saturday in the Shrubb-Longboat race at Montreal and the International Derby in New York. The Review "extra" containing complete reports of the two events which was issued at seven o'clock was bought up rapidly and read with great interest.

An excellent story of the two races was furnished by the C.P.R. telegraph company, the Peterborough papers having as complete an account of the races as that contained in the "extras" issued in Toronto.

THE FUTURE RELATIONS OF CANADIAN EAST AND WEST

An Able Review of the Plain Situation—The Futility of Providing Greater Competition for Our Farmers—Immense Loss to Agricultural Wealth in East

In a three column letter to The Globe, Mr James Pringle, sen. of Stratford, sets out in a plain and convincing way his opinion of the relations of the west and the east in the future. He says we are banking on them altogether too much. The idea that the west will grow the grains and that the east will provide the west with manufactures for any considerable period might, he says, just as well be given up.

He very truly remarks;

"It is a well-known fact that the Liberal Government have had a perfect streak of good luck since the day they got into power. In 1898 Joseph Leiter threw away twenty millions of his father's fortune in putting up the price of wheat in Chicago from 62c to $1.80, which caused it to advance in Ontario from 60c to $1.20. Prices having been for years so far below the cost of production there were hundreds of thousands of farmers both in the United States and Canada who had two and three years' crops to dispose of, which at once set the wheels of trade in motion. The farmers of this continent ought to remember Joseph who did more for them than Joseph of old ever did for the Egyptians. The next streak of good luck—the wooden navies of the whole civilized world became worthless for modern warfare, and billions upon billions of dollars had to be spent in building modern implements of destruction and the end is not yet. The most lucky streak was the African war. There is no doubt Canada and the States derived all the cream of the hundreds of millions that were thrown away.

The last and greatest streak of all was the Japanese and Russian war, which had the effect of taking Russia as a competitor out of the grain market of the world and has been the cause of putting billions of dollars into the pockets of the farmers of this continent since the war."

It is nothing short of a national delusion to imagine we are not going to have the worst kind of opposition in building up this great Dominion. It is true we have had twelve years of great prosperity but it is at such a time the greatest mistakes are made. Crops and prices have been good, money has been flowing freely, and the people of the west have got so optimistic they don't feel the cold when the weather is 50 degrees below zero but they will feel it when they have to sell their grain below the cost of production. If debt has the same disastrous effect on nations it has on individuals we ought to realize that Great Britain is no longer the wealthiest in the world. She has no longer the monopoly of the manufacturing and carrying trade. Other nations that used to be her best customers have now become her greatest competitors in the world's markets, and it is doubtful if she will continue to be the market for the surplus products of the whole world. Britain's wealth is estimated at thirty billions, with a population of forty-two millions and a debt of nearly four billions. Germany has a population of sixty-two millions, is worth fifty-nine billions and has a debt of about two billions. The United States has a population of eighty-five millions and a debt of one billion, more or less and is worth 107 billions.

Germany is doing more to undermine British trade all over the world than any other nation and is the cause of the present hubbub. It is an old saying, there is always ill-will among cadgers.

Protection is simply the essence of pure, unadulterated selfishness, and the struggle to live and make money is so great it is doubtful if there is such a thing as loyalty to a Province or a country when conditions adversely affect the pocket. It is unfortunate the old mother is so much in debt and depends so much on the manufacture and sale of liquor for part of her revenues; only for this she could hold her own against the rest of the world. Although she buys 75 per cent of raw cotton from the United States her foreign trade amounts to four hundred millions, while that of the States is less than fifty millions. She is blessed with a great many natural unknown advantages, and should stick to free trade in foodstuffs and all kinds of raw materials.

European countries who are protecting themselves to death and who have so many unemployed on hand, should put them to work in providing their own foodstuffs instead of flooding this country with useless men and women from the cities who do not want work, who would rather starve in the cities than go to the country to find it, and when they do they cannot give value for the wages they receive; hence the reason hundreds of thousands of aged farmers are forced to leave their farms and is the cause why land has fallen 30 per cent in Ontario in the last fifteen years.

The high prices of food stuffs are bound to stimulate production. The British Government has already made a bold attempt to settle 250,000 farmers on small farms in Ireland at an average cost of $1,500, with a five-room house, with suitable outbuildings, payable in sixty-eight years at 3 1-4 per cent. on the investment. The Government is furnishing practical instructors to teach the farmers how to make the most profitable use of their land and labor, how to improve their stock, and how to produce better butter, cheese, pork and poultry, and also assisting them in getting better prices for their products and lower prices for their supplies. As an acre of land in Ireland for pasturing or any other purpose is worth two or three acres in Canada, what a glorious country it will become for co-operative dairies. The total trade in provisions in 1907 was $85,000,000, and the total trade of the country was $611,100,000, which, with free trade, can easily be doubled.

Egypt has spent $50,000,000 in building the greatest dam in the world, capable of holding billions of gallons of water for irrigation, which can be distributed the year around, and which will enable the farmers to grow two abundant crops, so that there will be no more famine in Egypt.

If the Czar of Russia had only been blessed with a little common sense and had taken one-quarter of the money he threw away fighting Japan and had settled ten or twenty millions of his subjects on his ninety million acres of vacant land he holds in Siberia there would have been food enough and to spare after supplying the wants of Europe, and he would have been worshipped as the greatest monarch on earth, as well as the richest.

It is not generally known that Russia has double the amount of vacant land Canada has got, and it is just as well, if not better, adapted for farming, and is geographically better situated for supplying the wants of both Europe and Asia than our great Northwest.

The Czar is just beginning to get his eyes opened, and is giving away forty acres of land and a certain amount of assistance to each settler on the most reasonable terms. There is also a rush of capitalists, taking up thousands of acres to farm on a large scale. The Deering and McCormick combination are building large works in France and Germany, and the American Consul in Russia is doing his best to get them to put up large works in Russia, where the raw material and labor are so cheap, and where they have got a railway over 6,000 miles, the entire length of the country.

Then there is Argentina, a country about the size of our great Northwest. The two countries began farming about the same time. Last year Argentina raised 204,000,000 bushels of wheat. This year they don't expect as much, but expect over 200,000,000 of corn, 50,000,000 of flaxseed and 60,000,000 of oats, so that comparisons are odious. The Creator has been too kind to that country in providing 3,000 miles of navigable rivers, where the largest steamers afloat can be loaded to any port in the world free of cost to the settlers. Besides, it is one of the best pasturing countries in the world, where live stock of all kinds can live outdoors the year round and grow fat, without any danger of being frozen to death, and farmers don't need to feed out in winter what they grow in summer, but can keep on cultivating the land. Corn for feeding purposes is worth about as much as wheat, and can be used profitably in many other ways, which give them a great advantage over the Northwest!"

Of great governmental transportation schemes he says:

"If three-fourths of this great Northwest is nearer Fort Nelson and Fort Churchill than Fort William and Fort Arthur, and is a good wheat-growing country, it follows that the Hudson's Bay must be open four or five months in the year, and, this route being as near Great Britain as the Government ought to be careful and see how the cat jumps before involving themselves any further with the G.T.P. In twenty years it is possible there may be more business doing on the Pacific than on the Atlantic. Besides, those provinces, having all plenty of coal and gas, are going to build up industries of all kinds to create a home market for perishable trade. They are not going to pay one two and three hundred dollars a car for goods shipped in from Ontario any longer than they can help it."

OBITUARY

MISS CATHERINE GRIFFIN

The death occurred on Saturday of Miss Catherine Griffin at the residence of her niece, Mrs Dennis Cosgrave, in Ennismore. The deceased who was 65 years of age had only been sick a short time, death being due to the infirmities of old age. The funeral took place this morning to St. Martin's Roman Catholic church and thence to the Ennismore cemetery.

Fatal Strike Riot.

Duluth, May 10.—One man dead and six others injured, the result of a riot at Superior, Wis., between union and non-union men, when the coal-laden steamer Berlin tied up at the Northwestern Fuel Co.'s dock. It is thought a private detective fired the fatal shot.

China's Tariff.

Washington, May 10.—All the Governments except Germany, which have been sounded by the United States on the subject, have assented in principle, to the wish of China for a conference to consider the question of raising her tariff rates.

Climatic Errors.

One mistake strangers make with respect to the climate of Canada, and in fact with respect to the climate of any large country, is that they draw too wide a generalization from a very small particular. Often a stranger who happens to be in Quebec in February or in Ottawa in August goes away satisfied that Canada is either an arctic or a tropical country, and he makes his experience apply to the whole country which stretches from ocean to ocean. He knows nothing about the Scottish-like climate of the Maritime Provinces, or the south of England climate of the British Columbia coast, or the climate of southern Ontario so similar to that of the lower Mississippi Valley, or the matchless climate of Sunny Southern Alberta. When the stranger, and perhaps the Canadian too, speaks of the climate of Canada he should specify the part of the country to which he refers, for otherwise he is liable not only to be erroneous but extremely ridiculous. This is a big country, and it has climates to suit all tastes—except bad taste. A man looking for unbearable conditions need not come here.—Montreal Standard.

Indian Charged With Assault.

St. Thomas, May 10.—Jos. Doxtater, an Indian shoe repairer, is under arrest on a charge of assault on Ida Knight, aged six years. Doxtater dragged the little girl into his shop on Saturday morning, but her eleven-year-old brother gave the alarm and she was rescued by the employes of a nearby mill. The Indian, who was partly intoxicated, escaped, but was later arrested by the police.

To Spite Fire Chief.

Victoria, B.C., May 10.—That a spite campaign is being organized against the new fire chief, Thomas Davis, formerly of the Toronto fire department, appointed a fortnight ago, is believed here, owing to the epidemic of false alarms. The department has been given five runs on account of false alarms in the last 48 hours.

Glove Cutting.

Glove cutting is purely a hand trade. No machine could cut out a glove properly, for the simple reason that it could not distinguish between good and bad, thick and thin, pieces of leather. Each piece of leather requires special treatment in shaping, and therefore the cutting can never be mechanical.

"Snake, naturally," suggested Richard in a bitter but carefully veiled anger, his heart lodging in the very bottom of his boots at this sudden development of Renwyck's unjust hatred of his father, which, in addition, boded ill for the success of his love affair.

"That's it," continued Mr. Renwyck, with cool deliberation, nodding vigorously—"a rattler!"

"Yes," smiled Richard, the humor of the situation appealing to him in spite of its possibilities, "I've heard him called that, too, in—in a poker game."

The adventurer was sinking every moment deeper into the mire. He did not think the present instant was auspicious for declaring himself a viper, yet tell his name he must soon, for even now they had passed the iron gateway of the Renwycks' country home and were whirling up a winding avenue lined with trees. What the result of this declaration would be he could but too well imagine. His heart sank; his hopes vanished.

Suddenly into his brain there flashed a brilliant idea—nothing less than an inspiration. To avoid trouble the Earl of Croyland had coolly appropriated the name of Richard Williams. A fair exchange was no robbery by the laws of love and war, and if Richard borrowed the Englishman's title for the time being an imminent calamity might be averted. At all events, he would meet the girl he loved, which was the chief object in view, and, besides, the proposition appealed to his sense of humor. His spirits rose at once.

"Er—pardon me, Mr. Renwyck," he observed, with a faint suggestion of what he thought was the Englishman's drawling manner, "what jolly fine grounds you have! What d'ye call 'em?"

"Restmore."

"Ha, ha! Very good. Really, you know, quite up to Croyland Park."

"Think so?" said his flattered host. "I'm glad you like the place. Here we are!"

He drew the mare up sharply beneath the porte cochere and tossed the reins to a waiting groom. In a moment the pseudo noble guest was standing on a wide portico whose pillars and trellises were twined with wistaria in the season's first luxuriant bloom. From a seat on the lawn a vision in a bewildering white morning gown arose and came toward him. The Texan was conscious of an electric current turned slowly to the crowning notch of ecstasy. He saw for the second time in his life an oval face framed in dark hair, a pair of melting eyes and a nose with just that saucy tilt which seemed to dare him to plant a kiss beneath it, and a figure that he had once held in his arms. How could he have ever let it go?

"Lord Croyland," said Mr. Renwyck, indifferently enough, as if adorable girls like that were as plenty as blackberries, "allow me to present you to my daughter."

The adorable girl smiled and extended a hand, which Richard took, striving to prevent his own from trembling.

"Miss Renwyck," he murmured, looking squarely into her eyes, "you convince me that America is the very finest country in the world."

CHAPTER V.

To dive is one thing, to swim about is another, and to get safely out is still a third. Having taken the plunge, Richard Williams was now at leisure to contemplate the deeps in which he found himself. Here he was in a strange house under a borrowed name and title, with little knowledge or experience to enable him to carry off the position successfully. True, from his associations with the earl in Texas he could recall some of the Englishman's oddities of speech and manner, to which his own soft southern accent readily accommodated itself, but this was a flimsy scaffolding by which to build a successful fraud. Though well educated, Richard's environment had afforded him small opportunity to become familiar with the manners of polite society, and his knowledge of England and English customs, like that of many better informed Americans, was meager. On the other hand, he had plenty of common sense, much of his father's native shrewdness, a fund of ready wit, a cool courage in an emergency and in general nerve enough to brazen out the affair until such a time as he might see fit to make a clean breast of it and trust the rest to luck.

Having made his preparations for luncheon, he was pacing up and down the rooms which had been assigned to him, thoughtfully turning the matter over in his mind, when a servant announced the arrival of Croyland's man Bills.

"Ah!" said Richard, very eager to encounter what might prove to be the first check and get it over with. "Show him up, please."

The servant departed, and to the adventurer came another inspiration. Here was an opportunity which, if handled delicately, might lead to brilliant results. The valet entered—a slight man of medium height, with a clean shaven face, a puttylike complexion and a pale, unemotional eye.

"M' lord"—

The man stopped suddenly, passed his hand over his mouth and stood staring at Richard, while a look of recognition slowly illumined his brain.

"Why, Mr. Williams, sir!" he burst out presently. "I thought"—

"Ah," smiled Richard, in his most innocent and beguiling manner, "so you haven't forgotten your little trip to Texas?"

"No—no, sir. An' those awful cow gentlemen, sir!" faltered Bills, with a shudder of remembrance of some practical jokes of which he had been the victim at the hands of some of the cow punchers before he left for New York and civilization.

"Good! Now, attend me carefully. Do you know anything of the reasons why your master is in New York?"

"A little, sir, but not much—some business for the Japs, for a foreign government, sir."

Richard took a thoughtful turn up and down the room, then faced the man again.

"You look rather an intelligent man, Bills, and can appreciate what I am going to say to you. Your master finds it necessary to lie low for a week or two. Understand?"

"Very good, sir."

"In the first place, Lord Croyland authorized me to discharge you immediately upon your arrival."

The servant looked up quickly, a gleam of suspicion in his fishy eye.

"Askin' your pardon, sir," he said deferentially, "but 'ow am I to know, sir, that you—that"—

"That I am acting on the level?" finished Richard. "I admire your caution. To begin with, you'll have to take my word. If this, however, has no weight, I am to freshen your memory with a little matter of four pound six and a jeweled cigar cutter. Follow me?"

The valet licked his lips and said nothing. Richard went on:

"If you still have doubts on the subject, Lord Croyland is in possession of an inquiry from a friend of yours in Scotland Yard—an inquisitive duck of the name of Drake. I dare say he's asking after your health. Well?"

"W'en would you have me leave, sir?" asked Bills most deferentially again, without a change of countenance.

Richard regarded the man critically.

"That's just the point, Friend Woolsey. I think I can arrange to give you a position—that is, for a time at least. How much does your master pay you?"

"Twelve pounds a month, sir, an' my keep."

"Very well," nodded Richard, "I can do the same for you, with the promise of a fat bonus for good behavior. Now, listen. I'm going to trust you and speak candidly. Lord Croyland's got to lie low—Jap—er—you know."

"'Ow long?"

"For a week or perhaps longer. I am to be Earl of Croyland. You are to attend me as my man, address me as Lord Croyland and render me such assistance as I require. Is that satisfactory?"

The valet's lips twitched, but he answered, in a level tone:

"Beg pardon, Mr. Williams, but it cawn't be done."

"Why not?" demanded Richard.

"Cawn't reconcile it with my conscience, sir."

"How much is this delicate organ of yours worth, Bills?"

"Twenty-five pounds a month, sir, an'—the bonus as you were good enough to mention, sir."

The valet had the whip hand of him, and no one knew it better than the arch conspirator; therefore he hastened to clinch the bargain before the terms thereof should rise.

"All right," he agreed, "I'll do it—on conditions. I engage you for one month, that's $125, and a like sum, if you serve me faithfully, at the end of it."

"An'—the other Lord Croyland, sir?"

"I'll square you with him all right. You know who I am"—he paused and fixed his keen gray eye upon the man, adding, as his square chin grew more dominant—"but no monkey shines! I have a sort of bonus for that too. Just please remember that I can hit a half dollar at seventy-five yards—size 44—and I won't be trifled with. I, too, have a sensitive conscience, Bills, but it has its limitations. Now, then, what do you say?"

"Very good, m' lord," said Bills, with another deferential bow.

Richard chuckled and rubbed his hands. Matters were beginning to assume a more cheerful aspect. He paced up and down for a moment or two longer, then turned to the waiting servant.

"Now, Cardinal Woolsey, we'll get right down to business. I want you to go to the city this morning and bring me a condensed history of England and a map of your jolly little island. Then I'll need some rather strenuous coaching. Did you bring the—er—I mean—my trunks?"

"Your lordship's boxes, m' lord?"

"Oh, yes, boxes, of course. Thank you. Did you bring them?"

"They are in the 'all below, m' lord. I'll 'ave 'em up immejitly, sir."

Bills turned to go, but Richard checked him.

"Wait. I haven't finished yet. On your way to town and back I want you to take a memorandum of the names of Lord—of my friends in London and here in America. I want to know about my family, where I have been and whom I have met. You understand? General information. Now get those boxes and let's have a look at my togs."

"I understand, sir."

"It's lucky," soliloquized Richard after the departure of the valet, "that Bills is such an infernal rascal or I'd have trouble with him. Yet I suppose we might be called 'birds of a feather' in this." He frowned. "Oh, well, it's the only way to win her, and if I can make her love me she'll forgive me anything."

The luggage was presently brought up and inspected critically, Richard finding with joy that the earl's clothes fitted him to perfection, and while Bills was placing them in the various drawers and closets the new Lord Croyland sought for pointers thirstily.

"By the way," he exclaimed suddenly, "there is something important which I almost forgot. I've got to run the gantlet of that table at luncheon in about half an hour, and I want you to brush me up in the matter of cutlery. Do you understand the game?"

"Yes, sir; movin' in the best circles as a gentleman's gentleman, I know all about it, sir."

"You might throw in a few lords, you know, Bills, just to keep in practice, so you won't forget."

"Yes, m' lord."

"Well, as I was saying," went on Richard, "I went to a swell dinner at Houston once and haven't stopped blushing about it yet. I squandered seven different kinds of forks before the dessert came and found myself with a choice between a butter knife and an oyster sticker to eat ice cream with. It was depressing."

Bills curbed his smile and supplied the needed information, then made himself ready to take the 12 o'clock train to New York.

"Is there anything else, m' lord?" he asked.

"Yes," said Richard, who was perspiring before a mirror; "I'd be uncommonly grateful if you'd show me how to keep this blarsted single barreled eyeglass in without bursting a blood vessel."

CHAPTER VI.

At luncheon Richard was presented to Mrs. Renwyck, nee Corrigan, a kindly disposed middle aged woman of ample proportions, whose money had enabled her to marry above her and who had since been desperately endeavoring to live up to the obligations of her position. To her a lord was a lord, indeed, and at first she was rather inclined to stand in awe of the Earl of Croyland's title, but before luncheon was over she had lost her nervousness and was beginning to feel toward him as though he were a real American. Miss Harriet Renwyck was charming, sitting opposite Richard, who, having crossed his first bridge with flying colors, grew more confident, though careful not to overact his role. Thanks to the instruction of the exemplary Bills, he was steering a safe course among the forks too. The Texan discussed America with his host, who admitted candidly that Richard's views were broader than those of any Englishman he had ever known. Concerning the present policy of Great Britain Mr. Renwyck found his guest strangely reticent. The conversation then turned upon various topics, social and personal, ending in horseflesh, which with Mr. Renwyck was a passion.

"Lord Croyland," he said, "I'm really worried as to what to do with a horse of mine called Hawk. He is demoralizing my whole stable."

"And what is the trouble with Hawk?" Richard asked.

"Everything," exclaimed his host. "A magnificent animal, but a very devil. I beg your pardon, Mrs. Renwyck, but it's true. Why, sir, there isn't a man on my place who dares to put his leg across his back."

"Ever try an outsider?" asked the guest, forgetting his part in his interest in the horse.

"Yes," returned Mr. Renwyck. "There was a jockey up here last week. I offered him $20 for every minute he kept the saddle. By a stop watch he earned about 10 cents and told me that he wouldn't have the beast for a precious gift."

"Too bad," murmured Richard. "Really, I should like uncommonly well to try him."

"You!" cried Mr. Renwyck in genuine surprise. He paused to laugh. "I know you Englishmen are pretty good horsemen, Lord Croyland, but I'll tell you what—if you ride Hawk for half an hour without a spill I'll make you a present of him."

"Done!" said Richard.

"On conditions," added the other craftily.

"And those?"

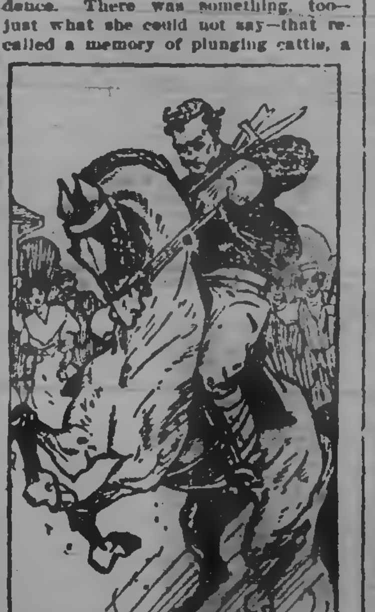
"If you fail you'll buy him at my own price."

"Done again!" said Richard quietly.

But here Mrs. Renwyck and her daughter protested vigorously. They would not have their guest murdered before their eyes for a foolish wager. There were other horses in the stable of which Lord Croyland might have his pick, so why jeopard life and limb on this crazy, cranky brute that had proved himself so dangerous? After much discussion the matter was compromised. They would inspect the horse after luncheon and then decide. Mrs. Renwyck believed that her guest after once seeing the animal would change his mind.

To Richard, who had been born in the saddle, so to speak, without reflecting on his mother, the prospect of conquering Hawk was as wine on a thirsty toper's tongue. Since leaving Texas his very knees had pined to grip a horse's barrel, and now it was with the greatest difficulty that his rising spirits were held in check.

Miss Harriet was divided between fear of an almost certain accident and the wish to see this young man ride. There was something about this easy, loose knit figure which inspired confidence. There was something, too—just what she could not say—that recalled a memory of plunging cattle, a face that loomed through clouds of dust, a steady arm that swept her from the saddle, and then—oh, nonsense! She liked this smooth shaven Englishman, and yet—she could like an unshaven cowboy too.



The roan sought by every equine trick he knew to unseat his master.

When they finished luncheon they repaired to the paddock, and Hawk was led from the stable, two grooms hanging warily to the double halter straps. He was a powerful roan, with a glossy coat and massive shoulders. The small head told of blood and spirit. The ears lay back, and the white of his eyes gleaming wickedly seemed to bear out Mr. Renwyck's statement as to his nasty temper.

"Umph!" said Richard critically. "Looks as if he wanted to put the gloves on with us, doesn't he?" He stepped forward, running his hand along Hawk's muscle quivering withers. "Jumper?"

"Yes, sir," returned the appreciative head groom; "four foot eight, sir, with a clean hoof."

Richard nodded.

"Just saddle him, will you, my good man? I fancy Hawk and I will hit it off together nicely."

The horse was led into the center of the spongy paddock, where the dangerous task of saddling was completed. Richard rejected the bit chosen by the groom, selecting another with a deeper curb. Then he buckled on a pair of spurs and looked to the girth himself. He sighed for a high pommeled cowboy saddle, but was forced to content himself with a flat seated English riding affair, in which, Mr. Renwyck remarked, he would feel more at home doubtless.

The Texan turned, smiling, to his host.

"Half an hour, did you say, Mr. Renwyck? I'm afraid you are about to lose a valuable horse."

"And I'm afraid," muttered the other under his breath, "that the house of lords is about to lose a valuable member."

"No fear," said Richard softly, catching his remark.

"Be careful of the stirrup, sir," warned the deferential groom. "He'll shy when you raise your foot, sir."

Richard thanked the man, stepped near the horse quietly and for a moment stroked his neck. The animal stood with drooping head and a look of docile innocence which to a practiced eye was a precursor of certain mischief. There was an instant's pause. The young man gathered up the reins, stooped slightly, then suddenly shot upward, landing squarely in the saddle and slipping his feet into the swinging stirrups. It was a familiar range trick and deftly carried out.

It is difficult to say which were the more astonished, the grooms, Mr. Renwyck or Hawk himself, who squatted, reared and wheeled sharply to the left. Failing in the first attempt to rid himself of an unwelcome burden, the animal reared again, spinning on the pivot of his heels, but stopped at the stab of steel between his ribs.

Then began a battle which caused Miss Renwyck to hold her breath in admiration and alarm and her mother nearly to faint with terror. Her father forgot his wager and his dignity and danced in excitement, shouting encouragement to the daring rider. The roan, now thoroughly enraged, sought by every equine trick he knew to unseat his master, but in vain. If he bolted to right or left he felt a weight swing inward at the turn; if he reared two maddening spurs were dug into his flanks, while the effort to lower his head was checked by an iron hand.

Presently the horse stood still, as though he were thinking deeply, then suddenly plunged away on a dead straight line. For twenty yards he raced, then spread out his legs and slid, in the budding hope that his rider might continue on, but in this he was bitterly disappointed. He felt the agony of a cruel curb that gripped his tongue and found himself forced back upon his haunches, while his tenacious rider still remained astride his back.

Now, Hawk was not a single minded brute and had, so to speak, another project up his sleeve. Without warning he dropped upon the turf and rolled. Richard jumped. He alighted upon his feet, ran backward to avoid the vicious hoofs, and as the horse rose he mounted with a flying vault, while from his audience came a cheer that was music to the vanity of man and a further irritation to the horse. The roan repeated his experiment the second time, but with the same result, then once more bolted on the run, this time for the four foot fence of the paddock. To dash his rider against a rough oak post was a most commendable design in a horse, but the rider was otherwise disposed. The Texan gave his steed a loose, free rein, but as he neared the barrier checked him sharply and applied the spur. Hawk quivered, crouched, then took the fence like a soaring bird.

Outside a smooth road stretched away till lost behind the crest of a distant hill. Up this highway the big roan thundered as though old Tam o' Shanter cowered upon his back, with a horde of witches streaming far out behind.

The heart of Richard had been singing with a conqueror's joy, and doubtless his reckless tongue might have taken up the song but for an unexpected check. As he landed in the road beyond the fence he spied a little red faced man who had clapped applause with two plump white hands. It was not so much the gentleman himself that troubled Richard's mind, but the thought of a doubtful compliment shouted down the wind:

"Very good seat for an Englishman, my lord!"

For Richard of course sat on his horse like a plains rider who loathes the up and down motion of England and the riding school.

For a long time Miss Renwyck and her father awaited their guest's return in great anxiety until they were relieved at last by the sight of him coming down the road at an easy canter, evidently master of the situation.

"He rides well, father, doesn't he?"

"He does," the old gentleman replied and added something which qualified a firm opinion.

Richard soon reached the paddock fence, forcing his jaded mount to take it for a second time, crossed the field and dismounted at Miss Harriet's side. The horse stood still, his head drooped again, but this time in utter weariness, not mischief. His glossy coat was streaked with foam, his widespread nostrils inflamed and red, while his barrel heaved to the pant of his labored breath. He shivered in defeat and offered no resentment of his rider's arm about his neck in a rough caress.

"Look here, young man," said Mr. Renwyck's greeting, "where did you learn to ride like that?"

"I was uncommonly keen on riding as a boy," said Richard, falling into a lazy drawl, "and, besides, I stayed for several months in Texas, you know."

Miss Harriet started and fixed a searching gaze on the speaker's face, but her father nodded gravely.

"Umph!" he returned. "I see. Good instructors, those fellows on the plains, eh?"

"Well, rather," assented Richard, with a laugh. "My trainer was a gentleman known colloquially as Dog Faced Sam, though I dare say his parents never bothered to christen him at all. Jolly sort, those—er—cow chaps, 'pon my word!"

INTREPID WOMAN DEAD.

Mrs. Bezanson's Death Reported From Far Northwest.

Many Canadians may remember an account of a journey performed by Mr. and Mrs. Bezanson and Miss Lois Robillard, of Ottawa, last winter. They left Edmonton by team and covered sleigh, traveling 325 miles north up the Peace River Valley. The sleigh was fitted up like a camp, with a stove and other comforts. The journey ended in perfect safety, and the party settled at the Tepee Ranch in the Grand Prairie District, where Mr. Bezanson has a large interest in land.

Word has just arrived in Ottawa and Toronto of the sad death of Mrs. Bezanson, on December 30 last.

It speaks volumes for the spirit this western country imbues when it is related that Miss Robillard undertook a 35 mile drive over the prairie to Flying Shot, the nearest settlement alone with her poor sister's week-old baby to get help for the child and bring a priest back for the burial.

Mrs. Bezanson was formerly Dorothy Robillard, daughter of Dr. A. Robillard, twenty-two years medical health officer for Ottawa. She was a graduate of the nursing staff of New York Hospital and a clever musician. In Ottawa she was considered one of the prettiest of the capital's Canadiennes. She went to Edmonton to practice her profession in 1907, and was married shortly after to A. M. Bezanson, a Westerner. Dr. Robillard joined his daughters at the Tepee Ranch last summer. Both ladies were accomplished horsewomen and handy with the rifle. Miss Lois Robillard, the younger daughter is the last surviving member of Dr. Robillard's family of six children, five of whom died after maturity.

Why Not the Reindeer?

Apropos of the proposed introduction of the yak into the Dominion, Mr. F. S. Lawrence, of Fort Vermilion, Lower Peace River, is of opinion that the reindeer would be the proper animal for the northern hinterland. It would supply means of transportation, he claims, superior to the dog-train, its flesh makes excellent food, and its hide can be made into clothing and bedding of the very kind needed in the winter in the Northland. There seems to be more points in favor of the reindeer than in favor of the yak; but perhaps there is room enough for them both.

And then there is the buffalo, the ancient possessor of the West, or at least the joint possessor with the Indians. They no longer roam at will, but there are more in confinement than most people are aware of. Probably the Far North would not suit that animal in winter for the prairies used to be his summer home and he often roamed far south of where the International Boundary now is when winter set in. The great points in favor of the reindeer and the yak are their capacity to thrive on poor pasturage and their power of resisting severe cold.—Montreal Standard.

QUARTERLY BOARD MEETING OF MARK ST. METHODIST CHURCH

The Quarterly Board meeting of the Mark st. Methodist church was held Saturday afternoon. There was a good attendance of officials.

It was found that all financial claims for the year were well provided for. Owing to the large number of deaths and removals a slight decrease in the number of members was reported.

Mr. Joseph Succee was re-appointed steward and a unanimous invitation to remain another year was extended to the pastor.

DEDICATION OF HANDSOME NEW PLACE OF WORSHIP

Interesting Services at Park Street Baptist Church Yesterday—Rev. W. A. Cameron, Pastor of Bloor Street Baptist Church, Toronto, Special Preacher—Splendid Address at Dedication Service.

Three interesting and inspiring addresses were given yesterday by Rev. W. A. Cameron at the opening of the new Park street Baptist church.

Special programmes with a cut of the new church and the order of service were used.

The pastor of the church, Rev. W. C. Riddiford, took charge of each service.

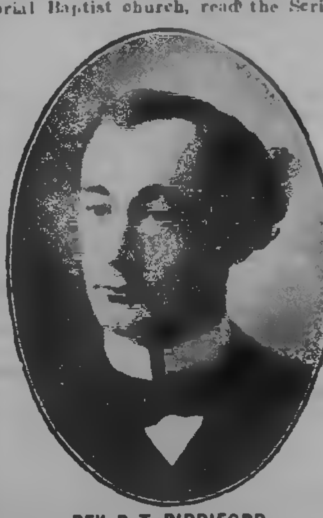
In the morning Mr. Cameron took for his subject "The Uniqueness of Christ." The sermon was one of eloquence, a most fitting subject indeed for the opening sermon of the new edifice, as a place of worship.

In the afternoon Mr. Cameron spoke on "The Supremacy of the Church." the dedication prayer was offered by Rev J. R. Webb, pastor of the Murray street Baptist.

Rev. Mr. Webb also gave a brief address. At the evening service the edifice was packed to the doors, over 700 people being crowded into it.

Mr Cameron took for his text "What Think ye of Christ," and he preached a sermon that will linger as a rich spiritual morsel in many a heart for time and eternity.

Rev. J. R. Bonner, of Gilmour Memorial Baptist church, read the Scriptural lesson, and Rev. H. Manning, of St. James' Methodist church, led in prayer.



REV. R. T. RIDDIFORD
Pastor of Park St. Baptist Church

The offerings of the day were very generous and will be of practical assistance to the building fund.

The choir of the church sang most creditably at each service, as also did the Orpheus Quartette.

To-night there will be tea served from 6 to 8 p.m. and afterwards a fine musical programme, and addresses by resident ministers and others. Mr. T. F. Matthews will occupy the chair.

DEDICATION SERMON.

Mr. Cameron said it might be fitting on the occasion of the dedication if he should speak on the supreme mission of the church.

"Let us get clearly in mind what was meant by the church."

Did it mean a beautiful place where people gathered once a week to worship? This was not the true understanding. By the church was meant an organized, vitalised, regenerated body of Christians. The church was the church of God. It received its life from Him. No church deserved to be called a church of God if it was not a life giver.

REV. W. A. CAMERON
Pastor of Bloor St. Baptist Church. Toronto, Who Officiated at the Opening Services at Park St. Baptist Church

"I am told that in the big cities men and women are neglecting to go to church," said the speaker.

Fault was found with the coldness and apathy of the church, and the speaker was willing to frankly admit that there were unfortunately some drawbacks, but he had very little sympathy with the man or woman that was always finding fault with the weakness of the church. Where would be found such a body of men and women who were unselfishly working for the redemption of mankind as in the Christian Church? He said it would be a terrible calamity to the nation if the church was to lose its vitalizing influences.

In carrying out the mission they should not lose sight of anything towards the redemption of mankind. There must be an advancing evolution of liberty and of law and of order. In Jesus's day the whole nation was full of discussion and debate and of longing for the liberties that had gone by for ever. In this great tangle of political difficulties Jesus came.

He attempted to get in political methods what could only be got by spiritual forces. And yet in the light of all these facts we maintained that the great mission of the church was not political.

Dr. Lyman Abbott compared the church to a river. A beautifully expressed simile was given by the preacher to show that this comparison was appropriately expressive. That river had its source in the hills and flowed on through devious ways to the sea. Like this is God's church in its course to the great beyond.

The New Park Street Baptist Church

How many public philanthropies would we have to-day if we had no church? When Jesus came into the world the church was simply an institution. Everything was institutional. On one side was the Jewish state, and on the other was the Jewish church, and between them was humanity. And between the church and the state the Son of Man walked and saw the chilling gloom that sat on humanity. He laid hold of this Jewish church and told the people that a movement was on foot that would sweep one stone from above the other—a movement that would have humanity first, and not institution.

The mission of Jesus was the mission of the church at large. The one thing that Jesus established His Church for was the salvation of man. The regeneration of mankind is the profoundest Christian philosophy—that is the supreme mission, the supreme business of the church of Jesus Christ.

If some of us had our way we would change this about and have everything ritual. Some would lay all the emphasis on the intellectual side. A prominent speaker said that men had tranformed Christianity into an intellectual problem. We must distinguish between culture and Christianity. The sum of culture is education, the sum of Christianity is regeneration.

The speaker said he would ask a question that he thought was pertinent: "What are you going to do about it?"

In conclusion active work in the cause of Christ was advocated, and the serious responsibility on us all was dwelt upon. The mission of Jesus was the very breath that moved the ages.

SPLENDID BANQUET TO MR. KEMP FORMER MEMBER FOR E. TORONTO

Ward One, Toronto, Testifies to the Value of Their Former Member—The First Man to Attack Mr. Pugsley—A Notable Occasion—Mr. Kendrey, Ex.-M.P., Makes a Stirring and Witty Speech.

Broadview Hall, Toronto, was the scene on Friday evening of a magnificent tribute to Mr. A. E. Kemp, ex-M.P., for East Toronto, who, it will be remembered, was beaten by another Conservative, Mr. Jos. Russell, M.P., in the last election. Ever since then the people of that constituency have done their best to make up for their carelessness and over-confidence in permitting themselves to be deprived the services of one of the best men and greatest captains of commerce in Canada.

Mr. Kendrey, ex-M.P., for West Peterborough, was present, and roused the banquetters to great enthusiasm by his witty references to various public men now dragged upon the stage at Ottawa, and by his timely and forceful endorsement of the object of the banquet, and of the general policy and conduct of the Conservative party, both in Ontario and the Dominion.

The following is from the Toronto News:—

Mr. James Kendrey, ex-M.P., Peterborough, paid a high tribute to the Whitney Government, and then talked wittily on Dominion affairs. Seriously, he said: "I went into the House in 1896 with Mr. Kemp, who was one of the greatest workers in the Commons in the interests of the country. It was a national loss when Mr. Kemp was not returned to Parliament. I expected that the Government would be defeated, and that in the new Government Mr Kemp would have been Minister of Trade and Commerce."

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of George street church will be held in the church parlors to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock.

WHO WEAR GLASSES?

About 25 per cent of Students, Professional men and women, Musicians, Artists, Journalists, Literary People, etc.

WHY? A large amount of reading and close work exposure to artificial light and late hours in our modern city life. All these make severe demands upon the organ of vision and produce or manifest troubles such as can frequently be best relieved by proper spectacles.

An Unknown's Death.

St. Thomas, May 8.—The body of a man, who has not yet been identified, was found last evening under the Michigan Central bridge by Kettle Creek. He had apparently been dead for two days or more. Whether he fell from the bridge, jumped or was murdered is for a coroner's jury to say. The man had no coat and but three cents and no means of identification. He was about 50 years of age, with sandy hair and moustache. He had patent leather shoes and was well dressed.

Toronto Artist Weds.

Hamilton, May 8.—A despatch from New York says that Benjamin Cory Kilvert, son of F. E. Kilvert, collector of customs, and a well-known artist, has married Miss Elsie Del Ora Bernardo, the 20-year-old daughter of an artist, and a model who has been portaryed by Howard Chandler Christy, Henry Mosler, William H. Hyde, and many other prominent artists.

Two Years for Burglars.

Brockville, May 8.—For breaking into cottages on the river between Alexandria Bay and Gananoque, W. Robbins and W. Russell were sent to the Kingston Penitentiary yesterday for two years. The judge tempered justice with mercy on account of a largely signed petition, telling of the previous good characters of the prisoners.

THE COLD SPARE BED

When you have a friend to visit you,
 if she be a welcome guest,
You will try to make her happy, and you'll give her of your best;
You'll tell her all the story of your varied household cares,
And everlastingly you'll prate about your own affairs;
But whatever else you do, don't for mercy's sake, be led
To put that helpless woman in the cold, spare bed.

You may tell her of your trouble with your numerous hired girls,
And what "she said," and what, "I said," till her understanding whirls;
You may talk of the servant question
 till the setting moon's last gleam,
And begin next morning on the same old tiresome theme;
But whatever else you do, don't for
 mercy's sake, be led
To put that helpless woman in the cold, spare bed.

You may tell her of your pains and aches, and what the doctor said
That time you came near dying with neuralgia in your head;
Of how you poured down bitters and drops and patent pills
When you caught the dread malaria, and had such awful chills;
You may bore her, you may weary
 her till she wishes she were dead,
But, for mercy's sake, don't put her in the cold, spare bed.

DIVORCES ARE TOO EASILY SECURED

Members at Ottawa Agree That Insufficient Testimony is Admitted by Senate Committee—The Commons Spends Quiet Day and Accomplishes Great Deal of Work.

Ottawa, May 11.—In the House yesterday morning, referring to several divorce bills, R. L. Borden expressed the view that the evidence admitted in the Senate committee should be limited to such evidence as would be admitted in a court of law. In England there was a King's protector, whose special duty it was to see that there was no collusion between parties. He did not know to what extent, if any, such a safeguard had been adopted by the Senate. W. F. Maclean favored a divorce court, but F. D. Monk did not think there were sufficient cases to justify this. Mr. Carvell favored a court, and said there were cases in which divorce had been granted by the Senate committee on evidence that would simply have been laughed at in a court. All sorts of hearsay evidence was taken. Mr. Miller deprecated the tendency to use the services of American detectives to get up evidence for divorce cases.

The Commons spent a quiet day and more was accomplished than probably any day of the session. The evening sitting was occupied with the immigration bill, which will be considered further before the session closes.

Hon. W. S. Fielding will move tomorrow a resolution that it is expedient to authorize the governor-in-council to raise $50,000,000 loan for the purpose of paying maturing loans and obligations of the Dominion and for the carrying on of public works.

The supplementary estimates were brought down yesterday. They amount to $1,016,680, of which $83,-680 is chargeable to capital account. The supplementaries are the smallest for a number of years.

Along with the main estimates brought down earlier in the session they total $111,506,460 for the current fiscal year, of which $81,011,721 is chargeable to consolidated fund, and $30,494,739 to capital account.

Further supplementary estimates for the past fiscal year were also tabled, including $100,000 for the Italian earthquake fund; $100,000 for the cost of the cattle quarantine along the international boundary and $10,-000 for the expenses of Canadian representatives to the agricultural conference at Rome.

In the Department of Agriculture there are items of $7,000 to provide for an experimental cold storage station for fruit, and $10,000 to provide for the expenses of a commission to investigate the swine industry of Great Britain and Denmark.

The expenditure which Parliament has been asked to authorize this year shows a total decrease of $21,-774,778, as compared with last year. Of this decrease $8,611,846 is on consolidated fund account and $13,163,-626 on capital account.

Claude Macdonell asked the Government "whether or not the proposed waterways and boundaries treaty will prevent the construction of the proposed enlargement of the Welland and St. Lawrence River Canals, or the construction of the proposed Georgian Bay Canal, without the consent of the commissioners under the treaty, because of the fact that these works, or either of them, may reasonably be expected to affect the height of the water on Lakes Huron, Erie and Ontario?" Hon. A. B. Aylesworth said that the matter was under consideration.

THE BOYLES ARE PUNISHED BOTH GIVEN HEAVY SENTENCES

Whitla Kidnapper Gets Life and His Wife 25 Years—Young Couple Who Stole Son of Wealthy Pennsylvanian Are Given Heavy Penalty—Man Issues a Confession.

Mercer, Pa., May 11.—James Boyle was sentenced yesterday to life imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary at Pittsburg for the kidnapping of "Willie" Whitla.

Mrs. Boyle, indicted as Mary Doe, received a sentence of 25 years with a fine of $5,000 and costs of the prosecution.

Both prisoners utterly collapsed.

Judge Williams, in imposing sentence, pointed to Boyle's bad record for larceny, assault and jail-breaking.

Last night Boyle issued a sensational statement, implicating Harry Forker of Charon, Pa., in the kidnapping, and asserting that he had turned over incriminating letters to Mr. Whitla under promise of immunity from prosecution. Both men last night said: "The statement is a wilful and malicious lie." Yesterday afternoon District Attorney Liningar said that the kidnapping was still under investigation and that if any third party was found implicated he would be prosecuted without fear or favor.

It is said a razor was found concealed in Boyle's clothing and that his wife last night took a large quantity of morphine.

In the penitentiary last night they bade each other an affectionate farewell. They cannot meet again.

The confession winds up with a plea for Mrs. Boyle.

"I had informed my wife the boy was brought in order to escape being quarantined in the pest-house and we were to be handsomely rewarded for taking care of him. This unfortunate woman was duped from start to finish in regard to the boy."

MURDER PREVENTED BY MAN'S DEATH

Niagara Falls, N.Y., May 11.—The hand of death was all that prevented Willis White from killing Joseph Thomas here yesterday afternoon.

White armed with a revolver and a razor, went to a barn where Thomas is employed and demanded money. Thomas managed to elude him by dodging in and out among the vehicles, He was finally driven into a corner, but just as White lifted the revolver and fired, he was attacked with hemorrhage of the lungs. The shot went wild, and White staggered forward several steps and fell dead.

Italy and Canada.

Rome, May 11.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday it was stated that the Government had vainly tried to open commercial relations with Canada and had also recently repeated its invitation to Canada to conclude a treaty. Canada had now promised to open preliminary negotiations and it was hoped that this time they would be successful.

Two Men Missing.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 11.—Considerable mystery surrounds the disappearance since April 26 of two well-known men, one in this city and one in Detroit, Mich.

They are Frank S. Curtiss, who does the purchasing of steel rails for several railroads, and an expert mining engineer named Grannis, whose home is in Virginia.

ROOSEVELT SHOT A RHINOCEROS

Nairobi, British East Africa, May 11.—From ex-President Roosevelt's camp, near Machakos, word was received yesterday that the luck of the party continues and that 15 varieties of game, including a bull rhinoceros, have been bagged on the last expedition.

The rhinoceros was charging Mr. Roosevelt when the hunter fired. The distance was 14 paces and the animal fell dead.

Manila Trust Is "Busted."

New York, May 11.—A permanent injunction restraining from operating the Fibre and Manila Association under which it was charged twenty-five manufacturing concerns had formed a combine in restraint of trade, was ordered by Justice Hough in a decree handed down in the U.S. Circuit Court in this city yesterday. The companies composing this association were fined $2,000 each in June, 1906.

Kept Their Hats On.

Guelph, May 11.—In spite of the resolution passed by the Guelph Ministerial Association condemning the wearing of big hats in church, only in one church, Norfolk street Methodist, was there any sign of obedience on the part of the ladies present, and here the little company of four hatless women in the morning dwindled down to two at the evening service.

Smoking-Room for Ladies.

Montreal, May 11.—Keeping pace with the times the Allan Line has introduced a mixed smoking-room on their steamship Virginian, and on the voyage out from Liverpool a number of ladies took advantage of the privilege to smoke cigarettes. This smoke-room was formerly used as a lounge room for the men alone.

What a Little Smoke Did.

Belleville, May 11.—Benjamin Sanford is to appear before a magistrate for breaking the nose of George Hurst, when the latter declined to cease smoking a cigarette, the smoke of which was annoying ladies on the street.

Prince Rupert Lots.

Montreal, May 11.—It is announced at the Grand Trunk Pacific offices that all arrangements have been completed for the sale of 2,000 Prince Rupert town lots at Vancouver on May 25 to 29 inclusive.

Goes to Prison at 82.

Comber, May 11.—Isaac Goderich, aged 82, was sent to the Central Prison for one year for horse stealing. He has done time for similar crimes before.

ARE KINRADES IN MONTREAL?

Party at Queen's Hotel Supposed to be Hamilton Mother and Girl

Montreal, May 11.—It is presumed here that Mrs. Isabel and Norman Lackland of Washington, D.C., registered at the Queen's Hotel here, are the Kinrades of Hamilton.

They do not appear to be concealing their movements, and so far there is no indication of their going abroad, although there will be no steamer leaving before Friday.

The young lady was at the piano most of the evening, and the trio dined in the public dining-room. So far they have refused to be interviewed.

Kinrades Under Surveillance.

Toronto, May 11.—Miss Florence Kinrade, her mother and C. Montrose Wright, who passed through Toronto on Sunday night, went through to Montreal and will, it is expected, find a quiet retreat near that city.

The Attorney-General's Department did not evince any surprise yesterday when informed that the Kinrades were in Montreal, and in some quarters the removal of the central figures connected with the tragedy is looked upon with relief. What further action is to be taken by the crown will be decided upon at the Cabinet meeting to-day. Meanwhile the Kinrades will be under surveillance.

HAILEYBURY HAS BAD FIRE

Haileybury, May 11.—An early morning blaze on Browning street did $40,000 damage to the Stahl and Cook blocks yesterday.

The losers are: S. Stahl, business block and living rooms, $8,500; insurance, $2,500. A. J. Carson, grocer, loss $7,000; insurance, $2,000. Adam Keddle, $10,000. Ringrose Bros., theatorium, $1,500. M. Cook, block and shoe store, $5,000. D. Johns, assay offices, $1,500. Besides these several people living upstairs lost everything.

License Is Renewed.

Albany, N.Y., May 11—Having complied with the provisions of the insurance law limiting the amount of money which an insurance company may expend annually for new business, the Columbian National Life Insurance Co. of Boston, Mass., has been granted a license, which was refused when the returns of 1907 showed this section violated. In the meantime an injunction has restrained the state from excluding the company.

Will Stand For Rights.

Toronto, May 11.—Notwithstanding the passage of the Ontario & Michigan Power Bill in an amended form at Ottawa last week, Sir James Whitney will not relinquish the fight for provincial rights.

The Ontario Government is not content that its protests have been unheeded, and an immediate consideration will be given to such further steps as may be necessary to put the protest into practical effect.

BRAVE RESCUE AT MORRISBURG

Fred H. Broder Saves two Children From Death

Morrisburg, May 11.—While Eleanor Moorhouse, aged 10 years, daughter of Mrs. Moorhouse, was attempting on Saturday evening to get into a punt in charge of Harold Murphy, 15 years old, son of Mr. E. L. Murphy, editor of The Leader, in order to cross to her home on the other side of the canal, she slipped into the water, pulling young Murphy in with her. The lad seized the girl, and managing to grasp a projecting stone in the canal wall, called for help.

Mr. Fred H. Broder of the Molson's Bank, who was on the opposite side, 200 feet away, heard the cries, and, without stopping to remove his coat, leaped into the water and swam across. He was nearly exhausted when he reached the drifting punt, but succeeded in clambering in, and then he rescued the two children from their dangerous position.

BAD BUSINESS AT MONTREAL

Conspiracy to Compromise Police on Sunday Hotel Duty

Conspiracy In Montreal to Compromise Those on Sunday Hotel Duty.

Montreal, May 11.—Several more of the saloonkeepers who had charges against them of selling on Sundays, dismissed on payment of costs, appeared before the civic commission yesterday and testified that they were subscribers to the election fund of Ald. Proulx. Some admitted that they had sent cabs on election day to work for other aldermen.

One had been told that if Proulx was not elected another man would take his place on the police committee and Sunday selling would no longer be tolerated.

Evidence was also given that there was a conspiracy to compromise policemen specially charged by the chief with watching places for Sunday selling by bribing them not to report, and then placing the evidence before the chief.

Capt. Beignet, who retired on pension a year ago, testified that he was in charge of No. 11 police district, he had the C.P.R. Stockyards Hotel reported for selling on Sunday on three occasions, and one day Inspector Lamouche notified him that the hotel had been taken out of his district.

THE OWEN SOUND STRIKE IS OVER

Owen Sound, May 11.—Back to work at the old rate and arbitration as to advance in the scale of wages was the settlement arrived yesterday afternoon in the strike of C.P.R. through freight porters. Young non-residents opposed the settlement.

The men have asked Hon. A. G. MacKay to act as their arbitrator.

About 40 special provincial constables were placed on the grounds of the company yesterday morning under Provincial Constable Greer, and summonses were issued against forty strikers for violating their agreement, but these will not now be pressed.

UNDER ARREST; SEEMS INSANE

Washington, D.C., May 11.—The preliminary hearing of John C. and Martin T. Davis, brothers, who were arrested last week, charged with defrauding scores of persons out of sums estimated to aggregate at least $250,000, through the Potomac Loan & Building Association, has been postponed until May 15.

John C. Davis, who is either insane or feigning insanity, became very violent Sunday night.

LATEST NEWS AS TOLD IN DESPATCHES

Girl Stopped at the Border.

Detroit, Mich., May 11.—Pretty and well dressed Anna May Kennedy, aged 16, whose home is in Paris, Ont., was stopped by the American immigration officers at Port Huron because her story of going to visit her grandparents in Mayville, Mich., did not balance with a telegram from the girl's parents. She was taken home.

True Bill Against Mr. Roy.

Montreal, May 11.—A special session of the Criminal Court opened at St. Johns yesterday, with Mr. Justice Monet presiding. The grand jury returned a true bill against Mr. P. H. Roy, late president of the Bank of St. Johns, on a charge of making false returns to the Government. The case was adjourned until to-day.

Blythe Must Hang.

Ottawa, May 11.—The Cabinet-in-council had under consideration again yesterday the capital case of Walter Blythe, the Agincourt section man, under sentence to be hanged on Thursday next for killing his wife through beating her with a poker while in a rage. It was decided to let the law take its course.

NEARLY SIXTY PERSONS ON BLACK LIST IN PETERBOROUGH

Inspector Stewart is Kept Busy—Is Now Preparing His Annual Report Which Will Be Forwarded to the Government.

Inspector Stewart is busy preparing his annual report, to be forwarded to the Government officials at Toronto, which is due to arrive there on May 15th. The life of a license inspector is not a particularly easy one, and the statement will be verified by anyone who is interested in or against the liquor business. Take, for instance, the "black list" which is so largely before the public at the present time. There are between 55 and 60 persons on this list, who are not allowed to secure intoxicating drink of any kind. For every person who is thus notified the hotels, liquor houses and brewery are posted, and this means that each of these places must be personally served with notices, amounting in all to 67. There were seven persons placed on the black list last week, which necessiated preparing and serving 189 notices. Whether this branch of the liquor law is doing any good or not can probably be ascertained only from those who have to bear the sorrow and trouble caused to them by the husband, brother or son who is addicted to the excessive use of liquor, but is unable to satisfy his appetite through being placed on the black list.

Last Year's Chairman May be Made to Pay at Guelph

The Guelph Herald says;—

The chairmen of all the committees of last year's City Council overran their appropriations—some more than others, but all for considerable amounts. The Finance Committee has been making these overdrawn accounts of last year's committees good, but are carefully keeping track of all the money they spend in doing so and may in the near future surprise the gentlemen who bossed all these committees last year by holding them personally responsible for the respective amounts of their overdrafts.

"They had no right to overrun their appropriations," said Mayor Hastings, "and we are keeping a careful account of all the money we spend in making good their overdrafts."

"Is there a possibility of you holding them responsible?" the Herald asked.

"Yes, you bet there is. They had no right to do it, and they may yet have to face the music. In order to guard against a repition of last year's overdrafts, I have instructed Treasurer Rose not to give out one dollar more than their appropriations to any of the committees," said the Mayor.

A DEAL OF IMPORTANCE

Mr. Crowley Receives Word From Solicitor of Mining Transaction

Mr. Crowley of North Monaghan, son of Mr T. Crowley, the well known Cobalt prospector, has received word from his lawyer in Toronto that a mining deal of importance has been transacted on his behalf. Mr. Crowley expects a considerable profit as a result of the transaction.

Particulars concerning the deal are not yet given for publication.

Little Girl Hurt.

Kingston, May 11.—Alice Hill, aged 10, daughter of Private Hill, R.C.H.A., fell from a balcony fourteen feet, and received terrible injuries, but will recover.

Archibald Strachan, hardware merchant, was installed as collector of customs yesterday.

Woodstock Loses Suit.

Woodstock, May 11.—A long-standing dispute between city and county was heard at the High Court sittings by Justice Riddell. The city sued to recover $50,000 of the surplus existing when Woodstock seperated from the county. The judge dismissed the action with costs. The city may appeal.

CONSTABLE TO INVESTIGATE IN ASSAULT CASE

Persons Who Committed the Crime Likely be Arrested Within a Short Time

A county constable will go down to the scene of the assault and robbery in Otonabee tonight to investigate in an endeavor to find a clue which will help to bring about the arrest of the guilty parties. There are all sorts of rumors going around as to who the persons are, but nothing of an authentic nature has been secured. It is learned that the old man upon whom the assault was committed had between fifty and sixty dollars in his pockets when he left this city for his home on Saturday night and this may have come to the knowledge of the persons who committed the crime.

GOING TO ENGLAND

Kinrades Said to Have Left Montreal for Portland to Sail.

Special to the Review.

Montreal, May 111.—It is believed that Florence Kinrade, the central figure in the Hamilton murder mystery, along with her mother, and Montrose Wright, her affianced, left this city this morning on the 8.30 train for Portland, Maine, and it is presumed it is the party's intention to leave for England on the Dominion line steamer, which sails to-morrow.

It is believed the party registered at the Queen's Hotel here under the name of Latchford, Washington, D.C. Their movements while in the city were kept very quiet and everything that could be done to avoid publicity was done.

And Lord and Lady Minto are Being Treated by Pasteur Specialists.

Special to the Review.

Simla, India, May 11.—The Viceroy, Lord Minto and his wife, Lady Minto, are under treatment of pasteur specialists as the result of an experience with a mad dog. Their condition is in no way serious, they not having been bitten, but the treatment is precautionary as they handled their own dog after it had been attacked by another that had a well defined case of rabies.

The Viceroy and his wife were driving when their pet dog, which had jumped from the carriage, got into a fight with another dog. The coachman and footman tried to save the dog, but were bitten and the pet was badly mangled before the viceroy and his wife came to the rescue and the four managed to kill the street dog. The Minto dog subsequently had to be killed.

Yankee Navy and Japan's.

Buffalo, May 11.—The Evening News has received the following wireless telegram: "On board steamship Antilles, off Five Fathoms Banks, May 10.—In a speech on board this ship last night Rear Admiral Thomas H. Stevens of the U. S. navy, retired, said that the American navy was 20 per cent. behind that of Japan in efficiency."

Joke Sends Boy Crazy.

Tacoma, Wash., May 11.—Raving in his childish fashion, hysterical beyond all efforts of his parents to quiet him, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Seeley, around whose neck in a spirit of fun a companion of the child a week ago wound a dead snake, may never recover his reason.

Revenge After Ten Years.

New York, May 11.—Because Antonio Crizento, then a policeman, arrested Angelo Calvenni in Italy ten years ago, he was stabbed 26 times early yesterday in East 104th street. At the time of the arrest Calvenni vowed vengeance and they met for the first time yesterday.

CAMPBELLFORD CARRIED BY-LAW

Grant Trent Valley Woollen Mill Fixed Assessment of $50,000

Campbellford, Ont., May 10.—A by-law to grant to the Trent Valley Woollen Manufacturing Company a fixed assessment of $50,000 for a period of twenty years was voted on to-day and was carried. In return for this $10,000 reduction in their assessment the woollen company agree to enlarge their premises and employ 75 more hands than their present yearly average.

POLITICAL PARTIES

Not long ago the prayer of the people was for men who were independent of the party whip, for men who were for principle and country first, and for party policy afterwards. This is the ideal condition no doubt. But the "best laid plans of men and mice gang aft agley," and so it is in this case. It is said that the number of men who go to parliament for their own ultimate aggrandisement is so great that many large contractors, railway companies, etc, have M.P.'s elected through their instrumentality, actually sitting in parliament and haunting the departments as their exclusive agents for the securing of favors in the shape of contracts without tender extras, etc., for their "infrome". These men play off one party against another. They ally themselves with "political opponents" of the same moral stripe on the opposite side and work the oracle no matter which party may be in. And how they do laugh. It is said to be a treat to hear the carefree peals of these jovial souls, these pretty products of the modern no-party propaganda. In short the way the people of Canada are "worked," may serve them right as some allege but it is a shame all the same. The time has come for the ending of it in the United States and it will come here too. Spending money may be wise or unwise. Sometimes it is merely for the purpose of feeding the already fed. Spending it to work our own destruction as the decline in Ontario farm-values shows is surely wicked.

MORE BLUFF

Why were not the charges against Dr. Pugsley discussed in the Chamber where they belong — namely, the Legislature of New Brunswick.—The Globe.

The charges against Mr. Pugsley were substantiated before a royal commission, which found to that effect. The commissioners' report had been adopted by the Provincial House that had referred it to the commission. It was, therefore, a historical document. To bring it up concerning a member of the House of Commons was obviously correct. Had it been treated as the Globe suggests then that journal would have put up a loud howl to the effect that advantage was being taken of the accused's absence in another House, to traduce an honourable man. The whole case is simply that of a man found guilty in another court being boldly and frankly confronted with proofs of his guilt. What more could be or should be asked!

THE TWO ENGLISHMEN

The two Englishmen who were haled before the magistrate at Montreal last week are described in the Montreal press as the most fearful examples of destitution seen there in a long time. Dragged on false pretences, to a large and sparsely settled country and told to "go to work!" they became the victims of a policy of immigration that is little less than madness, serving to swell the census at the expense both of themselves and common, human sympathy. The universal attack on the English immigrant is more or less unjust. The class who come here are dependent in Britain on workhouses, poor-rates, church associations, etc., in whose shadow they were born and brought up. Singular as it may seem, many of these people are really not fit to cope with new conditions in a new country. The two Englishmen whose cases are cited were not charged with any crime. They had slept in the open and in the cold. They had starved more than half the time. Their experience was proven to have been literally awful. No man could possibly have chosen it deliberately or through sullen, tramplike laziness or cussedness. What do these and similar cases prove? Simply that the system of immigration inaugurated and adopted by the Laurier Government has succeeded in flooding the country with a lot of people who will give us much charitable work to do, and much concern for their safety, if not for our own. There will be a great rowdy-dow at the first opportunity over the increase in population. But it will be largely a hollow sham. Sir James Whitney has given orders to his bureau of immigration in London that none but the fairly well-to-do shall be brought out. That is the proper policy, but we suppose the Globe will give the Laurier census the credit for that, too.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

St. Yves is the greatest long-distance runner of modern times. First, the holder of the Olympic record, is also a Frenchman. Vive la France!

The Canadian Militia Gazette has taken a very strong stand in favour of a militia that is able to shoot in preference to one "conspicuous for parading or even being well up in drill. Where the knowing ones lead, the people may well follow.

It is gratifying to note that Anstruther, Chandos and the north country generally profitted by the late election to the extent of being enabled to build its telephone line. That's the sort of thing that is of use to our own people. The fancy schemes in distant lands for which our farmers are called upon chiefly to pay, are of no use to the men of north Peterborough. It is also a memorial of the fight that failed. Now for rural mail and parcel delivery!

The Globe says: "By an error of the types Mr. Crothers' name appeared twice in an article where Mr Crockett's name had a right to be. Most readers doubtless discovered the slip for themselves." This typographical error of course, proves that the Globe is a "thoroughly discredited" newspaper, containing "a tissue of erroneous statements."—News.

Hon. Geo P. Graham, at Montreal, sarcastically referred to the Tories as a party of typographical errors, after which he hastened back to Ottawa to pass a bill correcting a number of typographical errors of a serious character in various government bills!

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. OF INTEREST

England and Joan of Arc

On Sunday last a great crowd filled the famous basilica of St Peter's at Rome for the ceremony of the beatification of Joan of Arc. At the end of the apse the figure of the new saint was placed, surrounded by hundreds of small electric lamps.

What Joan of Arc means to history was pointed out in a fine appreciation in the Observer.

"France may be said, as a result of the career of Jeanne d'Arc, to have commenced the more ordered course of modern history. Louis XI. of the leaden images was an odd executor of the saintship and heroism and the whole moral bequest of the Maid of Orleans. But he grasped the occasion and did the work. He stamped on feudal anarchy. He consolidated the State. He created the first unified national monarchy in Europe.

"He was in some sort the fore-runner of Alexander Hamilton, Cavour, and Bismarck, and of all those who see in the ideal of the union of the British Empire the greatest dream of the modern world. Even to us, the nation that destroyed her, and now needs no less than her own the political and social inspiration of her memory the Maid remains for all time the pure saint, as well as the natural genius, of heroic patriotism.

"M. Anatole France, in his celebrated volumes has recently attempted to emulate the subtle art with which Renan dissolves the divinity of Christ and the familiar sentimentalism with which M. Paul Sebatier seems almost to patronize the sainthood of Francis of Assisi. Yet even upon the sanest principles of rationalism all men of all creeds ought to be as much agreed about the 'living miracle' of the fifteenth century as they have long been about the typical book of that time. Thomas a Kempis, in whom all mediaeval mysticism at its purest and deepest finds its expression, is no more a local and temporary possession than the Bible itself. He is penetrated with psychological truth. As George Elliot once said he has been loved as much by agnostics as by Catholics.

"In the same way, the memory of the Maid of Orleans ought to be one of the most precious legacies of the whole world. Her banner ought to be the oriflamme of all the victories of the spirit so long as a heroic task remains for human vision to conceive and for human will to attempt. For France, above all, rescued at the darkest hour of her whole national life by the magical apparition of the shepherdess of Domremy, and not only rescued by a girl of eighteen, but created anew, extended, strengthened, consolidated, inspired, transformed from a condition of shame, weakness and misery, into a puissant and conquering kingdom—for France the figure of Jeanne d'Arc ought to be the symbol of all the best hopes which earnest men and women across the Channel—and there are many—can cherish for their national future.

THE MISFORTUNES OF FRANCE.

"Devotion as wonderful and sane as the Maid's to the national ideal would yet save the glory and strength of France. Nothing less can. It is, perhaps, the supreme misfortune of the Republic that its citizens are divided with respect to the personalities and episodes of that marvellous past, which ought to be their common heritage. Even Napoleon raised men above themselves and enlarged for all time a sense of the achievements to which a people may attain. Far more extraordinary still was the effect of that passionate crusade which reversed in a few weeks the whole moral and political tendency of the Hundred Years' War and swept the English invaders into the sea.

WHAT WILL SAVE FRANCE!

"Were the Republic of to-day nerved by the sword which Jeanne d'Arc breathed into a dismembered and despairing land, France would be, in the strictest sense, invincible. With five million trained men in arms, filled with the devotion of 1429—or with that of 1793 in its different, yet not less idealistic, way—there is no force on earth that could break her defence or threaten her existence. Sainthood, if it means pure heart and perfect will, is as real a thing as heroism, though even rarer.

"Joan of Arc remains one of the shining figures of all time, because in her prayers and dreams, her gentleness and her valour, her compassion and her gaiety, in the womanliness that made her neat even in her warrior's habit, and in her will of steel and energy of flame—there were met sainthood and heroism together as in no other being recorded in authentic history."

A BIG "IF."

The writer shows how great was the hold of England on France at that time—

"Had Henry V. lived, he might well have ruled all France, and ruled it to the end. With Salisbury and Suffolk and Talbot, the English Army still contained the strongest leadership, and, for its size, the most formidable stuff in Europe. Had Orleans fallen at the bend of the Loire, the invaders would have held the heart of the country. They would have been masters of three-fourths of France. They could not have held it always, but they might have held it long enough to save the prestige of the Lancastrian dynasty, to prevent the Wars of the Roses, and to change the whole course of English and French history.

ENGLAND AS RULER OF FRANCE.

M. Anatole France, hardly realizes as vividly as Michelet did how solid was our footing in the South. Guienne had come to regard itself as permanently attached to the British Crown. For several centuries we held it continuously. We were longer the Lords of Bordeaux than we have been the owners of Gibraltar; and as long as we ruled that great seaport it was an open gateway to the heart of French territory. In ordinary circumstances we might have been once more expelled from Normandy, but it is in the highest degree improbable that we would have lost the splendid province in the south which has been ours since shortly after the conquest; 'Guienne, at least, from Bordeaux to the Pyrenees, we might still have retained for as long as we kept Calais. The appearance of the Maid beyond all doubt hastened the disasters to English Arms, and converted defeat once inflicted into an overwhelming catastrophe. Joan of Arc filled the ranks of her countrymen with exultant confidence and ours with superstitious despondency. From the moment that she raised the siege of Orleans the spell of Henry V's. tradition was broken.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF

From Coughs, Colds, Sore Throats and Hoarseness by Using Hyomei.

When you catch cold you want to get rid of it as quickly as you can. You don't want to lie around the house for a week, swallowing nauseating drugs.

Why not avoid all this. Why not relieve your cold in five minutes. Why not cure it over night. You can do it by using Hyomei, the sure and guaranteed cure for colds, coughs, sore throat, catarrh, bronchitis, and asthma.

William Gabel, of Ayr, Ont. says; "Booth's Hyomei has proven to be a most satisfactory treatment for nasal catarrh and bronchial trouble. I have doctored considerably for these troubles, and conscientiously say that nothing ever used has given me such quick and lasting benefit as this remedy. I have found it especially good for cold in the head and cough. I am very glad to endorse Hyomei as an article of uncommon merit."

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is medicated and antiseptic air. You breathe it into the lungs through a small pocket inhaler and its soothing influence as it passes over the inflamed membrane of the respiratory tract, stops the mucous discharge, allays the inflammation and the cold is cured. A complete Hyomei outfit costs $1.00 and Wm. Madill, druggist, Peterborough, will refund your money if it fails to cure.

The D. B. Martin Company report having paid $7.60 per cwt., fed and watered at the market, and $7.25 to $7.30, f.o.b. cars at country points. H. P. Kennedy quotes $7.50 fed and watered at the market, and $7.60, fed and watered; E. Puddy reports $7.25 f.o.b. cars at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, May 10.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending May 8 were 2300 cattle, 250 sheep and lambs, 2200 hogs and 2000 calves, while the supply offered for local consumption this morning consisted of 1100 cattle, 50 sheep and lambs, 1300 hogs and 200 calves.

In sympathy with the steady upward tendency of prices for cattle in the western markets of late and the fact that $6.30 was paid for choice export stock in Toronto at the latter end of last week the strong undertone to the local market has been fully maintained, and prices to-day showed another advance of ¼c per lb. This in the face of increased supplies and unfavorable weather for keeping stock, coupled with weaker cable advices from Liverpool, which noted a decline in prices of ¼c to ½c per pound as compared with a week ago, shows that the local situation is healthy. There was some demand from exporters, and they paid 6c per pound, less $1 per head, for steers weighing 1250 to 1300 pounds. There were some prize thorobred stock on the market, which consisted of three bulls and two heifers. The bulls weighed about 2500 pounds each, for which the seller was asking 6¾c per pound. The demand from local butchers and wholesale dealers was not as keen as it was a week ago, but on the whole a fair trade was done, and the market was moderately active. A few fancy steers sold at 6¼c; choice at 6c; good at 5¾c to 5⅞c; fair at 5c to 5½c; medium at 4½c to 4¾c; common at 3¾c to 4c, and inferior at 3c to 3½c per pound.

Altho the supply of small meats was very light, yet an easier feeling prevailed in the market and prices ruled lower than a week ago. The demand was fairly good and sales of yearling lambs were made at 6c to 6½c, and old sheep at 5c per pound, showing a decline of ½c per pound. Spring lambs met with a fair sale at prices ranging from $3 to $5 each, and calves sold at from $1.50 to $5 each, as to size and quality. There was no important change in the live hog situation, prices being fairly maintained under a good demand and sales of selected lots were made at $8.25 to $8.35 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., May 10.—Cattle—Receipts, 3750 head: active and steady; prime steers, $6.40 to $6.75; shipping, $6 to $6.50; butchers', $5.50 to $6.25; heifers, $4.50 to $6.15; cows, $3.50 to $5.50; bulls, $3.75 to $5.50; stockers and feeders, $4.25 to $5; stock heifers, $3.50 to $4.25; fresh cows and springers, strong, $25 to $65.

Veals—Receipts, 2000 head; active, and 25c lower; $6 to $7.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 11,200 head; slow and 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $7.25 to $7.65; mixed $7.50 to $7.60; Yorkers, $7.10 to $7.50; pigs, $6.25 to $7; roughs, $6.40 to $6.60; stags, $5 to $5.75; dairies, $7 to $7.60.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Beeves—Receipts, 6760; steers slow and 10c to 15c lower; bulls steady to a fraction higher; cows steady to a shade lower; all sold; steers, $5.60 to $7; bulls, $4 to $5.65; cows, $2.40 to $5.30; dressed beef steady, at 9c to 10¾c. Exports none, and none to-morrow.

Calves—Receipts, 9779; veals in fair demand, but 50c lower on heavy receipts; veals, $5 to $8; few selected, $8.12½ to $8.25; culls, $4 to $4.50, buttermilks, $4.00 to $5.50; dressed calves lower; city dressed veals, 9c to 12½c; country dressed, 8c to 11c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 15,381; sheep higher; best lambs 10c to 15c higher; all sold; sheep, all clipped, $4.50 to $5.25; few, $5.50; culls, $3 to $4; clipped lambs, $7 to $8; spring lambs steady; Marylands, $9.50 per 100 lbs.; few, by head, at $4.50 to $5.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 10,134; state hogs, $7.25 to $7.60; pigs, $7.15.

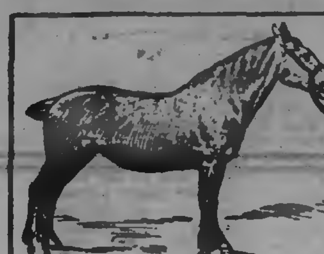
BREEDING MULES.

Types Produced by Sound Draft Mares Bring Fancy Prices.

Many of the mules found in the average farming community are undersized and inferior in quality. This is probably due to the fact that farmers often make a practice of raising mules from the most inferior mares upon the place. To produce the best type of mules a sound draft mare, weighing from 1,400 pounds upward, should be used. It should also be the aim of the owner to secure the services of the best jack to be found. From such a cross there will be produced a large, heavy boned mule that will make a first class work animal upon the farm; also one that is readily salable at any time after he has reached three years of age.



GOOD MARE FOR MULE BREEDING.

The average of mule prices is higher than for horses, and this is well illustrated by statistics. For instance, on Jan. 1, 1908, there were in the United States 19,992,000 horses, valued at $93.41 per head, and 3,869,000 mules, valued at 107.76 per head. In the past ten years there has been a steady increase in the number of mules raised, while the prices per head have rapidly increased from year to year.

The grade Percheron mare shown in the illustration is the kind of mare that produces the large, strong mules which sell for the good, long prices. Mule foals at weaning time sell for $50 to $80 and at two and a half to three years old sell for from $100 to $225, according to size and condition. This range in prices shows the importance of size in the dam and good feeding from weaning time until sold, though some farmers seem to think that a mule will thrive on whatever will keep a goat. Though not dainty feeders and quite hardy, mules will repay their owners for shelter and good feed provided for them to the same extent any other animal will.

Good draft horses sell for better prices than mules bring and cost very little more to produce, but there is a brisk demand for good mules at profitable prices, and there is no reason why the farmer possessing good, large mares should not produce some mules, if he wishes, at a good profit.

Records in the Dairy.

In a progressive New Jersey dairy the cows are divided into four sections of twelve each, numbered and known respectively as A, B, C and D. In front of each animal, on a wire running from end to end of the room, is a card, giving the cow's number on one side and on the other such data as the time the animal should come fresh, the length of time milked, the percentage of butter fat and remarks. As each cow's milk is analyzed at frequent intervals, the milk produced by a section can be kept at a uniform average of 4 per cent fat. When one section's percentage or production is noticed to be running low it is a simple matter to replace low with high testing cows, so that with very slight work the quality of the milk can be kept uniform throughout the year.

TALES OF STRATHCONA

STORIES OF CANADA'S LORD HIGH COMMISSIONER.

How He Invited Twenty-Four Persons to Visit Him and Had to Enlarge His Accommodation to Entertain Them — Steadily Maintained the Niceties of Life While He Was In the Wilds of Canada.

In days gone by Lord Strathcona, who has recently retired from all active business, owned a country place some ten miles out from Winnipeg—historic Silver Heights, where that famous blackleg and swindler, "Lord" Gordon, took refuge in the '70's, and nearly drew Manitoba and Minnesota into international war. His hospitality, even in those days, was truly royal, and more than once Silver Heights found itself in straits to accommodate the guests who claimed its shelter at the invitation of its owner.

One of the stories that arch-story-teller, Sir William Van Horne, delights to tell is connected with one of these spells of social congestion at Silver Heights.

Lord Strathcona, as cicerone of a large party of official junketers traveling west from Ottawa by way of St. Paul, owing to the uncompleted condition of the Canadian Pacific, went about among the men, asking this, that, and the other one to stop off at Silver Heights. As the train neared St. Paul, Sir William drew Strathcona to one side and said:

"Do you realize what you have done? You have asked twenty-four people to stop off at Silver Heights, and I know perfectly well that you have accommodation for not more than twelve."

Lord Strathcona was surprised; but he was not nonplussed. While the party saw the sights of St. Paul, he chartered a car, filled it to overflowing with cots, mattresses, bedding, and other supplies, and when the train pulled out his guests could be taken care of. Arrived at Winnipeg, the party were driven to the Manitoba Club, instead of direct to Silver Heights, a large number of prominent men having been wired by Strathcona to assist in entertaining the party for several hours at the club.

It was noticed that Strathcona went to the telephone frequently; but there was so much going on that little attention was paid to it. Those telephone calls were all for the manager at Silver Heights, with inquiries as to how things were coming along. For hours after each call, Lord Strathcona would return to his guests and say solicitously, "Won't you have a little more of this Madeira? It was bottled in 1820. It's just as old as I am." Or again, "Won't you try this Scotch? It is a brand that the club imports especially for me."

Finally, word came from Silver Heights that all was ready for the party, and not until they reached the country place, and found cots everywhere, did even Sir William suspect what the long stay at the club had meant. After considerable jollity over the informality of the entertainment, all settled down for the night, Lord Strathcona being the last to retire.

It happened that the first man up in the morning was Van Horne. In prospecting, he entered the dining-room, and there, seated Turk fashion on a table, was Lord Strathcona, sound asleep! In counting noses for beds, he had entirely forgotten himself.

From the time he emigrated to Canada, at the age of 18, until he was 48, Lord Strathcona spent all his time at various posts of the Hudson Bay Co., newly located on the Labrador. In all those thirty years among the northern Indians and the Eskimos, Donald Smith, as he then was, held himself strictly to the niceties of life; so that when, as a man of middle age, he returned to civilized life and the highest office in the gift of the Hudson Bay Co., there were no rough edges of either speech or manner to be overcome.

Nothing shows this better than a story told on the Labrador while he was governor of the company. It is a rule of the Hudson Bay Co. that no woman shall be allowed passage on its boats. One day, as a steamer of the company neared one of the northernmost ports, a string of white garments was seen stretched across deck. The watchers were amazed; for to them the washline suggested only the presence of a woman aboard the boat. Comment was freely made of the scandal that would ensue, and the shake-up that would follow. When the boat docked, the line of washing had disappeared—still another proof of the scandal. Later, one of the landsmen said to the captain:

"Why, how did it happen that you carried a woman passenger this trip?"

"There was never a woman along the whole voyage," was the indignant answer. "What do you mean?"

"If there was no woman aboard, where did all that white wash come from?" was the triumphant reply.

The captain looked puzzled for a moment, and then he laughed. "Oh," he said, "and didn't we have the governor himself along with us on this trip? And every day doesn't he insist on having his clean white shirt, no matter how far north we are? That's the white wash you saw strung along deck. And what's more, doesn't he insist upon having his London Times laid beside his plate every morning, no matter if it is a year old?"

Widow Half a Century.

Mrs. Robert Hughes, of Innisville, Lanark County, born in Glasgow, Scotland, on February 15th, 1809, recently celebrated her hundredth birthday. Mrs. Hughes, despite her great age, enjoys good health, a clear memory, and pretty good eyesight. She came to this country in 1821, with her parents, and has been a widow for almost half a century.

She had eight children, of whom five are still living. This family group also includes 37 grandchildren and 34 great-grandchildren.

Winnipeg's Growth.

It is stated that the architects of Winnipeg have in preparation plans for over twelve million dollars' worth of buildings for 1909.

Lots of Land Yet.

It is estimated that there are still twenty million acres of good land for settlement within the Province of Ontario.

BON VOYAGE.

Now the good old ship and staunch
Finds a new hand at the helm,
  Bid Godspeed!
For those who sail in ships
Out to where the sunset dips,
  Meet fierce seas that overwhelm
In a watery avalanche.
  Bid Godspeed!

Though the ship is true and tried,
And the captain's eye is keen,
  Wish them well!
She is new to him, and he
Perhaps has sailed a different sea,
  Where the stars have other sheen,
And through other winds they ride.
Wish them well!

Wish him strength to bear the stress
And an eye to pierce the dark,
  Bon voyage!
Wish him luck and favoring breeze,
Wish him sunlit summer seas,
  So that he may bring his bark
To the Port of All Success!
  Bon voyage.

PRESENTATION-MAKERS.

Sharp Trick Secures Livelihood For Montreal Grafters.

A well-known French-Canadian journalist is the authority for the statement that there are men in Montreal who make a living as professional makers of presentations. The methods of such an individual are somewhat as follows, so the story goes: Upon an appropriate occasion, as for example, when A is about to be married, the promoter goes to B and says that the boys are about to make a presentation to A. B thinks something should be done and puts up $5. Then the promoter goes to C, D, E, and the rest of A's friends and acquaintances and gathers in whatever he can. The idea is evolved meanwhile that the present is to be, says, a silver tea set to cost $125. Usually the promoter's accounts were not audited and he endeavors to collect more than $125.

When he has worked A's friends dry he proceeds to make his master touch. He goes to A and tells him that the boys are about to make him a present, but this difficulty has arisen. The committee has been able to collect but $100, and the article upon which they have set their hearts as a suitable one is a silver tea set costing $125. Failing to get this they will have to fall back on some much cheaper object or possibly the effort will go to pieces altogether. But the promoter has had a happy thought. He has been entrusted with getting in certain of the subscriptions. If A will just tip him the $25 he will turn it in with his subscriptions and no one will be the wiser.

In nine cases out of ten A submits to being held up. Then the promoter holds up the merchant who sells the article for a commission, or deliberately buys a cheaper one if he thinks it safe. The presentation is duly made. The promoter is a big toad in the puddle and makes acquaintances and gathers information for further graft. The difference between what he collects and what he spends is what he lives on. Even if his accounts are audited, which is, of course, a breach of all etiquette on the gladsome occasion, he is reasonably certain of being able to touch A for $25, and whatever happens A will, of course, be the last man to open his mouth. It is possible that Montreal is not the only city in Canada where the game is worked.

Old Times In Canada.

It is only the old-timer who can truly realize the enormous difference in Western Canada brought about by railroad construction and railroad enterprise. Such an old-timer is Mr. Hayter Reed, now manager-in-chief of the C.P.R. hotels, who, thirty years ago, was one of 300 men despatched in chase of Louis Riel, the famous halfbreed rebel. The description of this chase was read the other day by Mr. Reed to a literary society in Montreal: how they forced their boats through the broken ice of Lake Huron till the blades of the oars were worn away, and spades and shovels had to be used instead; how they had to land on the ice and trudge wearily until at last, in rags and tatters, they came to Fort Garry. Mr. Reed was then appointed Indian Commissioner, and marshalled the great army of Sioux, Chippewas, and Six Nations for the great migration to the reservations of the north. He has lived to see the once desolate prairies populous with white men, civilized by the great roads of steel; and where the wigwams lined the trail at Winnipeg he now controls a palatial caravanserai, the Royal Alexandra — what Kipling has called "the first hotel in the world," and yet only one of a great series linking Atlantic with Pacific.

Wheat For Liverpool.

Vancouver and Victoria now possess, writes the Victoria, B.C., correspondent of The Standard of Empire, an advantage of from 10 to 10 1-2 cents per hundred pounds over the eastern route for the transportation of wheat from Alberta to Liverpool. The variation in this advantage is due to the changing of the charter market for Atlantic tonnage from day to day, and approximately the average of the rate in favor of Vancouver and Victoria in winter time, but in summer and fall, during the season of navigation on the great lakes, the coast will have to divide with Fort William, at the head of the lakes, the rates on Alberta grain, with the chances very much in favor of Vancouver in a short time taking the bulk of the traffic.

Distances Are Decreasing.

One of the Ottawa newspapers refers to the fact that the member of the House of Commons for the Yukon can make the distance from Dawson to Ottawa in seventeen days. As the means of communication with the far north and our knowledge of it grows, the distance between old Canada and the furthermost borders of newer Canada becomes less and less. In fact it is nothing short of astonishing to contrast the eastern attitude toward the far west and north with that of twenty, fifteen, or even ten years ago.

A Souris, Man., farmer who ran a "speak easy" was fined $100 for his enterprise.

INSTRUCTION IN STORY-TELLING

Torontonian Is Running a School for After Dinner Speakers.

Mr. P. Grenville Kleiser, a Torontonian who some ten years ago took up his residence in the United States, has won some attention through a new scheme of his own devising—that of teaching people to tell funny stories. Mr. Kleiser commenced his career in Toronto in the early nineties as a concert elocutionist, and later became for a season private secretary to the late Richard Mansfield. Then he returned to Toronto and commenced the teaching of expression and conducted an entertainment bureau. He is now established in New York, and among his activities is that of "conductor" of the Public Speakers' Club.

The scheme which he put forward a week or so ago is so unique that it has engaged the attention of the press, whose humorists seems to be sceptical as to the outcome. A reporter went to hear Mr. Kleiser lecture to his class in extempore humor, and says that it numbered at least eighty persons. It more than intimates that if Mr. Kleiser succeeds in turning them into humorous individuals he will have performed a task greater than the labors of Hercules. It is stated that they were of all ages, nationalities, and previous occupations. After Mr. Kleiser had told sixty funny stories in the space of an hour—charting them on a blackboard as he did so to show that there were only twenty-three original stories in the world, the balance being variations therefrom—he invited his pupils to the platform one by one, each to tell a funny story of his own, and corrected his method when it was bad.

The chief admonition that he gave was not to tell the point before you have told the narrative. He also advised his pupils not to try to tell a story of which they had forgotten the point. The pupil exhibition seems to have been rather a painful episode, and Mr. Kleiser showed that he is not devoid of humor himself by closing the proceedings with the remark:

"Now, I think that you will believe me when I maintain the antiquity of all jokes."

Jim Hill as a Cain Raiser.

With a great blare of trumpets and bang of cymbals the Vancouver press has announced that Jim Hill is going to connect up a number of stray railroad links from Galveston to Vancouver, put on a five-day passenger service between these cities and make the latter a cotton export point. Oh, yes. Jim Hill is always going to raise Cain. It is Jim Hill who is always planning to put on a limited train between St. Paul and the Pacific coast that will knock all existing speed records into a cocked hat. It is Jim Hill who is going to collar the trans-Pacific trade with a huge fleet of ocean-going steamships. Some years ago when the Kalso and Slocan Railway was added to the Great Northern, it was predicted that the line would be standard gauged and extended from Sandon to Slocan City by way of New Denver and Silverton. The projected program was not only not carried out, but the original Kaslo and Slocan has been lopped in two and the service cut down to tri-weekly. Yet it was Jim Hill who was going to make a great line for trade between the Kootenays and Spokane, out of the Kootenay Valley line, extending from Bonner's Ferry to Kootenay Landing. The service on that is now a tri-weekly one also. Jim Hill was going to push the V.V. & E. through to the coast in record order and smash all existing freight rates to Gehenna, open up the Similkameen and develop the country thereabouts. Just now the people of that neighborhood are wondering whether the crack of doom or the V.V. & E. will come about first, but are now beginning to suspect that it will be the former.—Kaslo Kootenaian.

A Western Wheat Port.

Newspaper men, business men, railway men, in fact, every live interest in Vancouver, is taking hold of the question of providing an outlet for the western grain.

A most elaborate harbor scheme is now being evolved in Vancouver. Not only are improvements to the splendid harbor in Burrard Inlet being planned, but English Bay and False Creek are also included in the proposals.

With some blasting and dredging at the Narrows, the entrance to Burrard Inlet will be greatly improved and the cost is not excessive. The English Bay and False Creek propositions are works of greater magnitude, but the people at the C.P.R. terminus are building for the future. The millions of grain which Alberta and Western Saskatchewan will produce in a few years as a result of the improved opportunities for railway transportation arising from the building of more lines in both provinces, must find its way to foreign markets along the line of least resistance. The people of the Pacific coast are doing their best to attract it in their direction, by improving their harbor, erecting elevators and providing for the expeditious and economical handling of the prairie crops.—Calgary Herald.

Population In Prairies.

The number of homestead entries and pre-emptions in 1908 exceeded all previous records, the total being just under 50,000 entries, representing the transfer into private hands of upwards of 8,000,000 acres from the public domain.

The number of persons in the prairie regions last year was 105,000, and the population of the three provinces has now touched the one million mark.

Baptized In Boyne Water.

John Gilbert Robertson, son of John Sinclair Robertson, and grandson of Bro. John Ross Robertson, of L.O.L., 404, was baptized by Rev. T. Crawford Brown, St. Andrew's Church, West King street, on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 21, 1909. The water used in the sacrament was taken three weeks ago from the Boyne River, at Drogheda, at the point where King William crossed in 1690.—Orange Sentinel.

Ernest Morris, accused of causing the death of a brother at Milestone, Sask., is sent up for trial.

THE HOME PHYSICIAN

Some Hints to Keep People Well.

Ninety-nine per cent. of the ordinary sicknesses are caused by the bowels, the kidneys or the skin.

As you know, these organs are the great purifiers of the human system. They filter impurities from the blood and pass them from the body. If the kidneys, bowels or skin weaken or get tired out or fail to do their regular work—then the blood becomes laden with impurities and poisoned. If it be the fault of the kidneys, then the skin is overworked in its efforts to throw off the excess of urea or waste matter. The glands become inflamed and enlarged—pimples break out—and there may be a rash or eczema of the skin. If it is the fault of the skin, then the kidneys are strained by overwork and there is constant pain in the back, dizziness, neuralgia, headaches and rheumatism. If it be the fault of the bowels, the blood is poisoned, the skin and kidneys weakened, the stomach upset—and, of course, there is Constipation and Biliousness.

How easy it is, then, to be free of all these troubles!

"Fruit-a-tives" is not merely a remedy for any one of these troubles but a cure for all. "Fruit-a-tives" acts on the skin, the liver, and the kidneys. "Fruit-a-tives" keeps all these great organs well and strong, and thus insures the blood being always pure and rich. With "Fruit-a-tives" in the house to take at the first sign of not feeling well, you need not have a day's sickness. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

PRIVY COUNCIL'S WORK.

They Handle an Immense Variety of Cases Says Nesbitt.

During a recent stay in London, I more than once visited the rooms of the Privy Council, and was astonished by the variety and magnitude of the business transacted there, says Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., who was counsel in the famous Steel-Coal case. On one day their lordships were engaged in a reference from the Colonial Office as to the conduct of the chief justice of Grenada. On the next day their lordships heard argument in a case from Ceylon, where two native ladies of high rank were appealing in an endeavor to quash a conviction for the alleged crime of beating a servant to death. The next case concerned the question of the pedigree of an Indian rajah and the right of succession to his vast estate, in which Sir Robert Finlay, ex-attorney-general of England, was opposed to distinguished members of the Indian bar, several Parsee lawyers acting as junior counsel on either side. On the next day a dispute involving the title to a Cobalt mining claim was heard, and in the afternoon a question as to the title to a piece of foreshore in the eastern part of Quebec was disposed of. I have seen their lordships dispose of five petitions for special leave to appeal one morning in less than an hour, and these petitions originated from places as distant from one another as Gibraltar, India, Straits Settlements and Canada, and apparently with a full appreciation of the law and facts involved in each case. I suppose the petition had been carefully perused before the committee met.

The lords appear in their ordinary street attire and are seated round a table at one end of the room. When the court opens, the doors are unbarred, counsel are allowed to enter and take their places in a small railed enclosure at the other end of the room. They are expected to wear the ordinary court attire, which includes a wig and gown. There is a small reading desk on which the counsel addressing the court may place his documents and other papers. If an authority is cited to their lordships, usually an attendant of the court is directed to obtain the report, which is perused by their lordships at the time. Judgment is delivered, or counsel may be requested to withdraw while their lordships deliberate. Counsel are then admitted and judgment is delivered, or judgment may be reserved.

The council is not a court, and the judgment is delivered by one of the judges on behalf of the whole committee, no dissenting view being expressed, it being the duty of each Privy Councillor not to disclose any advice he may have given to the Crown.

The Chamber of Shipping.

The report for the past year of the Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom states that early in the year the attention of the Executive was called to the fact that a bill had been introduced into the Canadian Houses of Parliament which, if it were passed into law, would have the effect of interfering with the freedom of contract hitherto enjoyed by merchants and ship-owners in the Canadian trade with respect to the provisions contained in their bills of lading. Letters were addressed to the Colonial Office and the Board of Trade, urging that whereas there might be some valid arguments to be adduced in favor of legislation where defenceless persons—for example, women, children, lunatics, etc.—were concerned, there were absolutely none in cases like that to which this bill referred—namely, where the two parties to the contract were an adult ship-owner and an adult merchant. Merchants and ship-owners who were actively engaged in business and who in the course of such business voluntarily entered into contracts were men who were perfectly well able without legislative interference to look after their own pecuniary interests. As a result of these overtures, the committee are glad to be able to report that the "Water Carriage of Goods Bill" was eventually not further proceeded with in the Canadian Houses of Parliament.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

Indians Suffering.

In acknowledging the receipt of several bales of warm clothing set from Toronto to be distributed among the Indians in the vicinity of Lake Nipigon, a private letter reveals a sad state of affairs in that cold northern district.

Between 40 and 50 Indians have been carried off by grip within the past month. There is a great scarcity of both clothing and provisions.

The big game the Indians formerly relied upon for subsistence through the long northern winter has been destroyed and driven away by the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific, which runs about 45 miles north of the head of Lake Nipigon, or 150 miles due north of Nipigon Station of the C.P.R., from which point supplies have to be taken up the Nipigon river and Nipigon lake.

The letter states that the bodies of three white men were found frozen on the ice of Lake Nipigon.

To Work Graham Island.

A company with a nominal capital of $10,000,000 has taken over 27,000 acres of coal lands on Graham Island, Queen Charlotte Islands, off the coast of British Columbia. Work will commence at once, and an application has already been placed before the Provincial Legislature for a railway charter between Skidgate and Rennel Sound, to open up the mining districts.

An Able Pen Laid By.

The death of Rev. R. N. Grant, D.D., of Orillia, recently, removes from the ranks of Presbyterian workers in Canada a man whose influence was widespread and quite extraordinary. As a preacher he must have done a great deal of good among people of his own church. But as a writer for the press he helped many men and women of various creeds all over the country toward saner reasoning on religious matters and toward living better, broader, more courageous lives. For he was a writer of real ability. Anything and everything to which the signature "Knoxonian" was appended was distinctly worth while. It was marked by understanding of human nature; it was refreshing; it was never stale and unprofitable.

To Save Lundy's Lane.

The Niagara Falls City Council has decided to ask the Government to take charge of Lundy's Lane battlefield, and, if possible, have the care of the historic grounds handed over to Queen Victoria Park commission. The grounds are in care of trustees, but only one now lives here.

Fifty Cats Burned to Death.

Fifty cats which were kept to kill rats and mice lost their lives in a fire which occurred recently at a large granary in Bow Common lane, Bow, London, England.

A big local fish combine is planned for Vancouver with a capital of six hundred thousand dollars.

Dr. CHARLES FLESH FOOD

The One Great Beautifier—This delightful dainty toilet preparation will positively beautify the human face and form. Applied to the skin it nourishes by absorption.

An Unrivalled Wrinkle Remover—Dr. Charles' Flesh Food acts quickly and surely on a skin seamed and otherwise blemished by exposure and advancing age.

Thin Cheeks, Necks, and Arms—These may be quickly rounded out and beautified by applying the Flesh Food as directed and there is no excuse for any woman to show unsightly angles if she will take heed.

Bust Developing—Undeveloped busts and those lost through sickness or nursing may be increased in size, made full, firm plump and rounded into a beautiful contour by the use of this wonderful flesh developer. It acts alike upon the growing girl and matured woman.

For the complexion—Applied the same as a cold cream. It clears the complexion of all disfiguring blemishes, such as pimples, blackheads, a sallow or roughened skin and gives it the fresh appearance of youth. On sale at—

QUALITY, SKILL & CARE, THE LADDER BY WHICH WE CLIMB

Urgent means are taken to guarantee purity in all our drugs. We demand purity when we buy, and then to make sure we get what we order we examine carefully the drugs after we get them.

If an article is found impure, we send it back. We don't allow it to stay in our store.

If you have a prescription filled here, your doctor knows—and you ought to know—that it is compounded of absolutely pure drugs, and the doctor's orders followed to the letter.

CYCLISTS TAKE TOO MANY LIBERTIES

Non-wheelers Object to Their Using the Pavements

The ratepayers in various parts of the city are strenuously objecting to the practice bicyclists have of riding on the sidewalks during the wet weather. Different persons going to and returning home from work use the sidewalks without consideration for the pedestrians, who are continually kept hopping about by the ringing of bells or cries to "look out!" They naturally resent being kept in such a state of anxiety and activity.

HARRY ADAMS

LITTLE GIRL STRUCK BY A BICYCLIST AND WAS PAINFULLY INJURED

Near the corner of Brock and Chambers streets this morning a little girl, Hulda Reeves, who lives on Brock street was knocked down by a bicyclist and had her ankle sprained and her face and hands scraped and bruised.

The little tot who is only seven years of age had thrown a ball out into the road and ran to get it when a young man who was riding towards George street on a bicycle ran into her, inflicting the painful injuries mentioned. He rang his bell but the child apparently did not realize her danger and when he went to turn to one side the wheel could not be controlled owing to the slippery and muddy condition of the walk. The bicyclist was considerably shaken up by the fall.

The little girl was taken to Dr. McCullough's surgery where her injuries were attended to.

MEETING AT PARK STREET CHURCH WAS A SUCCESS

The tea meeting at Park Street Baptist church was a grand success. The tables, which seated about 170 people, were filled up four times in succession, and there was no confusion whatever, as every accommodation was provided in the magnificent basement, it having three exits.

The Ladies' Aid and the young ladies and men of the church are to be congratulated upon the able way in which they planned and carried out the entertainment.

About $100 was realized. After tea the programme took place upstairs. The beautiful auditorium was again taxed to its fullest capacity.

Mr. T. F. Matthews occupied the chair. He said it gave him inexpressible pleasure to be with the Park street church, and to be of any service whatever to them. He rejoiced with them in this, the most happy consummation of their prayers and desires, and would watch with much interest their progress in the future.

The following programme was then most acceptably rendered:

Prayer—Rev. J. R. Webb.
Address—Chairman.
Selection—Park Street Choir.
Addresses—Rev. Keith, Rev. J. R. Webb.
Selection—Orpheus Quartette.
Duet—Mr. Pratt and J. C. Miller.
Historical Sketch of the Church—Deacon Gillespie.
Solo—Mr. H. Ferguson.
Addresses—Mr. H. Manning, Rev. Dr Langfeldt.
Selection—Orpheus Quartette.
Address—Rev. H. James.
Selection — Quartette, Murray St. Choir.
Financial Statement—Deacon Wm. Kemp
Address—Rev. Mr. Henderson.

The pastor of the church, Rev. W. C. Riddiford, then made a few remarks. He thanked all who had in any way helped to make the opening a success. He referred in a tender way to the faithful members of the Building Committee who had from start to finish stood by him so nobly and well, and said whatever had been accomplished was the result of co-operation and harmony in their one great desire of bringing glory to God and good-will to all men. He also wished to thank Mr. C. B. Routley for the exquisite individual communion set he had so kindly presented to the church. It certainly showed that gentleman's practical interest in the progress of Park street church.

Regrets were received from Rev. Mr. Potter and Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P., both wishing the new cause every success.

The property is worth about $12,000, and is about half paid for.

NEW FIRE TEAM WOULD BE WORTH $800 IN WINNIPEG

Two firemen from Winnipeg, who are on their annual vacation, were visitors at the fire hall this morning. They are former residents of London, and were acquainted with Chief Howard in that city. One of the visitors is a foreman and the other an engineer at one of the fire stations in the Manitoba capital. They were greatly taken up with the equipment at the local fire hall, especially with the horses, and they were surprised when told what they cost. The new grey team, they stated, would bring $800 from the Winnipeg fire department.

ANOTHER PAPER SPEAKS IN HIGH PRAISE OF PETERBORO

The Niagara Falls Review says:—A few weeks ago the Canadian Press Association took a trip from Toronto to Peterborough and there looked over some of the really large industrial plants that have helped to make Peterborough what it is to-day. One of the things that impressed the writer favorably was the very definite interest that the municipal authorities took in the party. The Reception Committee was not content to await the arrival of the party, but met us a few stations from Peterborough. They were given an opportunity to meet every one before the sight-seeing began. They were mightily loyal to their home city, too. They took every opportunity to impress upon their guests the greatness and charm of their own town. That is the spirit that has made Peterborough one of the snappiest little cities in Ontario and that same spirit will make Niagara Falls one of the very first industrial centres in Canada. Now, all together!

HAS RETURNED FROM TRIP TO SOUTH WESTERN STATES

Mr. James McAvoy has returned to Peterborough after an extended pleasure visit to Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver and other points in that section of the United States. Mr. McAvoy left on the trip last October. He was accompanied by Mrs. McAvoy.

Mr. McAvoy reports having had a thoroughly enjoyable and most interesting time. During the time he was away he visited many places of interest, and speaks highly of the fascinating scenery of California and Colorado.

At present he is the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. P. Carrol, Ashburnham.

MR. J. A. SEXSMITH, M.P. CENSURES HON. MR. FISHER FOR NEGLECT OF FARMER

During the recent debate in the House of Commons upon the great decrease in the export trade in agricultural products, Mr. Sexsmith, M.P., replied to Sir Sidney Fisher as follows:—

Mr. Sexsmith. One reason to my mind why the farmers are going out of the raising of hogs is the very unstable condition of the market. The Minister knows well that it is very irregular. At one time of the year there is a price that will perhaps make the raising of hogs profitable. The fall of the year when the bulk of the hogs are marketed, and when the farmer expects to receive his profit, is the time when the price is very low. There is a general impression in the part of the country that I come from that the packers have an organization, and at a time of the year when they are about to put in their supplies for home consumption, they put the price down. I would like to ask the Minister if he does not think that if the Canadian farmer had the home market for himself it would help to regulate the price to a considerable extent. I am not going to advocate high protection, but I do believe in fair trade; and if my neighbors charge us five cents a pound to get an article into their country, I think we would be justified, to a certain extent anyway, in protecting our own industries. However, we have not time to discuss that question now, but I cannot agree with the Minister that such a policy would raise the price to the consumer. He said he was very pleased to belong to the agricultural class. I agree with him, as I am a farmer myself. He also said that the farmers were very charitable and did not ask for a tariff which would raise the price to the masses. I quite agree that they are charitable or they would not have supported this government so long in return for so little; but the farmers in the riding I represent believe in protecting their own market to the extent, or very nearly so, asked by the Swine Breeders' Association. Does the hon. Minister not think it would be well to look into the matter from the packers standpoint so as to ascertain whether the general belief be true that they combine to unduly press the prices down, especially in September and October?—Hansard.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN H. CAMPBELL

Old Resident of This County Passed Away Last Evening—Was 84 Years of Age

An old and respected resident of this county passed away last evening in the person of Mr. John H. Campbell at his late residence, lot 6, concession 10, in Douro.

Deceased, who was 84 years of age was well known and highly respected and his demise which resulted from having contracted a cold, will be regretted by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. He was an Orangeman and was identified with the Nassau lodge.

Besides his sorrowing wife, three sons and five daughters are left to mourn his loss. The sons are Messrs. Oren and Levi at home; and Edward of Michigan. Mrs Wm. James Bullock, Douro; Mrs R. Wilson, East City; Mrs Walter Head, Mrs Hugh Regan, Peterborough and Mrs Nicholls of Haliburton are the daughters.

The funeral will take place from his late residence on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

THE CHOIR WILL BE VESTED

A short time ago it was decided by the vestry of St Luke's to submit to the electorate of the church the question of vesting or otherwise the choir. Four hundred and twenty-seven ballots were sent out. Two hundred and seventy-two voted in favor of the innovation. Thirteen voted against it and the balance refrained from expressing an opinion.

Cheap Power at Trenton

Mayor Funnell and seven members of the Trenton Council are in town, with the avowed object of arranging terms with the Toronto Electric Light Co., for the development of water power on the Trent Valley Canal. The object is to secure power cheaper than it is at present. The source of the power is at dam No. 8, on the Trent Valley canal where it is said four thousand horse power is going idle. There may be an extensive plant built there.—Toronto Telegram.
